Architecture You LOVE

Monday, February 11, 2019

North Carolina Modernist Houses (NCMH) is a 501C3 nonprofit educational archive that provides donors, volunteers, and advocates the information and organization they require to passionately engage the documentation, preservation, and promotion of residential Modernist architecture. Learn more at www.ncmodernist.org.

Note: There will be no newsletter on February 18. NCMH and USModernist are in Palm Springs for Modernism Week! Want to join us next year? The 2020 trip will go on sale this summer.

ARCHITECTURE YOU LOVE

New on USModernist Radio: Architect Victor Sidy was Dean of the Frank Lloyd Wright School of Architecture at Taliesin with campuses in Scottsdale, Arizona and Spring Green, Wisconsin. He was a vocal advocate for saving Frank Lloyd Wright houses and buildings and for walkable community development. In 2015 he returned to private practice but is still involved with one special Wright house in Phoenix, the David and Gladys Wright House, which father Frank designed for his son. The house has been on a rollercoaster in recent years, doomed one moment, saved the next, in limbo the next. Joining him is historian Alison King is founder of Modern Phoenix and Associate Professor of Design at The Art Institute of Phoenix. Since 2003 she has published Arizona's largest website for mid-century architecture, Modern Phoenix, which hosts an annual home tour and the always interesting Modern Phoenix Week. Alison gave USModernist a wonderful tour last November of both residential and commercial modernist buildings. USModernist Radio is sponsored by Angela Roehl, your special real estate agent for

New book available March 19: Off the Grid: Houses for Escape, by Dominic Bradbury. The ultimate escapist collection of environmentally sustainable houses, cabins, and retreats, this book circles the globe to find the best eco-architecture in the most stunning and remote locations. Off the Grid reveals the creative architecture and cutting-edge technologies that are redefining where and how we live—enabling us to escape to some of the most extraordinary and secluded natural environments on the planet. Dominic Bradbury tells the story of how innovative architects have made homes largely self-sustaining in terms of energy, water, and in some cases food, but also a rewarding and tempting reality. From snowbound cabins in the far Northern Hemisphere to coastal retreats that can only be accessed by boat, this fully illustrated overview explains the diverse ways in which architects are tackling extreme climates, remoteness, and sustainability challenges to enable a new way of life.

Explore the timeless elegance of desert modernism in Arizona March 15-24! Modern Phoenix Week reveals its 15th year of award-winning tours, talks and workshops that celebrate the region's midcentury modern design legacy.

The theme of this year's ten-day event is "It's all Good in the Haverhood", honoring the 200,000 tract homes that Ralph Haver and Jimmie Nunn's architecture firm seeded across Arizona, New Mexico and Colorado. This passion project of Haver's biographer and founder of Modern Phoenix Alison King, is culminating in a sampler tour of his delightfully modest and cheerful Haver Homes on March 24. The self-driving tour of about a dozen homes is curated to reveal the variety styles that Haver designed over a 15 year period. The Modern Phoenix Home Tour is the hot ticket to get; to keep the tour intimate only 1000 tickets are sold, and insiders know to scoop them the same morning they go on sale, February 1. Visit modernphoenixweek.com for the full agenda and pricing, which ranges from free to $45. Contact Alison King, founder, 602-363-6158, alison@modernphoenix.net.
