Good Cooking • 9 Colorful Kitchens

G-E All-Electric Kitchen only $47²⁰* a month!

This is the "Young America Home" kitchen now being featured in model homes from coast to coast.

HOME BUILDERS everywhere have selected the same identical G-E Kitchen—as shown above for their model "Young America Homes"—homes which they believe offer the most in attractive design, features, and dollar-for-dollar value. Watch for a "Young America Home" opening in your vicinity. You can have a kitchen like this planned especially for your home—for as little as $47.20 a month.

Here's how you can finance it . . . In the kitchen shown above, the beautiful General Electric equipment—including work surfaces—can be had for as little as $47.20 a month, after small down payment. You can have these timesaving electric wonders now; pay for them over a three-year period!

Other financial plans available in your locality may reduce the monthly payment far below the $47.20 price quoted here.

For details, send coupon below for free copy of booklet about facts for financing your kitchen if you're buying, building, or remodeling.

Here's how you can plan it . . . We do more than merely provide you with all the wonderful new equipment—we help you plan and style the layout of your kitchen for maximum efficiency. Your G-E dealer can arrange a complete personal planning job for you—at no additional cost.

Take advantage of your General Electric dealer's expert advice—drop in to see him. Or, if his name is not listed in the classified section of the phone book, fill out coupon below and mail today—we'll see that a G-E retailer gets in touch with you at an early date.

If you're buying or building a new home . . . be sure it has a complete G-E All-Electric Kitchen! Here's why . . . the cost of a modern kitchen—one of these complete all-electric wonders—is as little as four or five dollars extra a month. This is possible because the cost of your kitchen is included right in your regular long-term mortgage. Talk to your architect or builder about a complete G-E All-Electric Kitchen for your home.

GENERAL ELECTRIC

YOUR ALL-ELECTRIC KITCHEN INCLUDES:

G-E 8-cu-ft Refrigerator. "Space Maker" model. World-famed for dependable service.

G-E Dishwasher & Sink. Dishes automatically rinsed, washed, and dried with heat.

G-E "Speed Cooking" Range. It's fast, safe! The automatic features make grand meals easy!

G-E Disposall.® Gets rid of garbage electrically! No need to see, touch, or smell garbage again!

G-E Steel Cabinets. Plenty of food-and-utensil storage space; extra work surface, too.

General Electric Co.
Box A-12-CC,

This NEW $20 set of Norman Rockwell paintings is YOURS

FREE! Gratuit! Umsonst! GRATIS!

if you obtain a Trial Membership in The Heritage Club now

BECAUSE we are offering you a $20 set of Norman Rockwell's paintings as an inducement to obtain a Trial Membership in The Heritage Club at this time, we had better tell you something about them:

In the first place, they are not the original paintings in oil! If you are in position to pay several thousands of dollars to obtain one of Norman Rockwell's original oils (and if you know where one could be obtained), you won't want these facsimiles.

For they are facsimiles. Yet we will wager one good sixty-cent dollar that, even after examining them, you wouldn't recognize them as such, and two good sixty-cent dollars that your friends won't do so, either!

They are created by several unusual processes. They are in full color; and they are on heavy board-canvases such as oil painters use; and their surfaces are moulded in the brush-strokes.

Facsimiles have been created in this fashion before, of some of Norman Rockwell's famous paintings: notably his paintings of The Four Freedoms. We would present those to you, if we could! But we can't, for the right to reproduce them doesn't belong to us. However, we do have the right to reproduce Norman Rockwell's paintings made to illustrate Huckleberry Finn; for they were made for our own now-famous edition.

WE HAVE NOW TAKEN three of them (the original oils are in the possession of the Mark Twain Museum) and have created facsimiles which are four times larger than the plates in the published book. Each is twelve inches across by sixteen inches long! Each will be sold in the shops for $6.95; the set of three, for $20.

But we will give you a complete set, free, GRATUIT, umsonst, GRATIS—if you obtain a Trial Membership in The Heritage Club at this time. Why?

WELL, in the first place, we have persuaded the mills which produce our fine papers to increase their allotment to us—with the result that, of six of our recent publications, we have obtained from the printers about a thousand extra copies. So, in the second place, we can now accept a thousand members: to try us with these books.

BUT WE WANT to enroll this limited number of people with a limited expenditure upon advertisements: by offering this irresistible inducement to you, to become a new member. If you do, you will obtain six beautiful, beautiful books—at the same price as ordinary rental library fiction.

You will obtain a copy of The Pilgrim's Progress with the newly-discovered water-colors by Blake; and The Book of Ruth with the miniatures-in-color by Arthur Szyk; and Great Expectations illustrated by the English painter Edward Ardizzone; and Confessions of an English Opium-Eater illustrated with gravures by Zhenya Gay; and The Way of All Flesh; and The Sketch-Book of Geoffrey Crayon . . .

Or, if any of these books should not be of interest to you, you may choose substitutions out of a long list of Heritage books. Then, after the trial period, you can decide whether to continue. Obviously, we think you will!

FOR THE MEMBERS of The Heritage Club regularly come into possession of those "classics which are our heritage from the past, in editions which will be the heritage of the future." Yet each of these books costs each member only $3.65! or only $3.28 if paid for in advance!

A PROSPECTUS is now ready. You are invited to send for a copy. One of the remaining Trial Memberships will then be reserved for you—and also a set of the Norman Rockwell facsimiles. Never in the history of book publishing has a greater bargain than this been offered to wise buyers of books. The coupon below enables you to put this statement to the test:

Reservation Coupon

THE HERITAGE CLUB
595 MADISON AVE., New York 22

Please send me a copy of the Prospectus describing the limited number of Trial Memberships which you are offering at this time. I understand that you will reserve a Trial Membership for me and that I am entitled to a portfolio of the Norman Rockwell paintings, without cost, when I send my formal application.

REVOLVING "ANGEL CHIMES" FROM SWEDEN

An enchanting Christmas decoration! Heat rising from burning candles causes Herald Angels to revolve lightly striking the bells with their wands. The resulting chime-like sound is charming as Christmas sleigh bells in the snow! Made of heavy gauge, highly polished brass, it has a tray base to catch possible drippings. It has holders for four candles, 13" high, 4 candles included free with each. Buy two—one for each end of the mantel, dining table, etc. Or, if you desire only one for yourself the extra will serve as a perfect gift. $2.75—2 for $5.00 postpaid. "Angel Chimes" Candles—Made in Sweden expressly for the "Angel Chimes." Hand dipped, smokeless and dripless. 4 1/2" long. Red or White. 12 to the box, 1 box $0.60—3 boxes $1.45 postpaid.

SANTA and CANDLES

Big, beautiful opaque lucite plaques painted in vivid Christmas colors. Hang them at windows, mantel, on the tree. Attach to doors. 12" high. Decorated on both sides. Holes for hanging or mounting. $1.00 each—both $1.95 postpaid.

"DIWALI" BOTTLE OPENER

In India this bell is used during New Year's celebrations. In America it will be used to summon assembled guests to cocktails. Beautifully engraved—solid brass—clear ringing tone. $2.50 postpaid.

4-COMPARTMENT LUNCH TRAYS

For serving television snacks, buffet suppers, bridge lunches. Of heavy polished, colorful plastic. In Chartreuse, Grey, Blue and Yellow. 4 to the set (one of each color) 16" long by 7" wide. $2.75 postpaid.

Send for 112 page Christmas Catalog.

CAUGHT NAPPING on the edge of your mantel, a "Sleepy Santa" takes a well deserved 40 winks before his trip back to the North Pole. And this jolly old elf makes the gayest candle ever to rest among your greens. He's six inches high, dressed in red with black boots, black mittens, natural face, and white whiskers. $1.45 ppd. Four Seasons Book Shop, 17 W. 8th Street, N.Y.C. 11.

YULE LOVE IT, all the necessary materials to turn out a gleaming white-crinoline Christmas Tree, to place in the window, to grace a living, dining, or bedroom. You can put it together yourself and admire your masterpiece right through Twelfth Night. Send one to someone dreaming of home. Stands 15 1/2" high. $1.69 ppd. Hobby Mart, 604 Penn Avenue, Pittsburgh 22, Pa.

TIP FOR GOOD SERVICE is a smart cart, handy as a staff of servants and much cheaper. Of stainproof, lightweight aluminum, it stands 37" high, has three 12" x 31" shelves, and rolls easily to the scene on casters. Folds flat without disassembling for a quick hideaway. A table, buffet, or bar, all in one. $12.95 ppd. Mrs. Damar, 711 Damar Building, Newark 2, New Jersey.

EVERYTHING STOPS FOR TEA, and a stopper of a tea service is imported from Stratford-on-Avon, England—where tea drinking is a national pastime. Made of highly polished aluminum, this wonderful 4-piece set won't tarnish, is always ready to serve. 4-cup size is perfect when someone drops in. Stay-cool bakelite handles. $4.98 ppd. Breck's, 632 Breck Bldg., Boston 10, Mass.

IT'S IN THE BAG! If you're all thumbs and never come up with an original Christmas gift wrapping, you'll swoop up these cuties and feel clever just having found them. Glamorized and dramatized brown-paper bags! Each dressed up with a different hand-printed design with matching tag and yarn. Just slip your gift in! Set of five, $1 ppd. Mary Ann Hedden, Millington, N.J.

SILENT NIGHT, HOLY NIGHT brings again the eternal wonder of the season. Holly boughs and Christmas trees, carolers outside, loved ones within—and the center of it all a tiny crèche. This beautiful little one is from the Tyrol district of the Italian Alps. Made entirely of wood, its nine figures are hand-carved and painted. 8" x 5", $3.50 ppd. Old Mexico Shop, Santa Fe, N.M.

A LITTLE COOKIE will find herself in a kitchen wonderland with a Small Fry Cooking Set. Constructed to scale of polished aluminum, everything works. Whistling tea kettle whistles, percolator has a pump, stem, and basket, and will actually make coffee. Also a 6" oval roaster, double boiler, fry pan, angel-cake and layer-cake pans. $1.95 ppd. Artisan Galleries, Fort Dodge, Iowa.

SOMEONE AT YOUR DOOR will get a hint of how charming it's going to be inside when they spy this wonderful door knocker made by hand of old brass keys gathered from trunks and attics in the Virginia farm country. Perfect touch for a Colonial or Provincial home to link the past with the present. 7 1/4" high. $7.95 ppd. Market Combers, Box 3282, Station "F," Atlanta, Georgia.

A FULL HEART for Christmas holds 4 oz. of fancy pecan halves, more pecans in the shell, and two 2 1/2 oz. jars of tropical jellies in a wicker, heart-shaped tray. What could be more welcome at a time when food and fun are kings. Check for a business associate, or a kind neighbor who takes your packages when you're out. $2.95 ppd. Stuckey's P.O. Box 301, Eastman, Georgia.

WE SEE IN THIS CRYSTAL BOWL a long and lovely life. It will often be the center of things holding flowers, fruit, or desserts. With handsome silver-plated servers, it is a distinctive salad bowl. Has appearance of heavy imported crystal. 10 1/2" bowl, $4.25. 12 1/2" Ambassador servers in tarnishproof bag, $4.25. Set, $8.75 ppd. House of Bertram, P.O. Box 598, Scarsdale, N.Y.

ACTION AUTOS

Youngsters will never tire of playing with this fleet of realistic cars! Windshield wipers really work, taximeters click, windows go up and down, guns move in police car, ambulance bell rings! Sturdily made of heavy gauge steel—rubber tires. Two-tone paint jobs make fleet colorful and appealing to children. Cars measure 4" x 1 3/4" x 1". Action autos were the hit of the recent toy show in New York. Fleet of 12—$2.95. $1.95 paid.

IMPORTED 12-PIECE ANGEL BAND

Heavenly music played by a celestial band. Delightful little Angels each with a different musical instrument—12 in all—including a baton-waving maestro! Each piece is hand carved from hardwood and colored in assorted pastel shades. They have wings and halos of gold! Hand made in Italy. 1 3/4" high. Set of 12—$2.95 post-high.

CHRISTMAS STOCKINGS

Real socks, big and little to be hopefully hung by the fireside by Mom, Dad and small fry! May be personalized with Labelon (150 inches in dispenser $1.00). Stuff the big socks with gifts and hang them on the tree. Use the little ones for gifts of money and small trinkets. Of soft combed cotton, these are real woven socks. Delightfully decorated in gay Christmas colors. Large socks—3 for $1.00—Miniature—6 for $1.00 post-high.

SHOPETTA

The newest idea in shopping lists. Easy to use and carry. Keep it in a handy place in the kitchen. As needs come to mind just flick the little red pin head from back to front, then when you are ready to go shopping drop Shopetta into your purse. It's wafer thin and only 3" in diameter. Lists over 40 household items. Made of Ivory plastic with decoration of blue and red $1.00 post-high.

"TULIP" SPOON REST

Cardinal's new contribution to kitchen convenience. A spoon rest for parking forks and spoons between stirrings and servings. Keeps sink tops clean. Prevents enameled stove tops from becoming stained and discolored. Gaily colored pottery. (Wonderful when canning fruits or vegetables or making jelly and preserves.) 69¢ each—$1.25 post-2 for $2.25 post-high.

JEWELRY POUCH

It's really exquisite! Made of lustrous Celanese taffeta, it is a traveling carrier for your most precious pieces. Draw cord closure prevents jewelry from slipping out of soft, individual compartments. Keeps jewelry from rubbing together. Equally good for home use. Here is the ideal gift for any woman who owns jewelry—and you'll want one for yourself too! Colors: Wine, Green, Purple, Char- treuse. With contrasting plush lining $1.95 post-high.

ATLAS PENCIL CORP. Dept. A, 22 Jones St., New York 14, N. Y.

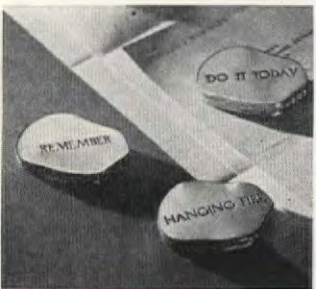

THE CENTER OF FESTIVITIES, let's face it, is the table—so bring out your double damask cloth or best mats, and aided and abetted by this colorful Christmas panel with its gay holiday scene, you'll have the most festive board a turkey ever graced. 48" long x 22" wide, it's washable and will last years. Dress up the buffet with another. $3.50 ea. ppd. Black & Co., Forest Hills, N.Y.

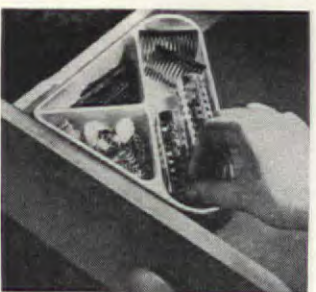

ON ITS METAL legs, this good-looking end table with its slatted-maple top brings as smartly styled a look to a room as you could hope for. And its easy airy look won't make a small room seem burdened with heavy furniture. A modern-minded would love one at each end of a sofa. 26" x 17" top, 18" high, $19.95 exp. coll. Jore & Co., Dept. A, 78 Fifth Ave., New York 11, N.Y.

YOU ONLY LIVE ONCE, so these delightful tiles give the word to Eat, drink, and be merry—but if you're a turkey, better watch out. Not exactly a surprise ending, but we get a laugh every time we show them. Hang in a kitchen, den, or bar for foolish reasons. 6" x 6", cork backed, metal loops. Set of 4, $5.95 postpaid. Sagtikos Workshop, Dept. A122, Little East Neck Rd., Babylon, N.Y.

ON TOP OF THE HEAP of unanswered letters a gold-plated paper weight admonishes Do It Today. Get completely organized by planking one with Remember on top of the bills, and Hanging Fire will hold down the pending questions. Super gift for a boss man—or his Girl Friday. Free-form shape, plush bottom, $2 each ppd. Four Maples, Somerstown Road, Ossining, N.Y.

IN THIS CORNER a handy, removable Drawer Tray holds jewelry, pins, odds and ends—and for our money it corners the problem of how to keep little things at hand. Quickly installed in any drawer with tacks or screws. Heavy-duty styrene in natural-cream finish, complete with mounting bracket. $1 ppd. 3 for $2.50. Sunset House, 8800 Sunset Blvd., Hollywood 46, California.

MATERIAL GAINS real distinction with the addition of hand-painted designs. Over 150 excellent designs can be achieved with a set which includes 6 sunfast, washable colors, stencils, brush, knife, complete instructions. Create your own designs for draperies, place mats, clothes. Colors can also be dry cleaned. $3 postpaid. Artone Color Corp., Dept. MO, 21 W. 3rd Street, N.Y.C.

1st Lieutenant
Lloyd L. Burke
U.S. Army
Medal of Honor

THE RED KOREAN strongpoint had stalled our attack; Lieutenant Burke saw that a breakthrough must be made. Rallying 35 men, he crept close to the enemy bunkers. He laid down a grenade barrage. Then, leaving the men under cover, he ran forward to an exposed knoll and opened a one-man pitched battle. He turned a light machine gun into the Red position. He caught live enemy grenades in mid-air and threw them back. Once, when surrounded, he killed three men with his pistol. Before sunset Lieutenant Burke and 35 men had defeated 300. The lieutenant says:

"Every day, men who fought in Korea are coming home to civilian lives again. They're finding jobs and opportunity—partly because they and you and I own nearly 50 billion dollars' worth of savings in U. S. Defense Bonds. For our Bond savings—which defend our country and protect our own families financially—are also helping all Americans by building the biggest backlog of national prosperity ever known. I think that's reason enough for investing in Bonds—don't you?"

Now E Bonds earn more! 1) All Series E Bonds bought after May 1, 1952 average 3% interest, compounded semiannually! Interest now starts after 6 months and is higher in the early years. 2) All maturing E Bonds automatically go on earning after maturity—and at the new higher interest! Today, start investing in better-paying Series E Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work or the Bond-A-Month Plan where you bank!

Plants of the Bible by Harold N. and Alma L. Moldenke. (Chronica Botanica Co.) Price $7.50. . . Culminating years of study, research, lecturing, and other writings, this 364-page book, with nearly 100 illustrations, extensive indices, bibliography, etc., is a scholarly "last word" on a subject of perpetual popular interest (discussed, by the way, in "Flowers of the Bible," page 89, in this issue). A reference book in size, format, content, it is, nevertheless, written in pleasant, readable style.

Paper Dolls, A Guide to Costume by Clara Hallard Fawcett. (H. L. Lindquist) Price $5.00. . . For anyone who ever loved dolls, this book will bring a feeling of nostalgia. Perhaps every little girl's first doll was a paper doll, if not a rag doll. Especially written for collectors, it is an authentic guide to proper costume, not only for paper dolls, but any fine old dolls. Many black and white illustrations faithfully drawn.

Chats on English China by Arthur Hayden. (A. A. Wyn) Price $3.00. . . New revised edition by Cyril G. E. Bunt. An interesting historical account of the various types of old English china so popular with present-day collectors. Simple, authoritative text is illustrated with important pieces of each make. A table of marks with a picture of each one, a glossary, and a bibliography conclude the volume.

Famous Paintings, An Introduction to Art for Young People by Alice Elizabeth Chase. (Platt & Munk Co.) Price $3.50. . . With 172 famous reproductions, 50 of them printed in Holland in fine full color, this book tells children in terms of their own experience what to look for in each painting and how the painter achieved his effect. Written by a teacher and lecturer at the Yale Univ. Art Gallery, it is a rare and thoughtful introduction to art and a truly beautiful addition to any youthful library.

The Best Loved Trees of America by Robert S. Lemmon. (Double-day) Price $3.50. . . Frankly a tree-lovers' book, it describes 59 species native to various parts of the U. S. Conversational, appreciative descriptions are supplemented by finely reproduced photographs that show each tree at different seasons, and intimate details of bark, foliage, etc., some neatly superimposed on a cross-section scale to show their size.

Plants, Man and Life by Edgar Anderson. (Little, Brown) Price $4.00. . . An absorbing account by a scientist and teacher, of some of the things man has done in turning wild plants into the cultivated ones he depends on for his existence.

Car travel bags—what will Koroseal do next?

YOU could drop any of those bags in the dirtiest puddle, wipe them clean and they'd be like new—because they're made of Koroseal flexible material. They'll still be like new after years of rubbing against swaying car sides.

It's the same kind of Koroseal material used in modern furniture upholstery—washable, practically scuffproof, looks new after any ordinary material would be worn, scratched and old looking.

You clean furniture upholstery with a damp cloth or you can use soap and water as often as you like. With little effort, almost no work, it's like having new furniture a dozen times a year.

Koroseal flexible material makes raincoats so light you can fold them into a pocket or purse—yet they won't stick even if you put them away wet. It makes garden hose a third lighter than ordinary hose, shower curtains, garment bags, baby pants and dozens of other things.

Whenever you want things that stay new looking, look for the Koroseal label. (If they don't have the label they're not real Koroseal.) The B. F. Goodrich Company, Koroseal Division, Marietta, Ohio.

Enjoy Winter More

BEHIND A BLANKET OF AIR

When architect Paul Ettington built his own home in Highland Park, Illinois, he planned to enjoy winter's beauty in comfort. He used *Thermopane insulating glass in every window.

Thermopane has a blanket of air sealed between its two panes. It makes windows self-insulating. What a difference! You can sit closer to windows without feeling drafts and chilliness. Your windows stay clearer and cleaner because Thermopane insulating glass cuts down steam and frost. It saves fuel. Thermopane insulates your home from outside noise. And in summer, it keeps your rooms cooler.

Shown above is a panel window of Thermopane insulating glass. The panels on the right tilt out; the other two are fixed. You can have single panels or various combinations of them—suitable for any room in the house. Ventilators and screens may be used in as many of the window panels as you wish.

Panel windows with Thermopane insulating glass can be built by an inexpensive method of framing. Some builders have found its cost comparable to that of a wall with single-pane, ordinary windows.

We'll gladly send you a free set of drawings showing how the panel window is built—complete information for you and your architect or builder. Dear Editor,

I'm writing you to pass on an idea that was not mine, but that of my 6-year-old son, Bobby.

We had been putting off getting our Christmas tree because we knew it would mean trouble for all the minutes it was up, because of Susie, our little girl. One night Bobby said, "Mommy, Susie won't stay in the play pen, so why can't we get our Christmas tree and put it in the play pen?" That's just what we did. Our tree now reigns within the play pen and Susie stands on the outside looking in. The gifts are all under the tree still safely wrapped and also have all the stickers still on!

Notice in the top picture how the telephone wires vanish when they reach the wall plate. The second picture shows how it's done—how you can improve appearances in the home you plan to build.

First, you select the places where you want telephones and mark them on your floor plans.

Then, your architect or builder has inexpensive pipe or tubing built into the walls at these spots. Later, when telephones are installed, these act as "secret passageways" for the telephone wires.

Sharing of the Greens

GLADYS GAGE DIBBLE

Christmas begins early in Birmingham, Mich., a Detroit suburb where the Christmas Open House and Flower Show, better known as the "sharing of the greens," opens early in December. Sponsored by the Birmingham branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association, it's been an annual event for 15 years.

The plan is to share ideas for Christmas decorations all through the house. As soon as the date is set, the Garden Club show committee sends each member a list of themes for inspiration, and local papers as well as the Detroit dailies carry cordial invitations to everyone to "come to the show." They do come, from all over

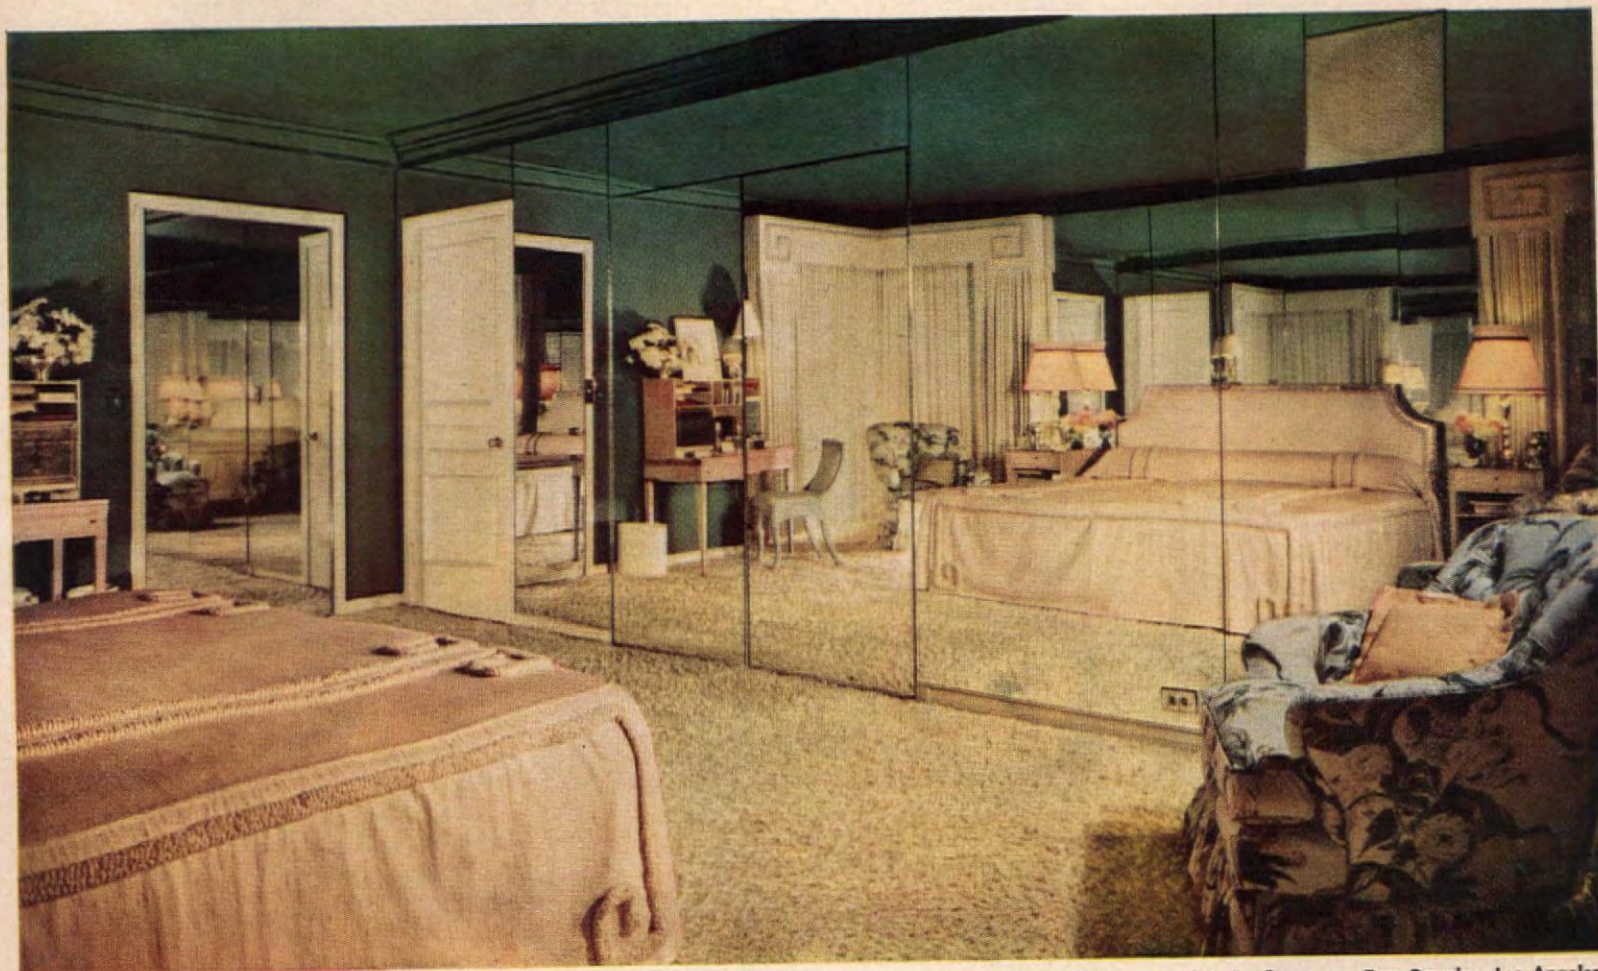

PLEASE TURN TO PAGE 88

Everyone—young and old—takes part in decorating the Community House. A staging committee helps direct the placing of exhibits, and all pitch in to tote and carry. Businessmen neglect the office in favor of the Christmas spirit and gaiety characteristic of Open House. The show is different every year; there have been carols by the high school glee club, and Christmas music by a trio

Follow the fashion for lovelier rooms

WITH GLAMOROUS PITTSBURGH GLASS

Interior Decorator: Tom Douglas, Los Angeles

HERE'S AN IDEA that will change any room . . . no matter how narrow, cramped, dark or neutral . . . into a fashionable beauty overnight. You merely panel one whole wall with mirrors of Pittsburgh Plate Glass like this. Immediately, your room looks bigger, brighter, far more colorful; it becomes a shining showplace full of charm and personality. A simple decorating job . . . but tremendously effective.

STRICTLY PRACTICAL but attractive, too, is a full-length door mirror of Pittsburgh Plate Glass. It helps you see yourself as others see you, makes good grooming easier. Every home needs several. These mirrors are simple to install . . . you can do it yourself. One of the five standard sizes . . . 16, 18, 20, 22 or 24 inches wide by 68 inches high . . . is sure to fit your door.

GLOOM GOES OUT THE WINDOW when glass lets in the view. A picture window like this, inviting the outdoors to share your home, admitting floods of cheerful daylight, is one important reason why even the tiniest homes are lovelier homes today. For such a window, use Solex Heat-Absorbing Glass, that keeps interiors 10 to 20 degrees cooler, or Pittsburgh Polished Plate Glass, or Twindow, the window with built-in insulation. All are famous for clarity and beauty.

*Open the door to beauty, comfort and safety with a CONCRETE HOUSE

Yes, you literally open the door to a house of lasting beauty as well as unexcelled comfort and protection when you build it with concrete foundations and subfloors and a firesafe roof.

You'll like the charm of concrete masonry walls. Inside and out they can be laid in a variety of distinctive patterns and can be finished in a wide choice of colors in durable portland cement paint.

You'll appreciate the comfort of a concrete house. When properly insulated, it is warm in winter, cool in summer, snug and dry in all seasons.

You'll want the safety of a concrete house. It gives your family and cherished possessions maximum protection from storms, earthquakes, termites, vermin, decay and fire. Remember, concrete can't burn!

Most of all you'll welcome the economy of a concrete house. Compared with other construction first cost is moderate. Its great durability means less maintenance and longer life. Result: low-annual-cost.

HOW TO GET A CONCRETE HOUSE . . . and what will it cost?

From a concrete masonry manufacturer get names of architects, builders and lending agencies with concrete house experience. Take your plans, sketches or ideas to the architect of your choice. He'll know about costs, can show you how to build economically with concrete. If not yet ready to build, send for booklet about concrete houses. It's free, but distributed only in the U. S. and Canada.

PORTLAND CEMENT ASSOCIATION

Dept. 12-5, 33 West Grand Avenue, Chicago 10, Illinois

A national organization to improve and extend the uses of portland cement and concrete . . . through scientific research and engineering field work

You'll enjoy great peace of mind in a concrete house. No haunting fear of fire. Concrete can't burn!

Remember when it seemed forever from one

Christmas to the next? Remember the mounting excitement as the day drew near, when you were riding the crest—and it was so wonderful you could hardly bear it? That kind of emotional crescendo, built up of anticipation and memory, blending visions of roller skates with visions of turkey, and of your delight in the look of Christmas, and the sound of Christmas, and the smell and taste of Christmas—a wonderful, wonderful memory it is, and the excitement of it something we must never lose.

But as adults, there is more than excitement and gaiety and satiety. It is the true meaning of Christmas. Upon us lies the grave responsibility of instructing our children in the religious significance of Christmas.

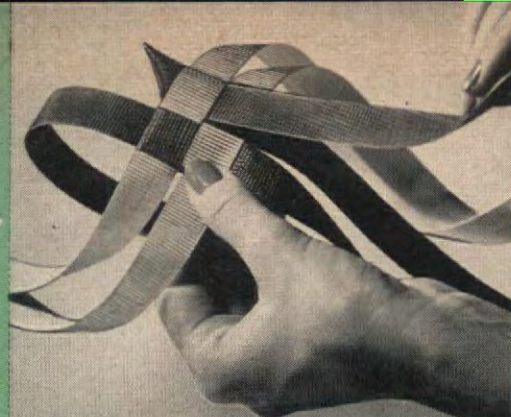

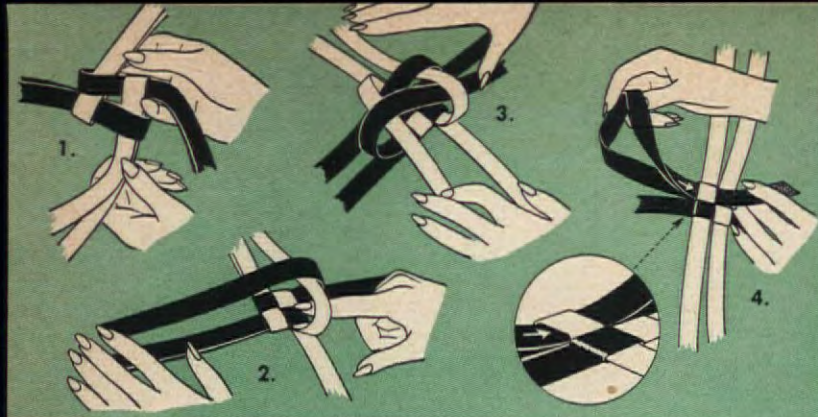

In all our Christmas decorating, our eating, and our gift-wrapping, have we forgotten that Christmas is a religious festival of joy, something greater than a family time of reunion? Are you, and your children, making the very rafters of your church ring with joy on this beautiful birthnight of the new-born Babe? Do the walls of the house we have so carefully nurtured into a home, and so painstakingly decorated, vibrate happily with the lusty family singing of the beautiful old carols—or does the radio sing our carols for us?

Have you made your children understand how very fortunate they are celebrating Christmas in America? Every Christian nation once made of Christmas something especially its own. Scandinavians scour their houses and hang paper streamers, let the children seek out their simple hidden gifts, go to church through starlit fields of snow at midnight, and scatter grain for the birds' Christmas. Spaniards, too, go to midnight mass on the "nochebuena." An Italian Christmas is not complete without the revered "presèpio," and in Holland they carry the great Star of Bethlehem on a pole through the streets. But there are many nations in the world this Christmas who are forbidden a Christian Christmas. There are separated families; little children starving and ill-clothed; our own boys cold and lonely in Korea. By all means, let our homes be beautiful and our Christmas greetings gay. Let us exchange gifts and eat bountifully—but let us not in our well-being lose the art of simple happiness that comes with sharing, remembering the unfortunate, being humble even while our souls rejoice. These are the real things of Christmas that are our children's birthright—the big gift we can give them this Christmas. And now, from our house to your house, from our families to your family—a kindly, sincere hope that this Christmas may more nearly approach the lovely, holy thing it should be—in your house and our house. May the blessedness of giving and the goodness of sharing, the great gift of humility stay with us all, long after Christmas Day is over.

STAR: (1) Use four strips of ribbon, each one 24" long—two one color, two another. Fold each strip in half. Make basket weave of the strips, and pull all of the ends until the formation is tight and even all around. (2 & 3) Lift the top ribbons, and weave one across the other until you have a second basket weave. Then pull all of the ends taut

Now start making the points. First bring one loose end toward you, and slip it into one open side, as shown in Sketch 4 at your left. With thumb and forefinger, turn loop inside out, and pull through until loop forms a triangle or point when creased, as shown above. Repeat on other three sides. You'll now have four star points

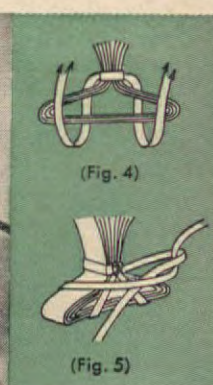

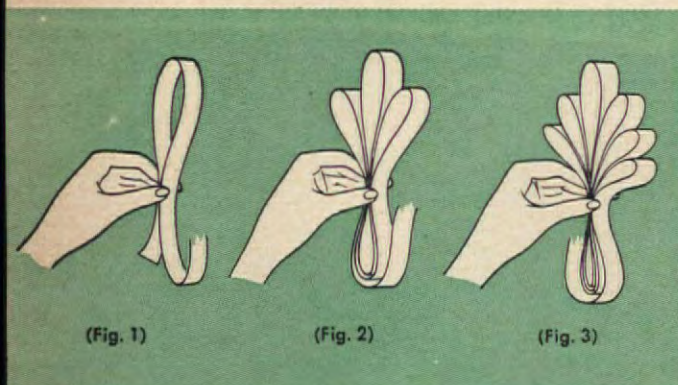

Turn formation over, and continue same procedure to form four points on this side, too. You now have eight points

New Bows for

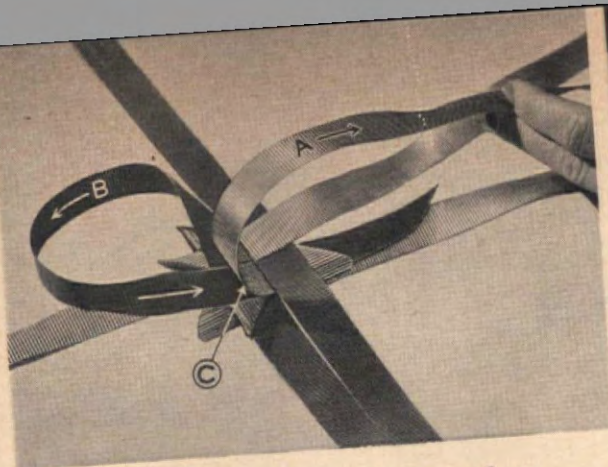

BELL: Used singly or in pairs, these ribbon springs, formed into bells, announce your good wishes. (1) Hold end of ribbon between thumb and forefinger. Wrap ribbon around thumb to form a ring. Continue in this fashion, making each ring larger than the one before. Make nine or ten rings. Cut ribbon from roll close to thumb. (2) Using a narrow strip, tie all rings together tightly. (3) Leave two long ends of narrow strip for attaching to package

TREE: (1) Holding ribbon by edges, make high loop which is tree's top, and low loop which is base. (2) Continue ribbon upward to make first "branch," lower than the tree top. Then bring working end of ribbon around under the base to form a matching second branch on other side. (3) Repeat, graduating the height, until there are three branches on each side

Bring working end of ribbon around under base, and cut it off under bottom branch. Tie trunk securely at edge, using narrow strip. Leave two long ends for attaching to package

To make the tree stand, flatten out the base with your fingers, and tie with narrow ribbon as shown in (4) and (5). Standing pertly or lying flat on a package, this little yule tree is equally effective. A small version, with place card attached, would be charming on a holiday table

To make standing center points, fold toward you one of the top light-color strips (A) and hold between fingers. Take dark strip (B), which is at right angles to (A), twist it counter-clockwise, and slip it into slot (C) under raised ribbon. Pull toward you to form point

Repeat procedure three more times until there are four standing points. Turn formation over to other side; make four more standing points. Now you have four flat points and four standing points on each side

Close to star, snip off all but one extending ribbon. Split this lengthwise to form narrow strip for attaching to package. Cut off wider portion

Christmas

See "Where Credit Is Due" on page 92

To form into bell, start at the knot and pinch top with right hand. Half way down, press the ribbon rings together with your thumb and the index finger of your left hand

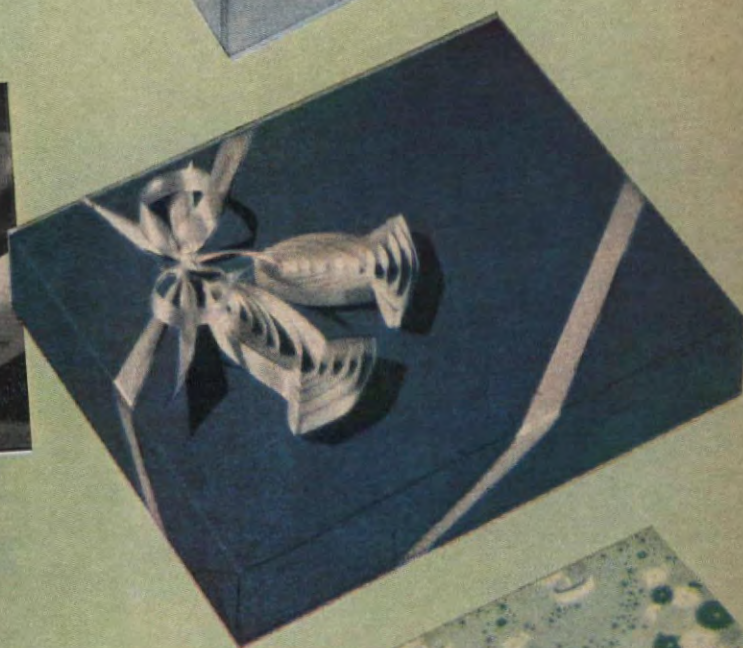

Holding bell at halfway point with thumb and index finger of your right hand, press the lower portion upward with your left hand to shape bottom of the bell

An added sparkle isn't essential, but it's always attractive on a package. To make the tree glisten, first dab rubber cement rather lightly on the tips of the loops and on the front of your tree

Before the rubber cement has had a chance to dry, sprinkle over it the silver glitter you can buy in dime or art-supply stores. An old salt shaker makes an excellent sprinkler for glitter

"Ma, please—may we have the kitchen tonight?" Requests like this from the teen-agers tell the real news behind our fabulous new kitchens. With their convivial air, they recall pioneer kitchens—but Great-grandmother's kitchen never had it so good. Taking into account all the advances made in the 20th century, the kitchen is still the most advanced room in the house. Those you see here would be less hospitable if dishes were washed by hand and if exhaust fans didn't keep the air sweet, and they stay pretty as well as efficient because of modern finishes and materials. They're automatic as B-36's, but we take their mechanical marvels in our stride, and now have the sense to make them look as well as they act. If you like greens and reds, mauves and pinks, if candy-cane stripes lift your spirits, why not use them in the kitchen—who said they're not "right" there, just because nobody was imaginative enough to use them before?

The custom-built beauties below, and the small-house kitchen at your right show that all Americans are kitchen-proud. Women are proud of their culinary skills, and like an audience—in the kitchen. Morning coffee, two family meals a day, teen-age do's, midnight snacks, a setting for hobbies—all are now in the kitchen. And now that we live in them, they have to be attractive. Note the use of wood tones, so much softer, so much easier to maintain, than the laboratory whites used to be. Natural wood finishes come in ready-made cabinets, and some combine wood with metal. Use wood straight—or glazed with color. Washable plastics and papers, floorings and surfacings also give you an endless range of color choice.

Many things, including our attitude toward living, advanced the kitchen to the status of a living area—not just a room for cooking. If the kitchen is planned to harmonize with the rooms beyond, you can open the doors and the pass-throughs to make it, and yourself, a part of what's going on elsewhere. A remodeled kitchen like the Carters' can be as attractive as one built from scratch—and if the space is narrow, note the advantages of slant-front cabinets with sliding doors. As befits a kitchen that's almost a part of the living room, cabinets with drawers "engineered" for the things they're to hold, are real furniture, with handsome hardware and finishes as good as those on furniture in other rooms. Or, if you prefer metal and white for your cabinets, you can give excellent color value to the white by contrasting it with colored backgrounds and gay accents. The point is—no more stark, sterile kitchens for solitary confinement for Mother—No Sir!

"Do they all need special plumbing?"

Did you think dishwashers were something new? Actually, they're not, for both commercial and domestic types have several decades of experimentation in good hard use behind them. But they have been big news in the past five years since mechanical improvements and the development of improved detergents have banished the old kinks and caused the customers, male and female, to line up on the right to buy them by the hundreds of thousands, in rapidly increasing numbers each year. And no wonder, for no single appliance saves Mother more work—or Dad more pangs of conscience, since dishwashing was the one household chore he was always around to take over—or to try to ignore uneasily. Now Mr. and Mrs. can rinse 'em and stack 'em in a few minutes flat, turn on the dial—and go out to the movies, while the dishes wash and dry themselves.

It's not only the work that it saves, but the kind of work—one of the messiest, least agreeable jobs in all homemaking—which accounts for most sales of dishwashers. But this blessed machine has another virtue, less widely heralded but at least as important: it protects your family's health. Many a handwashed dish which looks clean, isn't. Hand washing often fails to remove the soap film, and soap film makes an excellent culture for germs to grow in. Also, the human hand can't stay for long in water hot enough to wash dishes really clean—but the dishwasher can, and in so doing it keeps many a cold from passing around the family.

But, let's get back to the work it saves you. If you're the hypothetical "average" woman, you're destined to wash some 2,500,000 dishes in your lifetime—a mighty heap. And even with a small family of four, a dishwasher can save you literally 30 eight-hour days a year—one whole month of working time! We did a detailed time and motion study on it several years ago (published in our May, 1950 issue), and found that hand washing the average number of dishes (not including serving dishes or utensils) for an average family of four would take approximately 466 hours, as against 213 hours by machine. And the number of motions saved was astronomical.

And what does it cost? Well, if you count up those saved working hours, and balance them off against the hourly wage paid to household help when you can get it, you'll see that the average dishwasher pays for itself in about a year—and certainly your own time and your own back are worth as much to you as hired Hulda's. But assuming you're not hiring any Huldas, washing dishes by machine costs you only a few pennies a day more than washing by hand—and that includes amortizing the cost of the dishwasher over its lifetime, the cost of the detergents, and the cost of the electricity and hot water. (The machine uses less detergents and hot water than good hand methods.)

Dishwashers will handle everything, from the "horribles" to the finest of crystal and china (the only exception is certain types of decorated wares). If your family is large, you scrape out the dirty pots and pans, and let the washer

Maybe Grandpa and Grandma had taste, but when it came to houses it wasn't always very good taste, at least not by today's standards. And then again, maybe it was all Great-Grandpa's fault. Anyway, before it was remodeled, this home had just about everything you wouldn't want. The roof had more hips than the Florodora Sextette, and if there were any pleasing exterior lines, they were killed by balconies and porches scattered at random. Austere windows completed the job of making this as depressing and unattractive a house as you'd want to run across on a stormy night.

In short, this was just the sort of house that is usually either torn down, or sold—cheap—to people enterprising enough to do something with it. There are thousands of big old places like it on pleasant old streets now zoned so that part of the downstairs can be remodeled into income-producing offices. Dr. and Mrs. Naselli, happily, decided neither to sell nor demolish; they remodeled, and a quick glance at the "after" picture will tell you what a wise choice this turned out to be. The hip roof disappeared, and in its place appeared a nice, simple pitched roof with a large gable. The single-pane, double-hung windows were ripped out in favor of nine-pane sashes, and each window was equipped with wood shutters. More important, the windows were relocated to harmonize with the exterior. On the first floor at the front, two large bay windows were used to flank the simple entry. Porches and balconies were ripped away, and, we sincerely trust, burned. And to top it off, the whole thing was painted a warm and inviting color which the original builders would never have dreamed of using on the outside of a house.

Changes took place on the inside, too. On the first floor, the pantry was combined with kitchen, and a laundry room added. The doctor's office was redesigned for greater efficiency. Upstairs, two small bedrooms were combined into one big one, and a dressing room was made out of a linen closet and a useless hallway.

Through good planning and the proper selection of materials, this house has been given an attractiveness and dignity it never had before, and a look that will still be pleasing 104 years from now.

Textured walls have been with us for years, but the great good news about them these days is that they've "caught on" so that manufacturers offer them in a wide range of plastics, plywoods, and other materials. No wonder they're so popular—in addition to their style, there's the easy maintenance, for it's a cinch to keep them good as new, some with a vacuum cleaner, others with just a damp cloth. They last for decades, and though you can paint over them, they require no such refurbishing. Save for the luxurious grass cloths, most of these long-lived wall coverings compare favorably in price with high-style, hand-printed wallpapers. The biggest news is in the plastics, the least expensive materials we show here. Permanent color can be built right into them so you have your choice of high "decorator" shades as well as the neutrals, and they are made to simulate many texturally interesting materials—split bamboo, rough weaves, straw squares, even brick, are some effects you'll find in addition to those we illustrate. They are handsome enough to do you proud in the living room, and practical enough for areas where they'll get plenty of hard wear.

Whenever a fashion in anything so basic as wall coverings takes hold, it usually goes hand in hand with other home-furnishings fashions, and with contemporary architectural styles as well. Textured walls are no exceptions—they are excellent companions to the currently favored textured carpets and fabrics, and architecturally, they are ideally suited to contemporary rooms where long, uninterrupted walls face walls of windows. A textured surface picks up the play of light and shade and makes the wall decorative in itself. But regardless of the architecture or the decorative style of your room, textured walls are a delight because they are so lively that they require no pictures, although, as art galleries discovered long ago, they make a perfect background for art.

1. Imagine how dull a flat wall would be here, and you'll see how dramatically a textured surface, thoughtfully lighted, decorates a room. Hand-woven grasses are the most costly and luxurious of the textured wall coverings

2. Look again—this isn't another woven matting, but a clever translation into washable plastic which costs about 30¢ a square foot, comes in rolls like wall paper. You can have your choice of nine permanent colors

3. Striated plywood, an ideal background, or handsome alone with good lighting, comes by the sheet in natural wood finish, but can be stained or painted. It's easy to install by countersinking finishing nails and covering the holes with plastic wood. About 33¢ a square foot

4. These striations come by the roll in three colors—in plastic. Later on, you can change the color with a coat of paint if you like. It costs about 18¢ a square foot

GIVE WALLS A NEW DIMENSION

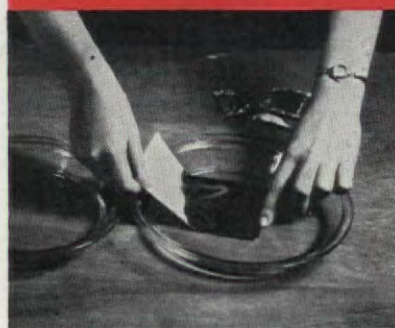

Making small photograms (up to 4" x 6") doesn't require a darkroom. You need these items in addition to object forming the design: three small pans for mixing, and larger one for washing (glass or enamel, not metal); a standard measuring cup; a lamp with 150-watt bulb. Chemicals to make 50 photograms come in a 20¢ package; a developer, stop bath, and fixer—which you use in that order

Use different glass or enamel pan for each chemical, and mix each with 8-oz. water. There are four packets—two are used to form developer. Stir with glass or plastic stirrer, or your fingers, until chemical dissolves

Here's How!

Use special photographic paper for processing in subdued light—one sheet at a time. Place object used for design on glossy side of paper, and turn on lamp. With a 150-watt bulb, the exposure takes about one minute. You can use weaker bulb—but it takes longer

Place exposed paper in the developing solution. Move it about until paper is a strong black and design a sharp white (about one minute). Lift by corner, let it drip, and put in stop-bath for 15 seconds

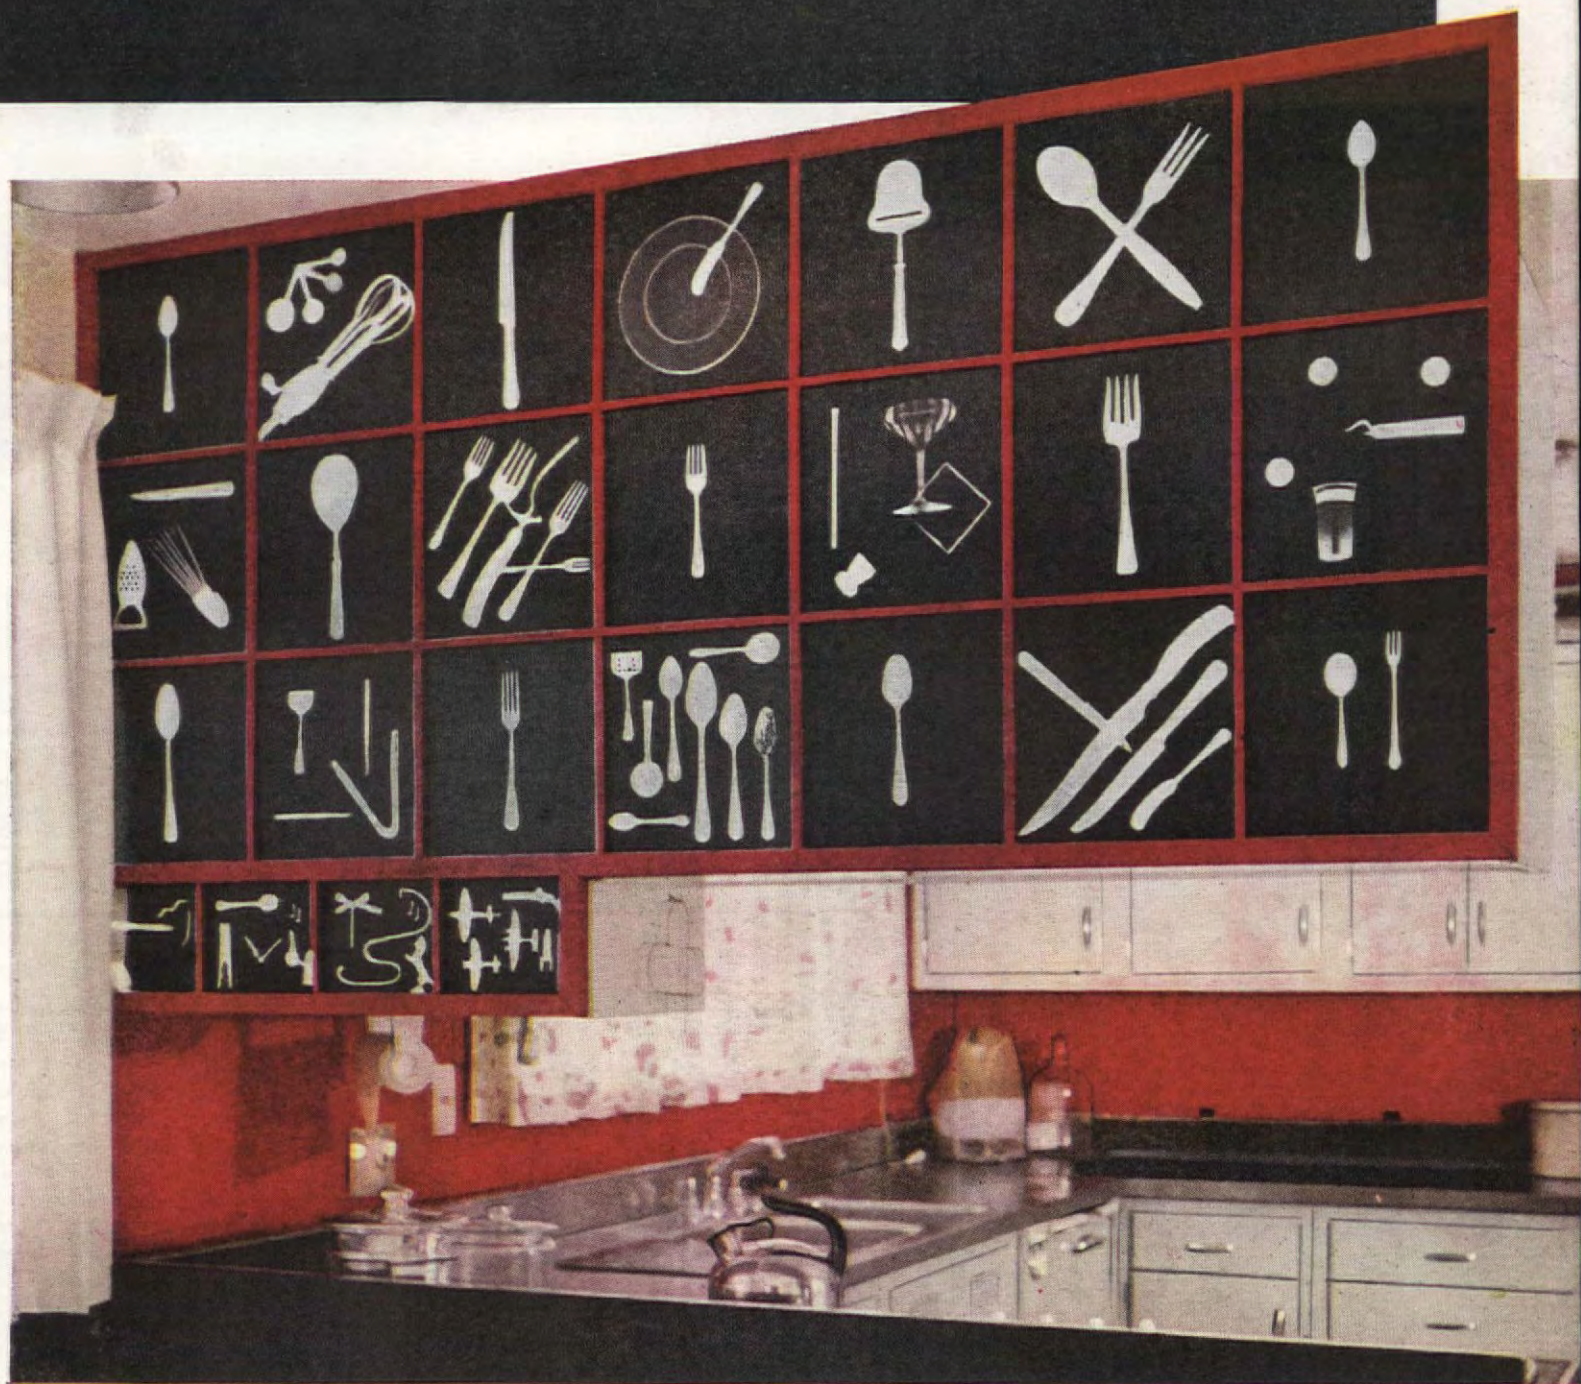

From stop-bath, transfer photogram to fixer solution. Let it stay 2–10 minutes. Wash hands at this point to avoid getting stop-bath solution into other trays

Photograms must be very well washed, if possible in changing water. Place in glass or enamel pan in sink, and allow water from faucet to run over them. Place something under pan to make sure drain does not close. If you can't use running water, wash photograms in 10 changes of water

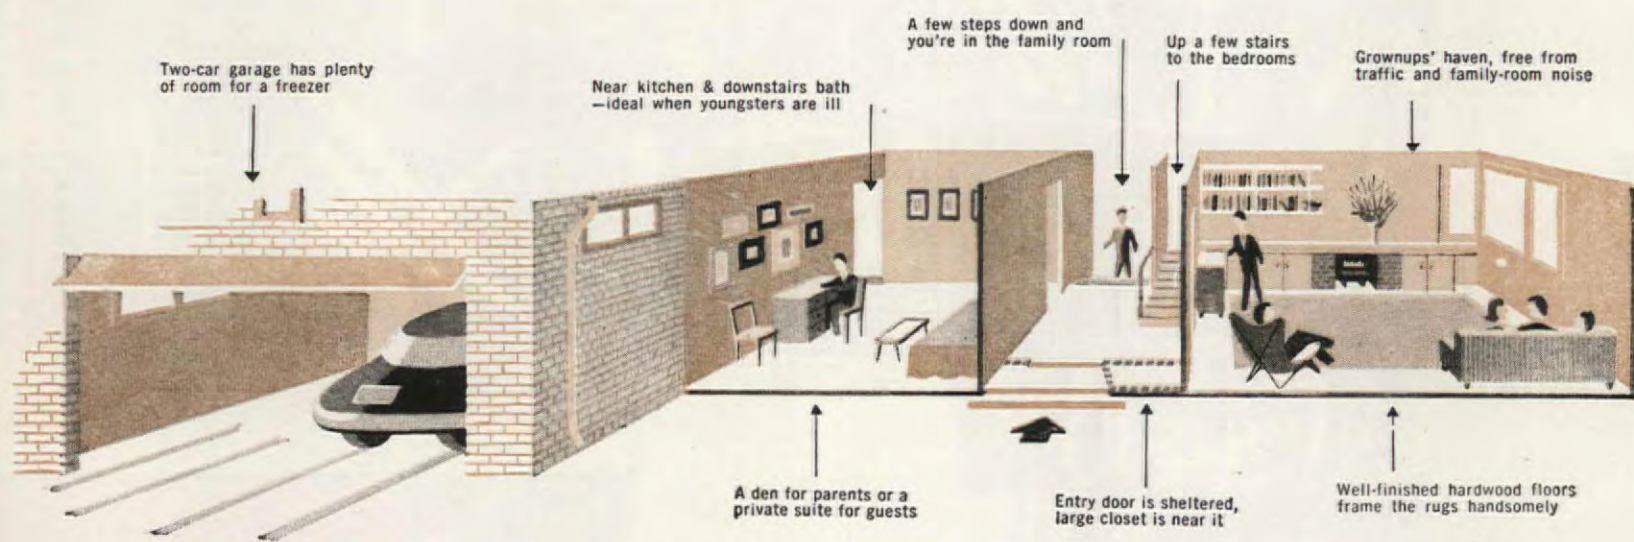

To dry, place on lintless towel. Speed drying by patting with second towel. If they curl when dry, press lightly with warm iron. If you wish to repeat an intricate design, paint or paste it on glass. You can work in normal room light, but avoid sunny windows and bright light

Design your Own Photograms

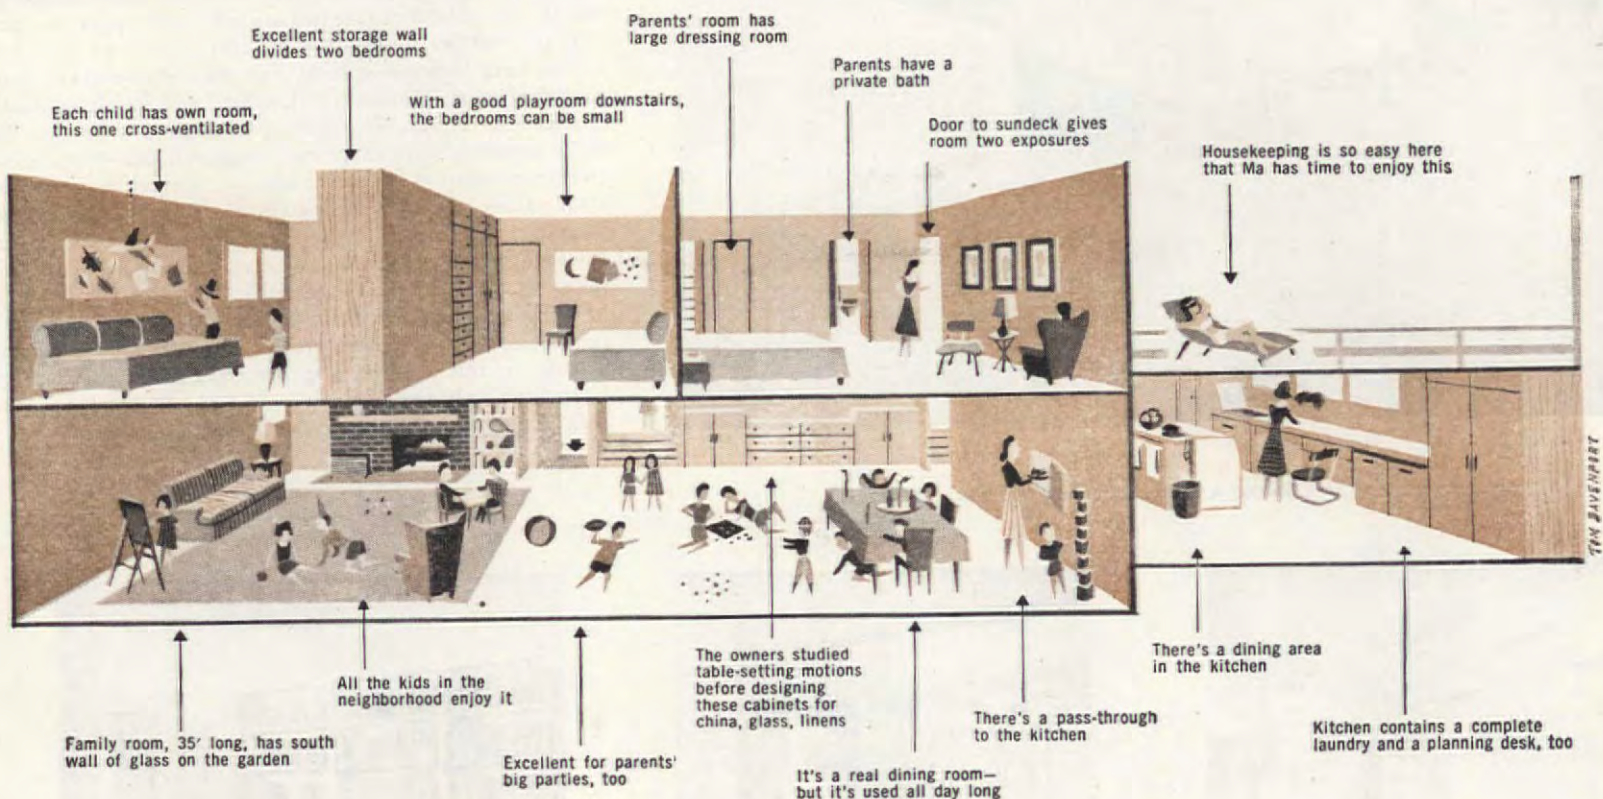

IN THE HOME OF MR. & MRS. W. B. BRUMMITT

Here's a useful twist to an old pastime—photograms which are negative images of any object which casts a shadow or has open areas through which light can pass. It's "photography" sans camera, and sans darkroom too, for the smaller sizes. And now it's easy and foolproof, thanks to modern developing chemicals and photographic papers made for processing in subdued light. You can make them from your own designs on glass, as well as from other objects, and your imagination is the only limit to your compositions and to the way you use them. The jaunty photogram wall above, made of units 10 inches square, did require a darkroom for developing. These prints were made on 0 double weight enlargement paper, then mounted on light cardboard and sprayed with a protective plastic coat.

Conforms on the Outside— Performs on the Inside

OWNERS: MR. AND MRS. HARRY W. KNIGHT
ARCHITECTS: PERKINS AND WILL, A.I.A.

When an efficiency expert builds himself a home, it needn't be a cross between the inside of a submarine and a Pullman compartment—it can be a darn good house, like this. Maybe it takes this sort of expert to know that a good way to get the advantages of a two-story house without long stairways is to build on three levels with just a few steps between, and that the best home for kids is one with plenty of room for individuals—and for the family as a whole. And making a study of the motions you use putting things away and getting them out certainly helps when you're designing built-ins. This home of a time and motion study expert was planned for the kind of efficiency it takes to run a house and family, and still have time to enjoy life.

We think it's something pretty special in the way of house design, so stay with us while we explain how it works. When you enter the front door, there is a living room for grownups on one side and a study with bath on the other. A few steps down from this level get you to the living area of the house, a big combination family and dining room, all glass on one side, 35' long, and big enough for 60 people, but not too big for three or four. The kitchen-laundry room is down here, too. Now go back up to the entrance hall and take that short flight of stairs, and you land on the sleeping level—three bedrooms, two baths, master's dressing room, plenty of closets, attic storage space, and a sundeck. For some pictures of the interior, see page 80.

HOW TO KEEP A BUDGET

These suave rooms would be well worth showing just as a decorating "lesson"—for example, to illustrate the knowing effect you can achieve by creating what experts call an "ambiance" of one single color—seafoam green in the bedroom here, café-au-plein-of-lait in the living room. You can take any shade which is light but not trite, and use it on walls, ceilings, woodwork, repeat it at the windows, and echo it on the floor to create a harmonious color environment in which your favorite strong colors are bound to look well as accents. It's a decorator's trick laymen can apply. But the real point of this story is that a decorator did it here—on a budget which he kept from budging, as well as from showing.

Decorator Don Creighton knew his stuff, and his clients, the Angus Parkers, knew theirs—which was, on a low budget, to pick an expert decorator and give him carte blanche. Mrs. Parker had confidence in her own good taste, but she knew that Decorator Creighton's background and day-to-day contacts would enable him to ferret out good buys. To keep the cost of his services low, she made few demands on his time: she settled for an initial long conference to discuss general plans, styles, and colors—and then left it up to him. She gave him a free hand in allocating the funds, let him save in one place to splurge in another.

It paid off beautifully. For instance, he picked up a fine sofa at bargain price—a lucky find his client wouldn't have happened upon. Because of this, he could invest in costly dining-room chairs. To offset some expensive fabrics, he made bedspreads of penny-wise cotton and jute—very effective. Other signs of his good budgeting abound. Some living-room tables, and the dining-room table and server started as ordinary unpainted pieces, but he treated them to an excellent fruitwood finish, to metal grillwork, and to fine pulls—and still stretched the dollars. As a matter of fact, he stretched them enough to justify those impressive shutters which set the dining area off from the living room. Thanks to this fine working arrangement, Creighton delivered not only the debonair good looks that you see, but high quality in construction and materials as well.

Wallpaper, smartly applied, turned this hall into a very good spot wherein a carpenter-built chest, covered in a luxurious silver mottled paper, is as proud as a costly antique. The niche surrounding the chest is also clever wallpaper camouflage of built-in cupboards and drawers.

Many an old chest, or unpainted new one, could be given similar treatment. First remove hardware and moldings, make sure the surface is clean, and that old finish is removed. Then apply a coat of glue size, and allow it to dry. If drawers fit snugly, like those of the polka-dot cupboards, you can try this "lazy" method of pattern matching: measure off the pattern to be sure it's centered, then apply wallpaper paste or a cellulose adhesive to the paper and, after shutting drawers or doors tightly, run the paper down the length of the object you're covering, just as if it were a wall. While paper is still slightly damp, cut openings for doors and drawers with a sharp razor blade, and press down cut edges to seal tightly. For an exacting job like the silvered chest, cut paper in individual panels to fit drawer fronts and chest framing, matching your pattern carefully. Then apply paper, one panel at a time. Half-round moldings may be papered or painted, and then nailed in place after chest is papered. When the whole job is dry, protect it with a plastic spray or several coats of shellac. Finally, put the hardware in place.

Motif of "Panelled Grape" water pitcher below is typically Mid-Victorian in its richness, and a fine example of mold-maker's art. Grapes in high relief, curling leaves in stippled glass, stand out from a brilliant clear-glass body. Indiana dealers claim this as a product of their state. Fine ribbed "Bellflower" goblet, one of the earliest and most popular of pressed-glass designs made for general table use, was produced by many factories. The fact that examples are fairly easy to acquire detracts not at all from the beauty of the pattern.

Sculptured rock crystal in Classic designs inspired many pressed-glass patterns, and in those shown above, frosted glass combined with clear for contrast. On dish at the left, lion appears in low relief and in the full round. Center compote in "Westward Ho" pattern is topped by a crouching Indian, while a log cabin, bison, and deer appear around its satin-finished frosted body. The "Three Face" compote, reminiscent of hand-carved Renaissance types, shows what great artistic effects were achieved in 19th-century pressed glass. The design, credited to George Duncan's Pittsburgh firm, was never imitated.

Data from Lorraine Burgess

Pressed Glass—Something for All

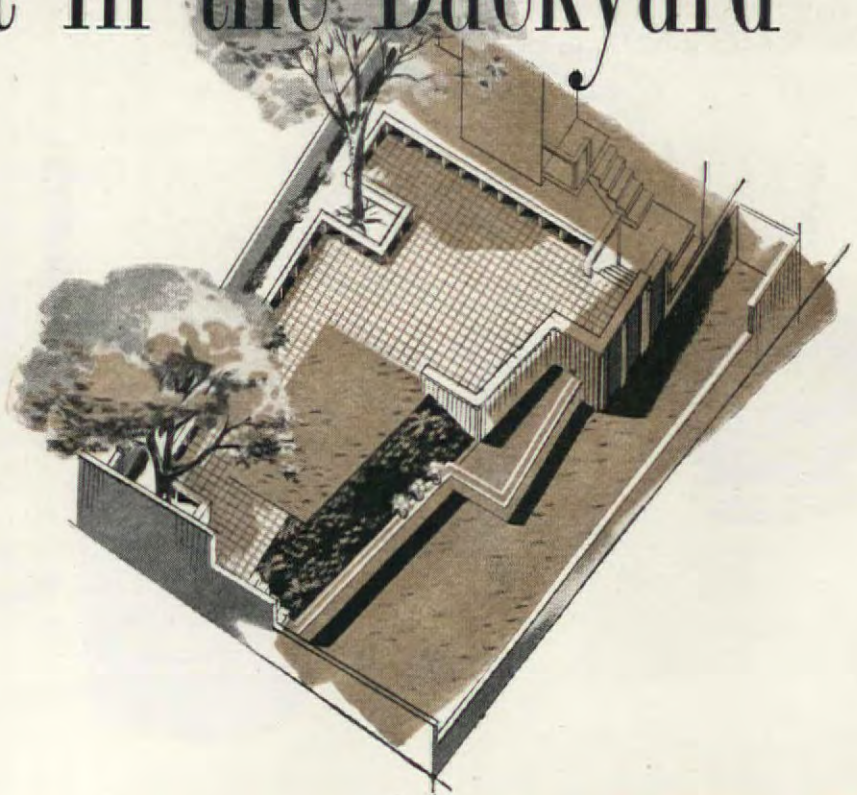

There was a pressed-glass pattern for every taste, all involving raised designs to reflect the light and make glass sparkle. Some were rare, as the covered compote here; others, made for everyday use, were so plentiful that they are sometimes referred to as "Early Woolworth"—but only by those too blind to see that beauty need not be pedigreed. The "Rose in Snow" on the small sauce dish was one of the best-known motifs. The compote is "Coin," made only during the year 1892 to commemorate the centennial of the U. S. Mint (because the glass coins were similar to actual U. S. coins, the pattern violated a Federal law and was discontinued). The "Bird and Strawberry" spoon holder makes an excellent small vase, while the graceful goblet is pretty and sentimental, as the "Bleeding Heart" which decorates it.

It's All Right in the Backyard

Doing all the construction, planting, and other work himself, the owner made this garden transformation at an actual cash outlay of less than $500, as follows: Brick $165; plants, lawn seed $42; redwood lumber $225; grading (done by hand) $50; topsoil (lawn, etc.) $15

A Success Story

You can take that title whichever way you like. The views on these three pages are "all right in the backyard" (45' x 35') of the Oakland, California, home of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Tong. And, just as truly, the two-level garden development designed by San Francisco landscape architects Theodore Osmundson and John Hedges Staley and carried out by the owner with his own hands and tools, made everything "all right in the backyard" for the whole Tong family—both the parents and their friends and the two children and their playmates.

To start with, the house was an old, rather large one; the lot was nearly five feet lower on one side than on the other; at opposite ends of the high side stood two large trees—a Bing cherry and a pepper-tree (Schinus molle)—which had to be saved; and the results desired were (a) a livable patio near the house, and (b) a separate play yard for the children. The solution made the most of the sloping terrain by establishing the two areas on different levels. By running the dividing line diagonally from front to rear, it provided, on the upper level, the pleasant 25' x 15' brick-paved patio shown above, from which a 4' brick path skirts a 10' x 15' lawn panel. On the lower level, and conveniently observable, is the grassed play space, 40' deep and 15' wide at the far end. From the house to the end of the patio, a 4' high sturdy wall of redwood retains the bank and forms a backing for a sandbox, the front of which is an 18" redwood toe-wall that extends to the back of the yard at the base of the slope up to the lawn. Wooden stairs at both ends of the garden connect the two areas. An existing low brick retaining wall left along patio and path was topped with a 2" x 10" redwood coping extended to form seats around the trees.

That few plants can excel the Orchid Cacti in the size and rich and varied colors of their flowers is evident in the blossoms shown at the right from these representative named varieties: 1. Celestine, whose hardiness belies its delicate beauty; 2. Amber Queen; 3. Dawn, which may bear six open flowers at a time; 4. Sun Goddess; 5. Sunburst, with blooms often eight inches across; 6. Fairyland, whose blossoms, odorless by day, later emit a fragrance that attracts night-flying insects. These lovely subjects belong to a race of hybrids of the Epiphyllum cacti which originated in Europe more than a century ago. In the hands of collectors, the new hybrids gave rise to several hundred varieties that sold at fabulous prices. Then, less than 30 years ago, H. M. Wegener of Los Angeles imported some and, by crossing them with native American species, soon built up an outstanding collection. Other West Coast growers became enthusiastic over the "new" cacti and have developed several thousand varieties of unsurpassed beauty and color range. Their easy culture and long-lasting flowers make them highly effective and practical house plants, like the one at the left.

Like all members of the cactus family, they are drought-resisting. The long, green, leaflike joints have a wooden core surrounded by water-storing tissue, and the aerial roots that often develop at the tips and along the midribs of the joints take moisture from the air. They can be grown in a living room or other part of the house in any humid climate, or outdoors where the temperature does not go below freezing. My sister in Michigan has some beautiful plants (grown from cuttings I sent her) which she keeps on the porch all summer and, in winter, in the house, where each plant gets half a cup of water once a week. Here in Arizona, where the annual rainfall averages about 4 inches, I have to keep mine in a lath house (and sprinkle them every day) in summer, and in the garage over winter. Grown in baskets, they are ideal to hang in grape arbors, in the shade of large trees, or in any sheltered place where they can be sprinkled with a hose every day or two. Or they can be planted in ordinary red-clay pots, or in colored, glazed ones. Rooted or unrooted cuttings are not expensive, they present no shipping problem as they can remain unplanted for several weeks in cool weather, and as they grow they

WATCH YOUR ACCENT!

GERTRUDE BRASSARD

You could place any of the plates above against a dozen different backgrounds, varying the texture and the color and the weaves, and come up with a new personality each time. A dozen different settings with one lone set of dinnerware—and all of them good! Our pairs show how it's done. For one variation, don't forget white damask, which hasn't changed a whit in loveliness since the days when it was the only "correct" thing for dinner. But color has brightened our lives, so use it lavishly—and well. You are perfectly safe with any hue in your plate's pattern—and when you're sure of yourself, you can venture beyond, as we did when we used pink with those bold leaves. There's nothing to keep you from using a second accent color, either—we tried a toast-toned napkin on the darker cloth in the lower right, and it did wonderful things. Colored glassware gives your settings an extra dimension and multiplies the possibilities: for instance, in that middle pair, reverse the glasses for two new effects, both excellent. But your sterling flatware takes care of itself—so well educated is it that it speaks any language assigned to it.

1. With its definite, modern pattern, Universal's "Autumn Leaves" looks dainty and fragile against rose, archly sophisticated against spicy tones. Lunt's "Early American" sterling, Heisey's "Sultana" stemmed goblet, Fostoria's "Capri" footed goblet, Hardycraft mat, other linens by Liddell

2. As 18th-century British as Boswell, Spode's "Mayflower" assumes a country air with a sturdy linen mat (red or green would be good, too), city manners with white linen damask. Oneida's "Stanton Hall" Heirloom Sterling. West Virginia Glass goblet in upper picture, Tiffin's "Twilight" goblet below. Flaxmat and napkin by Leacock. Damask, Liddell

3. Syracuse "Temple Bells" dinnerware seems traditional as Christmas with white, new as springtime with color. Against deep blue or green it has still another character. Gorham's "Rondo" sterling, "Wedding Band" stemmed goblet by Cambridge, "Driftwood" footed goblet by Imperial, Simtex "Wild Rose" damask, Ellison & Spring colored cloth

We have a theory in our American Home that Christmas really begins in the kitchen—and perhaps it's a carry-over from the days when we peeked on tip-toe at the sugar-coated molasses cookies and the plump fruit cakes as they stood in the pantry to mellow. But these “good old days” really aren't gone, and Christmas Dinner and its joyous prelude have changed precious little. We wouldn't dream of tampering with the familiar Christmas menu itself, but we do know that new variations on all themes are mighty interesting. That's why we offer six kinds of stuffing—everything from a bread-and-onion basic to the Brazil nut variety. Here are seven ways with creamed onions, five kinds of cranberry jelly done up with wintry spice or blended with sunshine fruits. Take your choice of four methods of blending easy-to-use packaged mincemeat, then, as grace notes, make fudge, candied peel, glazed nuts—variations of each. And please don't miss our “eatingest” way for the “planned-over” bird to win laurels as a buffet-party pie.

• the perfect cheese cake

MAKING THE SHELL:

Mix with pastry cutter: 1 cup sifted, enriched, all-purpose flour
 ¼ cup granulated sugar
 1 tsp. grated lemon rind
 ¼ tsp. vanilla extract

Cut in ½ cup butter; add 1 egg yolk. Shape into mound; wrap in waxed paper. Chill at least 1 hour.

Preheat oven to 400° F. Place ⅓ dough between floured pieces of waxed paper. Pat and stretch with fingers over ungreased bottom of 9" spring form, removing side. Trim to fit. Bake until golden brown (about 10 min.). Cool, leaving on pan bottom as is. Increase oven temperature to 500° F.

Grease side of spring mold, fit over cooked base. Form remaining dough into a thick rectangle. Cut in half lengthwise. Line side of pan, patting and stretching it to fit. Patching won't hurt—but it must be paper thin and completely cover side.

CHEESE FILLING:

Beat until fluffy: 2½ lbs. soft cream cheese.
 Mix together: 1¼ cups sifted granulated sugar

3 tbs. flour
 ¼ tsp. salt
 ½ tsp. grated orange rind
 ½ tsp. grated lemon rind
 ¼ tsp. vanilla extract

Add very slowly to cheese mixture. Beat until smooth. Add, one at a time, beating after each addition:
 5 medium eggs (unbeaten)
 2 egg yolks

Stir in ¼ cup heavy cream. Turn into lined pan. Bake 12 min. at 500° F. Reduce oven temperature to 200° F. and without opening oven door, bake 1 hour. Cool on rack, away from drafts. When cool, remove side of spring mold. Chill.

THE PERFECT CHEESECAKE RECIPE

You'll need dough rich with butter and egg yolks, a bit of lemon rind, a little sugar—this patted into a mound and chilled. Small amount of dough is O.K. It has to be stretched, needs to be paper thin

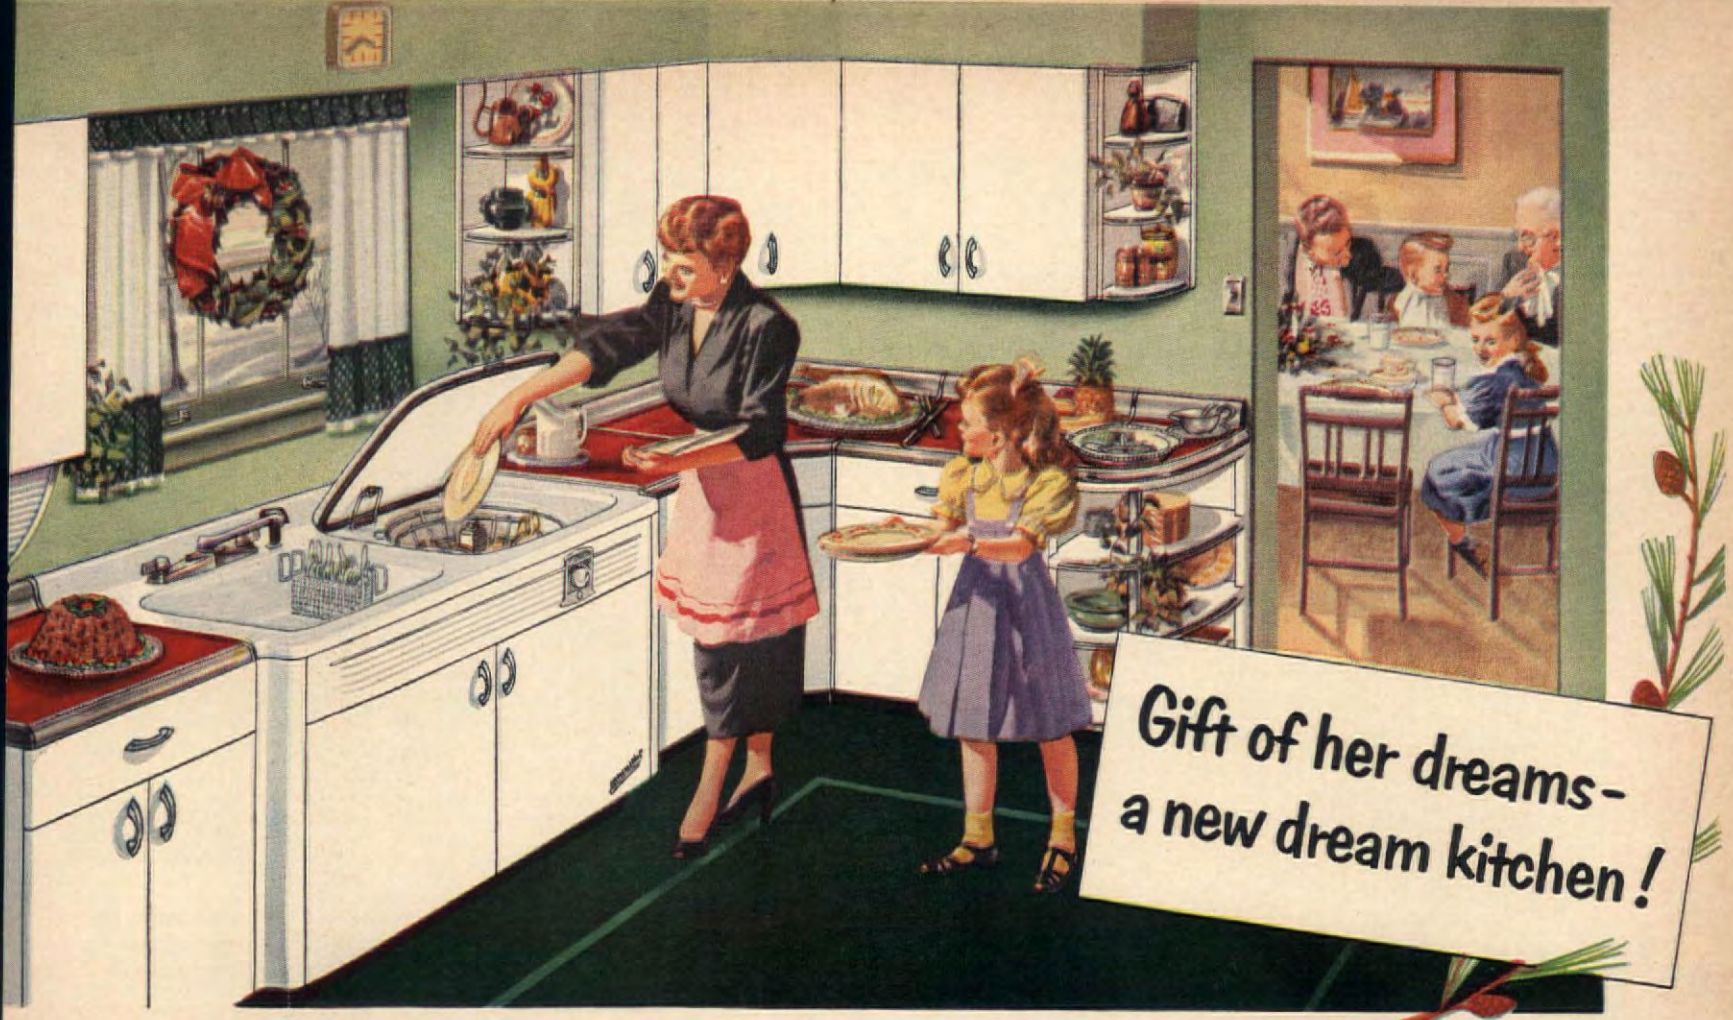

Between floured pieces of waxed paper, pat and stretch with tender fingers, ⅓ dough to fit ungreased bottom of 9" spring mold

Base is golden baked, cooled, and side of mold fitted over it and greased

Remaining dough is patted into thick rectangle, cut in half lengthwise. Pat and stretch dough around side of mold. Patch if you must! Result—a wafer thin, exquisitely delicate pastry shell for a smooth, delicious cheese filling Meatless meals...the vegetable plates, the spaghetti dinners... they're all very well. But, honestly now, wouldn't you serve your family more meat, more often, if everything didn't cost quite so much?

Well, you can't change the prices, but you can cut your costs—on meat and vegetables—by getting "the MIRRO-MATIC habit." When you plan meals with MIRRO-MATIC in mind, lots of savings and satisfactions come your way. Less costly cuts of meat can be speed-cooked to the tenderness and flavor of choice selections. Vegetables can be bought when plentiful and low-priced, then canned and set aside to save more money and to vary wintertime menus. And, when everything cooks so quickly, it cuts a surprising slice from your fuel bill, too. Then, think of the fork-tender chickens, the delicious desserts, the quick, one-dish dinners that MIRRO-MATIC can bring within your reach!

Actual money savings, better meals, and quicker, easier cooking are the reasons why millions of women have "the MIRRO-MATIC habit" ... and millions of husbands are glad of it!

Get MIRRO-MATIC at department, hardware, and house-furnishing stores, wherever dealers sell the finest aluminum.

For one package cake mix, fold in flavoring ingredients just before turning batter into pans. Frost and fill as below.

• white cake mix

Instant Mocha Date Cake: Reduce liquid ½ cup. Combine ½ cup finely chopped dates with ½ cup hot strong instant coffee and allow to cool. Add coffee-date mixture with last addition of liquid. Fill with Date-Nut; frost with Coffee Wonder.

Banana Rumba Cake: Mix 2 tsp. cinnamon, ¼ tsp. cloves, ½ tsp. nutmeg, and 1 tsp. allspice with mix. Substitute ⅔ cup mashed bananas for ¼ cup liquid specified in directions on label. Fold in ½ cup chopped walnuts. Frost with Snow-White.

Polka Dottie Cake: Fold in ½ cup finely ground semi-sweet chocolate pieces and ½ tsp. mint extract. Frost with Flash Frosting to which mint flavoring has been added. Decorate with semi-sweet chocolate pieces.

Pink Party Cake: Substitute ¼ cup maraschino-cherry juice for part of liquid. Fold in ¼ cup chopped, drained maraschino cherries, and ¼ cup chopped shredded coconut. Fill and frost with Pink Party. Decorate with shredded coconut.

Christmas Wreath Cake: Divide white cake batter into two bowls. To one half add ¼ tsp. almond extract and food coloring to make a delicate pink. To other half add ½ tsp. vanilla and tint delicate green. Pour pink batter into prepared 9-inch ring mold, cover with green batter. Streak lightly with spatula. Fill prepared mold half full, bake remaining batter in cupcake pans. Frost with Ornamental. Decorate with candied cherries and angelica.

For one package cake mix, fold in flavoring ingredients just before turning batter into pans. Frost and fill as below.

• white cake mix

Aloha Hawaiian Cake: Fold in ½ cup drained, crushed pineapple and 1 tbs. grated lemon rind. Fill and frost with Pineapple Flash.

Cranberry Upside-Down Cake: Substitute ½ cup pineapple juice for part of liquid. Melt ¼ cup butter or margarine in an ungreased 12" x 8" x 2" pan. Add ½ cup brown sugar, firmly packed, and stir until sugar is dissolved. Add 2 cups fresh cranberries and 1 cup drained, crushed pineapple. Cover with cake batter. Bake at 375° F. 30-40 minutes. For variations add any of the following fruits, well drained, cut side up (use liquid specified in directions on label in preparing batter):

Apricot, Peach Upside-Down Cake: 12 apricot halves or 6 peach halves.

Pineapple Upside-Down Cake: 6 slices pineapple; fill centers with whole maraschino cherries.

Christmas Tree Cake: Fold in ½ cup finely chopped glacé fruits. Fill prepared Christmas tree mold ½ full, bake remaining batter in cupcake pans.

Butter Brazil Cake: Fold in ½ cup chopped, toasted Brazil nuts. (Toast by spreading ½ cup nuts in shallow pan, dot with 1 tbs. butter or margarine. Bake at 350° F. for 10 minutes.)

• jiffy cake frosting

Basic Flash Frosting

2 egg whites
1 cup sugar
1½ tsp. light corn syrup
¼ cup water
½ tsp. vanilla extract

Combine egg whites, sugar, corn syrup, and water. Place over low heat and beat constantly for 3-4 minutes or until frosting stands in peaks. Remove from heat, add flavoring. Beat until thick enough to spread on cake.

Pineapple Flash Frosting: Substitute pineapple juice for water. Fold in 2 tsp. grated lemon rind.

Seafoam Flash Frosting: Substitute 1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed, for 1 cup granulated sugar.

Lemon Flash Frosting: Decrease water to 1 tbs., add 3 tbs. lemon juice. After removing from heat, add 1 tsp. grated lemon rind and ½ tsp. almond extract.

Pink Party Frosting: Before spreading on cake, fold in ¼ cup well drained, finely chopped maraschino cherries.

Brazil Nut Nesselrode Frosting: Add ½ tsp. rum flavoring. To one-third of frosting add ½ cup chopped Brazil nuts and ½ cup chopped dates. Use as filling and frost cake with remainder of frosting. Decorate with sliced Brazil nuts.

Snowy-White Frosting

1 cup heavy cream
1 tsp. unflavored gelatin
1 tbs. water
1 cup confectioners' sugar
1 tsp. vanilla

Soften gelatin in water; place over hot water. Stir until gelatin is dissolved. Whip cream until stiff. Fold in gelatin, sugar, and vanilla. Store in refrigerator.

Orange-Whipped Cream Frosting

Follow directions on packaged vanilla pudding and pie-filling mix, using 1 cup orange juice and 2 tbs. lemon juice for liquid. Cool thoroughly. Add 1 tbs. grated orange rind and 1 tbs. grated lemon rind. Whip 1 cup heavy cream until stiff. Fold pudding into whipped cream.

Ornamental Frosting

3-3½ cups (1 lb.) confectioners' sugar
½ tsp. cream of tartar
3 egg whites
1 tsp. vanilla or almond extract

Sift sugar, add cream of tartar and sift together. Add egg whites; beat until frosting is stiff enough so spatula drawn through leaves a clean path. Add extract. Use in cake decorator or as a background frosting for added decorations such as glacé fruits, angelica, dragées.

• cake mix cues

1. Before starting to mix cake, always read directions on cake-mix label carefully.
2. Preheat oven to temperature given in label directions.
3. Before starting to combine cake, measure liquid, ingredients for variations, and assemble utensils. Prepare pans by greasing bottoms (not sides) generously, then dusting lightly with flour. Pans for angel-food cake should not be greased or floured.
4. Chop flavoring ingredients—nuts, coconut, raisins, glacé fruits—very fine. Canned fruits which are added to batter should be well drained. When directions call for substituting fruit juice for part of liquid, add fruit juice substitution as last addition of liquid.
5. Follow label directions for instructions for mixing cake. Most especially be certain not to undermix! If using electric mixer, time beating precisely and follow beating speed suggested; if beating by hand, count number of strokes and use a vigorous beating stroke. Scrape sides and bottom of bowl frequently.
6. Bake batter in correct pan size. If odd-size pans are used, fill pans one-half full, then bake remaining batter in cupcake pans. A good guide to pan size is always to fill pans half full—any batter that may be left can be baked as suggested in cupcake pans or baking cups.

• glazed nuts

- 1 cup sugar
- $\frac{1}{4}$ cup light corn syrup
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup water
- 1 lb. assorted nuts

Combine the sugar, syrup, and water in a small saucepan. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until mixture boils. Continue cooking without stirring until candy thermometer registers 300° F. Wipe sugar crystals from sides of pan with a damp cloth during cooking period. Remove from heat immediately. Drop several nuts at a time into syrup. Remove each one from the syrup separately with a fork. Push nut into a buttered pan with a second fork. Keep nuts in a single layer until thoroughly cooled. If syrup becomes thick, place over very low heat until original consistency (300° F.) is reached.

7. Follow label directions for oven temperature and length of baking time. Pan sizes and approximate baking times for white, chocolate or spice-cake mix, or gingerbread or ginger-cake mix are:

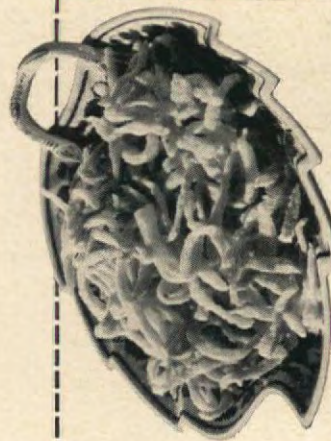

Number	Pan Size	Baking Times
2-8"	1 1/4" round layer pans:	20-25 minutes
2-9"	1 1/2" round layer pans:	18-20 minutes
1-10"	round layer pan:	25-35 minutes
1-9"	9" x 1 3/4" square pan:	30-40 minutes
1-11"	7" x 1 1/2" oblong pan:	35-40 minutes
1-9"	2 1/4" ring mold:	30-35 minutes
1-10"	5" x 3" loaf pan:	55-65 minutes

8. Cake is done if it springs back when touched lightly in the center. Doneness may also be checked by inserting cake-tester or toothpick in center; if tester comes out clean, cake is done. Above all, don't overbake!

9. Cool cake in pan on rack for 10 minutes. Loosen edges with spatula, turn out on rack and cool thoroughly before frosting.

10. If your family is small, prepare half of the mix. Divide mix exactly in half, then follow directions on the label, using half the liquid specified. Makes one 8" or 9" layer cake.

• candied grapefruit peel

2 large grapefruit
1/4 cup light corn syrup
2 cups sugar
1 cup hot water

Wash grapefruit, remove peel in quarters; remove pulp and membrane. Cover peel with cold water and bring to boil. Cook 20 minutes. Drain off water; repeat cooking process. Boil until peel is tender. Drain, cool, and remove inner white membrane. Cut peel in 1/4" strips. Combine corn syrup, sugar, and hot water. Cook over low heat, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Add grapefruit peel and cook to 230° F. or until a little mixture forms very soft ball in cold water. Peel will be transparent and most of the syrup will be absorbed. Remove peel from syrup, drain. Roll each strip in granulated sugar.

Candied Orange Peel: Substitute peel from 4 large oranges; substitute 1 cup water in which orange peel was cooked for 1 cup hot water.
Candied Lemon Peel: Substitute peel from 6 lemons.
Note: If you prepare more than one type of peel at the same time, cook separately.

3/4 cup chopped onions
1 tbs. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
2 tsp. poultry seasoning
1 1/2 cups melted butter or margarine
12-16 cups 1/2" bread cubes

Cook onion and seasonings in butter or margarine until onion is soft; add bread cubes and cook until lightly browned, tossing with fork to brown evenly. Fill turkey two-thirds full; recipe will stuff a 12-16 lb. turkey.

Moist Stuffing: Dissolve 2 bouillon cubes in 1 1/2 cups boiling water and add to desired consistency.

Celery Stuffing: Substitute 3 cups chopped celery for 2 cups bread cubes. Cook with onion in butter or margarine.

Current-Apple Stuffing: Omit onion, reduce salt to 1 tsp., reduce poultry seasoning to 1 tsp., and reduce butter or margarine to 1 cup. Add bread cubes to butter or margarine, and toss in skillet until lightly browned. Add seasonings, 2 cups canned applesauce, and 1 1/2 cups currants.

Brazil-Nut Stuffing: Cook 1/2 cup chopped celery with onion. Substitute 2 cups sliced Brazil nuts for 2 cups of bread cubes.

Rye-Bread Stuffing: Reduce butter or margarine to 1 cup, add 3/4 cup chopped celery and cook with onion until tender. Substitute rye bread cubes for white bread cubes. Add 2 well beaten eggs and 1/2 cup water to bread mixture.

2 cups sugar

Combine cranberries, water, and lemon juice. Bring to a boil and continue to boil 10 minutes or until skins are broken. Remove from heat. Force through strainer or food mill. Add sugar to pulp and return to heat. Bring to boiling point, stirring constantly until sugar is dissolved. Continue to boil 3-5 minutes or until mixture sheets from spoon. Skim. Turn into quart mold which has been rinsed in cold water. Cool. Place in refrigerator until chilled and firm.

Spiced Cranberry Jelly: Add ½ tsp. cinnamon, ¼ tsp. ground cloves, 1 tbs. grated lemon rind to first boiling of cranberry mixture.

Sunshine Cranberry Jelly: Substitute 1 cup fresh or reconstituted frozen orange juice for one cup of liquid. Add 1 tbs. grated orange rind.

Autumn Cranberry Jelly: Substitute 2 cups apple juice for water.

Hawaiian Cranberry Jelly: Substitute 1 cup canned or reconstituted frozen pineapple juice for one cup of liquid. Before turning into mold, add one cup drained crushed pineapple.

• chocolate fudge

2½ squares unsweetened chocolate
1 cup light cream or milk
2½ cups sugar

2 tbs. light corn syrup
¼ tsp. salt
2½ tbs. butter or margarine
1 tsp. vanilla

Add chocolate to cream. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until mixture is smooth and blended. Add sugar, corn syrup, and salt, and stir until mixture boils. Continue cooking, without stirring, until candy thermometer reaches 236° F. or until a small amount forms a soft ball in cold water. Remove from heat. Add butter or margarine and vanilla, but do not stir. Cool to lukewarm (110° F.). Beat until mixture is creamy and loses its gloss. Turn at once into greased 9" x 9" pan. When cold, cut into squares.

Fudge Cups: Pour fudge into 2" (small size) baking cups. If desired, remove paper cups when fudge is cold.

Nutty Fudge: Just before turning into pan, add 1 cup chopped walnuts.

Coconut Fudge: " " " 1 cup chopped shredded coconut.

Raisin Fudge: " " " 1 cup seedless raisins.

Marshmallow Fudge: " " " ¼ lb. (16) marshmallows cut into small pieces.

Tutti-Frutti Fudge: " " " 1 cup chopped glacé fruits.

• individual chicken pies

2½ cup butter, margarine, or chicken fat
1½ cup chopped onion
¾ cup chopped celery
1½ cup all-purpose flour
1½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper

2 tsp. celery salt
2 cups chicken or turkey stock
2 cups light cream or milk
3 cups chopped cooked chicken or turkey
1 cup cooked or canned peas
2 tbs. chopped parsley
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 tsp. salt
2½ cup shortening
5-6 tbs. cold water

Melt butter, margarine, or chicken fat in a saucepan over low heat. Add onion and celery and cook about 5 minutes or until soft and lightly browned. Blend in ½ cup flour, 1 tsp. salt, pepper, and celery salt. Add stock and light cream slowly, stirring constantly. Continue stirring and cook over low heat until thickened. Remove from heat. Add chicken or turkey, peas, and parsley. Pour into greased individual casseroles and top with pastry. To make pastry, sift 2 cups flour with 1 tsp. salt. Cut in ¾ cup shortening until mixture resembles coarse corn meal. Add water gradually and blend just until particles hold together. Form pastry into a ball, then roll out on a lightly floured board to ⅛" thickness. Cut into rounds to fit individual casserole tops. Make a standing rim around edges and cut gashes in top to permit escape of steam. Bake at 425° F. 20-25 minutes or until lightly browned.

worry about them while you eat. After dinner, you remove your sparkling utensils and put your dishwasher to work again. If your family is small the "horribles" can go right in with the fine china. Each piece is held securely in individual places on each rack, so there is less danger of breakage than in washing by hand. Also, temperature is controlled within a safe range for fine china and glassware.

The new dishwashers are as safe for the family as they are for the dishes, for the water action is shut off automatically if the door should be opened by accident.

And in addition to all of this, they're beautifully styled, and there are designs which fit perfectly, physically and visually, into any kitchen plan. So let's get down to cases and see which type of dishwasher will do the best job in your own kitchen.

WHAT ARE THE TYPES—HOW MUCH DO THEY COST?

Essentially all automatic dishwashers are similar as far as operation goes, for they all wash, rinse, and dry your dishes for you. So when it comes to choosing a type, your own kitchen gives you the answer. And your own purse too, for some are more deluxe than others.

Putting the wrong dishwasher into a kitchen can easily destroy the efficiency of the whole room, for each kitchen presents its own problem of traffic patterns, work surfaces, and storage space. That is why the manufacturers give you a choice between top and front opening models, free standing or under counter—even portables!

For instance, in a narrow kitchen, walking space is at a premium and traffic would virtually be impossible with a front-opening dishwasher. A top-opening model is the answer here. However, if your kitchen is cramped for counter space, you can fit a front-opening dishwasher into this area and use the top as work surface.

Except for the portables, all dishwashers require a water line, waste line, and a 110-volt circuit, and they all use about the same quantity of water at the same temperature.

The Automatics come in free-standing models or in combination units with sinks—in either case, the characteristics of the dishwasher are the same. Some load from the top, others have a drop-door or pull-drawer front opening. Some have an inlet spray for spraying water over the dishes, others pump the water. Some models have a built-in drying unit (which can also be used for warming serving dishes), other models dry the dishes by forced air. The self-contained water heater found on a few models (temperature booster), heats the water to 140°–160° F, and is a good feature for you to consider if your hot water supply is not adequate.

A few models have a "spray" cycle before the "wash" so that you only need scrape the dishes before stacking them in the dishwasher—they require no pre-rinsing. The automatics will handle a dinner service for 6 or 8 persons (58 dishes plus silverware) in a single load.

The free-standing dishwasher is about 24" wide, and may be installed at any convenient place in the kitchen so long as water, drain, and electricity are there. Some are made especially to slip under your own work counter, and even a top-opening model may be used this way if a pick-up lid is cut into the counter top. Prices: $225–$355.

The dishwasher-sink combination is complete with the sink on one side and the dishwasher on the other. If you like, a garbage disposer can be installed with these models. In most cases the sink is on the left and the washer on the right, but a new model reverses the positions—a good thing to remember if that arrangement is most convenient in your kitchen. Prices: $375–$470.

Portable dishwashers do not require a permanent installation. But, their capacity is not so large as that of the automatics. Their good casters let them roll easy to the sink. They're connected to the hot-water faucet at the sink and the drain hose is brought to the sink to discharge waste water. You have your choice of front or top loading. Some function fully as well as the permanently installed types. Some heat their own water or boost the temperature of the available hot water to a predetermined temperature, making them ideal to tote to your summer place, cottage, trailer, camp, cruiser. Price: $200-$230.

WHAT DOES A DISHWASHER REQUIRE?

Any house which has electricity, a supply of hot water, and adequate plumbing can have a permanently installed dishwasher, and for a portable all you need is the electricity, a water supply (not necessarily hot), and an outlet for a hose (no real plumbing). You also need the services of a reliable dealer who will see that your washer is properly installed in your home. With a permanent installation, you may need some slight adjustments in plumbing, and if your hot water supply is inadequate, investigate the models with temperature boosters. But don't forget, if your water supply is inadequate, you aren't getting your dishes clean enough with hand washing, either.

ARE THEY PRACTICAL FOR ALL FAMILIES?

Dishwashers are practical for families of all sizes. In the case of a small family, the machine need only be operated once or twice a day. The scraped dishes can be rinsed to keep the food from hardening on the surface, and then placed in the dishwasher. At noon the luncheon dishes can be given the same treatment. Then after dinner, with a full load, the dishwasher will do your full day's work in one operation! There is another advantage for the small family, too: complete dinner services for four—plus the pots and pans—can be washed at one time.

Don't forget, the capacity of the average automatic dishwasher is sufficient to accommodate a complete dinner service for eight—in one washing. That's where the big families come in.

DO THEY USE LOTS OF HOT WATER?

The largest automatic dishwashers use only an average of seven gallons of hot water for a full dishwasher load. That is considerably less than you use in hand dishwashing, when dishes are properly washed and properly rinsed and as clean as hand-washing can make them.

IS A SPECIAL "SOAP" NECESSARY?

Forget your prejudices—with a dishwasher it isn't the suds that make the dishes clean—it's the chemical content of the detergent. We urge you to use only the detergents recommended by the manufacturer of your dishwasher, and in the quantity recommended, if you want to be sure of getting the best results.

Pressed Glass

(Begins on page 49)

Novelties like the "Sheaf of Wheat" toothpick holder were sometimes molded in unusual shapes. The "Daisy and Button" motif on the goblet brought a sparkle to thousands of tables

People and things in the news were often commemorated in pressed glass. The design on this spoon holder, sometimes called "Horn of Plenty," may represent Halley's Comet

Some of the most handsome of the pressed-glass decorations were purely abstract, intended only to give a sparkle to the glass. Among them are these two multifaceted types. The spoon holder is "Sawtooth," the wine glass is the popular "Thousand Eye"

How to Make Shoestring Towels

Idea: The Cannon Homemaking Institute

No minute is too "last" for this one—a thoughtful, practical, very pretty gift which avoids the tediousness of the gadgety and keeps the charm of that just-for-you look. Now that towels of all sizes come in stripes and tweeds and in colors to rival the rainbow, you may be sure this gift towel will cheer even the glummiest bathroom and please the most selective taste. What's more, it's so easy to personalize them this way with a monogram fashioned from the gay shoestrings the young fry are wearing, that even the youngest needlewoman should have no trouble turning out a crop of I-made-it-myself gifts which show the lopsided potholder to be part of her past. Just pin or baste the shoelace to the towel forming the desired initial, and then stitch securely by machine or by hand. If you like, the tips may be snipped off. These are ideal for your own bathrooms and your friends', and the college set will love them.

JEANNE CULVER RIGGS

He's in the Navy—and she was—so naturally, they wanted a really shipshape house—wanted it enough to go ahead and do a lot of carpentry and decorating themselves. Captain and Mrs. Louis Gwinn (she was an Australian WRAN) appreciate the smooth operation that comes from efficient planning, and their home in Los Angeles shows it.

Separating the dining-den from the kitchen by an archway gives an illusion of space in a relatively small area, and enables Mrs. Gwinn to prepare meals within visiting range of family and guests. This open look also shows off the driftwood-finished ash cabinets in both rooms (made and finished by the Captain) and the handsome copper hood in the kitchen, the Captain's first attempt at metalwork, and a very successful one. (We show a view of it in color on page 34.) Yellow homespun curtains and upholstery, Denise's handiwork, team up to make both rooms gay.

The focus of attention in the dining-den is the naval mess table, cut down and refinished by the Captain. Modern versions of the captain's chair were finished to match the table and paneling, upholstered by Denise in yellow homespun. Captain Gwinn's favorite nook is here, too—a book-lined corner where he can relax and still enjoy the company of Denise when she's in the kitchen. The couch, designed by the Captain, pulls out to make a comfortable double bed for guests who visit from all over the world.

Cut-down naval mess table (top) matches modern captain's chairs. Through archway see no-bend modular oven, Dutch tiles. Above, refrigerator and dishwasher, handy to dining and serving areas

Cabinet work and paneling are Captain Gwinn's pride; yellow homespun curtains and upholstery, Mrs. Gwinn's. At right, couch-bed designed and built by Captain Gwinn to pull out on rollers was glad to see the different evergreens pictured and learn their names. I'll bet, though, the author never did see Christmas trees in the deep South, or he'd really plug the plain old cedar tree! Most of us grew up hardly realizing there was anything else for a Christmas tree except a cedar. Occasionally we would see a pine used, but those folks were usually "strangers" (Northerners) and our childhood explanation was they just didn't know much about Christmas trees!

Sometimes a holly tree is used, but not so often. My mother used to tell of the Christmas trees they had in the Grange Hall at her home in the Mississippi Delta. They would cut a huge holly tree, ceiling high, and all full of red berries (quite a decoration help there) and gaily trimmed with strings of popcorn and red cranberries, real candles (what a fire hazard!), and bright colored silk handkerchiefs which were fashionable when she was a child. After the program of games, songs, and speeches there'd be gifts.

All the evergreens mentioned do make lovely Christmas trees, and on occasion I have used the firs, spruce, and hemlock, but I can't go back on my "raising"—I still like cedar best!

The floor plan shows excellent circulation, for children can reach their own rooms, the kitchen, or the outdoors without passing through the well isolated dropped living room. Bedrooms are small, but there's one for each member of the family, and there's a guest room and study to boot. Note the washroom for guests at the right of the entry. First level of house has a big playroom, garage, maid's room, laundry, and an attic's worth of storage space

Built Big for Living

Modern comes in all shapes and sizes, and one of its great virtues is that a modern house can be compact, easy to care for, and still have plenty of good room for living. Take this house, for instance, built by the parents of three little girls, and designed with great thought. They wanted each child to have a room of her own, and good modern design made that possible without too much added cost by keeping those individual bedrooms small.

But they also wanted rooms where the family could gather to enjoy each other's company, and this they have aplenty in the large living-dining room and in the big playroom downstairs. When the parents want to get away from an excess of youthful spirits there's the study they built as a private retreat near their small bedroom. But in addition to plenty of rooms, the Coopers wanted a house that would let them enjoy outdoor living, and one that wouldn't require too much work in housekeeping. It looks to us as if they got just what they were after.

It's an inviting house, well set into its sloping wooded site. Exterior construction is concrete block and cypress, materials that require little in the way of upkeep. The large amount of glass is something one expects to find in Southwest Modern, but not in Wisconsin. Nevertheless, the Coopers find it most satisfactory.

The living-dining area of the house is set into the sloping lawn overlooking the garden. The solid wall of glass brings in the sunlight, but a generous roof overhang protects it

Large screened terrace opens onto the living-dining area and takes over its roles in warm weather. It's convenient to the kitchen as well. Walls in living-dining area are plaster and cypress, floors are oak, covered with durable, easy-to-clean rugs. Glass in living room is chiefly fixed, a good idea in this climate. Note that it is not full length—it ends at about table height with a horizontal shelf used for ash trays and the like

Feed your dog like this Dash-fed champion!

Champion Lynwood Angus wins your admiration the moment you see him in this photograph taken at the Somerset Hills Kennel Club dog show. Standing obediently while his handler, John P. Murphy, finishes his pre-show grooming, this outstanding Scottish Terrier truly looks the part of a champion. The judges will soon note his happy, eager disposition, his wealth of energy, his steady nerves and healthy coat. These are sure signs of a well-nourished dog. Fortunately, this champion's diet can easily be your dog's diet. Just feed your dog Dash. It is fortified with liver to give your dog the richest of all meats in the proteins, vitamins and minerals he needs every day. Why not see how much Dash will do for your dog?

Dash is fortified with LIVER!

Conforms on the Outside

Sunny kitchen, complete with laundry, dining area, and planning desk, connects with the family room so Ma can keep an eye on what's cookin' both places. And she can escape unnoticed, for a few back steps lead to the study for cat naps. In hall behind kitchen is the downstairs bath and four large closets

Parents' living room is a serene place for an evening at home with a few guests and good music. Fireplaces and shelves separate it from the sounds of goings-on in the family room. It isn't large, and need not be, for it's free from traffic and inevitable clutter of young fry

Youngsters' living room and the way it's planned is one of the best—and most unusual—things about this house. On the same level as the kitchen, it's part of the 35' sweep which includes the dining room and faces the garden. The whole neighborhood can be—and is—invited in, and the space also converts easily for adult parties—big ones

Wire Your House for Sound

A home inter-com system may not be quite the same as having a full-time maid about the house, but it's certainly the next best thing. Home inter-com systems are available at most electrical supply stores and they cost a whale of a lot less than even a part-time maid. Also, they never want to take an evening off.

You'll find that an inter-com system will take most of the footwork out of running a home—even a big home. With inter-com stations placed at various points about the house—outside as well as inside—you need only walk to the nearest station to be in contact with the entire house. This brings up all sorts of interesting possibilities. You can turn away unwelcomed callers from the front or back door without leaving the kitchen, or you can ask the caller to wait a minute while you complete some chore. An inter-com station in the nursery allows you to check on the baby without having to climb stairs or walk the length of the house. When there is sickness in the family, the invalid won't feel that he's in exile if there is an inter-com station near the bedside.

A home inter-com system is not difficult to install. It operates off the house current, 110 volts A. C., and the stations are hooked together either by running wires through the wall or by a portable wire run from room to room. If permanent wires are installed, outlets can be installed in the wall so that the stations can be moved from room to room as they are needed.

HEATFORM

The Superior Heat
Circulating Fireplace

HEATFORM is scientifically built to proper angles and dimensions. It consists of firebox, throat, smoke dome and heat control damper.

HEATFORM is a perfect guide for masonry walls from hearth to flue. It removes guesswork from fireplace construction.

HEATFORM air chambers which surround the firebox and upper throat capture and circulate throughout the home a large percentage of heat formerly lost up the chimney.

A finished HEATFORM fireplace costs but little more because it replaces materials and some labor necessary to build the old-fashioned fireplace.

HEATFORM Model "A" for traditional fireplaces. Photo above shows installation with side cool air inlets and, for greater heating efficiency and economy of installation, the front warm air outlet grille. Side warm air outlets may be used if preferred.

This attractive modern design corner fireplace is built around HEATFORM Model "S," affording view of fire from front and either side. If you prefer view of fire from front and both sides, order Model "M."

Custom-built Screens and Fuel Grates are available for all models and sizes.

How to Make Fruit Cans into Foot Stools

To make the handsome TV stool shown below, you'll need: 7 tall juice cans, plywood, cotton batting, glue, cord, fabric, and a small hooked mat. First, pack cans closely together. Trace their bottom outline onto plywood; cut one piece for top, one for bottom. Tie cans together, weaving cord around them. Then tie on plywood top and bottom

Place cans on two layers cotton batting. By tearing, shape batting to plywood bottom, leaving border 1" wide. Smooth one of these layers over top, other over bottom. Tuck in at edges. Fit strip of cotton batting, 1" higher than the cans, around the side. Tuck in at top and bottom. Dab glue along joinings and sides of cans to hold cotton batting in place

Cover entire stool smoothly with muslin. Cut fabric to fit stool bottom exactly; cut a piece long enough to go around stool and 2" higher. Pin, allowing 1" turnover at top and bottom. Sew to undercover, turning in edges of bottom piece. Slip stitch to bottom of stool; slip stitch hooked mat to top

Terrace Server

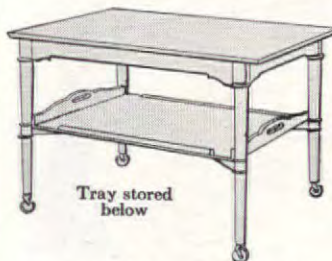

- a rolling buffet
- "dinette" for two
- portable bar
- a tea cart
- lamp table
- console

So widely versatile . . . so utterly practical, Stickley's Terrace Server is a boon to young marrieds and to career girls furnishing their first apartment. In the larger home, it's ideal for the patio, on the terrace or by the pool.

Fully extended, it's a handy length and height for buffet suppers and after-theater snacks. Contracted, an unobtrusive bar for cocktails and canapes. With both leaves slid under the tray, it becomes a smart tea cart. Or, with the tray stored on the stretcher below, an intimate table for dinners tête à tête . . . a graceful console against a wall . . . a lustrous lamp table behind the sofa.

Tray stored below

A gentle nudge and the Server glides smoothly, silently, over any floor, including carpeting. The famous Stickley construction endures decades of constant service—the rich cherry-wood grows mellower and lovelier with age.

Small fry are everywhere in evidence at the Open House. They not only have a whale of a time looking at exhibits—especially those just for youngsters—but help suggest ideas for special projects brimful of imagination

The Christmas Open House and Flower Show is really an evergreen show, and has done much toward raising the artistic level of home decorations and stimulating horticultural interest in unusual and attractive plant material. Last year, 1,500 visitors enjoyed it the state—1,500 strong last year! The Community House where the show is held is filled to overflowing with young folks, old folks, and in-betweeners. Along with the purely decorative interest, horticultural interest runs high, for the Club stipulates that each exhibit must use some plant material. Notebooks come out and visitors jot down names of unfamiliar evergreens and berried shrubs with an eye to future planting—and next year's Christmas decorations.

For those not fortunate enough to come to the show, there is thought of sharing the greens with them, too. It is not unusual to see a sled piled high with decorations for the nearby Veterans' Hospital or the Home for the Aged. It's a happy day for everyone and Christmas is in the air from the moment the show begins.

What could delight a small heart more than this tea-table setting for a little girl and her doll? Exhibits for children are popular and varied; they have included a homemade Santa Claus trundling a wheelbarrow full of lollipops, and a tiny, beautifully lighted crèche

Flowers of the Bible

Around the Elmhurst M. E. Church in California is a garden consisting largely of plants mentioned in the Bible. Its twofold purpose is, first, to recognize and memorialize the work and devotion of Mrs. W. E. Darby in carrying on and expanding the church's Sunday School which was founded in 1920, and, second, as a phase of practical religious education, to familiarize people with some of the horticultural aspects of life in the Holy Land in Biblical times. That second objective is one that could be adopted and developed in many communities wherever climatic and other conditions are favorable for plants native to the Palestine region.

Nor need it be limited to church gardens. Gardens of all kinds could be given new interest, significance, and value by including in them plants referred to in the Bible, or close relatives from among our modern flora. Aside from their horticultural and aesthetic appeal, such plants have an absorbing and often surprising story to tell, frequently one of mistaken identities and erroneous ideas that have persisted down through the years. For, most versions of the Bible now in use date back to the 16th and 17th centuries—before the modern science of botany and its system of relatively accurate plant nomenclature was established. The early translators of the Scriptures had no way of identifying many plants and flowers mentioned in the texts or traditional records, and often gave them names that would sound familiar to the persons for whom they wrote.

Actually, for example, the famous "lilies of the field" were not

Indoor Plants Easy to Grow in Treated Soil

Krilium* soil conditioner helps winter garden hobbyists get
"green thumb" results

ST. LOUIS—Thanks to a great new chemical aid, even inexperienced garden enthusiasts can get satisfying professional results with house plants this winter. Krilium, a Monsanto product now available at garden, hardware, and department stores everywhere, is making news as the only time-tested soil conditioner in existence.

Krilium stabilizes soil in tiny, porous clusters that help store water for gradual absorption. Seeds and bulbs germinate faster... Krilium aerates the soil, lets oxygen reach down to plant roots. Easy to handle. Results are apparent immediately in improved soil structure.

Use dirt from your own backyard

No need to buy fancy mixtures. Simply work Krilium into the soil already in your pots, or make new potting soil out of plain back-yard dirt. Krilium will keep the soil crumbly, easily workable, and much more receptive to water.

Nothing like it

Four years of field tests in every soil and climate of the United States have made Krilium the standard against which other conditioning agents are measured. Not a fertilizer, it does not feed crops or plants. You still must give your plants adequate food, water, and sunlight. But in soil treated with Krilium, plants have opportunity for faster, stronger and more fruitful growth.

Two sizes

Buy Krilium at your local dealer's throughout the United States and Canada. Try the new 1-lb. canister for house plants... $1.69
Convenient 5-lb. package for indoor and outdoor use—lawns, gardens, shrubs... $6.95

lilies at all, but anemones (shown on page 89). The all-important "fruit" in Eden was not, as generally assumed, an apple, but an apricot! The "rose of Sharon" of Solomon's Songs was not the shrub now called that (and which did not come out of China until long after the Bible was written), but probably the native crimson Palestine tulip (Tulipa montana). Many such tradition-upsetting identifications are included in books on the subject, notably the recently published Plants of the Bible by Dr. H. N. Moldenke (Chronica Botanica), long curator at the New York Botanical Garden. Just a year ago, the Garden Club of America aroused new interest in biblical plants with a holiday season display in its New York headquarters of old garden books, original drawings of a number of Holy Land plants and specimens of some of them.

But to return to the little California church in the midst of its planting of almond, date, fig, and olive trees, pomegranates, thistles, tulips, oleanders, and "lilies of the field," it was established by Mr. C. M. Goethe of Sacramento in fulfillment of a pledge made to his late wife with whom he had spent many years in Palestine. Even before its dedication last March, it had become a center of interest for the Church's Sunday school and also for the schools of several neighboring congregations. Like the Crusaders of old and countless other pilgrims before and since, more and more people are visiting the garden of Elmhurst Church. Its palm tree has a special significance on Palm Sunday; the little olive grove takes on new meaning in connection with the story of Gethsemane; the native aloe represents the source from which Nicodemus obtained the embalming fluids he used. And so each of the carefully chosen plants has its significance for modern gardeners.

Mortite KEEPS THE COLD OUT

SAVES FUEL AND MONEY

Cordlike and pliable, Mortite is the perfect weatherstripping. Goes on in a jiffy without tools or tacks. Keeps out wind, dust, dirt. Anyone can press it around windows, doors, transoms, baseboards. Weatherstrip a whole window for 29c.—costs even less if you use the larger packages. Get Mortite at stores or write for circular. J. W. Mortell Co., 524 Burch St., Kankakee, Ill.

can be shaped into plants to suit the individual grower's taste or a special situation. Typically, the plant form is bushy, with long, drooping branches arising from the base. For more upright growth, pinch off the growing tips with the fingernail to induce more side shoots.

Because of their limited root system, they need a rich soil. A good mixture, nourishing but not heavy, consists of equal parts leafmold, coarse gravel, well rotted cow manure, and rich garden soil; a tablespoonful of crushed charcoal added to each potful helps keep it sweet. However, any soil satisfactory for ferns or begonias should give fair success. In potting rooted cuttings and repotting older plants, provide free drainage for excess water by putting an inch of broken clay pots or coarse gravel in the bottom. Hold plant or cutting at the proper height and position in the pot, fill the well mixed soil in around the roots, and firm it gently so as not to break them. Withhold water for a week, then give it sparingly until the plant is established.

Keep new, unrooted cuttings in a cool, shady place for a week or ten days until the cut end has formed scar tissue. Then insert them 1½ in. deep in a mixture of equal parts peat moss and coarse sand in a small flat or a large pot. After three or four days (not before), start giving them just enough water to keep the sand mixture barely moist; when the cuttings show any new growth, transplant them individually to small pots or put two or three in a hanging basket.

Cuttings can be started at any time of year, but grown plants should be repotted only in the summer so they can develop new roots before the winter rest period sets in.

Orchid cacti need very little direct sun, but must have plenty of light and fresh air. In cool, moist regions, as already noted, they do especially well on a porch sheltered from rain, but where they get the morning or evening sunlight. They should get water daily in hot weather, but only enough to moisten, not soak, the soil. In winter, store them where the temperature stays between 35° and 50° F.; anything higher may start them into growth when they should be resting, and result in few or no flowers the following spring. Half a cupful of water every two or three weeks is enough during the winter. Starting in early March when buds appear, gradually increase the amount and frequency. During the active growing season, feed the plants by applying a top-dressing of cow manure or any good commercial plant food according to the manufacturer's directions. Setting them out in the rain occasionally to wash the dust off the joints is beneficial at this stage.

Hammer heads usually last forever, but handles don't. When you buy a new handle, sight along it to be sure that it is straight, not bowed and twisted like this one. You can't drive a nail straight with a crooked hammer handle

When a Hammer Needs a Handle

End of a stock handle will have to be planed down to fit hammer head. Use small block plane for this job, and make tests from time to time to be sure that too much wood is not removed. A piece of glass can be used to remove small rough spots after planing

The hammer head should fit snugly on the handle. It can be driven down into place by pounding the base of the handle on a wood workbench or wood block. The top end of the handle should come flush with the upper surface of the hammer head

No matter how tightly the head fits the handle, small metal wedges must be used to prevent the head's coming loose. These must be driven into end of the handle against the wood grain — not in the direction of the grain when the heat's in the floor!

The prime purpose of a heating system is to heat, of course, and steel pipe radiant panel heating systems do that superbly. But these most modern heating systems have much more to commend them from a woman's point-of-view.

Because the heating units (panels of steel pipe) are concealed beneath the floor surfaces or hidden in the walls or ceilings, every inch of wall and floor space becomes available for use and decoration. Rooms seem larger, as a result, and your furniture can be positioned in many more ways for complete decorative freedom. Women love it, and so do their interior decorators!

Moreover, radiant panel heating is cleaner because there are no drafts, blasts, or hot or cold spots to cause wall streaks and dirt deposits.

When you build be sure to get these important "plus" values from your heating system. Tell your architect and builder that you want the new "invisible" heating system . . . steel pipe Radiant Panel Heating.

In the Backyard

(Begins on page 50)

To supplement the design and construction data on the Sherman Tong garden, here are notes on some of the plants used to get the effects shown in the pictures:

On the steep slope that separates the upper lawn panel from the play area on the lower level, it was proposed that firethorns (Pyracantha), set four feet apart, be used to prevent the washing and eroding of the soil and, in time, to cover it. But when the planting was done, one of the lower growing forms of Ceanothus was used instead. This, though called "California wild lilac," is not a lilac but one of the buckthorns.

On the bank beside the patio and path, a cotoneaster has been pruned to tree form; climbing figs are starting up the wall, and camellias, azaleas, hydrangeas, and fuchsias are under-planted with the creeping, mosslike babys-tears (Helxine soleirolii) which makes dense mats of green.

The border edging the patio is bright with ranunculus. Pot plants used in various positions are mostly geraniums and azaleas, with some tuberous begonias and cinerarias, and various foliage plants, such as philo-dendrons, fatsias, etc. They are placed and moved about depending upon the season and the varying conditions of light and shade.

Pauls Scarlet roses planted ten feet apart are trained on the high fence that extends along the side of the play yard. Near this fence and about opposite the end of the patio, an existing hawthorn tree was left to cast a little shade on the play yard area. The attractive screening foliage that shows above the fence at both the side and the end of the play yard, is largely that of trees and shrubs on the properties adjoining.

Fun for everybody in this basement playroom

A BASEMENT PLAYROOM is one of the best investments you can make in your home. It's a place where the family and friends can enjoy themselves without restraint. At the same time, it saves wear and tear on the rest of the house. Plan the room to suit your own ideas, but be sure the floor is Armstrong's Asphalt Tile.

Armstrong's Asphalt Tile has many advantages for a playroom, but it was specially developed as a practical floor for use on concrete in direct contact with the ground.

Basement concrete draws up moisture from the ground, which turns alkaline and is harmful to ordinary flooring materials. But Armstrong's Asphalt Tile is not affected by this condition. Alkaline moisture will neither destroy its colorful beauty nor shorten its years of service on your floor.

The exclusive swirl-marbling of Armstrong's De Luxe Asphalt Tile enhances its beauty, helps to conceal dust and footprints. The process that gives this decorative effect also interlocks the fibers in the composition for greater strength. Colors go clear through each tile and can't wear off.

Whatever your favorite decorative scheme, a floor of Armstrong's Asphalt Tile will make it more attractive. It's easy to plan designs and color combinations to give your floor individuality.

Beyond its good looks and durability, you will also appreciate the ease of cleaning a floor of Armstrong's Asphalt Tile. Spilled foods and beverages can be wiped up without a trace—even cigarette burns are easy to remove. Occasional washing and waxing will keep this floor bright as new.

With all these desirable qualities, Armstrong's Asphalt Tile is a low-cost floor. Your Armstrong flooring merchant will gladly help you design your floor and give you a cost estimate without obligation.

Because it's laid block by block, Armstrong's Asphalt Tile makes it easy to create original floor designs. There are colors to harmonize with any decorative scheme. Your Armstrong merchant can suggest interesting treatments.
