Floor is Armstrong Imperial™ Custom Corlon Tile, Style No. 1403, with insets of No.

upstairs, downstairs, even below ground level, you can have the luxury of this new floor

Here, probably for the first time, you see a remarkable new vinyl plastic floor called Armstrong Imperial Custom Corlon Tile. It runs from room to room of this lovely multi-level home, carrying the elegant decorative scheme right through the house—even down to the sunken living area. Until quite recently, only a few floors could be used below ground level. And they were economy floors, not luxury floors. But Imperial Custom Corlon Tile—as most people who've seen it say—is the most luxurious floor of all, and it goes everywhere! A soft, subtle chip-grain design, with a new satin-matte finish, gives Imperial Custom Corlon Tile an unusual, mellow richness. Available in the most fashionable decorating colors, Imperial Custom Corlon Tile, by Armstrong, brings real luxury to every area of today's homes.

SEND FOR FREE BOOK, "New Beauty for Basements and Basements Houses," plus descriptive information on Imperial Custom Corlon Tile. We'll also send a sketch plan of these handsome multi-level rooms, with list of furnishings. Just write Armstrong Cork Company, 5702 Pine Street, Lancaster, Pennsylvania.

Builders install Armstrong Ceilings to SOUND condition new model homes

Beautiful low-cost ceiling muffles noise from children and home appliances

Get a magnifying glass and study this photograph in detail.

Notice that the ceiling is perforated with tiny holes — 353 every square foot, arranged in a random pattern that looks strangely beautiful and is much admired by decorators.

These perforations absorb up to 75 per cent of the noise that strikes them — the babble of children, the jangling of telephones, the din of television, the barking of dogs, the yakety-yak of conversation.

Bedlam gives way to serenity. Peace, it's wonderful. This is what sound conditioning means, and the remarkable new ceiling that performs the miracle is called CUSHION-TONE. It was developed by the makers of Armstrong Floors.

NEW! FOR AUTOMATIC DISHWASHERS

Cascade eliminates drops that spot!

Washed in another detergent

Washed in CASCADE

Cascade has an exclusive ingredient to change drops of water into cleansing, clear-rinsing "sheets." That's why James-Universal puts Cascade in every new machine!

These two glasses show why Cascade stops spotting as no other detergent can. Cascade's exclusive ingredient changes water drops into free-flowing sheets. And Cascade's unique formula cleans cleaner than any other dishwasher product ... leaves everything so slippery-clean, rinse water slides right off. Result: no water drops to dry in ugly spots. Cascade gets even glasses spotless ... close-up clean. Yet it's safer for delicate china patterns than any other detergent.

advises you to use

PROCTER & GAMBLE'S

(IN FACT, EVERY LEADING DISHWASHER MANUFACTURER RECOMMENDS IT.)

The James-Universal Automatic Mobile Dishwasher "does it" with exclusive "Walking Wall of Water" action. This action "scrubs" every dish 1000 times ... removes sticky foods without pre-rinsing. Automatically washes, sterilizes, rinses and dries. And to eliminate drops that spot, James-Universal packs Cascade in every new machine.

RIGHT OUT OF OUR PAGES

For the past year we have had friends and strangers, both, telling us that our home looks "right out of the pages of The American HOME." My husband made most of our furniture, using your blueprints for the hutch table, dry sink, and Welsh dresser. . . .

Our patio is a combination of ideas from your book—a stone retaining wall, a brick floor, and a redwood latticed roof.

We like to think that we are a real American HOME family and send our thanks to you for your wonderful magazine and patterns.

MRS. KENNETH WAGNER

PENNY PARTY

If your child's birthday falls near Lincoln's birthday—or you are in the mood for a children's party anyhow—try a penny party. It's a different, easy way to entertain.

For invitations, cut large circles from stiff paper. Tape a Lincoln-head penny to top of each circle. Print this on each invitation:

A penny for you
My friend kind and true
Come share with me
My birthday party spree!
Time: _____ Place: _____

Favors? Give each child an inexpensive bank. And five bright new pennies wrapped in gold foil make a nifty prize. Kids will get a bang out of these appropriate games:

Penny Hunt: Have your child trace pennies on paper. He can color them orange, to represent pennies, and cut them out. On party day, hide them around the room. When you give the signal, the kids can start hunting for them. Winner is one who finds most.

Penny Relay Race: Collect several pennies of two different dates. For example, if there will be eight kids at the party, you can have four pennies dated 1942 and four dated 1949. The 1942's form one team and the 1949's form the other. Put two chairs at one end of the room. Have each child balance his penny on his shoe, walk to and around the chair, and return to the beginning of the line.

If penny falls off, he must start again. First team to finish gets to keep pennies.

Penny Pitch: Give each child pennies. Place pie pan in center of the room. Child who lands most pennies in the pan wins a prize.

—ROBERTA LINDSAY PEED

A MATTER OF MANNERS

With the current boom in home construction, I'm convinced we're writing a new chapter in our book of etiquette. Hardly had the paper hangers departed from our new home than the crepe hangers arrived. The land ranged from best friend to distant relative of the furnace installer. After I had shown each room, demonstrated each gadget, exposed the most intimate contents of each closet, an inquisition began.

Some were acutely cost conscious; one matron fingered the draperies; she made mental computations. I rivaled IBM for speed and accuracy. One gal made the complete tour without comment only to remark at the end, "I suppose there are more things you'd change if you had it to do over." Then there was the one who remarked that "you could give him a lot way out here," noticing an inevitable plaster crack boomed, "They just don't build like they used to."

The fellow who made us wish we never bought in the first place dropped in when our spirits were lowest, to point out the rising cost of living.

I'm still proud and happy to show my home. But if you'd like to see it, won't you phone first to see if convenient, be tactful in your questions and sincere in your praise? Remember the old song that goes: you can't say anything that's better than it's better not to talk at all is advice."

—EDNA HUFF

COCKLE-WARMER

Well, sir, you've finally made a problem. My wife and I have waited for years about having our house. Finally, you've shown us one we really want, and I don't know what to do about it.

It's the Louis deHaven Shaw house (Dec. '56 issue), a real beauty—the kind of thing to warm the corners of our hearts. Do you know if plans are available? I'm in town at home, if I don't come up with something!

—JOHN P. MURPHY

To all who've inquired about it—we're very sorry. No plans available for this one.—Ed.

TODAY'S WESTERN PINE TREE FARMING GUARANTEES LUMBER TOMORROW

WHAT DO YOU MEAN, "GUARANTEED"?

M. C. PHILLIPS

There's an entertaining wisecrack by a popular comedian that this watch is guaranteed for life—"Not mine, its." You'll do well to keep this quip in mind next time a salesman tells you "It's guaranteed," because the term is often used in a loose, general fashion to lure you into buying something—a fountain pen, maybe, or living room furniture.

On the other hand, dealers in automobile tires and storage batteries sell such products on a straightforward basis with guarantees of performance for a specified number of months, according to the brand bought and/or the price paid. If the battery or tires fail before the expiration of the guarantee, you are given a pro-rata credit for the number of months remaining to be applied against the purchase of a new tire or battery.

You probably have a number of guarantees for various pieces of household equipment. You may have, for example, a water heater with a glass inner lining. The chances are that the guarantee specifies a free replacement if the liner fails within a certain length of time. But read down to the end of your guarantee and consider it carefully lest you get the idea that a new liner will be yours installed absolutely free. There may be a phrase, "free . . . f.o.b. factory," that may mean a big freight bill, as well as the charge for hauling it from the nearest freight station to your home. Maybe you'll also have to pay for the installing serviceman's time.

Then there are guarantees and warranties for major household appliances like refrigerators and ranges, as well as radio and television sets. With a multitude of makes competing for your favor, it may pay you to look into the terms of their guarantees to see which offers you the best deal . . . particularly if you've considered buying from a discount house. Sometimes such warranties aren't available from cut-rate dealers.

Most manufacturers offer a guarantee that any defective part will be replaced within one year without charge, and that sealed-in units will be replaced within four years at no charge. But what does "no charge" mean? Read your warranty carefully. Chances are you must pay for the time of a serviceman for taking out the old part that failed and putting in the new one.

How about warranties on cars? In the spring of 1955 a New Jersey judge ordered an automobile dealer to refund the purchase price of a new station wagon to one of his customers. It appeared that the body of the car leaked and rattled, the fenders and the roof had dents, and the glass had bubbles in it. The owner had notified the dealer of these defects within the 90-day guarantee period; the dealer had tried to correct them, but was unsuccessful. The customer got his money back.

Don't get the idea that guarantees are always sucker-traps. Reliable manufacturers and merchants cheerfully live up to the guarantees they make.

And while you don't need to be a lawyer to figure out just what the various guarantees and warranties for the many items in your household mean, it would be a good idea for you to gather them together and read them over. Also, the next time you're trying to make up your mind what brand of appliance to buy, try comparing the terms of the guarantees. It may be that one offers you a better deal than the other. If other factors are equal, the better guarantee could spell the difference.

BEAUTY AT YOUR FINGERTIPS every time you switch on the light! Staffordshire switchplates from England are as lovely as your best china. Traditional Charlotte Floral pattern (left) or popular Tonquin design (right). Choose either in pink, blue, or brown shades, all on creamy white grounds. Single size, $1.75. Double, $2.50. Ppd. Jenifer House, Dept. AH, Great Barrington, Mass.

THE REAL OLD FASHIONED KIND of ice cream dishes will send a wave of nostalgia right around the table. Those who remember the old ice cream parlors will get absolutely misty-eyed—because that's where they hark from. The molds are 65 years old. Now for your most elegant desserts. 5 1/2" across. $1.25 ea. 4 for $4.50. Add 30¢ post. Red Oaks, Dept. AH, Prairie View, Ill.

TAKE NOTES to yourself of a number to call or a purchase to make by chalking it up on a little green "blackboard." Framed in solid pine, it has a small shelf, and a little plastic-lined drawer underneath to hold pencils, scissors, or a small plant. 12 x 9" and 3 3/4" deep to hang or stand. $4.50 ppd. (add 35¢ W. of Miss.). Puddin' Holler, East Swansey AH-12, New Hampshire.

A STAIRWAY TO BE STARRED deserves lovely Pennsylvania Dutch Hand-Hooked Stair Treads with the familiar tulip-and-bird design on a beige background. Each one is 26" wide, 9" deep, and all you need are tacks and a hammer to perform a transformation. A 2' x 3' matching Landing Rug is $10.95. Treads are $3 ea. Add 25¢ post. Page & Biddle, 21 Station Rd., Haverford A-1, Pa.

FLUTTER PINS. A whole flock of tiny, star-dusted metal birds to bedazzle any spot they are perched. A spring clip enables you to fasten them to your shining hair, the shoulder of a sweater, the ribbon on a gift package, or your organdy curtains. Each is one-inch across, and a box of 7 contains assorted colors. $1 ppd. Rajah Enterprises, Dept. A, Box 26r, Englewood, N. J.

ON THE SURFACE of this beautiful Drop Leaf Coffee Table you can spread out and have room to spare. With both leaves up, it's a big round 38" in diameter. And even with the leaves down, it is a generous 38 x 19" and 17" high. Of solid hand-rubbed pine, it has nice turned legs, plain stretchers. $67.50. Exp. chgs. coll. (35 lbs.). Old Guilford Forge, Dept. AH, Guilford, Conn.

THE FIRST ROBIN gets the most attention so don't blame us for making this an early bird if there is still snow on your lawn. We think you'll be glad to spot this Robin-on-Nest any time of year. He is made of charming milk glass and lifts off his nest so that it can be used as a sweet resting place for candy. 6" high. $5.50 postpaid from Carl A. Forslund, Grand Rapids, Michigan.

IT'S NO YOKE. This oxbow is hand-forged to make the most interesting towel rack we've ever seen for kitchen or fingertip towels. In a boy's room it would make a handy hanging spot for his ties. Even with nothing hanging from it, we think it's wonderfully ornamental. 10" across, it is just $1 postpaid from King's Forge, Dept. AH, 580 Hathaway Road, New Bedford, Mass.

PLAQUE MAGIC. Four exquisite 3 3/4" snowy bisque disks are correctly spaced on two black velvet ribbons to flank a picture or mirror which needs dramatizing, or a doorway. Copies of museum pieces, they show in relief precious cherubs in each of the Four Seasons of the year. The set, $2.95 plus 25¢ postage from Foster House, Dept. AH, 430 South Jefferson, Peoria, Illinois.

MEASURE TREASURE. The Wondercup combines the work of all your kitchen measuring devices in one handy all-plastic gadget. It measures liquids, solids, granules, shortening, coffee. Line up outside sleeve with visible scale to measurement needed, fill level, then push sleeve down to empty without scraping or spooning. $1 ppd. Wondercup, Dept. A, 201 N. Wells St., Chicago 6, Ill.

NAME & NUMBER BRACKET MARKER

Your name is you
—to your friends and neighbors
—to the doctor and other callers
—even to yourself and your family!

present your name attractively, with a DAY-N-NIGHT Marker

PERFECT FOR GIFTS—ANY WORDING YOU WANT***

Your name gleams in permanent reflector letters on your DAY-n-NIGHT Marker—shines brightly in headlights, softly in moonlight! It helps your friends find their way—helps the doctor, mailman and delivery men. Its graceful proportions and quiet good taste make your home more attractive.

The letters are treated with the same material that makes highway signs shine in your headlights, and they are permanent because they are embossed in the background plate.

On request we send a smart vellum gift card, inscribed with your name or nickname, to announce your gift.

THE PERFECT GIFT FOR Birthdays
or any occasion because it's personal!

Letters shine bright at night
Easy to read DAY-n-NIGHT
2-sided; raised letters on both sides
Rustproof—lifetime aluminum throughout
Permanent embossed lettering—raised in solid plates
Baked enamel finish—black background—white reflector letters
Attractive size—nameplates 2 1/2" x 18", number plates 2 1/2" x 7"
Any wording you want, up to 17 letters and numbers on nameplates, up to 6 on number plates. Same on both sides.

COLOR! Background on any marker in your choice of ANTIQUE COPPER • BARN RED • KELLY GREEN
Baked enamel automobile finish. Same brilliant white reflecting letters as black and white styles. only $1.00 extra per marker

SHE'LL WALK IN BEAUTY in dainty boudoir or traveling slippers of rows of pink nylon net ruffles bound to make any woman feel like a bride again, and a bride feel like a princess. Fragile-looking as a moonbeam, but easy to launder. Foam innersoles slip out, rosebuds snap off. Small, medium, or large, $6.95 ppd. Townsend House, Dept. A, 645 Bergen Ave., Jersey City 4, N. J.

FLIGHT OF FANCY Pheasants of imported china in rich woodland colors provide the best game you could possibly bag to decorate a hard-to-fill wall space. Spot them in a den, or over the buffet in the dining room, and everyone will be bird watching. Set of three, 8, 6, and 4 inches in length, $2.95 ppd. From Lee Wynne, Dept. AH-11, 5446 Diamond St., Philadelphia 31, Pa.

HOOK A RUG and you can be sure of having lovely flowers at your feet all year round. This kit starts you on the project, supplying a charming Adams design stamped in black on burlap, a hook, instructions, and the necessary materials in shaded colors to work the flower motif. Your finished rug will be 28 x 48". $7.50 ppd. Rebecca's Rugs, Box 390A, Walnut Ridge, Arkansas.

TURNABOUT BOWL is a two-piece job with a terrific split personality. Fill the big bowl with yellow daffodils or fruit, heap the small compote with nuts or candy—or use it for a base or a cover. Of handblown textured crystal glass, you may choose amber, amethyst, sapphire, smoke, clear, or milk white. $3.95 ppd. Artisan Galleries, 2100 N. Haskell Ave., Dallas 4, Tex.

AN OLD WATCH SHOULD WIND UP its days in this sentimental showcase of rich china in soft, glowing pastels. Daintily scrolled and decorated with pastel rosebuds, an adorable cherub peeps over the top to add a real Valentine-type charm. 5½" high, it will hold any average-sized pocket watch. $1.95 plus 25¢ postage from Helen Gallagher, 413-AH Fulton Street, Peoria, Illinois.

IN FEUDAL JAPAN the head of the household drank Sake from bottles like these. Designs varied with families, but all were artistic and lovely. Exact copies in fine china make unique bud vases. Backgrounds are in white, blues, greens—some with floral designs, others abstract or Japanese characters. 5" tall. 2 for $1.25 ppd. Miles Kimball, 126 Bond St., Oshkosh, Wisc.

KEEPER OF THE KEYS. A round ball screws onto each end of a uniquely bent bar to make the most uncomplicated and best designed key holder around. Perfect to corral a bundle of keys in purse or pocket, nob unscrews to unhitch one key from the lot. Silver plated on brass. Made in Germany. 69¢ ppd. B. M. Lawrence, Dept. AH-1, 244 California St., San Francisco 11, Calif.

LOVE ME OR LEAVE ME alone. A peek at the Mood Barometer will indicate the feelings of your spouse, so avoid verbal battles if it's set at "bossy" or "touchy", or if it's set at "affectionate", then's the time to tell her about the card game with the boys. Of cherrywood, it's 7" across and is gayly painted. $1.25 ppd. Grandma Pennypincher, 1216 Yale St., Houston 8, Texas.

HURRICANE CANDLE CHEST LAMP of satin black metal with brass trim has a drawer stocked with a dozen candles (6 red and 6 white). Don't wait for a hurricane to light them, because all rooms, like women, look prettier by candlelight. Doubly decorative when used in pairs. $5.95 each postpaid. (Add 50¢ W. of Miss.) New England General Store, Plain Street, Millis, Mass.

A BATHING BEAUTY can soak in luxurious comfort with her head on a Relaxabath Pillow. What better way to forget the cares and tensions of the day? Contoured to rest and support your neck and head, twin suction cups keep this waterproof, inflatable vinyl pillow in position. 9 x 15". Use it, too, for bed or travel. $2.25 ppd. Better Sleep, Dept. AB, New Providence, N. J.

Far more effective than any homemade solution, yet safe for delicate tissues—special preparation for the douche!

Today, discover an intimate,
“clean feeling” you’ve never experienced before. Discover Zonite—the modern woman’s way to internal cleanliness.

Zonite is entirely different from old-fashioned, homemade douching solutions . . . far more effective in antiseptic, germicidal and deodorizing action.
In fact, Zonite is the one effective liquid specially made for feminine hygiene.

Yet, Zonite is so safe. Safer by far to delicate tissues than other liquid antiseptics for the douche!

Make Zonite as important a part of your grooming as your

*This room had to be WIPE-DOWN,
WASHABLE AND DOGPROOF*

Dog hair, dust, surface soil leave a fiber rug when a damp sponge-fitted mop finds them.
Draperies that can be sponged off instead of washed or dry-cleaned are a noteworthy feature of washable room.

Fabric-backed plastic upholstery shines after sponge bath.

See “Where Credit Is Due,” page 112

This room already had four str against it: a circular end v step-up section, radiators and view. Besides, it had to be m washable and dogproof. But the c lenge is met—attractively!

Panels of vinyl-coated fabric f draperies. Pleater tape is sewn on top, and stick-on tape forms “hems.” Folding screen is covere match. Settee and chairs have l antiqued white and fitted with v plastic seats. Sofa and chair had better days, but you’d never kno now that they’re covered in a tured plastic material.

Pale and bright turquoise, with of white, give the room a fresh

POSTERITY PLANTS

MARGARET BEAUCHAMP ARMISTEAD

I wrote an article called "Posterity Box" for the April 1948 issue of The AMERICAN HOME. It concerned my penchant for saving a few of my little girls' outgrown dresses each year, to see how their little girls would look in them some day. And now I have two grandchildren. The small granddaughter that I envisioned with a round face and turned-up nose like her grandmother's is here, so I'm glad I have that posterity box and its memories ... see how sweet Ellen looks in her 20-year-old posterity dress!

Lately my future-conscious nature has turned up another project—a campaign to provide my married children with plants for posterity gardens. I have a sentimental desire to pass on to the younger generation some specimens of flowering shrubs and bulbs and perennials from my own yard. Most of them were given to me by my father-in-law, and they are memories living in a garden.

This spring the exodus began—the transfer of groups of our best-loved plants from our home to the homes of our children. After the shrubs were moved we tackled the transfer of perennials. As I separated the clumps of Shasta daisies, helianthus, chrysanthemums, pyrethrums and Sweet Williams, I set aside some for the children. And maybe other roses and gardenias and peonies would look and smell the same as ours, but they wouldn't be reminiscent of my gentle, kindly father-in-law. He loved his flowers, and brought them to me that I might share his garden. Yes, my children must have some of their grandfather's flowers.

Then there are the redbud trees that came from my aunt's home. Some of them will be given, and plants from friends' homes.

When I see my young-adult children working among their plants, I am very happy. And the little grandchildren will, I hope love and carry on the lives of the family's posterity plants.

GUARDIAN of your hearth and home

For the next 20 years — or until your young ones sprout their own wings — your home will be your headquarters for happiness.

In this place you and your wife will witness the exquisite joys and temporary defeats of your growing family, their grapple with education and their puppy loves, their resounding clatter and their echoing laughter.

As a thoughtful parent who is anxious to preserve this family security, it is only natural that you should worry about what would happen to your home if something happened to you. How would your wife meet the mortgage payments?

Fortunately there is an easy answer to this problem — an insurance plan that provides money to pay off the mortgage if something should happen to take you out of the picture.

Your wife won't be forced into a hasty sale at a depressed price or into a foreclosure. She and the children will be able to go on living in the neighborhood you all love so much.

A GUARDIAN mortgage protection plan can be tailor-made to provide this important safeguard for your family. Your GUARDIAN representative or your own insurance broker will be happy to show you how. Call him today.

SAFETY FOR A TIKE ON A TRIKE

Eleven-year-old Nat Thompson is a man of action. So when he saw his five-year-old brother riding a tricycle down the middle of the street, Nat decided to do something.

Keeping young Joel out of the street was impossible: the Thompsons—like so many families in new homes—live in an area that's still without sidewalks. So, where the law allows it, this leaves trike-riders only the street for free and easy riding.

To make matters worse, Nat knew that Joel didn't know his right hand from his left and that he had a young child's short memory. But Nat remembered something he'd learned about bicycle safety in school; he wrapped the right side of the trike's handlebar with adhesive tape. Then he instructed Joel to always ride on the side of the street where the trike has the adhesive. This keeps Joel out of the way of cars, and doesn't confuse oncoming drivers.

Not only does this make tricycle riding much safer for Joel, but it's teaching him road safety; he's getting good preparation for riding the two-wheeler that he hopes to have some day.

Nat explains to Joel that he should use adhesive tape mark as a guide.

Tape reminds Joel to ride on the safest side of the road.

Helping to speed your telephone call. Telephone man Byron Jensen tests the intricate equipment that gets your number quickly and accurately.

PHOTOGRAPHS BY ANSEL ADAMS

He keeps an electric brain thinking clearly

You benefit from skills like his whenever you use the telephone

Instructing Boy Scouts. Byron, a troop chairman, shows scouts how to orient themselves with a map and compass in the beautiful Wasatch Range near Provo, Utah.

Every time you make a call over a dial telephone, you start an electric brain "thinking" in one of our offices.

First, it tells you when to start dialing by means of a tone. Selects your number automatically from many thousands or millions. Then rings your party or tells you the line is busy.

Such equipment is indeed remarkable. But with all its electronic magic, it still needs the help of people. Day and night, there is continuous checking and maintenance by telephone office craftsmen like Byron Jensen.

"A big part of the job," he says, "is to keep trouble off the lines. For every one of those calls is important to someone. And some can be very important.

"Not only personal calls, but fire alarms, burglar alarms, radio programs and even newspaper pictures go through this same equipment."

Each Sunday Byron teaches a class for boys. Many of his evenings and week ends are devoted to Boy Scout work.

For a person who enjoys helping others, he finds his telephone work particularly satisfying.

"Whenever I watch those dial switches work," he says, "I get the feeling I'm at the nerve center of the community."

THIS YEAR IT'S GOING TO BE DIFFERENT

AL AMENTA

For months after we moved into our new home, my wife and I promised each other we'd do something about those boxes and stacks of miscellaneous papers that had accumulated over the years. In the meantime, of course, more papers were piling up in drawers, closets, cupboards and cabinets.

Finally, aroused by the increasing disorder of the accumulation, my wife said, "Let's do something—anything!"

Fed up with being unable to find an item when I wanted it, I heard myself saying, "Let's sort it out and see what happens."

That did it. We'd committed ourselves; now it was up to us to form a plan of attack. We proceeded very systematically: we plucked every piece of paper from every cranny in the house and dumped it all on the basement floor, together with the still-unsorted contents of boxes we'd moved with us. The basement was our sorting room; my wife took one half of the floor, I the other.

It wasn't long before most of the floor was littered with mounds of paper. In one pile I put correspondence; in another, clippings. High school documents and college mementoes were separated into heaps. Photographs, military records, employment data, old theater programs, do-it-yourself ideas—they all formed piles on my half of the floor.

Meanwhile, my wife sorted recipes, patterns, magazine clippings, restaurant menus, scraps of poetry, holiday and birthday cards, old magazine covers, dance programs—and household bills. This overall sorting job took us two evenings.

But the battle was hardly half won. We knew a lot could be discarded, and we agreed to be as ruthless as possible in throwing away anything we felt we couldn't possibly use. But it wasn't easy—one or both of us had sentimental attachments for a good deal of what we had collected. So this task took quite a while: we repeatedly stopped to look over mementoes of earlier days. We used up three evenings before we finished the job of weeding out. Going through old negatives and photographs took an evening.

And still there was the problem of what system we'd use to file the material away. We decided to try manila folders. Estimating the total number we'd need, I bought a few dozen the next day; I also bought a couple of inexpensive letter-size file-boxes to hold the filled folders.

That night, my wife inserted identifying labels into the tops of the folders, while I began the filing. As we proceeded, we gradually caught on that certain subjects had to be broken down further. For example, we made a folder for each major expenditure—telephone, gas and electric, insurance, bank, income tax, groceries, clothing, household items, and so on.

One more evening and the job was completed. In one week we'd reduced a lifetime of scattered odds-and-ends to the dimensions of two file-boxes. Soon I hope to transfer their contents to the file-size drawers of a desk I plan to build.

As in so many endeavors, the hardest part of our new system was getting started. At the end of the project, there was scarcely an extraneous piece of paper to be seen. Now we can readily find things we'd previously spent hours searching for.

And we actually enjoyed our excursion into the past as we prepared for the business and pleasure of the future. This year, and from now on, it's going to be different!

How We Retired in 15 Years with $300 a Month

"The day Nancy and I hit Arizona, we knew it was for us. The air itself felt alive, and the sunshine—well, it was wonderful. We bought a new ranch house that cost less than the price we got for our city home—and is lots less work. Every single morning I've waked up since, I've been thankful for the monthly check of $300 that makes it all possible.

"Somehow, in my forties it was hard to believe I'd want to slow up someday. Fact is, Nancy was the smart one. One day she came to me—back in 1941, it was—and took out the bank book. 'We've got to do something,' she said. 'Anyone who works as hard as you do ought to be able to plan to retire someday. But you know we just aren't savers.'

"I knew that. 'Want to start a business of our own?' I asked.

"Nancy shook her head. 'You know we haven't enough money for that—experience, either. How much would we have to save up to retire on bank interest?'

"Well, interest rates were higher in '40, but I figured almost a hundred thousand. Needless to say, it was out of the question. And I shrugged it off.

"But not Nancy. A few weeks later she came to me with a little book called 'Phoenix Mutual Retirement Plans.' She said she'd read an ad about a new way to retire. It was for anybody of average means who had fifteen or twenty good earning years ahead. The ad offered more information, and she sent in the coupon.

"It was Nancy's little book that changed my mind. Here was a way I could retire—and in 15 years, if I wanted to. There was no secret, except to start soon enough. And I did. Well, my Phoenix Plan was a greater joy as time went by.

"My first check for $300 came last spring. With it, Nancy and I were off to the West. I feel ten years younger since I got here. I say it's the Arizona air. But Nancy winks and says it's being my own boss. But one thing's certain—I wouldn't change places with our company president."

Your Conception of Life in

FLORIDA? →

Right now—when you've got that old mid-winter slump and you've had almost all you can take of cold weather, sloshy rubbers and the children's sniffles—we thought you might enjoy looking in on some homes in a sunnier clime than most of us call "home" during the winter months. Sunbathing beauties, ecstatic honeymooners, "this year's hotel," or statistics on how many millionaires Florida can boast per square mile—these things Florida has in plenty, yes, and even a room with connecting pool and dance floor, as you can see. But it is not this Florida that we want to show you. We plan to take you on quite a different journey. If you will step aboard our flying carpet, we should like to show you a side of Florida tourists rarely see—real HOME life in Florida.

A bedroom with a connecting pool and dance floor is, of course, not run-of-mill living, even in luxury loving Florida. And, while we do not contend that such an arrangement can be fitted in the average budget, the scheme is an eminently practical one. In the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar B. Lau, it consists of a bedroom just off poolside yet so guest-proof, it can double as cabana . . . a pool one can tumble into from one's bed, yet so strategically planned that it takes care of large parties . . . a sheltered area where one can sun, swim, dance, barbecue, eat. That's good planning anywhere! James Merrick Smith, A.I.D., Interior Decorator.

If you doubt that a cottage can be anything but "cute," just study these two pages! One of those horrid, narrow little summer porches, a catch-all for discards—it could be (and unfortunately still is) anywhere in U.S.A. Mr. Smith converted his into the smart dining area and entrance foyer at your lower left. No fudgin' here—it is the same area, and isn't it an exciting and useful room now?

In the dining area: white and sage green spatter tiles repeat the base form of an antique, black marble table base; table top is black laminated plastic, rubbed with steel wool until all the surface shine is gone and it has the appearance of slate. Venetian walnut chairs are left in natural walnut finish to gradually age darker. Both dining chairs and antique Directoire bench upholstered in tropical leather that is color-fast, mildew-proof, and crack-resistant even in direct sun. And what would you say to wipe-clean draperies? These are! Since cowhides aren't big enough for drapery panels these are put together in three tiers, and seamed with handwoven raffia braid. Striped cotton valances

Florida Cottage— BEFORE AND AFTER JAMES MERRICK SMITH

Yes, the same Mr. Smith who did the Lau decorating job you just looked at. This is Mr. Smith's own home—very typical of the "early Florida" cottages you still see all over Florida.

My name is Frances Loughran. Like most women I've always judged my wash by whiteness.

Then one day I happened to read about Cheer's window test. It made sense to me; every woman knows...

real daylight is best for judging colors and fabrics. So, I used Cheer in my automatic, and then...

I made the test. I took one of band's freshly ironed shirts to dow in our home and...

Mrs. Frances Loughran of The Bronx, New York, making the Cheer

"It's really true! Cheer washes so white you can see the difference!"

It's Cheer's Blue-Magic whitener that makes the difference... and only Cheer has it!

More and more housewives, like Mrs. Loughran, are discovering that Cheer really does wash whiter!

After you've washed with Cheer, you'll see the difference yourself... a difference so great your things look (and actually are) whiter than the day you bought them.

Cheer is truly different—wonderful. And only Cheer has the Blue-Magic whitener. More than just a bluing... it's a special whitening ingredient no other product has.

Try Cheer today, then make your own window test. You've never seen any white like Cheer-white!

Automatic washer owners

You'll get whiter washes using Cheer in your agitator automatic. These modern automatics were designed to work best with active suds like Cheer's. No wonder Cheer is specifically recommended by the leading makers of automatic washers.

If you judge your wash by whiteness—it's got to be Cheer!

Miami Beach's "First Lady," Mrs. Jane Fisher, and her 93-year-old mother, Mrs. George Welsh, now live in this

Biscaya Island Home

The breath-taking Gold Coast you see today in Miami Beach was an impassable mangrove swamp, inhabited only by alligators, when Jane Fisher and her husband, Carl Fisher, arrived in Florida not so many years ago. It seems incredible? The story's all there in her own book, "Fabulous Hoosier," an "adventure" story of our own times. It definitely establishes Jane Fisher as Miami Beach's "first lady." Her present home, just north of the sprawling, ever-growing Miami Beach proper, is one of those rare, comfortable houses that achieves both formality and informality, neither seeming contrived. Living and dining areas and Florida home

With every move that Jane Fisher makes, and her homes are now legion, her orchids are packed just as carefully as the antique Bacarrat French chandelier that twinkles so brightly over the dining room table. An enthusiastic gardener, Jane has built this very simple, inexpensive lean-to to house her orchids at this newest address. Galvanized pipe for the posts and cyclone wire fence for its "walls." The "ceiling" continues to the garage wall and is anchored to 2 x 4's. In order to have the proper amount of shade the entire "little orchid house" was covered with coarse-weave nylon net. Building directly on the grass saved the bother of excavating and pouring concrete. Potting bench is simply constructed of hollow tile—the complete construction costs about $165.

A luncheon to honor

Wishing to honor "Miss Ada" with something more than having her "picture taken" (little 93-year-old "Miss Ada" is pretty blasé about pictures by this time) we decided to give a luncheon in her honor. The menu must be special, but not exotic, for "Miss Ada" comes from Indiana and in spite of years' proximity to Cuba and the Caribbean Islands is still not too adventurous when it comes to food. Our menu was a success, the Victuals were good, and the girls looked their prettiest. Ponce de Leon found no secret of youth that Miss Ada does not know, but like Ponce Miss Ada's not telling. However, the state of Florida could get no better testimonial than Mrs. Welsh at 93. Starred recipes will be found on page 76.

A 50' Lot Never Had It So Good!

Mrs. Taub has been extraordinarily successful in keeping her new home modern in feeling yet retaining very old, very distinguished rare pieces she has acquired over the years.

For all you skeptics who might still be insisting that Florida is the extreme of trailer camp or millionaire's estate, we challenge you with this sophisticated little house

DONALD J. REIFF, A.I.A.

You would never associate a 50' lot with the kind of indoor-outdoor living this house affords and, if you hadn't come in through the front door and seen that it is sandwiched in between two other houses, you probably wouldn't believe it could be done. You enter the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Taub through a louvered gate that opens on a screened court tropically planted to conform to the color scheme of the interior of the house. Mr. Taub explained that from corner to corner of the living and dining room areas and the porch (which is 12 x 40) they have sixteen hundred feet of "screened outdoors" visible from the living room, making a rather usual-sized living room seem enormous. A rather sparse look is due to a minimum of furniture, at present, the Taubs being determined to wait for what they really want rather than fill space with substitutes—a vow often made but rarely kept!

• Remarkable as this house is for its smart use of space (Taub house is the one in center of picture above!) the scene stealer is still the view of the lake with the porch as the star attraction. Sliding glass doors, extending across the full length of the house, provide an "available at every look" panorama of water and sky. On the practical side, glass doors keep the air-conditioning sealed-in . . . the bugs out. With the Taubs' arrangement of dining area and living room opening on to porch and patio, you can see how easily small parties and family dinners are kept intimate, how large parties would just naturally flow from one area to another with ease and no crowding whatsoever. The Taubs had a

Sunset in Naples

Remember Kipling's famous sunset—going down like thunder 'cross the Bay of Mandalay? With no wish to belittle Rudyard, for our money it's Naples, sunset on the bay of Mexico. Naples is, purportedly, Midwest moved to the West Coast of Florida. However, Arnie and Barney Kazanjian are from Westchester and the Beach Club was swarming with Westchester and Long Island refugees when we were there. To us, Naples has a special character—not because of where its citizens come from, but because of its very special way of life. It's full of retired people like the Kazanjians—young middle-agers. You won't find them on park benches or around a public shuffle board. They're living practically the same way they lived before they retired and built a house in Naples—with this difference. Their homes are smaller, they have perforce "edited" themselves down to the things they value most, and they're "do-it-yourselfers" from necessity, if not choice, or does that make Naples different?

The Kazanjians spent their first married years in the Orient, began collecting then many of the fine things they brought with them to their new home in Naples.

Large living room, small dining room and kitchen, and an extra bedroom for their children and their grandchildren are all they need or want in their flight from their big house in Northern Suburbia.

WHAT HAPPENS

What's good in Toledo, Ohio, can be just as good in Florida—especially if it is a clean-cut house plan. Mr. and Mrs. Milton Wyatt spotted this one in the February 1953 issue of The American HOME. "This is it!", said Mrs. Wyatt, after much searching for their dream house. They'd build it on their lot on Hypoluxo Island in Lake Worth, about 10 miles south of Palm Beach.

The rectangular house had maximum space, livability and good looks. It would adapt admirably to the semi-tropical Florida climate. And because of Sandra, age 10, and Jim, 7, the three bedrooms clinched the decision.

The Wyatts liked the free-flowing rooms . . . a minimum of interior partitions makes for economical construction. They kept the basic design and floor plan of the original version. The few changes are simple: (1) Fixed windows meant for air conditioning in Toledo were PLEASE TURN THE PAGE

Routine Care Pays Off

HELEN E. HEMBERGER

The evergreens around the foundation of your house—and everywhere else in your garden—are most important. If you keep them the proper shape and size, they add a great deal to the appearance and to the real-estate value of your property. But if you let them get straggly and overgrown, they don't do it any good.

Maybe your evergreens have become unsightly? Or two or three times as large as they should be? In that case you'd do well to think about replacing them with new plants.

But if they're young plants and growing beautifully, or if they've just attained their right size and are a joy to behold, then by all means keep them that way. It can be done.

How? Simply by giving them the attention they need, when they need it. And it's easier than you probably think—at least, it doesn't require special skill.

Right now, in most parts of the country, it's still a matter of winter care. If you let snow accumulate heavily on the branches, they may snap. This disfigures the plant for years.

Knock the snow off gently with a broom, or shake the plant, not too vigorously, until the snow is mostly removed.

If an ice-storm strikes, prop up the weighted-down branches with any poles, sticks or tools you can lay your hands on. The work involved is much less bother than waiting for a maimed shrub or tree to regain its beauty.

If you're having an "open" winter, without rain or snow, and the soil is bone dry, then disregard the calendar and get out the hose. Evergreens need moisture at their roots all year 'round, and especially if it's windy.

With the arrival of spring, you'll do well to start an evergreen-maintenance routine. We know it pays, because when we first became homeowners we didn't know what we were doing: in a few years our evergreens were a mess. So we dug them all out, started again from scratch, and ever since we've maintained a simple routine that keeps our planting in beautiful shape.

In principle, our routine is a program of studying the requirements of our plants every week (this takes only a few minutes) and of doing any work that's needed right then and there, when it's needed. And you'd be surprised: when you do things regularly, there's little to do!

PLEASE TURN THE PAGE

The main phases of our routine, then, are:

TRIMMING. We have our pruning shears in our pockets when we make our weekly study of our plants' requirements. If any plant is making new growth beyond where we want it to grow, we immediately cut it back to its original contour. We've found this is the best system, and in the long run the easiest and most time-saving too.

The same goes for an evergreen hedge. Clip it whenever it needs it, and you'll save time and effort. Except that here, if you have much hedge and if exercise is not your concern, both your enthusiasm and your efficiency will be increased if you buy an electric hedge-trimmer.

WATERING. Newly-planted evergreens should be watered frequently and thoroughly. During dry weather in summer, soak them every week. After they've become established—that is, after two years—water them whenever the soil becomes really dry, and let the water run until it has penetrated the soil about a foot.

The best way to water evergreens is with a canvas soaker-hose or with one of the perforated hose sprinklers. Adjust the water to run slowly, so that it soaks in without running off. We've found that letting it run very slowly overnight is the most efficient way to water shrubs.

PEST CONTROL. Our insect and disease control measures are mainly a matter of plant hygiene or sanitation. We remove dead branches and dead leaves whenever we see them, and at least once a year we open up the branches and clean out every bit of dead material we find on the inside. While doing so, we're on the lookout for insect cocoons and webs, and especially for bagworms, which we immediately remove and burn.

During the summer, too, we treat our evergreens to a full-force spray from the hose every few weeks to foil insects.

Ordinarily, a midsummer precautionary spraying with insecticide is enough. Occasionally, though, an unexpected invasion by some pest or other will call for immediate action.

Whenever you spray, use an all-purpose insecticide such as malathion, and follow manufacturers' directions.

FEEDING. A good feeding once a year, in spring or early summer, fills the bill. We've found standard complete plant food to be entirely satisfactory, though you can use a special evergreen fertilizer.

To feed deep-rooted evergreens—the needled type such as yews and junipers, and hollies among the broad-leaf type—place a couple of handfuls of plant food in holes made with a trowel or crowbar, 6" deep or more, a foot or so apart, and about 18" from the trunk.

Shallow-rooted broad-leaf evergreens—like rhododendrons, azaleas, mountain laurels—grow best if permanently mulched with oak leaves, pine needles, or peatmoss. They should be fed by sprinkling plant food lightly on surface of the mulch.

Soluble fertilizers, applied through the hose, also can be used to feed evergreens.

Just see the wonders this program accomplishes!

Like to grow roses indoors? Well, if you have a window facing south or southwest that's in the sun six hours a day, you've got what it takes! The kind you can grow indoors are the miniature or fairy roses. They're exactly like the regular hybrid tea and floribunda roses except that they're scaled down to rock-garden or window-sill size.

The plants grow 6" to 12" tall; their leaves are 1/2" to 1" long. The buds, when they first appear, are the size of a grain of wheat. Soon they become exquisite little 1/4" rosebuds. Ultimately they'll become full-blown roses, ranging from 3/4" to 1 1/4" across.

You can get these miniatures, any time between March and September, from many of the nurseries that specialize in garden roses. I've found it pays to have miniature roses sent by first class mail, special delivery, because it seems that no matter how well they're packed they suffer badly from being a week or so in transit. The extra mailing cost is better than nursing them back to health or getting them replaced if they fail.

The nurserymen grow miniature roses in small pots, so you get them with soil on the roots. Pot them up immediately, without disturbing the root-ball; water them well, and get them into the window right away. I've found 4" or 5" flower pots are the best size for indoor use. If you want to stand them on the outside window sill, use 6" pots, which don't dry out so fast.

This is Twinkles, a new white miniature rose that you'll find exquisite for tiny flower arrangements, nosegays and boutonnières. It makes a compact, bushy plant.

Miniature Roses Indoors

Grow miniature roses in average good garden loam, without peatmoss and without manure. To insure good drainage, put a layer of pebbles or gravel in the bottom of the pot and over this a layer of sphagnum moss, which you can get at a florist's.

Water the pots frequently enough to prevent the soil from ever drying out and once a week soak them thoroughly. Add soluble plant food to the water every six weeks from the time they form buds in the spring until October. But use the plant food at one-half the rate recommended on the package for the most satisfactory growth.

"Tree" roses are the latest thing in miniatures. They're 12" replicas of the 4' garden tree roses. This is rose-pink Midget.

Tom Thumb—the flowers make a thimble look big—is rich crimson. It produces lots of buds, beautifully shaped, and has delightful little leaves.

Bedtime Story

Like Goldilocks' Three Bears, we have a Big Bed, a Middle-Sized Bed and a Little Bed. But we go the bears one better with a construction pattern for each bed. The tester bed is a fine 17th-century piece, Pattern 2114. The draperies and valance avoid the too-feminine look so often found in "master" bedrooms. The valance copies one shown in the tavern at Old Sturbridge Village, Massachusetts. We have a pattern for it too—1646—just to be different, try this as a window cornice! If you wish to copy the handsome quilt, see page 93. Even the fabric was carefully chosen, a wonderful old unglazed chintz pattern; the original you can see at the Brush Everhard house in Williamsburg, Virginia. The shutters and the tucked curtains are Pattern 1645, braided rug is Pattern 1660.

The middle-sized bed is a nice old four-poster. It is easy to see that the posts were designed to suit some salty old sea captain newly returned from the Orient, for the post tops suggest pagodas (Pattern 2116.) We continue the Oriental theme and use an East Indian cotton for the spread (Pattern 1661) and a handsome boxed pillow. Good dark colors please the man of the house. A trim tailored ruffle in a neutral shade is an excellent foil for the bold red and black pattern of the spread. Note the pleated beige curtains, Pattern 1658. Wall decoration is a quilt block, matted and framed.

Now for the little bed. We have had many requests for a good-looking day bed, so here it is. Nice chunky low posts, easy-to-upholster foam-rubber mattress, and bolsters . . . these make it comfortable and permit the use of an inexpensive flat spring. That's all there is to it, but note the smartness; Pattern 2115. The linoleum floor has been stenciled. If you want to copy this, see page 95. Just a bit about the accessories. Please look at the size of the lamp shades and the new narrow shape. Note the long piece of Persian shawl border, framed in simple gilt. The blocks of wood were mounted with a brass butterfly, a piece of ormolu and a china door knocker. Quilted pillows are Pattern 1407. Curtains, Pattern 1659.

NO EXCUSE FOR

Cold floors make cold feet. And when your feet are cold, you're cold all over. It's an uncomfortable situation; it can be unhealthy. So why put up with it any longer? You don't have to.

No matter how they're constructed, floors that are cold can be made warm and comfortable (and safe for children to play on). The solution is either to insulate the floors against the cold, or put more heat into them.

Does your home have cold floors? Then one or more of these three defects are the cause: (a) the surfacing material is a type that naturally feels cold, (b) drafts are blowing across them, or (c) the cold is penetrating through them from below.

- Surfacing that feels cold is an easy problem to cope with because it's easy to understand. Even though two floors may be constructed in the same way and exposed to the same conditions, the way they're surfaced can make a big difference in the way they feel: the more compact a floor material is, the colder it feels.

Usually there's no need to take drastic action when the surfacing alone causes the cold feeling. Just lay a carpet on the offending floor—it doesn't have to be a thick one—and your sense of discomfort will disappear. The only time you need to do more is when, for decorative reasons, you would find a carpet objectionable or when small children use the floor as a playfield. In those cases, it may be

1. Best way to warm a cold joist-supported floor is to insulate between joists with 4-inch thick batts, or use a reflective insulation that has 3 or 4 internal air spaces. You can also nail 1-inch rigid insulating board below joists, or blow in loose fill if there's a ceiling beneath. If floor is over crawl space, also cover bare ground with plastic sheeting or 55-pound roll roofing, lapped 4 inches: this cuts dampness reaching the floor.

2. If slab floor is cold, especially near its exterior walls, you can insulate the slab from outside. Against exterior face of foundation walls, fasten sheets of 2-inch waterproof rigid insulation with anchor nails. Insulation should extend 12 inches below inside floor level. On outside of insulation, nail asbestos-cement board to protect it against moisture or damage from any digging or lawn mowing. To keep water out of insulation, install metal flashing over the insulation and asbestos-cement board.

3. If you decide to make an extra room out of a garage, porch, or basement that's built on a slab, you can help keep the floor of the new room warm by "building it up": First, coat the slab with a generous layer of asphalt; in the asphalt, embed staggered pattern of 2 x 4 inch wood screeds 18 to 30 inches long. Over these screeds lay wood subfloor; next, 1-inch thick insulating board; then a vapor barrier; and finally the finished flooring.

COLD

advisable to install a less compact floor covering (such as cork tile) that won't feel so cold, or to heat the floor either from underneath or from the ceiling.

- If drafts are the cause of your cold floors, you may have more of a headache. If a draft is caused by air coming in around the edges of doors and windows, all you have to do is apply weatherstripping. (Don't overlook the interior doors; they may need it too.) This will stop strong air movements that originate outside the room. But even in a tightly sealed room, you may still feel cold drafts along the floor. Your windows are to blame.

Since glass is a poor insulator, a great deal of heat goes right out through windows, cooling the room air near the window. As this air is cooled, it settles and creeps across the floor. Storm windows go a long way toward stopping the heat loss and resulting drafts. An even better answer is to install radiators or registers under the windows. These will blanket the glass with warm air, dilute the cold air around windows, and carry it upward away from the floor.

- Cold penetrating through the floor is the toughest of all; but even so, you can usually solve it rather easily. Invariably, though, the solution requires some type of construction work. Just what kind, of course, depends on how the floor is built.

Joist construction. Floors that are built on joists have an open space beneath them, and it's from this space that the cold comes. In most houses with cold floors, crawl spaces are the cause of the trouble. However, cold floors are also found over garages (poorly constructed split-level houses are prime offenders here), porches and—in rare cases—even over basements.

Carpeting over any cold joist floor may give an illusion of comfort; but the illusion is fleeting. No matter how thick the carpet, how heavy the rug cushion, or how many layers of newspaper you put on the floor boards, the cold eventually penetrates through the "protective" covering: the floor feels as cold as it was before you covered it.

A simple but costly way to warm space below a cold floor and the floor itself is to remove the insulation from heating pipes or ducts below the floor. But when you do this, you cut the heating system's efficiency and boost its cost of operation. That's why heating experts advise against this cure. They say you can produce the necessary underfloor heat much more effectively and economically by installing one or more new heating outlets in the crawl space, garage or basement and by insulating the outside walls—a reasonably expensive operation. The most practical way to keep joist-supported floors warm is to insulate them as explained in caption #1.

Slab construction. In many hastily built postwar homes, cold masonry slab floors are common and exceedingly troublesome; because they're cold, they condense the humidity in the indoor air and feel damp.

2 ways to Improve a Stairway

• If you're like most home owners, you want your home to be something special. You want it to be attractive and comfortable, of course—but that's not enough. You also want it to have individuality.

One way to get individuality is to have a house built to your exact requirements. Nowadays, though, most people don't have homes built; they buy homes already built. And this can mean a minimum of individuality.

What can you do about it? Many things. And they needn't be big ones. Just look how two homeowners perked up ordinary stairways.

STAIRWAYS OFFER YOU a quick and easy way to give your home individuality. In the beginning, the stairways in these homes had a routine, uniform look (top). The owner of one such house decided that the thing to do was to open up the side of the stairway and add wrought-iron trim (above). This not only gave a distinguished look to the stairway, but also made living room look much larger.

ANOTHER STAIRWAY started off the same way, but ended up with a different note of individuality. This variation (right) leaves side of stairway intact; all changes are made in opening that existed when owners bought the house. The attractive effect is created by building a simple wooden framework that is nailed in place between ceiling and original handrail. Choose and build your own design.

Steak

Family Food doesn't always need steaks or chops as the mainstay of the meal.

Want proof? Try any one of these meat recipes and you will be "sold!"

couldn't taste better!

Don't ask me why this is a steak-and-chop country, but it is. But after about three days in a row of eating steaks and chops, I want to sink my teeth into something else. My creative imagination urges me to take some other kinds of meats and turn them into something special. And when my imagination nudges me like this, I must admit I always start my little missionary campaign to wean my family and friends away from the "aristocratic" cuts of the pig and the cow. I want them to give new meat dishes at least a try. Eating nothing but steaks and chops is, I tell them, ridiculous. I've seldom seen my meat-switching plan backfire—unless it would be to say the family wants these dishes as often as discretion will permit. And it tickles me—and my food budget—to see my family falling so hard for a less fancy piece of meat dressed up a bit.

As an example of what I'm talking about, I first offer PORK SAUERBRATEN—a dish that has class no matter who cooks it or why. Buy as large a fresh shoulder butt as your conscience will let you and spread it over two—maybe three—meals. Serve it sliced cold the second time, or cubed into a pork pie.

Then there is SPECIAL BEEF-AND-KIDNEY PIE. Wait a minute! I know many people feel kidneys aren't very appetizing. But just try serving them according to this recipe!

You can go a long way on stewing meats, too. Buy as much as you need, of course, but this time buy lamb. And give it a special seasoning with dried mint leaves. But call it MINTED BRAISED LAMB, not just plain old lamb stew.

And I must tell you about my friend who has enough good taste to take particular joy in serving cutlets of veal layered in a casserole with thin—very thin—slices of potato and onion doused with good old canned tomatoes. She calls it VEAL "PIZZA."

So the next time your family gets in a steak-and-chop rut, haul them out an interesting way with one of these recipes.

Pluck a can of cherries from your pantry shelf and you're headed for a treat! If your cupboard is well stocked, you can choose the plump, dark red "Bing" cherries, the pale Dresden "Queen Anne" variety, or the sweet or sour reds. Cherries are very versatile—there's almost no limit to the ways you can use them to add color and flavor to all sorts of dishes.

Try our CHERRY SOUP that doubles as a dessert sauce. And colorful, regal-looking CHERRY MOLD SALAD will make a simple meal look glamorous as can be. Our CHERRY TORTE ICE CREAM PIE is as elegant a dessert as you could wish for, and not difficult to make. Be sure you provide seconds!

And for putting on a little side show at the table, you'll like three other cherry recipes. They're all a little on the fancy side, but fanciness never did good food any harm. Cherry dishes are particularly suitable for the three-holiday month of February. Can't you just picture any one of these pretty red dishes on a Valentine party table? They'll add a glow to your celebration of Washington's or Lincoln's birthday, too.

One of these recipes is an old favorite of mine—my pet BREAD-AND-CHERRY STUFFING. This time it's cooked in breast of veal. (Your butcher will slit a pocket in the meat to hold the stuffing.)

Although you may consider this entrée rich enough as it stands, I suggest that you garnish it with SPICED CHERRY PICKLES. Always have some in the refrigerator—pickle them a can at a time, and make a new can before the supply runs out.

One other delicious cherry treat: our ROSEBUD ROLLS. Bake and serve them in tiny flower pots (we tell you how to use them on the recipe card).

WHEN THEY DINED WITH MR. LINCOLN

When Lincoln spread a feast at his second inaugural ball, way back in 1865, he might well have written a menu for all successive inaugurations. For this bounteous feast table was laden with oyster stews, chicken, smoked ham, beef, veal, pheasant, quail and venison, salads of chicken and lobster, calves' foot and wine jellies, fancy tarts, ice cream, sponge cakes, blanc mange, grapes, almonds, raisins, coffee and chocolate—All dishes that are popular to this day!

Experts say that, to their knowledge, this is the only menu now in existence describing the feast. We found it among the rare mementos of the Civil War days that beautify the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Burton of Long Beach, California. The treasured souvenir was handed down by Mrs. Burton's father and mother, Dr. and Mrs. Hoag. They had been among the 50,000 guests who watched a tired, old-appearing Lincoln, dressed in plain black, lead the grand march down the marble hall of the Patent Office.

It was a gala evening for the young physician and his bride. The long months the doctor had spent caring for the wounded men of the Union Army were over, and just ahead stretched the prospect of a new future. For all of us, Lincoln's menu is a memento of that historic time.

Why are 9 out of 10 dieters unsuccessful?

Have you ever tried dieting?

If you have, you won't be surprised to learn that only about 1 dieter in 10 is really successful. That is, 1 in 10 stays within his calorie limit and loses the desired number of pounds.

It's no fun watching other people enjoy dessert while you try to drown your craving for sweets in a cup of black coffee. That's why, if you're a weight watcher, you'll bless the day you discovered new low-calorie D-Zerta Puddings—Chocolate, Vanilla and Butterscotch.

Made by the makers of Jell-O desserts. These sweet, satisfying D-Zerta Puddings do wonders for a reducer's morale. They have all the flavor of America's best-liked puddings—yet, they contain no sugar and they're incredibly low in calories!

Chocolate Pudding only 54 calories! When you mix D-Zerta Puddings with skim milk, a serving contains 54 calories. If you use whole milk, count 94 calories. (There are 377 in a piece of apple pie. Even a portion of orange water ice contains 177!)

The family will love D-Zerta. "Well, I have to cook for the whole family" is no longer an excuse for calorie-heavy desserts. New D-Zerta Puddings are so good everybody enjoys them. There are 3 envelopes in each box—2 servings in each envelope. Get several packages at a time and mix the flavors if you like—the combination of Vanilla and Chocolate is a great favorite.

You'll like D-Zerta Gelatin, too. D-Zerta Gelatin is another boon to reducers. It comes in the 6 famous Jell-O flavors: Strawberry, Raspberry, Cherry, Orange, Lemon and Lime, and costs only pennies per serving.

With this sweet, low-calorie gelatin you can make bright, tempting desserts and such refreshing salads! And weight watchers can eat all they want, because D-Zerta Gelatin contains no sugar and only 12 calories in a serving. Think of it—only 12 calories! Hardly enough to count.

Instead of pound-producing, inch-adding desserts—serve delicious D-ZERTA PUDDINGS AND GELATINS. D-ZERTA is the sweetest friend a weight watcher ever had.

WHAT'S IN THAT CAN?

VIRGINIA SCHROEDER

In these days of serve-yourself shopping, you seldom have a chance to get advice from a man behind the counter. So unlike shoppers of bygone days, you're pretty much on your own when it comes to selecting canned and packaged foods.

You needn't be a fortune teller, though, to decide wisely, for each can or package has by law a "window" that lets you know exactly what's inside. This "window" is the label . . . and just for the reading, it gives you all sorts of helpful hints. Let's take a look.

Weight—By law all labels must carry a declaration of weight so that you can tell which package or can contains the most of product. A package that seems to be a bargain might actually contain less than a competitor's. Such a "bargain" can cost you more per ounce or pound.

Ingredient lines—Every food package must carry an ingredient line. This will tell you what's in the container. It'll tell you if the fish sticks are made of cod or perch, if the stew contains carrots, or if the cake mix is artificially flavored. The sequence in which ingredients are listed is important. By law, they are listed according to amounts—from the greatest to the smallest.

Brand name—The manufacturer's name appears on all labels. His address must be there too so you can recognize the product again and know whom to contact if you have any questions about it.

Directions—Don't be an if-at-first-you-don't-succeed-try-following-the-directions user. Most packages contain directions for product use. These directions are the result of long testing by expert technicians who are as interested as you are in your getting good results. Check these directions occasionally even on items you use often. They are sometimes changed to save you time and effort.

Recipes—On many labels you'll find recipes for making a variety of things from the product. Recipes may be changed from time to time, so save the ones you like in case they're discontinued.

Code—This is a series of numbers or letters somewhere on the label. In the manufacturer's own secret code, it tells him when and where the product was made. If you have a complaint, he appreciates your referring to the code or sending in the package.

Package labels are put there to help you. Why not use them? See "Where Credit Is Due," page 112

Cut a "lace" cloth for ST. VALENTINE

It starts with a simple piece of white paper, 12" square or any size square you prefer. Then, almost before you can say "Be my Valentine," it becomes the focal point of your table setting. Whether you make it for your Valentine, for a birthday party, or even for an extra-special luncheon, this paper overcloth variation is worth the few minutes it takes to make. The only materials you need are sheets of medium-weight visual bond paper, either plain or colored cellophane tape, a pair of scissors, and a little imagination. The undercloth can be paper or cloth, in a gay color (and plain, not a print) to show up "lace" topping.

See "Where Credit Is Due," page 112

Fold a 12" square in eighths: halve, then quarter it, then fold diagonally.

Cut out designs at random in folded paper. Don't sever square's center.

Cut enough squares to cover undercloth. Unfold squares and lay on flat surface. Tape together, and you have a paper phenomenon.

"MY CAKE ALWAYS STICKS TO THE PAN"

Getting a cake out of the pan is a problem to be solved before you pour the batter into the pan. It's no trick with a little know-how. Here are several good methods. See which you like best.

- For cake that will slide out easily and have well browned crust use a pan coating made of  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup shortening and  $\frac{1}{4}$  cup flour. Mix these together until smooth and use the mix for greasing the pans. You can make this coating ahead of time and have it ready when you need it. When using it, be generous. Cover the bottoms and sides of the pans very well. Then your cake will have a very smooth brown crust that will make decorating easy. This method is particularly good for irregularly-shaped pans.

- The neat, easy way is to cut a piece of paper for the bottom of the cake pan. The paper doesn't need to fit the pan exactly and it can be any shape. Just cover the center of the pan well. Any kind of paper will do; brown paper is especially good. (Waxed paper has a tendency to stick to the pan as the cake cools.) When the layer is turned out peel the paper off, peeling it back over the cake to avoid breaking off pieces of cake.

- Grandmother's method (and it still works) was to grease the bottoms of the pans generously with butter. This furnished the grease needed for easy removal of the cake. Today any shortening can be used, but you'll find that the butter or margarine on the crust will flavor the whole cake.

- Regardless of method, there is a "best time" to remove cakes from the pans. Layer cakes should cool 10 minutes before they are removed, loaf cakes 20 minutes. But if they stand longer, loosen the crusts from the top edge of the pans and warm the bottom of the cake pans over low heat on top of the range. The warmth will loosen the paper or underliner, or soften the crust so that the cake will drop out of the pan easily.

A JELL-O SALAD

JELL-O IS A REGISTERED TRADE-MARK OF
GENERAL FOODS CORP.

MAKES THE MEAL

LIME LAYER SALAD

1 package Lime Jell-O •  $\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon salt • 1 cup hot water
1 cup cold water • 1 tablespoon lemon juice •  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup diced orange sections
 $\frac{1}{4}$  cup diced celery • 1 package (3 oz.) cream cheese, softened

You'll love the subtle new flavor of Lime Jell-O gelatin blended with mellow cream cheese! Just dissolve the Jell-O and salt in hot water. Add cold water and lemon juice. Chill 1 cup of the Jell-O until slightly thickened, then fold in oranges and celery. Pour into a 1-quart mold or 5 individual molds and chill until almost firm.

Add softened cream cheese to the remaining Jell-O and beat until the mixture is smooth. Chill until slightly thickened, then pour over the layer in the mold. Chill until firm, and unmold on crisp greens. Serves 5.

Lime Layer Salad is a delightful way to balance your meal, and add festive beauty as well. Try it . . . tonight!

This chicken has been fried in another shortening over medium heat for 45 minutes. Compare these results with the picture on the right.

This chicken has been fried in Fluffo over the same heat for the same length of time as the chicken on the left.

Something Golden Happens

(golden crispness you've never gotten with any other shortening)

Expect surprising results when you use golden Fluffo; it's an altogether surprising shortening. Different from other leading shortenings as day is from night... different in substance, different in handling, different in results:

There's not a one that can give you such crisp, light, golden-brown fried foods. Like the chicken shown above—moist and fork-tender inside, more beautifully browned all over and just as digestible as it looks. For deep frying, you'll find you can use light, sweet Fluffo indefinitely. Just add more when needed.

Not one can give you such tender, flaky, golden-brown pies. No change in the measurement your favorite recipe calls for—just a wonderful change in results!

Fluffo even handles differently; it's so much lighter and fluffier than any of the leading shortenings it's a joy to use. You actually blend with fewer, easier strokes. And the golden color lets you see how perfectly you're mixing cake batter or pie dough. Try Golden Fluffo—how can you possibly miss?

Pure shortening, not a table spread.

Perfect Pancakes
—in 10 Shakes!

Put in shaker in this order:

- 1 cup milk
- 1 tablespoon Wesson Oil
- 1 egg
- 1 cup Aunt Jemima
Pancake Mix

Shake rapidly 10 times or until batter is fairly smooth. 7 to 8 de luxe pancakes.

Quick Start—pour Wesson Oil and milk into shaker—or any jar with cover. Add egg; then pancake mix. (Wesson Oil pours to measure—far easier than digging out solid shortening and melting it.)

Shake vigorously 10 times or until batter is fairly smooth. Wesson Oil blends in instantly—assures light, fluffy pancakes.

Pour from shaker to griddle. You even save spooning from bowl. Use Wesson, too, to oil your griddle. It heats hotter than costliest solid shortenings without smoking or burning. Sparkling clear Wesson Oil “babies” your baking—makes tender, honey-brown pancakes that make husbands ask for more.

New idea: Just 10 shakes for pancakes

Quick start—just pour Wesson Oil

Delicate Wesson Oil is instant shortening — no melting. You pour it into a shaker and — in 10 shakes — de luxe Aunt Jemima pancakes, light and tender.

Another short cut with Wesson Oil. No other kind of shortening is so helpful.

Place and Show

GERTRUDE BRASSARD

With the new lace tablecloths, your table can easily have the traditional elegance of yesteryear; the cost is moderate, and laundering is a cinch. Over the years, lace tablecloths have been associated with gracious hospitality and festive entertaining, so they have never lost their popularity. And they're as versatile as they are popular—more and more hostesses are discovering the striking effect of using them over solid-color “petticoats” to suit a room's decor. Your choice of colors covers the rainbow.

the February holidays

Nasturtium skirt (left) perks up a refined version of a French Provincial coarse lace. The lace is interwoven of spun rayon with an acetate yarn dyed a subtle brown to give the lace shadings of color and character.

Another masterpiece of lace design is the cloth (below) woven of dacron and combed-cotton yarns. It captures the graceful softness of French lace flounces, and combines them with classic leaves and flowers in the fashion of the 17th-century ornamental lace.

The return to elegance is reflected, too, in the rhythmic gold design on pure white bone china at left. The coupe shape harks back to the gracious lines of French Provincial, making a lovely companion for the golden flatware. Also in keeping with gracious living is the lovely balance-scale centerpiece.

And, of course, hearts and flowers, laces and bows, are still popular for Valentine's Day table settings.

Here's a tip for the hostess: A napkin placed on top of a plate no longer is "strictly formal." Etiquette allows you to put napkins where they are convenient.

LINCOLN PENNY FAVORS: Cover mint wafers with copper-colored paper . . . shiny paper. Easiest way is to cut paper in a circle that is 2" larger in diameter than the wafer. Then slash edges of the paper up to the wafer, fold over and tape down flat. Use gummed Lincoln seals on smooth side of each covered wafer.

LITTLE GEORGE'S HATCHET: To make this favor, you'll need a package of colored gummed papers. Use this drawing as a pattern, and cut two hatchets from a sheet of red paper. Trim the edges with gold paper. Roll a piece of the gold paper around a pencil, moisten edge and seal. Moisten backs of two hatchet pieces and press together over gold tube for the handle.

LOG CABIN FAVOR: This can be eaten later. Cover four chocolate caramel candy rolls with shiny copper paper. Do the same to six square chocolate cookies. Use transparent tape to join cookies in form of a box, leaving one side open. Make doorway and chimney of four candy rolls, and fasten on two cookies for roof.

A SPRAY OF HEARTS (below): Cut gold cord into several pieces, varying from 8" to 10" in length. Use gummed red heart seals in assorted sizes. Using two of the same size, attach back to back along cord. Graduate the sizes of the hearts, with smallest at tip.

• Carving a rib roast can be just as easy as carving a rolled roast if you get your butcher's help. Have him trim off the bone from a rib roast and then tie the ribs back against the meat. You'll get that extra flavor in the meat during roasting, but can remove the string and ribs before bringing the meat to the table.

• veal "pizza"

Preparation time: 10 min.
Cooking time: about 30 min.

- 1 lb. veal cutlets
- 3 tbs. melted butter or cooking oil
- 1 large onion, thinly sliced
- 1 large potato, thinly sliced
- 1 1-lb. can stewed or whole tomatoes
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 1 tsp. oregano
- 1 tsp. monosodium glutamate

• In a baking dish, place 2 tbs. butter or oil. Then alternate layers of onions, potatoes, tomatoes and veal adding seasonings at intervals. Pour remaining oil over all. Cover and bake in a 325°F. oven for 30-45 min. or prepare in a skillet and cook over medium low heat (250°F.) for about 30 min. or until the veal is tender.

• pork sauerbraten

Preparation time: 10 min.
Preparation time for rolls: as directed on package
Baking time: 15 min. or as directed on package

- 1 pkg. hot roll mix
- 1/4 cup melted butter or margarine
- 1 1-lb. 4-oz. can sour cherries, drained
- 1/4 cup brown sugar
- 1/2 cup nuts
- Prepare roll mix as directed on package. Roll dough into a rectangular shape 1/2" thick. Brush with melted butter or margarine. Combine cherries, brown sugar and nuts and spread evenly over dough. Roll as you would a jelly roll and cut in 1 1/2" pieces. Place in greased muffin pans or treated flower pots with foil on bottom. Let rise until double in bulk. Bake at 400°F. for 15 min. or as directed on package.

Serves: about 16 rolls      160 cal. per roll      Source of Vitamins A, B, C

NOTE: To prepare flower pots for baking, wash new pots quickly with hot water. Grease insides heavily with an unsalted fat and bake in 250°F. oven for 30 min.

• rosebud rolls

• minted braised lamb

• cherry mold salad

Preparation time: 15 min.
Chilling time: 1 hr.

- 1 1-lb. 14-oz. can Bing cherries, or Royal Anne cherries
- 1 3/4 cups cherry juice and water
- 1 pkg. cherry-flavored gelatin
- 1/2 cup sliced pimiento olives
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts
- 3/4 cup chopped celery

• Drain juice from cherries. Add water to make 1 3/4 cups. Heat 1 cup liquid to boiling and dissolve gelatin in it. Add remaining juice. Chill until slightly thickened. Add remaining cherries, olives, nuts and celery. Pour into 1 qt. mold. Chill until set. Serve with favorite dressing.

Most furniture seems content to be something that we just use or look at. But now and then you come across a belonging that seems to make a constant bid for attention—to have the qualities of a complete ham!

Our "Lincoln bed," for instance. It was an old-fashioned davenport, back and sides in a framework of mahogany spindles. If we hadn't known Abe Monahan, the transfer agent, for years, I wouldn't have asked him why it was standing outside the station baggage room. "Man that sent for it won't accept it—said to get rid of it," he laughed. "You like old stuff . . . want it, Mrs. Freeman?" Of course I did.

The springs were bouncy and fine. With cushions recovered and

...ALWAYS A HAM

OLIVE W. FREEMAN

spindles polished, it settled comfortably on the enclosed porch off our bedroom. It proved a marvelous place to sleep on a hot night. Off came the back and sides, and a good mattress replaced the seating space the three cushions had made.

Then an upheaval in our lives took us to Florida. "Do we take the bed on the porch?" I asked my husband. "What bed?" "You know, Abe's bed," I answered. The bed had a name, and it went with us.

In Florida we chose a spot in the living room for a new studio couch. To make it comfortable for sitting, we bolted onto it the mahogany-spindled back and sides of the old davenport.

"Try it," my spouse said. "Is it safe?" I asked. "Safe as a church!" he said. Back together we leaned. Back together behind the couch we landed, all cushions and spindles—kerplunk!

"Hmm . . . needs longer bolts," I heard as we unscrambled ourselves.

Next night, just as the longer bolts were placed, new friends came in. Laughing, we told them of the couch's collapse, and the new longer bolts. But "Abe's bed is ready to settle down and behave," I said. They sat, they leaned back—kerplunk!

The third set of bolts held. The sofa cushions picked up the colors of the flanking chairs—the whole effect delighted us.

"Only," I said, chuckling, "did you see Max and Franny when I called it 'Abe's bed'? Probably thought Abe some unmentionable relative, or they'd have asked us about it. We've got to find another name for this show-off."

"Call it the 'Lincoln bed' then, that suit you?" The name wasn't needed for ages. Not until the family came for Christmas. Not until I caught the rueful look on nine-year-old Susan's face as we carted luggage into her room. "But where am I going to sleep?" she asked. "You, young lady," I said, thinking fast, "get to sleep in the Lincoln bed."

Certainly we had no idea her bed made more impression on Sue than that she slept comfortably and well in it. But the relatives went home after Christmas. And before long a serious gentleman rang the doorbell. He did a great deal of hemming and hawing. Then "You have some lovely old furniture here, Mrs. Freeman," he said finally. "I wonder if you've ever thought of parting with any of it. I might as well tell you I deal in fine antiques."

I assured him that it wouldn't interest him, but that I liked it, and wanted it myself. "I know," he said, "and I don't blame you. But it's all up and down Florida that you have one marvelous historical piece, and I'm prepared to make a substantial offer."

What on earth—oh heavenly day—Susan and the Lincoln bed! Our chatterbox had never had an explanation. She did the rest!

The truth hadn't the slightest effect on the earnest dealer. I led him through the house that he might see we weren't harboring his treasure, but he left sadly unconvinced.

I'm taking only my fair share of the blame. I don't honestly see how the Lincoln bed can surpass this performance. But I'm convinced life with it will never be dull. Once a ham, always a ham!

Filters Wash Water... No Lint Fuzz on Clothes

The filter—easy to clean. Fits into place after clothes are placed in washer; slips out after wash is over. The filter catches lint as water flows through, cleaning and recleaning it to give you clean clothes! A full tub of water is filtered five times during one wash cycle. Also use the filter to dispense detergent evenly dissolved through the wash.

Not the "lincy water" way. After 7 washings this cotton blouse was dulled by lint fuzz in an ordinary washer. Unsightly lint is hard to brush off dark clothes; gets stuck in seams, too.

But the "clean water" way. After 7 washings in a General Electric Filter-Flo Washer, an identical cotton blouse washed in an identical washload showed practically no lint.

NEW GENERAL ELECTRIC FILTER-FLO® WASHER

cleans and recleans wash water at the rate of 6 gallons a minute

No lint-spoiled washes! With the new General Electric Filter-Flo Washing System, lint is caught in the filter—not on your clothes and cottons. Sand and soap are removed automatically.

Wash, this famous washer circulates the wash water continuously, recleaning and recleaning it.

Come out really bright and clean!

2 speeds... 2 spin speeds—to suit all types of fabrics. You can select either Normal or Slow Spin Speeds... in any combination. So flexible, it lets you wash everything just right. Nylon blouses without setting wrinkles. "Fragiles" without fraying. Blankets without "felting." You'll save so much hand washing.

3-way water saving—Water Saver Control saves up to 20 gallons on small loads. Choice of Warm or Cold Water Rinses. And General Electric's optional Automatic Suds Return System (slightly higher) sets aside hot sudsy filtered water for a second wash. Over 50% more clothes capacity than in many automatics. Five-year written warranty on transmission.

General Electric Company, Appliance Park, Louisville 1, Kentucky.

Straight-line beauty! Fingertip Selectors let you pre-set wash speeds, temperature, water saving. Filter-Flo Washer, about $3.35 weekly.* Matching Automatic Dryer, about $2.70 weekly.* 36 months to pay on pair. Mix-or-Match Colors. Also white. See your dealer.

PAINT AN ANNIVERSARY PLATE

ELMA WALTNER

Need a gift for a birthday or wedding anniversary, a new baby or a house-warming? If you want to give something that is different—almost certain not to be duplicated—paint an anniversary plate. It will be highly appreciated, and admired.

If you have access to a kiln, you can use regular china paint or the watercolor type overglaze paint, then fire the piece. But you can paint a plate even if you don't have a kiln. Buy a therm-setting paint. Apply it to plate, then bake for a short time in your kitchen oven and paint becomes chip-proof, washable, resistant to alcohol and stains. Apply the paint with a camel's hair brush made for watercolor. A fairly fine brush with a good tip is best. You can roll the tip to a sharp point for fine line work.

Whether you use a regular china paint or an oven-setting paint, apply it as shown below. You can work out all sorts of designs. The person who receives this anniversary plate will appreciate your thoughtfulness in preparing such an extra-special gift.

Cut paper same size as piece you will decorate, and put your design on it. Wipe plate clean with cloth soaked in alcohol or vinegar.

Blacken back of paper with chin marking pencil to make "carbon" on reverse side of design. Then tape paper in place over plate.

Trace design with sharp pencil. With the "carbon," this leaves faint outline on plate. Remove paper after all lines are traced.

Paint design, let dry. Put plate in cold oven, heat to 300°F. Turn oven off, leave plate in 'til cool. If kiln-firing, set for cone 0.

HOW TO Paint Stain UNFINISHED

● Painting's easy! But a smooth surface is a must for the professional look. Sand wood smooth; apply wood filler as shown in three steps at right. Apply coat of priming paint, let it dry 24 hours. Do same with second priming coat and with finish coat. Our patterns give full instructions for designs: Chinese, 1274—35¢ and 1275—55¢; Provincial floral, 1528—40¢; and Pennsylvania Dutch, 1018-T—40¢.

See list of stores featuring patterns in Pattern Order Form, Page 112

1275

1528

1018-T

1. Wrap piece of #0000 garnet or very fine sandpaper around half of an ordinary plastic kitchen sponge. Sand entire surface smooth as satin. Always sand with grain of wood. Dust off carefully.

4. Allow "sealed" surface to dry 48 hours. Then brush on ready-mixed stain, quite heavily, following the grain of the wood. To prevent streaking, do steps 4 and 5 on only one section at a time.

7. Strain dissolved dye through several thicknesses of cheesecloth into 1 pint of alcohol. Wear rubber gloves. This proved to be enough stain for all pieces shown at right. Brush stain on quickly.

2. Mix paste wood filler with turpentine to a consistency of heavy cream. Brush this on generously with a stiff brush, following grain of wood. Do steps 2 and 3 on only one section at a time.

5. Wipe off stain across the grain of the wood with soft cheesecloth, but do not streak. You can control color at this step. You can get a really dark color if, after wiped surface dries, you repeat 4 and 5.

8. Allow homemade or commercial stain to dry at least 24 hours. Mix 5 parts of alcohol with 1 part of shellac. Brush over stained surfaces quickly and evenly, using best soft brush you can.

See Pattern Order Form on Page 112

WOOD

When filler DULLS (never let it dry or it becomes impossible to remove) in 10 or 15 minutes, rub over surface with old toweling. Rub across grain of the wood, until it looks and feels like glass.

To make an inexpensive maple stain get aniline at paint store: dissolve nigrosine (spoonful in foreground tells amount), Bismarck brown (middle spoon) and maple in small jar of alcohol.

Rub dried shellacked surface lightly with very fine steel wool. Wipe rubbed surface clean with a dry cloth. Repeat steps 8 and 9 two or three times to build up a hard, durable surface.

When you're going to stain unfinished wood, you want it to look like fine furniture. So you go to a paint store and ask for stain. "What kind?" the salesman asks.

There are many kinds of stain. You need to know how all of them work and what sort of results they give you.

Alcohol-solvent aniline dyes, which we used, take long, hard use, penetrate deeply.

Penetrating pigmented sealers are easiest to apply. Just brush on, let set a minute, and wipe off. They're perfect for wooden wall surfaces and built-in cabinets. But don't use for surfaces that get very hard wear unless you apply several coats of spar varnish.

Oil stains, also very easy to use, are permanent finishes for hard usage.

Wax base stains are easy to apply. Lighter shades are very satisfactory for walls, floors.

When you stain unfinished wood, prepare surface as explained at left. All new wood surfaces—or stripped wood surfaces—must be sanded satin-smooth. Wood filler seals pores, allows stain to go on evenly. Don't use with wax-base stains, only on furniture with penetrating sealer or aniline stain.

After staining, apply a protective coating to the wood:

Spar or bar-top varnish is shiny and must be rubbed down with linseed oil and rottenstone. Use several coats and rub down carefully after each coat is applied, this finish is durable, heat- and alcohol-proof. One precaution: varnish attracts dust, so be sure to apply in a dust-free area.

Flat or satin varnish gives a soft, gleaming finish; isn't as durable as other varnishes.

Shellac is easy to apply, wears reasonably well, and looks beautiful. But water stains and alcohol mars the finish. Thin it down with alcohol and apply in many layers. After each coat dries, rub down with fine steel wool.

New synthetic finishes are durable, but quite shiny. Use only where you want a high gloss.

This compact, complete home file-desk-bookcase unit starts with four unfinished night stands that come ready-made with one drawer. File drawers at bottom of three units are homemade; fourth has door, and a shelf inside. Two bookcases (one with drop-down lid for desk) complete this very practical home office.

HOW TO MAKE OUR QUILT...

To make the beautiful quilt shown on page 54, use this pattern. On graph, each square equals 1". Draw full-size patterns of "feather" design for side flaps, front flap and top; cut pieces of brown paper, one full-length for side of spread, one full-length for front and one half-length for top of bed (reverse for other half). Plan flaps to meet just below tops of dust ruffles. If you have never "scaled-up" a drawing, practice on a scrap of paper lined off in 1" squares. Put numbers on sides of squares to make it easy to keep track of design you draw on pattern pieces. Carefully follow lines of enlarged drawing (right) and scale-up each line to fit into 1" square. Dotted lines indicate diamond quilting that covers entire top surrounding "feathers." Don't draw in at this time. After design is reproduced on paper pattern, sew quilt pieces together. Press, then stretch on a flat surface. Thumbtack paper pattern over fabric. Pierce design through paper with a sharp pencil. Piece lining same size as top. Stretch and thumbtack to floor. Place cotton batting over lining, top over batting. Pin all three together, baste with colored thread. Stretch quilt on frame. Quilt from center to ends with short quilting needle, #80 thread. Do all "feathers," then mark for diamond quilting. Bind edges.

(Begins on page 56)

In good construction, a slab floor should be poured on a firm 4-inch gravel base covered with a vapor barrier. All vertical edges of the slab should be protected with 1- to 2-inch waterproof, rotproof rigid insulation; the insulation should also be extended 24 inches under the slab on all sides. Tests by many organizations have shown that this type of slab is most satisfactory.

If your builder failed to build your slab this way, you can make up for his failure by insulating the slab yourself: caption #2 tells you how.

It's possible, of course, to rebuild an existing cold slab floor or to install heating ducts or pipes in it; but such a move is extremely difficult and expensive. Such a course could be recommended only under the most unusual circumstances. If hot-water heat is used, the entire slab can be transformed into a giant radiator by installation in it of a "panel," or grid, of pipes. If warm-air heat is used, a pleasant temperature can be maintained in the slabbing by embedding near its outside edges an encircling duct serving floor or wall registers.

Remember, however, that no matter how well the heating system is laid out in the slab, proper construction and insulation of the slab (as just described) are required to prevent heat loss.

If the addition of perimeter insulation, as shown in sketch #2 does not solve your cold-slab problem, the heating system should be revamped. One way (which saves tearing up the slab) is to install radiant heating in the ceiling (yes, it definitely will raise the floor temperature). The other alternative is to install baseboard radiators around the outside walls.

How are the floors in your home? Cold? No need to put up with them. Find out if your trouble comes from floor surfacing, drafts, or cold penetrating from below. Then follow these steps to get rid of the cold. THE END

HOW TO STENCIL A FLOOR

To copy the stenciled floor on page 55, clean linoleum or wood floor thoroughly. If wood floor is worn, sand it smooth. Dust floor, then paint with several coats of floor or marine paint. Dry 48 hours between coats. Scale-up drawings as explained below. Trace onto heavy oiled stencil board. Cut out stencil motifs with a very sharp knife, keeping edges smooth and rounded. Allow several inches all around cut-out stencil, and cut all sides evenly. Use corners of cut-out stencil boards to plan placement of motifs on your floor, and mark off all units with pencil. Tape several sets of stencils in place with masking tape. Allow stencil paint to remain uncovered in a shallow saucer so it thickens. Dip brush into paint, wipe into a wad of cloth to remove excess, pounce (daub) over stencil cut-out. If paint accidentally runs under stencil, let it dry, then clean with razor blade. Clean stencil boards often with cleaning fluid; replace with new boards when edges fray.

The laurel wreath and 4-leaf unit form a classic design. The small drawing (right and directly below) of complete wreath and 4-leaf unit is to show you how to space the two units of the motif on a floor attractively.

You can use these two units of the design separately if you wish. The size illustrated would be ideal for textile painting, too.

This is one-half actual size of 4-leaf unit. Scale-up to twice this size by graph method: draw 1/2" squares over design. Draw 1" squares on tracing paper; fill in design on that paper.

When you scale-up wreath from 1/2" graph guide, each line in each square will be twice the size it is printed here.

Installation of radiant heating Coils for typical modern home

Now you can have complete heating comfort in your new home plus something else you've always wanted . . . no "outlets" to interfere with modern decorating! Unbroken wall-to-wall floor covering, ceiling-to-floor draperies, freedom to change furniture arrangements at your whim . . . all are possible through the near-magic of radiant panel heating. Every inch of floor and wall space becomes usable. Yet the radiant heating "coils" concealed in floors or ceilings, assure a cleaner, draft-free, vital warmth like the Spring sunshine.

For this invisible radiant panel heating your architect or builder will confirm the fact that reliable steel pipe is the most economical and durable heat transmission medium. No "Johnny-come-lately", steel pipe has been proved in more than 60 years of conventional hot water and steam heating applications.

DESIGNED BY: WORLEY K. WONG, A.I.A.
JOHN CARDEN CAMPBELL

Who says you can't have a two-story house and still get the finest features of contemporary design? This development home in San Francisco is the last word in modern convenience, and it provides you with the privacy and quiet of second-floor bedrooms, too.

Large glass areas away from the street open the house for private outdoor living, let in light and view, and give a feeling of added space. The wing-like gable roof cuts construction costs and keeps the two-story house from looking top heavy.

Two-Story

Room arrangement earns straight "A's" for comfort, privacy, and working efficiency. First floor: Kitchen next to garage means short-cut bundle carrying; separate entry hall gives each room privacy; L-shape of the living-dining area gives illusion of great space in a small area. Second floor: master bedroom has its own bath; the two smaller bedrooms share a full bath. For all rooms: good view.

This area is a spacious and beautiful part of the house because of three design ideas: (1) separation of living and dining rooms by plan rather than partition, (2) glass wall, and (3) small-scale furniture.

Enjoying the out-of-doors at home is a "must": but how, on a small steeply sloping plot? Here's how: Orient the living area of your house away from the street and open it with glass doors onto a wood deck terrace—less expensive than grading the land for a masonry terrace

Anyone for stamps?

The other day we overheard our young son on the telephone discussing stamps. With memory well whetted, we related our experience in the art of philately to a politely bored small face and concluded by offering to help in water-marking and hinging his collection.

Drawing himself up to his full height of 4 feet 7 inches he told us in positive terms,

"Who's interested in those old things? I'm saving stamps for a new pair of skates!"

Completely deflated we discussed the matter further with his mother and learned that she had pledged all of her stamps from one store to him, all of those from another store to his brother and those from still another store were obligated to the daughter of the house.

We saw stamps with eagles, stamps with fancy letters and stamps with the Statue of Liberty.

"How do you keep track of which go where?" we inquired.

"It does get a little confusing but the children help me keep them straight."

A vest-pocket neighborhood survey revealed that the trading stamp mania was in full bloom and that "trades" were quite common in order to fill books.

Despite distaff words to the contrary, we have not experienced any over-all budget savings and some things just can't be obtained with stamps. To name one . . . Imperial E-Z-DU Wallpaper. You'll still have to pay in currency but you get good value and superb decoration in return for modest cost. It comes ready trimmed and pasted, and you need only to cut to length, wet and sponge smooth on the wall! It's really quite easy to hang for most people, and simple picture story instructions come with every roll. Your Imperial dealer will be very happy to demonstrate . . . no stamps needed!

STOPPED SHOWING ITS AGE

The ingenuity and persistence of our readers in improving their homes never ceases to amaze us. Here's a good example. Mr. and Mrs. Russell Peters of Sewell, New Jersey, have transformed a tired post-Victorian house into a home that's as up-to-date as tomorrow.

Notice what they did: (1) simplified the exterior by removing the porch and all the unnecessary ornamental millwork; (2) decreased the apparent height by adding the strong horizontal line of the entrance-overhang and by building the one-story sunroom and garage addition. Other exterior projects included installing new windows, landscaping the grounds, and building terrace, stone walls, and steps. The main feature of the inside remodeling is the efficient kitchen which replaces the hodge-podge that was the original kitchen. It took Mr. and Mrs. Peters three years to complete the remodeling, but they managed to pay for it as they went along, and now they have exactly what they want. Since they did most of the work themselves, they spent only $500 for outside labor.

er—Efficient U-shaped arrangement of fixtures and off-the-floor storage make extra space for dining.

"Roots in the sewer line?"

BUT OUR HOUSE IS LESS THAN 4 YEARS OLD!"

"I've seen it happen in months. Roots need only a pinhole — and your sewer is not cast iron . . . it's nonmetallic."

"Roots cause most failures in sewer lines. If they get in, they quickly cause stoppage — and very often a nonmetallic line isn't strong enough to be cleaned by electric machines. Then you need a new sewer."

"Only cast iron is really root proof. Joints are packed with oakum and sealed with molten lead. That seals out roots for the life of the building. Remember: CAST IRON IS FOR KEEPS."

Are you planning to buy or build? Or do you now own your own home? In either case, you want to know how to prevent sewer failure . . . add years to the life of your sewer line. You'll find the answers in "What you should know about Plumbing Drainage." Mail the coupon for this free booklet today.

HOW TO FIT FLOOR TILES IN IRREGULAR CORNERS

To fit tile to a slanting wall, lay tile to be cut (A) exactly on top of last whole installed tile (B). To use as marking guide, place a full tile (C) against edge of tile A and wall. Mark point (D) as shown. Slide tile C along wall and over tile A, keeping it parallel to A. Mark a second point on far edge of tile.

Turn guide tile over and use as a straight edge to connect the two points. When you cut along this line, tile fits as shown below. If tile is slightly oversize, sand cut edge, or heat tile until soft and force it into place.

This same general method of marking and using a full tile as a guide can be used for fitting tiles around uneven projections from a wall, such as you are likely to find next to door frames and thresholds.

Problem: The popular misconception that coffee grounds will remove grease from plumbing pipes has caused many a drain to be clogged.

Solution: Throw coffee grounds into garbage pail, not sink.

Problem: Leaking faucets waste a great amount of water.

Solution: Simply remove the small screw from the handle, take off handle and turn the valve counterclockwise. Then lift it out. Remove the washer from the bottom of the valve, and replace it with a new washer. Then reassemble and reinsert the unit. If this does not stop the leak, you should call a plumber.

PLUMBING PROBLEMS

Problem: Drains that work too slowly or that are clogged up completely.

Solution: Use a plunger (plumber's helper). First, fill the fixture halfway with water. Next, plug the overflow drain with a rag to provide suction. Then place the plunger over the drain and work it up and down vigorously. This method will remove most stoppages.

Problem: Hardened paint spots on plumbing fixtures.

Solution: Peel off with a single-edge razor blade. But be especially careful to slant the blade so you will prevent scratching the surface of the fixture. After you have peeled off the worst of the paint, you may remove the rest with dry-cleaning fluid, or an ordinary household cleanser and water.

Toledo House Plan

plus Mrs. Wyatt's sewing supplies.

The Wyatts acted as their own contractors in the construction of their home; while this kept them extremely busy during the building, it saved construction costs and gave them a more personal feeling about the house. They worked directly with the subcontractors, accepting bids and choosing the best with the fairest price. In each instance, they were satisfied with the work.

In working this way, they soon made a discovery: to save time and money it's of utmost importance for you to coordinate subcontractors so that each arrives at the right time.

The roof of the Wyatt house is asbestos-cement shingle. This proves to be both attractive and durable. The floors throughout the house are terrazzo, easy to clean and care for, and a perfect answer to wet, sandy feet. Closets are pre-fabricated, sliding-door units.

Much of this house is "do-it-yourself," and the Wyatts' satisfaction in working on their own home has been well worth the effort. Products of family handiwork appear in the furnishings of all rooms, as well as in the construction. In the recreation room, the couch, magazine table and hobby table are the work of Mrs. Wyatt's father, brother and husband. The handsome black chest in the living room was bought as an unfinished piece. The textured plastic seat-covers on the dining room chairs were an evening's project.

The plantings around the Wyatt house are all particularly tolerant of the salt air, with Sea Grape, Ixora and Areca Palms on the street side. The cove side is planted with crotons and hibiscus, and has a small garden containing gift plants from friends.

In writing us here at The American HOME, Mrs. Wyatt says, "Planning, building and working together on our home has been one of our happiest experiences. We are far from through with all the many things we yet want to do, but are most content discussing and planning what to do next. We give a special word of thanks to The American HOME for showing us what we wanted in a home—and sending us such complete blueprints."

And to Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt, Sandra and Jim, our special word of thanks for letting us visit them and show other readers what they have done with Blueprint House No. 18 in making a home for themselves.

THE END

We hope you have enjoyed our all-too-brief tour of Florida homes and we are sorry we do not have space to open more Florida homes for you in this issue. However, if you did enjoy our Home Tour we should be pleased to have you tell us so and we'll pass along the word to friends down South.

HOUSE PLANTS

THEODORE A. WESTON

All plants have their disease and insect enemies, and house plants are no exception. But it's easier to keep house plants free of pests than it is plants in the garden, and when house plants are attacked it's easier to get rid of their enemies.

All insecticides and fungicides used on garden plants can also be used on plants indoors. But, since house plants are usually "softer" than garden plants, it's safest to use sprays at half the strength recommended on the container, and to use them oftener if necessary.

Actually, it's best to treat house plants for pest control every month or so as a routine practice. It prevents small insects and the less obvious diseases from getting a foothold unobserved.

You can use any "all-purpose" garden spray, containing both insecticide and fungicide, or you can combine a good insecticide, like malathion, with a good fungicide, like ferbam or captan. In either case, add a quarter-teaspoon of household detergent per gallon of solution (a "pinch" to a quart) to make it stick better.

I've found the most effective way to treat the smaller plants—African violets, ivies, and the like—is to submerge them for a few minutes in a pail of spray solution. It not only insures complete coverage of leaves and stems, but it also kills root-attackers.

Wear a rubber glove when you dip plants, and let them drain thoroughly afterwards.

If you use a sprayer—and you'll have to on really large plants!—be sure to cover all parts of the plant with spray. One of the new aerosol sprayers will simplify the job, but be sure it's an aerosol intended for use on plants. Use it in the sink or basement, holding it at least a foot away from the plant, as illustrated.

BUILD DURABLE GARDEN BEAUTY

Thomas Church, landscape architect, used corrugated asbestos-cement sheeting for this garden wall in California Central Valley. An architectural extension of a house, gray fence hides yard from street.

A raised bed will show off your flowers to better advantage. It allows for better drainage, easier watering and fertilizing, and ends mowing-edge problems. Make of corrugated sheets (you can get asbestos-cement board at your lumber yard). Use 4" by 4" posts and 2" by 4" rails. William Kapranos, landscape architect.

Add beauty to your den with one of the structures made with sheets of asbestos-cement board. You'll find them all fairly easy to copy. To make fence ab nailasbestos-cement sheets to 4" by 4" posts with non-corrodible, screw type nails. Circular planter? It's a connecting link for asbestos-cement pipe. The landscape architect is Mason Whitne High fence and gate are almost a necessity if your house is very close to your neighbor's. Gate is flat sheet of asbestos-cement sand-wiched between square frame of fir boards, cross-braced at back. Huge lock and double hinges make it an imposing entrance. Fencing is corrugated, blends with frame. William Kapranos, landscape architect.

For protection and permanence, this fence is hard to beat. Corrugated asbestos-cement sheeting is bolted to a frame of welded tubular steel, and uprights are set in concrete. Hose asbestos-cement board clean, or wash with soap and water and a fiber brush. Remove oil and grease stains with dry-cleaning fluid and a clear water rinse. For top results, paint only when board is clean and dry. Thomas Church, landscape architect.

Better Tools for

If you run a good-size garden, you'll cheer the new Super Planetiller rotary tiller. Rear roller crumbles and smooths soil after it's tilled, and offset handle lets you walk on either side of freshly cultivated soil. Engine is 2 1/2 h.p.; tiller width is 15"; has two speeds.

Dusting is the easiest and quickest means of pest control, but you should use a good duster. Here's a new one, the Little Champ, patterned after the professional rotary models. Holds 2 pounds; has two 10" discharge tubes.

A newly-designed, self-propelled rotary mower is the latest addition to the Toro "Power Handle" attachment line. The other units are 20" and 25" mowers, lawn edger, tiller, snow sprayer, aerator, pump, and gen.

The 1957 Lawn-Boy Automower rotary has a new self-propulsion system, engaged or disengaged simply by rolling the handle forward or backward. Also, new "pilot" wheel minimizes scalping and steadies mower on uneven ground.

With the garden-size Kemp Shredder you can quickly turn leaves, and other garden litter into mulch material, or shred soil and cinders the way commercial growers do. Powered by gasoline or electric.

Better Gardening

A riding mower is becoming a "must" for anyone with a sizable lawn, and here's the latest in these deluxe machines—the Porter-Cable Mark XXVI. It's powered with a 3½-h.p. engine, has two blades which provide a 26" cut, and has a transmission and differential which permit mowing steep grades and turning at a sharp angle. Blades instantly adjustable to 4½".

Mowing and trimming a big lawn is a snap with the new Homko 9" gasoline-powered edger-trimmer; so is mowing tight quarters. The blade can be set at different angles and heights, and the machine is very maneuverable.

"Eight-of-cut problem" (cut grass in shade higher than grass in sun!) has been solved by the Huffy mower Hytatic. A single lever instantly adjusts all four wheels, and a scale shows at what height you're cutting.

Good tools, next to good plants, are the biggest factor in good gardening. And good tools are the ones that:

- (1) help you do a job well,
- (2) make work easy,
- (3) are built to last.

Here we show you just a few of the new and better garden tools for 1957. You will find dozens more at nearby garden-supply shops and hardware stores.

The Moto-Mower Lawnmaster is a new 21" professional-type reel mower, roller driven, with knee-action reel suspension, and with numerous finger-tip controls. Ideal machine for well-managed lawn. Riding sulky is available.

A new, sturdily-built rotary tiller for the small-scale garden is the Bolens Model 61. It has a 2½-h.p. engine and will till a 12" swath to a depth of 6". It has no belts and is sealed against dust. Weighs 83 lbs.

Make your yard safer and more useful with CYCLONE FENCE

Your backyard may be small, but it can become more useful, more practical and even more beautiful when it's fenced with sturdy, long-wearing Cyclone Fence. Your children will play safe from traffic dangers. Your flowers and shrubs will be protected. Your privacy will be assured . . . property value increased. And Cyclone Fence is economical in price.

This big yard shows how well Cyclone Fence can be adapted to large areas. Cyclone Fence establishes boundary lines, makes a neat border. And because Cyclone is a quality product, made of strong materials, heavily galvanized to resist rust, it gives years of trouble-free service and is much more economical in the long run than other seemingly lower-priced fences. Send the coupon for more information and find out how little it costs to have a Cyclone Fence.

Only United States Steel Corporation manufactures Cyclone Fence.

Miniature Roses

greenhouse to home conditions, miniature roses lose their leaves after you place them in the window. If you cut back the stems to 3" or 4" after the leaves drop, new growth will start within a week or two.

Once established, their blooming season is from early spring until late fall. Their growing season indoors is from February until December. When they begin to go dormant in the late fall they should be planted outdoors and covered completely with straw or hay. If you have a coldframe, that will be an ideal place to put them. Or you can place them in the coolest part of an unheated cellar and water them just often enough to prevent them from drying out.

In February return them all to their sunny window and resume the regular watering routine. They'll soon start their new season's growth.

These little roses need as much fresh air, and as moist an atmosphere, as you can give them. The air that comes in through the cracks around a window is fine. But don't subject them to strong, cold drafts! You can increase the humidity around them during the heating season by standing the pots on pebbles in pans, with water just below the bottom of the pots. In summer, keep the window partly open.

The best winter temperature for the plants is 65° to 70°. So if you have a south-facing window in a hallway or bedroom, which is cooler than the living room, it'll be the best place to keep them most of the time.

Insects and diseases are less troublesome indoors than in the garden. If you encounter them, though, an all-purpose rose spray, used at half strength, will soon eliminate the trouble.

Which miniatures should you grow? You have quite a few varieties to choose from. The wild species, Rosa chinensis minima (usually sold under the now-incorrect name Rosa rouletii), is the oldest and best known. Its color is medium pink. Two newer pink varieties are Sweet Fairy and Tinker Bell. Crimson and red varieties include Oakington Ruby, Tom Thumb, Red Imp, and Midget.

White or nearly-white varieties are Pixie, Cinderella, Estrellita, Frosty White, and Twinkles. Baby Gold Star is the only real yellow miniature I know of, but it seems somewhat hard to grow. Baby Masquerade is a blend of yellow, pink, and red, similar to the floribunda variety Masquerade.

The latest additions to the miniature family are the tree roses. They include many of the varieties listed above and are 12" replicas of the 4' garden tree roses. I've had one in bloom from mid-May till November, and it's my most fascinating plant.

HOW'S YOUR SOIL pH?

"The catalog said it needs acid soil. Said pH 5 to 6. What's that mean? And how do you know if you've got it or how do you get it if you haven't?"

Sound familiar? Well, it's like most botanical jargon, simple enough if you're familiar with it, but completely Greek if you're not. It's like this:

Soil moisture is acid, alkaline, or neutral. It depends on the kind of rock and other substances that make up the soil in any area.

The designation "pH" indicates a scientific system of measuring acidity or alkalinity. A pH of 0 is "most acid"; pH 14 is "most alkaline"; and pH 7 is "neutral."

Some plants prefer one kind of soil, others prefer another. It's a matter of the soil that plants have become accustomed to during thousands of years they've been acquiring their present characteristics.

The general run of annuals, perennials, shrubs, and shade trees grow best in slightly acid to neutral soil of pH 6 to 7. Some, however, flourish only if the soil is more acid, between pH 4.5 and pH 6. These include azaleas, rhododendrons, mountain laurels, blueberries, and most of the needled evergreens.

On the other hand, some plants prefer a neutral to slightly alkaline soil and flourish at pH 6.5 to 7. Among these are lilacs, mockorange, peonies, iris, and hollyhocks.

How to find out if your soil is acid or alkaline? You can use a home garden soil test kit or you can have a soil sample tested by your county agricultural agent, located at the county seat.

To make soil more acid, use sulfur, aluminum sulphate, or peat moss. To make it more alkaline, use agricultural lime.

Remember, though, if you live in an alkaline area, and the water you use is alkaline too, you'll have a constant problem maintaining an acid soil. So you'll probably do better to stick to the kinds of plants that do best in the kind of soil you have.

But what does pH mean? The letters stand for "potenz hydrogen." German for "power of hydrogen." They've nothing to do with H-bombs or the gas that used to be used in balloons, but refer to a lot of chemical and mathematical terms like ion, normal solutions, exponents, and logarithms. But let's not go into that.

All you need remember is that "acid loving" plants need a soil of pH 6 or lower, that "alkaline loving" plants need pH 6.5 or higher, and that most are okay at pH 6 to 7. As you can "adjust" the soil slightly, it's not just right for the plants you want to grow.

LANDYMAN HOW-TO'S

The jaws of most vises are too rough to hold small work. To solve, fit the small piece in a hinge and then close the vise on it.

Many new homes have steel door jambs rather than wood. To fasten weatherstrip to steel, use gummed rubber—it needs no nails.

When you're replacing a broken window pane you can apply the strips more easily if you first roll them into a few pencil-size strips.

Hammering a star drill into concrete can seriously injure holding hand. You can protect it by slipping a plunger over top of drill.

Can you answer these questions about FIREPLACES?

1. Even when you are not using it, a fireplace can cost you money!

☐ TRUE ☐ FALSE

Answer: Yes, an idle fireplace can run up fuel bills, by letting house-heat escape through the damper. But, for little or no extra cost, you can have your fireplace built around the famous Heatilator fireplace unit with its pressure-seal damper. No draft or wind—from outside or inside—can push its way through this pressure-seal damper. You save fuel and air conditioning bills—your home is comfortable and free from drafts.

2. It's impossible to have a fireplace that won't smoke.

☐ TRUE ☐ FALSE

Answer: You put your mind at ease when your fireplace is built around a Heatilator fireplace unit, because Heatilator units will not smoke. Their famous design—proved by 30 years of leadership—assures smooth heating, no drafts in the room, and no smoke in the air!

3. A fireplace won't heat the far corners of a room.

☐ TRUE ☐ FALSE

Answer: With an ordinary fireplace, you may scorch near the fire, while the other side of the room stays cold. (But suppose you could capture the fireplace heat that usually goes up the chimney, and circulate it around the room?) That's what a Heatilator fireplace unit does. Two vents at the bottom draw in cold air. The Heatilator unit heats this air, and sends it out into the room through two warm-air vents. (Nobody shivers. The children play in comfort—anywhere in the room—with no danger of catching cold from drafts or chilly spots.)

Insist on the famous Heatilator fireplace unit—a name you can depend on.

GLUE TIPS

Strangely enough, glue can be used to make drawers slide more easily. Coat surface thinly with resorcinol resin glue. Let dry, sand lightly, rub with candle wax.

For a multi-use cement, mix polyvinyl resin glue with patching plaster. For an undetectable dent filler, mix glue with sawdust of same wood as object under repair.

When gluing new wood that is damp, first sand the surfaces to open the pores. Then apply a heat lamp. This will make the surface of wood thirsty for glue.

To repair loose, rickety chairs, glue the joints with a mixture of resorcinol resin glue and walnut-shell flour or fine hardwood sawdust. Let set for 1 hour.

BENEFITS YOU!

"TOGETHER WE GOT RID OF 77½ POUNDS AND LOVED IT"

Sisters Lillian Lang and Aida Krause of New York tell how they improved their figures with the famous Knox Eat-and-Reduce Plan

"Here we are before we discovered the famous Knox Eat-and-Reduce Plan."

"Today we like ourselves much better, and so do our husbands and children."

Read their own story

"We used to look at each other and joke about our figures. But, honestly, we hated being overweight, and several times we tried various ways to reduce. We love good food, and we just couldn't stick very long to those monotonous diets. Other reducing gadgets didn't help much, either.

"A friend told us about the Knox Eat-and-Reduce Plan and skeptically we started in. Well, after only three weeks of it, one was down 14 pounds, the other 11. But, best of all, we found it actually was fun. The Knox Choice-of-Foods Chart let us pick and choose most of the foods we like best. Three good meals a day, even desserts, and between-meal snacks, too.

"We used lots of recipes in the Eat-and-Reduce book and followed the easy rules. Our husbands loved these meals, too. We did our housework and took care of our children as usual, and each week we seemed to have more pep—weren't all tired out by nighttime as we had been before. The doctor weighed and measured us as we went along, and the news was wonderful. Today one of us is 42½ pounds lighter, the other 35 pounds lighter. Today, one's hips are 8¼ inches less around, the other's waist is 5¼ inches less. Our friends can hardly believe it, and now, at least a dozen of them are on the Knox Eat-and-Reduce Plan. As for us, we never felt better in our lives."

ENJOY YOUR FOOD AND LOSE 2 TO 5 POUNDS A WEEK

Don't think you can't enjoy the Knox Eat-and-Reduce Plan as Mrs. Krause and Mrs. Lang did. If you love good food and are overweight because of too many calories you, too, may bring down your weight without hunger, discomfort or loss of energy. Whether you'd like to lose 10 pounds or 50 pounds, this famous Plan, which hundreds of thousands have followed, is well worth trying. Enjoy most of the foods you like. The Knox Plan is the safe, practical, natural way to reduce. Send for that free book described below.

What's in MARCH

TOUR THROUGH THE AMERICAN HOME KITCHENS

We're so proud of our new kitchens! Here's where every new recipe, every new appliance that hits the market, and every new utensil gets put through its paces. We test them all for you. And now we open our doors to give you a picture tour of this key part of The American HOME. You'll meet our food and equipment editors at work, too.

HOW TO MAKE A DEVELOPMENT HOUSE A HOME

—and how to do it on a budget. These are described in a March story about a house in Babylon, Long Island. The story will guide you in achieving the same effect in your home and will give the total cost of furnishing the main rooms.

BIRD PRINT FOR YOUR DELIGHT...

You'll receive, in March, another lovely Bird Print ready for framing. This one stars the friendly robin.

Other Rugs FER SO MUCH for SO LITTLE!

ands to reason that where you furnish so much of the material, you get ter rug for far less money. There is 33 to 50 per cent more material in Olson Rug than most one-sided rugs anywhere near the price. For ex- e, a 12 x 15 ft. Olson Rug weighs 77 lbs., not 50 or 55. Why pay for y materials when you have so much material of your own—more than realize. Let "OLSON RUG MAGIC" save you up to  $\frac{1}{2}$ .

"AN ADVENTURE IN GOOD EATING" FROM DUNCAN HINES MIXES

The Yellow Cake you've always wanted to bake... rich and velvet-tender... just what you'd expect from Duncan Hines

You bake a yellow cake from a Duncan Hines Mix. A rich fragrance fills your kitchen as it bakes. You frost it and bring it to your table. Aren't you proud to serve those tall, fine layers? Isn't this the taste you've always wanted? Rich! Moist! velvety, melting-tender. It's yellow cake as it should be, in the tradition of Duncan Hines. And you can bake it today, with this mix only.

*California's Date-Nut Cake begins with the finest Yellow Cake
... Duncan Hines*

The confections of California—ripe, plump fresh dates and meaty walnuts—have been enriching the cakes of west coast cooks for a long time. Here's a California recipe—a Duncan Hines discovery that will make your next yellow cake something extra-special—you can take the word of Duncan Hines, America's foremost authority on good eating.

DATE-WALNUT CAKE... easy to make, this way:

Mix Duncan Hines Yellow Cake batter as package directs. Gently fold in  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup finely cut walnuts. Bake in two layers. Cool.

Spread Date Filling between layers. Spread Orange Cream Frosting over sides and top of cake. Garnish with broken walnuts. Chill 1 hour or longer to let flavors blend.

For Orange Cream Frosting: Mix in a  $1\frac{1}{2}$ -quart bowl 1 cup whipping cream,  $\frac{1}{4}$  cup sugar, dash of salt and grated rind of 1 orange (about 1 Tablespoon). Cover and chill 1 hour. Whip until s

For Date Filling: Cook and stir 1 cup cut-up dates, cup sugar and  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup orange juice over low heat until thickened. Cool to room temperature.
