REFRIGERATOR-
FREEZER
COMBINATION

Revolving Shelves and big Roll-Out Freezer put all foods at your fingertips!

Only "Straight-Line" General Electric Refrigerator-Freezers give you these features!
Plus . . . no coils in back, no dirt-collecting waste space!

Big zero-degree Roll-Out Freezer glides out at a touch, holds up to 175 pounds of food. Foods are easy to see, easy to get at.

Adjust revolving shelves to hold a pie or bulky turkey. Press button, turn shelf to adjust up or down.

Revolving Vegetable Bins turn out at a touch. Two large porcelain bins hold nearly a bushel of vegetables.

REVOLVING SHELVES make all other shelves old-fashioned. So much space for food . . . and all at your fingertips. Just a touch brings the food in back right out to the front. No hard-to-reach corners!

And everything's so easy to clean. You never have to remove shelves or food. Just revolve the shelves to one side to expose the refrigerator walls. Shelves are sturdy, too. Each one supports as much as 150 pounds.

The big refrigerator section defrosts automatically . . . no pans to empty, no clocks to set, no buttons to push.

Added feature of the new General Electric is the handy Ice Ejector Trays which drop cubes into a large storage container in the top of the Roll-Out Freezer.

Ask your General Electric dealer about his easy terms and generous trade-in allowance. Household Refrigerator Department, General Electric Company, Appliance Park, Louisville 1, Kentucky.

Cleaning problem solved with "Straight-Line" design. No dirt-collecting waste space. Sides, top, back are flat and straight. Front lines up evenly with cabinets. Does not stick out.

* * *
Today, more than 4,000,000 General Electric Refrigerators are in use 10 years or longer!

You never had it so COOL

Remember those miserable summer days—when the mercury reached boiling point and everyone took off for the nearest beach? Everyone but you, that is! On "certain" days, you'd be hiding away with your monthly problems, chafed and irritated by those horrid pads and belts.

But that's all over and past. Now that you've changed to Tampax, nothing can stop you from enjoying the cool freedom of the beach! You can wear the sleekest swimsuit, play beauty on the beach or in the sea—and no one can know your secret!

There's nothing like the cool convenience of Tampax® internal sanitary protection. It's invisible and unfelt when in place. There are no pads to chafe, bind or bulge. Odor can't possibly form. And you never have disposal or carrying problems.

You can take off for the beach whenever you like! Tampax means "good-by" to problem days! Convenient to buy wherever drug products are sold. In Regular, Super or Junior absorbencies to suit individual needs. Tampax Incorporated, Palmer, Massachusetts.

MRS. COPPES REMODELS A KITCHEN

For many years, blonde, energetic Jeannette Coppes has been designing kitchens for a large, enthusiastic following in the Los Angeles area. Kitchens are her business—and the sense her planning makes in saving both steps and money accounts for her reputation. What's more, if the plumber is late, this gal Coppes can hook up a sink as neatly as the best of them.

MR. HETH COOKS GOOD VICTUALS

Edward Harris Heth is a famous amateur cook and the author of a delightful cook book, "The Wonderful World of Cooking," for which Katharine Cornell wrote the preface. He is also a successful novelist. One of his novels, "Any Number Can Play," was made into a movie. Mr. Heth has gone back home to the Welsh hills of his native state Wisconsin, where he watches the cars go by from his pleasant kitchen window, swaps recipes with his neighbors Alfred Lunt, Aunt Dell and all his other good friends.

READERS' EXCHANGE

Call this a coincidence if you will, or maybe this is just the month for a little tiff between two good cooks. In this corner: Mrs. Priscilla Fortescue, famed world traveler . . . broadcaster . . . New Hampshire native . . . and in our opinion an excellent cook who's in love with an old-fashioned Glenwood wood stove. (You read about her in the March issue of The American HOME.)

In this corner: Mr. Edward Harris Heth, our Good Victuals gourmet cook on page 52 of this issue. Mr. Heth is the author of "The Wonderful World of Cooking." In his fascinating cookbook, Mr. Heth goes on to some length to expose a certain Wisconsin friend and neighbor, Aunt Dell, who it seems always pretended her bread and rich sweet rolls were baked in her wood stove when all the time they were "rising to their glory in a modern gas range." Her wood stove stood in the kitchen only as a nostalgic memento of the past.

Sensing that our two contestants would have strong words for each other, we forwarded a copy of Mr. Heth's book to Mrs. Fortescue. Her reply, in turn, was sent to Mr. Heth. The ensuing correspondence is indeed revealing. If you would like to join battle, please do and write us a letter. En garde!

THE EDITOR

HOT BATTLE ON THE OLD WOOD STOVE

Dear Mrs. Austin:

I really love the book on cooking written by Edward Harris Heth and thank you again for sending it. I chuckled at the reference to Aunt Dell and her wood stove, but I now find myself really troubled by the denouement. Feeling intensely sorry that Mr. Heth's neighbor does not experience the soul-satisfying joy that an active wood stove can bring has made me all the more aware of what my little black Glenwood means to me.

It may be a "state of mind" but it's such a delightful state of mind. It may be just the love that goes into cooking with it that makes the food taste better, but what a wonderful love it is!

Truly, my heart sings whenever I'm near that stove. Putting in the paper, the kindling, the sticks of wood, striking the match and then responding to its fragrant warmth is wonderful! Welcoming guests on a rainy day in spring or fall or when it is white with cold on a winter's day and hearing them exclaim "How warm it is! Hm, there's nothing like a wood stove,"

NEW! FOR AUTOMATIC DISHWASHERS Cascade eliminates drops that spot!

Washed in another detergent

Washed in CASCADE

Today's Cascade contains exclusive Chlorosheen to change drops of water into clear-rinsing "sheets." That's why Sears puts Cascade in every new Kenmore!

These glasses show why new, improved Cascade stops spotting as no other detergent can. Cascade's exclusive Chlorosheen changes water drops into free-flowing sheets . . . leaves everything so slippery-clean, rinse water slides right off. Result: no water drops, no ugly spots. And new, improved Cascade dissolves completely . . . leaves no dried-on specks for you to wipe off. It gets everything close-up clean! Try new Cascade—now sealed in protective foil.

KENMORE

is there?" That is wonderful. Roasting turkey or game in the oven that does have an indicator, golden brown and crispy outside, tender and juicy inside. That is wonderful. And that oven, bless its heart, gets up to 500 in no time when the right draft is controlled in the right way—and it bakes the most wonderful biscuits in the world.

There are four places in the oven where you learn to bake or roast. Left rear, next to the firebox, is the hottest. Left front, the next hottest. Right rear is cooler and right front is the coolest. You learn where to place things on top of the stove for fast or slow cooking. And you broil to perfection by letting down the hinged part at the end of the stove by the firebox. You put your steaks on a grill with a long handle, right across the wood that is beginning to give way to glowing coals—and there you have steak!

I do feel sorry for anyone who has let the memory or dream of a wood stove simmer out and go cold. True, I acknowledge and appreciate fully the convenience and efficiency of a modern range. Of course, I shall use my beautiful wood-brown GE electric range in hot weather—although on a summer's evening when steaks are in order, they will be broiled over wood.

I do repeat—there is nothing like a wood stove for the fragrance of maple and birch logs, the warmth that fills a kitchen, for the meals it can produce.

PRISCILLA FORTESCUE

Dear Mrs. Austin:

I loved the enthusiasm of Mrs. Fortescue's letter and am delighted that she likes my book. Will you tell her so? But I repeat Aunt Dell turned out to be a fraud about her wood stove; nevertheless, she did love it! I hope I can comfort Mrs. Fortescue with the news that Hattie Sederholm, Alfred Lunt's mother and a truly great cook (she lived three miles from here until her death a year ago last summer at 95), always cooked in a wood stove without an indicator, saying she tested the heat by sticking her head inside the oven.

HOW TO KEEP A MAN

LESLIE R. FORESTER

Of all the months of the year, June is the most blessed. Bustin' out the way it does. Handing out diplomas. Peeling forth with wedding bells. Ah, and June brings forth that day of days on which we give praise to Poppa, that prince among men who always brings home the bacon.

Friends, mothers and progeny, this is the season to run, scurry, fly . . . to search your soul and your check book. You gotta make Pappy happy in June.

So be it. We herewith present 88 ways to keep a man. If you're stymied about what to get your begetter, we urge you to read these pages with care. If you're long on love and short on cash, don't worry. We start right off with ideas that won't cost a penny.

First, may we suggest at the hour appointed on Sunday, June 15, you serve him breakfast in bed? Remember, the only other time this happens is when he is laid low with the gout. And who wants to eat with the gout? Give him his fill of his own peculiar favorites on Father's Day, be they chicken livers or fried green tomatoes.

Next, it's time for Poppa's bath. Here's where privacy makes the heart grow fonder. All year long he's in the shower at 7:18 and out by 7:20. That is, if he wants to catch the 8:11. Give him this day his daily bath . . . a long leisurely tub he can soak in to his heart's content. And a rap on the knuckles to him who raps on the door!

On Father's Day, mark the Sunday paper "his." Let no one chew up the first section with the scissors. That gay little chemise from Gimbels basement will have to wait till Monday. Let no one disappear with the sports section. Let no one enter a single word in the crossword.

Now for a tour of the backyard. Here's where you can prove he can still believe in fairies. Look! Somebody's washed the car, mowed the lawn, emptied the garbage, clipped the hedge! Why, you little Tinker Bell, you!

We could go on indefinitely . . . but it's time now to settle down to some good solid merchandise. Like Bob Cummings' modest Victoria cruiser up there on top. From here on in, each and everything you see is designed to send Poppa from here to paternity! (continued)

Davis (Schultz), helps Mary hand down the fixin's for the cruise. Already aboard and rarin' to cast off are Dewayne Hickman (Chuck), Lisa Davis, Julie Bishop and Olive Sturgess.

HOW TO KEEP

IS POPPA POOPED?

Plunk him down on a vibrator couch. He can set the timer for his own gentle massage, adjust to any position his generous heart desires.

APPLY HIS LITTLE FINGER . . . AND PUSH THE BUTTON.

Dad goes down for the count once he relaxes in this wonderful chair. Comes with a built-in vibrator, too. Note the soothing influence of the soft light and the air-conditioner. Who could resist sleep?

HARD DAY AT THE OFFICE? Give him

a soft night of it at home. This chair couldn't be more Poppa's if it had his name on it. A chair to dream on . . . and to make the serenity complete, supply him with slippers and his favorite Panatella.

Look on page 84 for a list of department stores that are coming up this month with more ideas on how to keep a man!

A MAN ON THE PLACE

WHERE DOES HE HANG HIS HAT? Well, there's room for just about every other item you care to mention from pants to small change. Even a seat to sit on. If he can't afford a valet, here's the next best thing!

HE DREAMS HE FELL ASLEEP with his feet on the sofa. Dream on, father dear, for it makes no difference as long as the new sofa is covered in new vinyl fabric that's Poppa-proof.

YOU'RE A CHIP OFF THE OLD BLOCK if you can mow the lawn while he relaxes on the sidelines. Or why not present him with his favorite fishing gear . . . a few flowering shrubs . . . or an underground sprinkling system? If you're really in the chips, you can surprise Dad with a station wagon—a little bauble to show your esteem and affection. You pay the down payment and maybe he'll worry about what comes later!

HOW TO KEEP A MAN

ROLL OUT THE BARREL . . . in the form of a super-duper barbecue. And present him with whatever he needs to baste those twirling chickens.

THE WAY TO A MAN'S HEART (bless his soul) is via a carving set that does justice to his carving skill . . . a pegboard apron, mind you . . . and last but not least a big, fat juicy steak.

HE'S THE HOST WITH THE MOST . . . if he pours into these "Old Coin" beverage glasses or shows off his new clear crystal punch set. And dig that electric ice crusher!

Why not a bathroom that's hers ...and hers alone?

Chances are you've given a lot of thought to adding an extra bathroom. Why not make it a "Mrs." bathroom (like the one in our picture)—a special room where your wife can bathe and dress and pretty herself in blessed privacy.

What would make it even nicer is a Crane bathroom, the kind most people prefer. Every Crane fixture is styled by famous designer Henry Dreyfuss to look beautiful and modern for years. Yes, and to add considerably more value to your home.

Free floor plan! Let your Crane Dealer show you how easily an extra bath can be located at the end of a hall or in the corner of a large bedroom. # YOU CAN BUILD THIS BARBECUE IN THE ROUND

PLAN VIEW

A small barbecue only 5 feet in diameter with big barbecue performance. Large counter-high semi-circular wind-wall makes excellent working counter. It will fit into almost any yard. Here's how to build it:

Dig excavation 5 feet in diameter and 10 inches deep (see step 1 on page 20). Pour gravel into excavation to a depth of 4 inches and tamp firmly (see step 1 on page 20). Mix concrete as follows: 1 part Portland cement;  $2\frac{3}{4}$  parts sand and 4 parts gravel with water. Pour mix over gravel to depth of 4 inches (see step 2 on page 20). Before this has hardened, imbed 4x4-inch wire mesh in concrete and pour 2 more inches of concrete over this, making a total depth of 6 inches of concrete (see steps 3 and 4 on page 20). When concrete is hard enough to step on, scribe a circle as described in step 5 on page 20.

Following "Plan View" and "Section of AA" lay up stone work imbedding the 8 screw eyes in their proper positions as shown. Lay firebrick, setting them in fireclay. Construct grill supports as shown in "Detail of Grill Support."

CAUTION: DO NOT BUILD FIRE FOR TWO WEEKS AFTER COMPLETION.

RETIRING SOON?

MARIAN McINTYRE McDONOUGH

Ever think of retiring to the country? Of course, it's nice to dream of settling on a tropical isle, in a sunny locale, or a fisherman's paradise, but, more realistically, there may be an old house practically in your own backyard that may be the answer to your problem. It answered ours!

To be sure, not everyone inherits an old house. We were lucky. We fell heir to a Victorian summer cottage and, from that moment on, our dream of going French Quarterish in New Orleans went flying out the window. Suddenly we realized that we could live as cheaply, if not more so, in a charming old summer resort town in our home state, Colorado. Hadn't we the house even if it needed a little face-lifting? Hadn't we the scenery? And wouldn't our little cottage in a small mountain town give us the advantages of metropolitan Denver some fifty miles away, as well as Colorado Springs twenty-two miles to the south over good highways? Here we wouldn't have to pay the high cost of living—and building. And even if we didn't have the charms of the French quarter or palms and sapphire seas we had pines and mountains and a tumbling creek. This little town had age and history, too, if that at first had seemed a prerequisite. The town, Palmer Lake, is one of the oldest summer resorts in Colorado, with a growing year-round population.

Even our house had a history of sorts. In the eighties our little frame cottage had been a one-room club or community house. Primary and Sunday school classes and occasional church services had been held there. In another period the house had been used as a post office and dwelling for a station agent of the Denver & Rio Grande Western Railroad. It has quite a background, this house of ours!

Like its history, the house gave evidence of both character and age. In settling down with the pine and spruce-covered mountains, its outlines had also warped and settled with age and weather. The porches sagged. Floors tilted slightly and plastered walls were cracked and bumpy, but it had possibilities. And even though we lacked sufficient funds to do all the remodeling at once, we figured that we could accomplish the project as the budget allowed. Hiring local carpenters, we followed through on a number of projects: converting a small parlor into a library, enclosing a porch, redoing the bedrooms. The dining room was left as it was, except for repainted woodwork and new blue-green wallpaper. Glass shelves were installed in the bay window to hold my collection of colored glass.

Of course, there were headaches—there always are. But it was fun for us to see all of our dreams and color schemes become real, to find new uses for our old things, to see what we could salvage from the contents of the old cottage.

You'll almost always find sceptics who will tell you it costs more to remodel an old house than to build a new one. Sometimes they're right. It depends on the amount of work necessary. But we did not find it so. For the $4,000 we put into remodeling, we have a charming, comfortable home in a lovely location. What house could you find or build today for less than $10,000 that could compare with our little white house in the mountains?

You, too, may find what you want (and can afford) in an old house. Maybe it'll turn up conveniently overlooking the ocean, or in a resort town or back bay or near a lovely small village. You never know. But be on the lookout for one. It may be just the answer to your retirement plan.

What happens when the COUNTRY comes to PARK AVENUE?

MARY E. MONZE

It raises a question, that's what it does. Can Early American be wed to Contemporary? We've always heard that marriages are made in heaven. But can the two be made to go together like the horse and carriage? Or would it be better if the twain had never met?

For years, David and Bobby Mahoney have been scouting the countryside, snooping here, scurrying there, in quest of Early American furniture. They love the warmth and traditional charm of these old pine pieces that fit so cozily and perfectly into a home.

But what happens if you suddenly decide the place for you to live is a big, oversized apartment on New York's upper Park Avenue? Part with the long-loved Early American? Give in—and go all out for traditional or maybe modern? Not the Mahoneys! The job of renovating and redecorating might have discouraged the more faint of heart but it didn't faze the Mahoneys.

Weeks and months went by before the place was finished. Bobby supervised the job and did the decorating herself—sometimes by the trial and error method, she admits. There was the time the bedroom had to be entirely repainted because of an error in color. For weeks there were men working all over the place. She thought they'd never get through. Then there was the pine furniture they cherished. Would that fit in? Well, it did, as you can see from the pictures. It is a charming blend of old and new.

Your first impression on walking into the apartment is that it is a handsome modern home. But a second look reveals the original Early American pieces. This modern look was achieved by painting the living-room walls a slate gray and covering the floor with a very light carpet. The extra large coffee table is a present-day one. The seating pieces, too, are contemporary. "Large and comfortable," specified David. White silk café curtains, like the old pine furniture, make the room seem less formal. Even the old Boston rocker next to the modern fireplace adds old world charm to the setting. In the bedroom is seen an unusually handsome headboard made from a part of an old Pennsylvania Dutch iron fence which originally belonged to one of their friends. This pattern was copied in wood and painted black to make a kind of divider between the entrance foyer and living room. In the den, a former closet is turned into storage for the television and hi-fi. A second closet makes a bar. Wall color is antique yellow with avocado colored rug and calico curtains.

All rooms express Bobby's "know-how" learned from doing her own decorating, but David, president of the Good Humor Company, contributed valuable ideas, too. Bobby was formerly a John Powers model who is now a first-class decorator. Don't you agree?

THE END

IN THE DEN David and Bobby play gin rummy while listening to favorite programs. A cozy place for reading and watching TV too.

Green Grows the Grass — Here's How!

See "Where Credit Is Due," page 82

A good lawn never was a matter of luck. It used to take brains and brawn. Today it only takes brains. It's a matter of knowing what things to do and when to do them—and none of them, in 1958, involves hard work.

You merely walk behind a power mower—or even ride it. You feed a lawn, painlessly, in a matter of minutes. You kill weeds, crabgrass and bugs with chemicals. And you water a lawn with an efficient sprinkler or an underground system.

What's important—and what takes a wise manipulation of your time—is to do these things when they need to be done.

LAWN FEEDING

A good lawn must be fed. No soil is fertile enough to support a thick turf, mowed week after week, year after year, without the addition of plant nutrients. It should be fed in early spring, at the beginning of summer, and at the beginning of fall. And of the three feedings, the summer one is the most important.

Use a lawn food. Buy enough to treat your lawn area according to the directions on the package, and do not use more than the directions call for.

WATERING

For a lawn to stay green, there must be enough moisture in the upper 6" of soil at all times. But nothing is gained from more than enough moisture. So before watering, be sure the soil needs it, then soak it well. If you're not certain, test the soil by digging into it with a trowel or soil sampler and crumbling it with your fingers. If it's dry and powdery to the touch, it needs watering; if it's moist, even though not actually wet, it doesn't need watering.

When watering, run the sprinkler till the upper 4" of soil is wet. The water will soak in to about 6" deep.

LAWN SPRAYING

If lawn pests or diseases are a problem in your area, be thankful for the new spray chemicals and reasonably priced, efficient lawn sprayers that attach to the hose. They make the control job really easy.

Patches of dead grass may mean white grubs are feeding on the roots. Look for them by lifting the sod with a shovel. The trouble may also be caused by chinch bugs (tiny, fly-like insects at the base of the grass) or by sod webworm (indicated by tan-colored moths flying out when you mow the grass). If you find none of these, chances are the grass has been killed by one of several turf diseases.

Grubs are controlled by annual use of chlordane, dieldrin or DDT. These chemicals also control chinch bug and sod webworm, but should be used every two or three weeks till these pests are eliminated.

Lawn diseases, which usually occur in hot, humid weather, can be controlled with new turf fungicides containing mercury, cadmium, calomel and thiuram.

WEED CONTROL

There's no excuse today for dandelions, plantain and similar weeds in the lawn—they're so easy to kill with selective weedkillers containing 2,4-D. You can apply these as liquids with a watering can or sprayer or in dry form with a fertilizer spreader.

Pre-emergence weedkillers, used several times in the spring at the exact rates recommended, kill most weed seeds as they sprout, before they even come up.

If you have only a few weeds here and there in your lawn, the easiest control is with an aerosol sprayer attached to a stick. You just press the nozzle against the weeds!

Crabgrass takes longer to get rid of, but the newer crabgrass killers, systematically used, do eventually finish it off. If you're starting a new lawn, you can kill all weed seeds, including crabgrass, by using one of the new soil fumigants a few weeks before sowing grass.

SOIL TESTING

If you're the methodical, scientific type—want to know exactly what to do and why—it may pay to invest in a soil-test kit. Perhaps also a soil sampler, like the one above.

Any general recommendation for feeding, liming, etc., is intended to insure a good lawn on most soils. But if your soil is gravelly, sandy and low in nutrients it will, of course, need more frequent feeding than if it's rich, deep loam of high nutrient and humus content. The only way to tell exactly how much feeding either soil needs, however, is by making a test.

A soil test is made by mixing a soil sample with chemicals and matching the color of the resulting solution against color indicator cards that come with the kit.

TRIMMING

Don't underrate edging and trimming! No matter how fine the grass, your lawn will be much more attractive if it's well edged and trimmed.

Most lawns need edging two or three times a year, trimming every third or fourth mowing. For edging you can use a spade, edging iron, push-type edger or, if it's a big lawn, a power edger.

For trimming, there are hand shears, long-handled ones, push-type trimmers, and both electric and gasoline power trimmers.

The new corrugated aluminum edging practically eliminates the job of keeping the lawn edged and also makes trimming a good deal easier. The edging comes in rolls and can be cut as needed with tin snips. When the soil is moist, you pound it into the ground with a hammer and block of wood. Aluminum edging should come just above the ground line but well below the height at which you cut the grass. It should last for many years.

MOWING

Mowing should be at the right height and it should be frequent. As a general rule, it's best to set the mower at 1½" and to mow as soon as the grass is more than 2" high.

Once a week may be often enough when the grass is growing slowly—midsummer with northern cool-season grasses, spring and fall with southern warm-season grasses. But every five days or even twice a week may be necessary in spring and fall in the North, in summer in the South.

Remember: You must mow grass whenever it needs it—if you want a fine lawn!

THIS TEENAGER WOULDN'T

◀ BEFORE photo of Barbara's room shows twin beds with high, awkward-looking headboards, over-sized frames that extended beyond edges of mattresses and made bedspreads hang unevenly and carelessly. Both beds and high night table made the room appear crowded and "old hat." Pictures are spotty and hung without any relation to other furnishings.

BARBARA LENOX

Teenager Barbara Jacobs had grown up in this room and loved it! But lately she'd been enjoying it less and less. It had been fine when she was younger—say twelve or thirteen. But now that she was growing up, life was different. When friends dropped in after school there was no place to sit, except on the beds. Why couldn't she have a room that didn't look like a bedroom? And there was homework! What a chore it was to study here! There was no room on the small desk for her new typewriter, and the student lamp was too low to give good light.

Then one day everything changed. Barbara's mother called in two decorators, Dorothy Paul and Elsie Smith, who did the room over in dreamy colors of pink, orange and white. A big change—and to Barbara's mind, made to order!

ORIGINAL WINDOW SIDE of the room was not unattractive but quite inadequate for a busy teenager's interests and studies. Desk was too small to hold a typewriter, paper and book work at the same time. Table light was insufficient. Ruffled white curtains were feminine and pretty for a girl's room, but had to be taken down and laundered too frequently to be really practical.

TAKE IT

NEW WINDOW SIDE of the room has a counter, drawer and cupboard unit as long as the room with plenty of space for a record player, records, homework and storage. A special pull-up shelf (behind low door at left) houses typewriter under counter when not in use, pulls up to desk level when needed. A pin-up board and open shelves make a convenient place for notes and party favors. Pull-up lamp slides on ceiling track to any position above counter.

COUNTER AND STORAGE UNIT was built along the window wall, replacing the small desk. New addition of open shelves makes the room seem less crowded.

◀ AFTER: Sofa beds in tailored quilted covers plus a couple of additional comfortable chairs add more seating space and convert the room to a sitting room-bedroom. A built-in corner unit doubles as a table and a headboard for both beds. Interesting pictures are grouped and hung low to help make a balanced unit of this furniture group. Colorful pillows add a decorative note as well as functional use. Hanging brass lamp is adjustable in height.

DECORATORS: DOROTHY PAUL, A.I.D.

ELSIE SMITH, ASSOC. DECORATOR

SURELY you agree: In flowers, roses are the greatest. Everyone loves them, both as plants in the garden and as cut flowers indoors; they bloom over the longest period; their variety makes them suitable for every garden use; they grow in just about every part of the country; and, barring accidents, they're permanent.

Admitted—to get the most out of them, you do have to give roses a little more attention than some other plants. But with today's pest-control chemicals and other garden aids, the care and feeding of roses is precious little giving for what you get!

The important phases of rose care are feeding, watering, pest and disease control, and pruning. In cold areas, where there's little snow but lots of icy wind, winter protection also is important.

The reason for feeding is simple. For today's ever-blooming roses to flower continuously and to produce fine foliage and strong stems, there must be an abundance of plant nutrients in the soil during the entire growing season. And that just doesn't happen without regular addition of complete plant food.

FLOWER ARRANGEMENT BY BETTY B. MERRIAM

IF YOU LIVE in an area where winters are cold—meaning most of the country—feed your roses twice a season (mid-March and June 1) if your soil is good, three times (mid-March, mid-May, July 1) if your soil is poor. Don't feed after July, or the plants may not harden off sufficiently during the fall and, as a consequence, suffer an unusual amount of winter injury. If you live in a mild area of the South or the West Coast, an additional feeding in late summer will help increase late fall flowering.

To feed roses, choose a standard garden fertilizer or special rose food. Don't use high-nitrogen lawn food, which would stimulate leaf and stem growth rather than flower production. A couple of handfuls of standard fertilizer per plant is about right, though it's best to follow directions!

Plant food is taken up by roots only when it's

The Care and Feeding of Roses

THEODORE A. WESTON

dissolved and in the soil, so in dry weather it's advisable to water it in after spreading it on the ground around the plants.

Roses are not the thirstiest of plants—and they can't stand a water-logged soil—but for optimum growth and flower production they do need a constant, adequate supply of soil moisture. During summer and early fall dry spells, therefore, watering is essential.

As a rule, it's best to water roses in the morning, so that the leaves and stems are completely dry by night. Wet foliage over night may lead to black-spot disease—the worst enemy of roses, and not the easiest to stamp out.

When the air is dry and there's at least some breeze, it's safe to water overhead with a sprinkler. But when the humidity is near 100 per cent and the air is still, it's much wiser to use a "waterwand" or similar device that will allow you to avoid wetting the stems and foliage.

INSECT and disease control—especially disease control—used to be the bane of a rose-lover's existence. But today's dusts and sprays have changed all that, and control now depends solely on using them regularly.

If you live in the high-humidity East or South, dust or spray your roses, with a combination insecticide-fungicide, every week during the summer, every two weeks during the spring and fall.

If you live in a low-humidity area of the West, do so every two weeks during the dry period of the year, every week during the rainy season.

Remember: Prevention is much better than cure!

TO DUST or to spray? Dusting is easier and faster, but some rose experts claim spraying is more efficient. As for myself, with a couple of hundred plants, I find dusting saves a lot of time and effort, and it does work.

Also, using a special rose preparation, combining insecticides and fungicides, is easier and faster than mixing the materials yourself, though the mix-them-yourself routine is cheaper.

For a few plants, a push-button (aerosol) rose spray is simplicity itself!

THE

The owners of this fine old Colonial house in Seattle, Washington, started out with a simple desire. They wanted a new roof for their home. So they called in a contractor to get an estimate for the cost of the new roofing job. In talking about the improvement, the lady of the house rather jokingly suggested that they might as well remove the whole second story while they were at it because the upstairs space wasn't needed anymore now that the children were grown. The remark was sheer whimsy, but on consulting an architect, the idea of lopping off the top of the house became a definite possibility. Their architect proposed these choices: 1. Replace the old roof. 2. Sell the house and build a smaller one designed to fit their new needs. 3. Remodel their old home to suit present requirements, saving their wonderful gardens and grounds. After considering the possibilities they decided upon the third course of action and chose an excellent contemporary design by architects Bain & Overturf. The result they achieved was a complete, handsome change in the architectural style.

The original house had been a potpourri of Dutch gambrel roof lines, a classical Greek entrance and English clapboard and shutters. Out of this melting-pot design, the architects distilled a fresh contemporary home that fits its owners' needs and the lay of the surrounding land.

One interesting sidelight to the remodeling was the landscaping job. The usual procedure was reversed. Instead of planting mature shrubs around the foundation, the old large shrubs formerly around the house were removed to other parts of the property and smaller shrubs that would be in scale with the new, low look of the house were brought in for foundation planting. Photo below left shows a front corner of the house where the sun porch opening off the dining room now has two walls of glass. French doors open to make the porch a bright and airy spot for the family to have its summer evening meals.

And the Walls Came Tumbling Down

VIRGINIA E. THABET

Joshua may have "fit the battle of Jericho," but Kitchen Designer Jeannette Coppes of Los Angeles, California, "fits the battle" of many an out-moded kitchen. One thing's for sure, when Jeanette goes to work, more than likely the walls do come tumbling down.

The remodeling job you see here is a rather extensive one. All the better, say we. For even though you may not be in a position to go all out on your kitchen, you'll find many a refreshing idea that you can use in all or in part—to fit your needs and your pocketbook.

There's another important lesson you can learn from Jeannette Coppes, and that is her approach to kitchen remodeling. If you plan your own kitchen the way she does for her clients, you'll find the job easier and more fun.

Take the case of Alyce and Willard Guimont, whose kitchen we show on these pages. Long before the walls came tumbling down, Mrs. Coppes made it a point to find out how the Guimonts lived . . . their daily routine . . . their likes and dislikes. Once armed with the family "secrets," she designed a kitchen for their way of living.

For example, both Guimonts like to cook, often at the same time, so the kitchen has two cooking areas, placed so that one does not interfere with the other. (continued)

BEFORE: Like many old-style kitchens, the Guimonts' was small, with a small breakfast room and utility room ... all making more steps than necessary for usual food preparations and cleaning.

Upper left, Alyce Guimont and Mrs. Coppes are shown making plans in the old breakfast room, before remodeling. Their problems: range, badly placed in traffic lane between breakfast room and kitchen; cooking area too far from food preparation area; kitchen inaccessible to family room ... too much walking; no provision for cleaning closet and not enough storage. Are they problems that sound familiar to you? See what they did below: Find one or two ideas you can use!

AFTER: Wall was removed between kitchen and breakfast room . . . cooking and barbecue area was added. Breakfast room became plan desk, pantry, work area. Original wall separating family room from kitchen was substituted with eating counter and snack bar; a combination washer-dryer was added in place of separate machines and gave room for a portable cleaning center.

Alyce is also a working mother, with both Bruce and David still in school. Thanks to good planning, mornings in this household are mapped out with precision. School lunches, for example, are packed the night before.

Logical placement of appliances and storage have made a big difference in round-the-clock family living. According to Alyce, it used to take 147 steps and a lot of time to prepare breakfast. Now it takes only about 38. Everything's within easy reach... refrigerator, built-in juicer, surface cooking top. And it's only a step to the snack bar.

Alyce solves the problem of family dinner with oven meals. She pops them into the oven during the breakfast rush and Bruce sets the automatic clock. Dinner is ready when the family comes home!

And decor is certainly not sacrificed here for all the efficiency in the world. The pine cabinets, finished in greenish-blue, blend with the elegant wall paper, white cane shutters and acoustical tile ceiling. THE END

PICNIC-HAPPY

Picnics can pack a punch for any man—if you give the gent what he wants! Herewith we set forth the fundamentals of the gentle art of keeping a man “picnic happy” as practiced by your humble servants, the editors.

Our women readers are probably saying, “What on earth is the point of all this? A picnic’s a picnic! All I have to do is slap a few sandwiches together, fill a vacuum bottle with some coffee and set out with the station wagon, family and animals for the wide open spaces. And that’s that!”

Since you asked, we’ll tell you frankly and straight from the shoulder. A picnic isn’t just a picnic! Remember the trouble last summer when you took to the beach and friend husband grumbled with every step as he lugged the picnic hamper and all the extra paraphernalia? Or the picnic later when you packed a tablecloth and pillows, and he still refused to eat on the ground. Didn’t you drive for miles looking for a roadside table? Or have you forgotten the portable grill and the insulated hot bag your disgruntled male brought home, “so I can at least have some hot substantial food if I must go on these safaris.” There was the fitted basket purchase, too, with real knives and forks and plates, all neatly packed away.

“Oh, so you don’t like picnics,” you finally shouted, with a voice you could hear down the block. “Whoa, there!” was the reply. “Who said I don’t like picnics? Been going to them all my life, haven’t I? But why can’t you learn to throw a really good picnic together—like the kind I remember as a kid?”

Sometimes you never seem to please a man, but then there are times—well, why not try it once more?

Family Food

Picnics can pack a punch for any man! We're repeating ourselves. But if you do want to keep a man "picnic happy" we suggest that you cater to his pleasantest gustatory memories. And though his memory may not be too accurate, you can come close to what he thinks they were. And that's what really counts.

"If a 'Slum Gullion' was good enough for Grandpa it's good enough for me" may be his idea. Go along with it. Make every picnic a picture that will please his outdoor-dining whims, and remind him of what he thinks a picnic should be. And to every recipe or picnic plan include something to satisfy his eager molars, epithelium and fungiform papillae (his taste buds that is). Watch and see the mood change from one of dignified acquiescence to that of hilarious cooperation.

On these pages you have seen five different suggestions for picnic menu ideas. More information about the menus and the recipes, is given on the clip recipe cards (page 48). Take our word for it, they've been tested and approved by the severest critics. The recipes have been arranged so as to alternate a hot picnic, a cookout or a carry-all. Try them!

Preparation time: 10 min.
Baking time: 40 min.

(Served with Frozen-Berry Custard.)

- ALMOND-BRITTLE LOAF CAKE
- TOPPING:
 1½ c. biscuit mix
 ¾ c. sugar
 3 tbs. softened butter or margarine
 1 egg
 ¾ c. milk
 ½ tsp. almond extract

• Combine biscuit mix, sugar and butter in mixer bowl. Add egg and ¼ c. of the milk; beat about 1 minute at medium speed. Add remaining milk and almond extract and beat ½ minute longer. Pour batter into greased and floured 8x8x2-inch pan. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 35-40 minutes or until done. Meanwhile, combine brown sugar, flour, butter and milk in small saucepan; bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Spread quickly over top of hot cake. Sprinkle with slivered almonds. Bake in hot oven (450°F.) 3-5 minutes or until top is bubbly and almonds are browned. Cool in pan; cut in squares.

- FROZEN-BERRY CUSTARD
- ½ c. nonfat dry milk    2 c. water
 ¼ tsp. salt              2 eggs, beaten
 ¾ c. sugar              ½ c. nonfat dry milk    2 c. crushed strawberries (2 pints)
- Sprinkle nonfat dry milk, salt and ¾ c. sugar over 2 c. water in top of double boiler; blend well. Stir in eggs. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly until slightly thickened, about 10 minutes. Cool. Sprinkle ½ c. nonfat dry milk over ½ c. water in small bowl; beat until stiff; blend in 2 tbs. sugar. Fold into cold custard mixture along with crushed strawberries. Pour into 2-quart ice cream freezer container and proceed according to manufacturer's directions.

To freeze in refrigerator freezing tray: Set control at coldest point. Pour cool custard into tray and freeze until almost firm, about 1 hour. Turn out into cold bowl; beat until smooth; fold in whipped milk mixture and strawberries; pour into freezing trays and freeze until firm, about 2 hours.

HOW TO KEEP A MAN HOW TO KEEP A MAN HOW TO KEEP A MAN HOW TO KEEP A MAN

PORK'S GOOD IN SUMMER, TOO

VIRGINIA SCHROEDER

Who said, "you shouldn't eat pork in the summertime?" That old saying dates back to the days before refrigeration kept perishable foods safe and healthy through the hottest weather. Today the danger of spoiled pork is more fallacy than fact. You'll find you eat a lot of pork during the summer without giving it a thought. Consider all the frankfurters and cold cuts you consume. They're loaded with pork!

And what about pork roasts and chops? Should you skip those in July and August? You needn't if you get them from a reliable butcher and store them properly. To be perfectly safe, keep pork only 4-5 days before it is eaten. The best way to store it is to wrap it loosely and put in a refrigerator cooled to between 35-40° F. Ground pork and variety cuts are highly perishable, so buy these the day you want to use them or just a day ahead.

Did you also know that pork is graded just as beef is? All pork sold in interstate commerce passes federal inspections and sports a round purple stamp to prove it. It may also have a grade stamp of U.S. "Choice," U.S. "Medium," or U.S. "Cull."

U.S. "Choice," the highest quality, has a fine textured lean meat that is grayish pink in color. It normally has a heavy firm white fat on the outside as well as distributed throughout the lean, and reddish bones. Some of the outside fat may be trimmed if you desire.

U.S. "Medium" grade has a smaller fat coating and a higher proportion of bone. It will have a slightly soft texture and a little marbling. U.S. "Cull" grade has almost no fat coating and a high ratio of lean to fat. This grade is used chiefly in sausage and canned pork products.

The necessity of cooking pork thoroughly is still a fact. Though most pigs are carefully fed and housed, the trichinae worms that can cause a serious disease may be present in animals not given proper care. However, you run no risk if you cook pork until the color changes from pink to grayish-white, for trichinae are destroyed by proper cooking. Cooking needn't be long, the length of time depends on the cut and thickness of the pork. Braised chops take only 30 minutes. Small pieces of pork can be sautéed in even less time and used as the basis for many combination dishes with noodles, rice or vegetables.

So pick out your favorite cut of pork—summer or winter—and serve it with confidence. Pork's highly nutritious, too. It has a high quality protein, and is an excellent source of iron, niacin, thiamin, and essential fatty acids. All are important in your well-balanced diet.

L yrically he sang the season's passing, recording best the ways to husband earth's full bounty. Unbearably tantalizing his way with food . . . of sugared leg of baby lamb, made sweet and tender with many bastings of black coffee . . . freshly caught bass stuffed full of raisin dressing . . . of maple dumplings and a meadow stew . . . chicken fried in country buttermilk and biscuits made of chicken broth . . . but enough of this maddening skimming about. It's a book to read, cover to cover, said I. Then, very early in the book, "This sandwich is earthy and fattening and messy to eat and wonderful. Don't forget to wipe your plate with the crust."

What did I do? Just what I should have done. I sat down and wrote that man a letter. What man? Edward Harris Heth, author of the book. What book? The Wonderful World of Cooking. Where did I go? Heth's house. I browbeat him with cameras. I heckled him with questions. I importuned him for recipes. It's quite a story.

Mr. Heth Cooks Good Victuals

JEAN AUSTIN

The gentle hills around the Wisconsin country Edward Harris Heth calls home seemed but lightly floured with white after the great high drifts of snow we had encountered on that cold night drive out of Chicago. Next morning early, when we drove up the hill to Heth's house—to watch, to photograph, and praise be, to eat Heth's cooking—Heth country* lay docile under a shimmering blanket of white, as though the fields, by some blithe hand, had been sprinkled with granules of sugar to energize every ray of the wan, blizzard-spent sun.

Not so our greeting. No shimmering sunniness here. And precious little energy! For our cook was mourning the loss of a beloved friend and neighbor. In this part of the country neighbors are invariably friends. Also, grouched Mr. Heth, since he had had to put down actual measurements for that infernal cook book, he'd lost all interest in cooking and went on to prove his point by taking an unconsciousable time to make a simple white sauce, ostentatiously looking up in his own cookbook every ingredient of everything he cooked. Had it not been morning this could have been nothing but pulling temperament on us. But it was morning and show me a cook who beams in the morn, springs out of bed and cooks great dishes and I'll show you a—I almost said it, but you get the first letter—it's L. All caps, of course. Why the way Mr. H. spooned sauce, eased the omelette into the oven with such loving care, always tasting, adding another "pinch" and

ALFRED LUNT claims this as his recipe, says his is as good made with canned fish balls instead of shrimps or lobster. Well, Alfred—

THIS MAGNIFICENT, HEARTY SALAD is really sufficient unto itself if served with buttered black bread, cucumber sticks, and a side platter of herring dressed with sour cream and onion rings. If served as part of a large buffet, your supper will become imperial.

• HOMEMADE MAYONNAISE

- Break one whole egg into a bowl, and add  $\frac{1}{2}$  tsp. salt,  $\frac{1}{4}$  tsp. dry mustard, and 2 or 3 tbs. oil. I use ordinary salad oil unless the finest olive oil is available. Beat it a moment, add a few more tbs. oil, beat again, and when it begins to thicken add the oil in large dollops until 1 cup altogether has been added. Beat until thick, and beat in the juice of  $\frac{1}{2}$  lemon. I use a hand beater and it takes me less than a minute. With an electric beater, it's even more of a cinch.

• BAKED OMELET AU GRATIN

- Have ready and keep warm 2 cups of light cream sauce into which you have broken up about a dozen cooked shrimps. Add to it 1 tsp. capers, salt and pepper, and if you like, a few chopped fresh fennel fronds or a pinch of caraway. Butter well a shallow but large baking dish, heat it in a 400° oven, and into it pour 3 eggs beaten frothy with 2 tbs. light cream. Bake 10 minutes, or until the omelet is puffed and cooked. Pour the creamed shrimps over it, sprinkle with Parmesan cheese and buttered bread crumbs and place under the broiler until it is bubbly and browned.

NOTE: Instead of shrimps, cooked lobster pieces, crabmeat, small fish balls or slivers of chicken breast may be used—all are excellent.

AND NONE OF THE TIRESOME BUSINESS of adding the oil drop by drop is needed here, either. I don't understand why such a fable should have been invented to discourage the making of one's own mayonnaise (or the foolish requirement that it must be beaten only with a silver fork!) for it is quick and simple to prepare."

• ICED CUCUMBER SOUP WITH SOUR CREAM

- For 1 qt. homemade chicken stock, from which the fat has been skimmed, or 1 qt. chicken bouillon from cubes, use 2 medium unpeeled cucumbers. Dice them and simmer them along with a small sliced onion in butter until they are tender. Add 1 cup light cream and a pinch of thyme, salt and white pepper as needed, and simmer another 5 minutes. Rub through a sieve into the chicken broth, add some chopped fresh tarragon, heat again, and thicken slightly with the yolks of 2 eggs beaten with a little of the stock. Chill thoroughly, and garnish with a slice of lemon in each bowl and 1 tsp. sour cream, strewn with almonds that have been blanched, sliced very thin, roasted brown on top of the stove in the skillet with butter, then drained and salted. Let the almonds be still warm. It's a pleasing contrast.

• RUSSIAN SALAD

- Leftover meat may be used—leg of lamb or veal, roast beef, baked ham or rare sirloin steak. Use at least two kinds, slice it no thicker than  $\frac{1}{8}$ ", and cut these into narrow ribbons. Make more than you think you'll need because if there is any left, which is unlikely, it will keep well in the refrigerator. Now to the meat add an equal amount of assorted sausage cut in thin julienne; be sure there is a variety of texture in the sausages—some soft, such as thick Bologna or Mortadella, some hard and chewy, such as summer sausage. Next comes dill pickle, these too cut into matchstick size. Use them cautiously and yet generously. But that's not all; now add tiny pickled pearl onions and some capers, just enough of each so their presence is unmistakable. Mix it all together with only the finest homemade mayonnaise and serve it chilled, mounded on your most spectacular platter.

TAKE A CAN OF HAM

THE CANNED HAM will be a special boon for summer holidays and weekends ahead, when refrigerators get jammed to the doors. Although they are ready to eat just as they come from the can, they can be slipped into the oven and readied for a bounteous dinner in a scant hour—the big ones, that is; smaller canned hams take even less time than this.

AN EASY PEACH GLAZE (above and see recipe on page 60) adds both delectable flavor and a festive topping. For big doings where leftovers are not a consideration, we suggest you have your butcher pre-slice the entire ham, tie it back together again in its original shape. Finally, bake it with the peach glaze and then remove the strings before serving. Pre-slicing produces attractive, equal portions.

JUNE TOWNE

EVEN A SEEMINGLY SIMPLE item such as a canned ham can serve a variety of purposes. Besides the larger hams, there are smaller ones of varied weights which can be kept without refrigeration. They are ideal for kabobs or snacks if you aren't lucky enough to have leftovers. A one-pound can makes up to 36 kabob-size servings for canapes or may be cut into "fingers" to serve with your favorite dip. Any "scrappier" pieces can be ground up for HAM RING served with a BING CHERRY SAUCE. (See it pictured at upper right). Because CANNED HAMs are solid meat clear through, even the one- and two-pound sizes will go further than you would ordinarily suspect. You'll find it a handy item to have on the shelf when someone on an impulse decides he would like a he-man sandwich. And a can will go even further if you use the ham in combination dishes. For example, try slices of ham, leftover chicken and Swiss cheese tucked between slices of bread and dipped in an egg batter. Fried lightly, they're called FRENCH-TOASTED HAM SANDWICHES.

FOR MANY YEARS NOW gourmets have thrilled to the unique, tantalizing deliciousness of Chicken Divan, made with broccoli, as you know. Now, from the American HOME kitchens we present this justly-famed delicacy in a new debut as HAM AND BRUSSELL SPROUT DIVAN (right.) These hearty casseroles, four of them, can each be made from 1½ cups of cubed ham. It's an economy purchase, for there's not a bone in canned ham—just marvelous meat through and through to the very last tasty bite.

A CAN OF HAM is a handy item to have on the shelf when one of those glorious sunny days comes along and you suddenly decide to dine out-of-doors. Also, if you've bought a can ahead intending to cook dinner "al fresco" and rain spoils the plans, the smaller hams will keep on the shelf until another clear day comes along. However, larger canned hams (weights differ with each packer) do require refrigeration at all times. HAM COLE SLAW (right) is one of our favorite hearty summer salads—and wonderfully easy.

Tea that has steeped too long or that has been refrigerated will become cloudy. But pouring a small amount of boiling water into the pitcher of tea will clear it again.

• FRENCH-TOASTED HAM SANDWICHES

Preparation time: 30 min.

- 12 thin slices white bread
- 4 tbs. prepared mustard or mustard sauce
- 6 slices cooked ham
- 6 slices Swiss cheese
- 6 slices chicken
- 2 eggs, slightly beaten
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- Dash of pepper
- 1/2 c. milk
- 3-4 tbs. butter, margarine or shortening

• Spread each slice of bread with mustard. Make 6 sandwiches of 1 slice each ham, cheese, and chicken. Combine eggs, salt and pepper and milk in shallow dish. Dip each sandwich, whole or cut in half, in egg mixture, turning to coat both sides. Fry, over low heat, in butter or shortening until well browned.

HAM-AND-BRUSSEL SPROUT DIVAN

Preparation time: 20 min.
Baking time: 1 hr.

- 1 tbs. dried minced onion
- 1 tsp. lemon juice
- 1 tsp. dry mustard
- 1/2 tsp. sage
- 1/4 tsp. pepper

HAM RING—BING CHERRY SAUCE

- 3/4 lb. (3 c.) ground cooked ham
- 1/2 lb. ground pork
- 2 eggs, slightly beaten
- 1/2 c. milk
- 1/4 c. fine bread crumbs
- 2 tbs. chopped parsley

• Mix ingredients together thoroughly; press into greased 1-quart ring mold. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 1 hour. Serve with Bing cherry sauce.

BING CHERRY SAUCE: Drain 1 can (#2 1/2) pitted Bing cherries; cut cherries in half; set aside. Combine 2 tbs. cornstarch, 1/2 c. sugar, 1/4 tsp. salt, 1 tsp. grated lemon rind in saucepan. Measure cherry juice and add enough water to make 2 c. Add to cornstarch. Simmer 1/4 c. water and 1 tbs. whole coriander seed together 5 minutes; strain, adding liquid to cherry juice mixture. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Remove from heat, add cherries. Serve warm over slices of ham loaf.

Note: Sauce is also excellent over ice cream and puddings.

FRENCH-TOASTED HAM SANDWICHES

Preparation time: 30 min.
Baking time: 20-25 min.

- 1/8 tsp. ground cloves
- 1 tbs. minced onion
- 1/4 c. lemon juice or vinegar
- 1/2 c. salad oil
- 1 tbs. cornstarch
- 2 tbs. sugar

• Put ham cubes, mushroom caps, pineapple chunks, and green pepper on 4 metal skewers. Place in shallow baking dish. Combine curry, salt, cloves, onion, lemon juice and salad oil and pour over kabobs. Let stand about 30 minutes. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) 20-25 minutes basting frequently. Meanwhile combine cornstarch and sugar in saucepan. Then add the pineapple juice plus enough water to make 1 cup; cook and stir until thickened; add marinade drained from baked kabobs. Serve kabobs on hot cooked rice, top with sauce.

YOUR FUTURE IS GREAT IN A GROWING AMERICA

If ever there was a time for optimism—it's now!
Here's what is coming . . .

1. More people . . . Four million babies yearly. U.S. population has doubled in the last 50 years! And our prosperity curve has always followed our population curve.
2. More jobs . . . Though employment in some areas has fallen off, there are 15 million more jobs than in 1939—and there will be 22 million more in 1975 than today.
3. More income . . . Family income after taxes is at an all-time high of $5300—is expected to pass $7000 by 1975.
4. More production . . . U.S. production doubles every 20 years. We will require millions more people to make, sell and distribute our products.
5. More savings . . . Individual savings are at highest level ever—$300 billion—a record amount available for spending.

6. More research . . . $10 billion spent each year will pay off in more jobs, better living, whole new industries.

7. More needs . . . We need $500 billion worth of schools, highways, homes, durable equipment. Meeting these needs will create new opportunities for everyone.

Despite the present business dip, the basic reasons for America's growth are stronger and more sure than ever before. Add them up and you have the makings of another big upswing. Wise planners, builders and buyers will act now to get ready for it.

30 Days and 30 Ways

To Make JUNE A Happy Month

Now begins the season when you and your family take things easier. To help you with the chores necessary for pleasant living this summer, we've made a list of helpful hints. If they lighten your burden for but one day of this lovely month, our job will be a job well done.

JUNE 1. In making a green salad remember the sooner the wooden salad bowl is washed with a sudsy sponge, rinsed and dried, the longer its finish will last. Never allow the bowl to soak in water.

JUNE 2. Before ironing shirts, be sure they are thoroughly dampened, even if you're using a steam iron. "Season" them before pressing them.

JUNE 3. In storing winter things, do NOT seal plastic bags completely. Temperature differences will cause moisture to bead on interior, resulting in rust stains as well as mildew around metal buttons and zippers.

JUNE 4. To be ready for summer showers, have a large piece of heavy plastic to protect the hall floor from wet shoes and their trackings.

JUNE 5. It's cooler in the early morning and late evening now, so do your baking during these hours. Bake extras and store in your freezer. Easy!

JUNE 6. If you must bake during the day, at least get out of the house and let today's clock-controlled oven do your timing for you. Just set the dials and while you're relaxing, the oven turns on and off at the right time.

JUNE 7. If you're lucky enough to have an automatic washer and dryer, make sure the dryer is well-ventilated; you'll cut down humidity in your home.

JUNE 8. Why not make that birthday cake of ice cream? It's so simple with a freezer. Shape it the night before; set freezer at coldest point to set ice cream quickly. After it sets, decorate it as you would a cake.

JUNE 9. Traveling? If you take only wash-and-wear clothing, you'll save time, energy and still be neat!

JUNE 10. Now is the time when a garbage-disposal unit is great for disposing of all those melon rinds and corn cobs.

JUNE 11. Be careful not to overload your washer; one double sheet weighs two pounds.

JUNE 12. To press a veil, use wax paper for a pressing cloth.

JUNE 13. Don't mix delicate and sturdy clothes in a dryer. Remember: things washed together are usually dried together.

JUNE 14. Freshen mussed sheets and pillowcases with dryer on "air" or the lowest setting.

JUNE 15. Sodas and 'shakes are a cinch with an electric blender!

JUNE 16. Using your automatic dryer, dry starched loads separately. Otherwise starch may transfer to untreated clothes.

JUNE 17. To remove stain from your glass coffee maker, fill it with a medium solution of chlorine bleach and hot water. RINSE THOROUGHLY.

JUNE 18. Use a bleach solution to clean the cutting board surface in your kitchen. Again, be sure to RINSE THOROUGHLY.

JUNE 19. Washable summer clothes last longer with an automatic dryer. Clothes won't sun-fade. Colors stay bright.

JUNE 20. Use glass jars to store small sewing items—easy to see!

JUNE 21. Iron shirts dry, including the seams, to prevent puckering and wrinkling.

JUNE 22. Towels and bathing suits wash 'n dry quickly in your automatic washer and dryer.

JUNE 23. Don't be bound to Monday as washday. Do laundry as it gathers so it won't pile up.

JUNE 24. Shiny cake pans and cooky sheets mean even browning and uniform height.

JUNE 25. An anniversary? Seldom used silver stays bright wrapped in saran plastic film.

JUNE 26. Want a carefree weekend? Prepare all meals ahead and store them in your freezer.

JUNE 27. To prevent wrinkles, remove clothes from the dryer when the drying action stops.

JUNE 28. With today's dishwashers and ranges, enjoy having dishes washed for you while tomorrow's dinner is pre-cooking.

JUNE 29. Entertaining outdoors! Keep foods hot with electric serving trays and skillets!

JUNE 30. Relax, you've earned it!

Care of Roses

Pruning roses is no longer the big operation it used to be; it's now generally agreed that only basic principles are important. Basically, we prune roses for two reasons: (1) to keep plants the size we'd like them to be, (2) to get rid of dead stems, weak stems and old, non-productive stems.

In the mild-climate areas of the South and West Coast, where stems are not killed back by winter cold, pruning is mostly a matter of trimming to size and of removing weak and very old, woody stems. It's done in the early spring and in the fall.

Everywhere else in the country, winter cold usually kills back rose stems at least to some extent—sometimes only a quarter of their length or so, sometimes almost to the ground.

In all these areas, spring pruning is essential. Wait until new growth starts—until you see new leaf-growths just beginning to appear on the stems—then prune off the dead part of the stem  $\frac{1}{8}$ " to  $\frac{1}{4}$ " above the highest strong leaf-growth. If a whole stem is dead, cut it flush with the stem from which it grew; also weak, spindly stems.

Late fall pruning in northern areas, after fairly hard freezing has set in and roses have become dormant, is chiefly to reduce their height and so prevent them from being whipped about by winter winds. Simply cut them back to  $1\frac{1}{2}$  to 2 feet.

During the growing season, prune out dead stems whenever you see them, and burn them or put them in the garbage pail.

Deep snow serves as protection against very low temperature and cold, hard wind. In sections where a foot or more of snow all winter is virtually certain, therefore, winter protection is generally unnecessary. But in cold areas where snow is limited and winds are often violent, protection is advisable to prevent excessive kill-back of stems.

Most effective protection is afforded by mounding the soil up around the plants in late fall with a hoe. If the plants are 2' apart, the soil can be mounded up 12" without exposing any roots; if they're closer, 8" to 10" is enough. Usually the stems will not be killed back lower than the mounded-up soil line.

In the spring, level off soil as soon as severe freezing is over.

tasting again—no, Mr. H. didn't fool us for a minute. Had lost interest in cooking, my eye. It was morning, that's all, morning and an ill-considered promise to start cooking for us on morning arrival.

Told that his recipes could not be used before an early summer issue, he considerably chose the selection you see here, together with a perfectly delicious way to broil baby zucchini. However, having just published Dean Bacon's recipe for zucchini last month, we omitted Mr. Heth's. However, if you really want it, it's on page 103 of his book. Some of the advice he gave us, however, is not amiss. Consider the fat, cucumber-size zucchinis usually found in markets as monsters. Pluck them young, says he. Small baby carrots. Small baby beets. Little lettuces. Why must this American passion for bigger and better elephants be extended even into vegetables? And, in the course of the day's conversation, other "hates" we share being gadgets and practically all "labor savers." Bottled garlic, denatured (or is it dehydrated?) horseradish, herbs et cetera. But more than anything, we hate measuring. Not wishing to seem sympathetic with Mr. H's morning grouch, I certainly did not tell him so, but let anybody who cooks our way try to capture this sixth sense that makes the difference between adequate and sublime—just try and measure this by teaspoons and tablespoons (and leveled teaspoon, leveled tablespoon, to add insult to injury). It's enough to make any man disinterested in cooking. Well, almost enough. If I were Mr. H. I'd just put my recipes on records. The words that accompany every recipe are so sensitively written, his neighborly yarns so interesting, he could just leave out measurements and no one, listening, would ever know the difference. However, he has given measurements and he has given us some choice additions for our repertoire. For the life of me, I could not say which I liked best. I adore cucumbers and sour cream in any combination—but in this one, the bits of slivered almonds atop a thin slice of lemon floating like a lily pad on the subtle color of the iced soup put cucumbers and sour cream in another category altogether. The baked omelette was a joy to behold and still a topic of conversation with the two stalwart photographers who remember it with nostalgia. And I'll never set a buffet table again without a Russian salad. Not even its name can spoil it. But here, here, I do have a favorite and what else but the homemade mayonnaise. It's been years and years and years since I've tasted anything like it and by golly the man's right. Adding oil drop by drop, that one must beat it with a silver fork—nonsense, utter nonsense. It all takes less than a minute and that's without a "labor saver" too. If you try nothing else (and you'll be sorry), do try making a batch of this one. You'll wonder why you never—well, so did I!

It's balmy and warm now, and Mr. H's food tastes just as good as it did in Mr. H's kitchen atop his snow clad hill. Well, almost as good.

P.S. As you may have surmised, all has been forgiven. Along about April, Mr. H. wrote "I wish you could come out again now—my passion for cooking has, thank heaven, returned. These days Eggs Benedict for breakfast is a trifle!" Sly dog that he is. Had he left out "for breakfast," I'd have believed him—and returned. THE END

CLEAN PICNIC EQUIPMENT right after use and it will stay clean. Use solution of 1 tablespoon baking soda to quart of water for insulated bag. Use paper toweling for extra-greasy grill.

Block Those Bugs

Information: Aerosol Division, Chemical Specialties Manufacturers Assn.

CRICKET

"... I woke one morning and looked around the wall,
I saw a bunch of bedbugs having a game of ball.
The score was 10 to 20, the roaches were ahead,
I got so excited, I tumbled out of bed..."

That's an old hobo song—and you may laugh a little—but let's face facts. This old world we live in is a progressive one, and we have gone far—and we're going still further.

In this scientific age we're waging a great war on bugs—one that will help us block them fast. Even in the best-kept household, insect pests do occasionally slip in. And when they do, the first thing to do is get rid of them fast. It used to be a slow, tough job with old-fashioned insect killers! But now, thanks to the wonders of modern chemistry and new aerosols, you can help to banish insects quickly. These insecticides in aerosol containers (containers which by pushbutton either disperse insecticides into the air for flying insects or settle on lower areas where crawling insects reside) can be almost as much a maze as the laundry shelf. If we are in the slightest way inclined toward the chemical spheres, we hear of DDT, Chlordane, Lindane, and a host of others... but WHICH PESTS DO THEY ATTACK AND WHICH CHEMICALS SHOULD WE BUY? We'll wager that even your dealer would admit to the maze of new products. We were in a quandary, too, so we set about to find out. We list herewith a group of insects and how to identify them... and some of the aerosols on the market which have just the right chemical to do the lethal job! Insecticides can be bought at most drug, hardware and department stores and at some food markets. So happy hunting!

... just in case you're hunting for termites on next page, let us say right now that they aren't there. Because they do their damage before they are detected, we suggest prevention rather than cure. We recommend that you check to see what can be done before or during construction to avoid infestation of termites later. If you suspect termites, first consult your State Entomologist, or send a specimen of wood to the United States Bureau of Entomology, Washington, D.C. If you have termites, call an exterminator.

SAFETY PRECAUTIONS

- 1 A clean house is the best preventative.
- 2 Be sure to follow directions on the aerosol container (especially when disposing of the can).
- 3 Avoid unnecessary exposure during application.
- 4 Some repellents can be sprayed on humans to help avoid attack by certain insects—but check directions.
- 5 Store where children and pets cannot reach them.
- 6 Do not contaminate food and food utensils.
- 7 Ventilation is important.

The Bug	How to Identify	How to Control	Insecticide Key
Ants	A tiny insect, either red, yellow or black, it is pinched in at the waist—and believe it or not if you look closely, you'll find they have wings. They are busy little bugs—and they move along their way in a most determined manner.	Find the ants' nest, if possible. When the ants are in the house, note the path which they follow either into or through the house. Discover whether the nests are inside or outside the house. Spray the ants' nests and paths with insecticide. Follow directions.	ABCD EFGH IJKL MN
Bed Bugs	An unfed bedbug is brown, about 1/4-inch long and its top has a crinkly look; has no wings; hides during the day, feeds on human blood at night which changes its color to red. Spread by clothing, baggage, old furniture.	Find hiding places and spray them. Bugs leave black or brown spots to mark hide-outs. They are often found around seams and folds of mattresses; cracks and crevices of bedsteads; behind baseboards—anything not air-tight. Follow directions.	ABCD EFGH IJKL MN
Clothes Moths and Carpet Beetles	Fabric pests, they feed on animal fibers. Moth larvae are 1/2" long, hairless, white with dark heads. Moths are yellowish with about 1/2-inch wingspread. Carpet beetle larvae are 1/4-inch long, long-oval shape, have dark bristles giving them a fuzzy look. Beetles are small and mottled with white, yellow, brown or black; also a black species whose larvae have tapered golden or brown bodies with long brown hair.	Both lay their eggs in clothing, upholstering, concealed places. Larvae feed on wool and other animal fibers—that is, clothing and household furnishings. Adults stay in concealed places such as cracks or drawers, although carpet beetles like sunlight. Control is strictly a matter of CLEANLINESS IN EVERY NOOK OF THE HOUSE. Kill insects living in home by surface spraying. Tight cedar chests keep these pests out of your clothes. Use vacuum cleaner attachments often—to remove lint and hair from hard to get at places. Follow directions.	ABCD EFGI JLMN OPQR
Crickets	Not normally household pests—but they do come in. When they do, they chew holes in fabrics. They leap, have long legs, wings.	In house, close all openings and tighten screens. Apply insecticide around baseboards, in closets, cracks or other places where they may hide. Field crickets develop outdoors and feed on vegetation. Enter home late in summer. Follow directions.	DGJL
Fleas	The dog and cat flea are most common and look alike. The human flea is a severe pest in many areas, may live on animals—often on hogs. All fleas require blood of animals or birds to reproduce.	Females of most species lay eggs while they are on animals or birds. The eggs drop to ground, floor, around bedding—and there they hatch. Thus, control of fleas on animals is necessary to prevent infestations in homes. Different insecticides are used for different types of fleas. Follow directions.	BCEF GHIJ NRST UWY
Flies, Gnats, Mosquitoes, Wasps	We all know what they look like. They are a danger and a menace to health of man and animals. They spread disease germs that may be in the materials they breed in, feed on or walk on.	Breed around manure, garbage and fermentation. CLEANLINESS A MUST! If disease germs are in these materials, the insects will spread them. Eliminate breeding places. Cover garbage and empty often. Eliminate all places where water may stand. Use screens and surface sprays. Follow directions but work on prevention.	ABCD EFGH IJKL MNST UVWX Y
Roaches and Waterbugs	A crawling insect with four legs, hard crusty back. From 1/2" to 2" long, can have yellow stripe on wing or two cross bands of yellow on back. Some light brown with two dark stripes; others are all black or brown.	They like damp places and are run-arounds. Even if your home is free of them—always look for stowaways in delivery boxes. They spread from house to house, are attracted by food. Cover garbage and empty often. CLEANLINESS IS IMPORTANT. Use insecticides around cracks in woodwork, baseboards, waterpipes. Follow directions but work on prevention.	ABCD EFGH IJKL MNR
Silverfish	A slender, wingless insect covered with scales. About 1/2" long, they are a shiny pale gray; have two feelers at the head and three long tail-like appendages at hind end. More active at night and hide during day.	They thrive best in damp, cold places, especially basements, near laundries. Their greatest damage is done eating foods and other materials high in protein, starch or sugar. Eat cereals, moist wheat flour, glued or bound paper. Spray insecticide around the baseboards, doors, windows, and pipes. Follow directions.	ABCD EFGH IJKL MNR
Spiders	Several kinds get into the house. You will know you have a spider if you see the webs in corners, on furniture and in other places.	Spiders feed on flies and other insects. (But it's no cure for flies—to have spiders!) They enter homes through screens or around loose fitting windows or doors. Tight screens are necessary. If flies and other insects are kept out, spiders are not encouraged to enter. Breed in trash, piles of lumber, and weeds. Follow directions.	DGHI JKLM R
Ticks	The Brown Dog Tick is most common of home ticks. More apt to infest homes if dogs are present. A hard shield on their back—is marked with a small white dot or two small crescents.	Attach themselves to dogs. May be found in cracks, behind cartons, under furniture, rugs, baseboards or moldings. Heated building reduces survival. May transmit fevers. Surface spray. Follow directions.	STU

LIKE A CHILD, A YOUNG GROWING PUP needs vitamins. Vitamin supplements to a dog's food will help to keep him healthy and reduce the type of shedding that results from diet deficiencies.

HOW TO KEEP A MAN'S BEST FRIEND

Poppa and pooch may be pals, but the job of keeping Fido fit is usually Momma's. The whole affair begins very simply. Junior pipes up to say he wants one, Father agrees, and once the dog has been adopted as a member of the family and needs walking, feeding and bathing, guess who's left holding the leash—Mother!

Of course, life has its compensations. It's nice to have such a friendly companion, and taking care of a dog is not overly difficult. Otherwise, why would almost half the families in America have one or more dogs? And you can make life easier for yourself—and your dog—by following a few helpful hints.

First, appearance. Keeping your house from getting a "hangdog" look is a case of caring for the dog properly—and vice versa—according to the experts. The ideal way to keep a home free of doggy odor is with regular baths. Their frequency depends upon such factors as the kind of coat, where he romps, and how dirty he gets. Generally, after he's three or four months old, any dog should be given a once-a-week tubbing. For the most effective job, a soap or shampoo made especially for dogs is best. Household soaps or detergents may contain ingredients that are too harsh for a dog's skin, which is more sensitive than a human's. Puppies or very old or sick dogs can be kept clean by regular use of one of the convenient waterless cleaners made especially for dogs.

Second, behavior. Consistency is the most important part of training, say the experts. Scold the dog when he does wrong. Don't push him off a chair one time and let him sit there the next because he looks so appealing. Stick to the same word and tone of voice for disapproval. If you use the word "no," it's not a good idea to switch to "don't" occasionally.

Above all, as the housewife, don't be afraid to insist that the dog abide by your rules for keeping the house in order. To insist upon this is not being cruel or unreasonable. A dog will be happier if he knows what he can or cannot do. After all, isn't he really yours?

DISPLAYED AT A PARTY where there's an honored guest, this ceramic Venetian gondola can hold a gift for the honoree in the covered section as well as make an unusual centerpiece. Gondola is 22½" long, in three sections large and deep enough to hold relishes—even small servings of vegetables. Sections can be used separately for casual serving.

To make Gondola Boy, cut a ½" diameter round ball from a colorful kitchen sponge for the head. For the body, insert two 10" pipe cleaners into sponge head, spreading lower portions of cleaners slightly apart for legs. Cut another pipe cleaner in half and twist around top, spreading horizontally to make arms. (See Fig. 1 & 2.) Bend tips of pipe cleaners up slightly for hands and feet. To make clothing, use gummed papers to cut trousers, jacket and sash. Cut two pieces for each garment, moistening and pasting back to back over pipe cleaner figure.

WHEN NOT OCCUPYING a decorative spot in your home, these giraffes can add a whimsical touch to your buffet table set in an attractive "jungle" of flowers and green leaves.

Fingermarks wipe off this G-P Hardwood Paneling! The fine wood is furniture-finished, then given a transparent topcoat that makes it easy to keep lovely as new.

Even crayons can't mar this American Cherry paneling! The new finish looks like hand-rubbed wax, yet lipstick, alcohol, most common stains can't penetrate its tough topcoat.

Bathroom steam can't damage this finish! Protected on both face and back, new G-P paneling adds practical beauty to bath, powder, laundry rooms. Here in Greymist Ash.

Exclusive G-P "Clip-on" method* makes installation easy. Package includes furring strips, clips, random-width panels for a 12' x 8' wall. Or buy 4' x 8' panels for regular nailing.

1740—25¢ Elementary crochet stitch interwoven with a colorful design of silver-flecked stripes.

1742—25¢ For a bolder look, try a simple crochet stitch interwoven with bright heavy rug yarn.

1743—25¢ Here's a combination with a dainty lacy look; ordinary ric-rac alternated with stripes of simple crochet.

1741—25¢ For a formal setting, an easy solid crocheted mat bordered with pale color and sprinkled with silver.

Whether you have a heavy schedule of dinner guests or Junior's addicted to spilling his milk, traffic can be hard on table linens. Yes, you say, not only do you have to think about the upkeep, but they're so expensive! Nonsense! They needn't be. That's why American HOME's pattern department was born—to show you how to elude the confinements of a budget and MAKE the things you want. You have no time for handwork? We've solved that, too, by dreaming up some nimble-quick ideas you can produce in a few hours—Everything from the place mats and tablecloths to the bathroom towels and curtains work up quickly. Most of the materials can be bought in dime stores; huck toweling (by the yard) is sold in department stores. Designs are readily adaptable.

The little "Courting Mirror" is an extra added attraction, made of plywood, narrow strips of half-round molding, and a square of mirror. To dress it up, decorate the frame with painted flowers (included in the pattern).

1747—25¢ WHY NOT TURN HUCK TOWELING into café curtains for the bath? Nothing could be easier to wash and iron, and Swedish weaving on both curtains and towels will create a handsome matching set. "Courting Mirror" to build and paint: pattern 1647—50¢

Be Nimble...Be Quick

CUT IT OUT

HERE'S A QUICK WAY TO DECORATE those everyday linens that will be fun for the children to try, too. Assemble several packages of iron-on tape in assorted colors and widths. Using the patterns here, cut out designs from the colorful tapes, press on cloth with an iron, and that's all there is to it. Try 1745—25¢ for the Heap Big Injun pattern; for the pretty Pennsylvania Dutch motifs, see pattern 1744—25¢. Use on hand-washable linens, such as tablecloths, towels and curtains.

NEED A FENCE?

BOUNDARIES

The split-rail fence today is popular everywhere as a property-line demarcation, as a polite deterrent to trespassers, and as a "finishing touch" to a fairly good-size lot in a community of contemporary homes. Sometimes a lower two-rail fence may be more desirable than a three-rail.

See "Where Credit Is Due," page 82

Chances are you can use a fence—high or low, solid or open, delicate looking or stalwart—perhaps for the job it'll do, perhaps for its looks, but more likely for serving both these purposes at once.

Since fences have come into widespread use again, designers have created patterns for every use and every taste. Lumber companies and garden supply stores handle wide selections, and there are even specialists in fences and fence materials that sell nothing else. So whatever kind of home and garden you have, and whether you need hundreds of feet of fence or only a small piece for a very special purpose, it's virtually certain you'll find exactly what you want.

When selecting a fence, keep these things in mind: It should be the kind that will serve its purpose adequately and for a reasonable length of time. If it fails to do what it's intended to do, you'll have wasted your money. Second, it should look appropriate. If it's too rugged or ponderous, or too flimsy or skimpy, it'll detract from rather than add to the appearance of your place. Third, it should be "polite"—in reasonable conformity to the ways and feelings of the community.

DECORATIVE USES

Almost any fence can be used decoratively, but where appearance is the chief consideration it's usually best to choose a pattern that's attractive in itself and is appropriate both to your own home and property and to the rest of the neighborhood. The white-painted post-and-board fence at left was such a choice. Where circumstances demand a strictly utilitarian fence, attractiveness can be obtained by the use of plants. Covered with roses, wistaria, pyracantha or other suitable vines—or spotted with appropriate shrubs—any fence is decorative.

PRIVACY

Outdoor living puts major emphasis on fences for privacy—oftentimes short sections of closed fencing used as screens. And there's no end to the variety of materials, styles and heights to choose from, whether you want something prefabricated or intend to build it yourself.

PLANT SUPPORTS

Fences have always been used for supporting plants—sometimes, indeed, for no other apparent reason. Today's attractive designs and their skillful use in the garden offer countless opportunities to get wonderfully different effects from vines and espaliers. In this California garden, star jasmines are planted against a fence made by alternating 2-by-2's and 1-by-1's, nailed to horizontal 2-by-4's. The fence also serves as a partial screen.

SAFETY

The safety of children is reason enough for considering a fence—especially where traffic, a lake or stream, industrial operations or other hazards are a little too close for comfort.

Sometimes it's desirable to fence in the entire property, sometimes only the area that has been given over to the youngsters for play. In either case, choose a functional fence and a sturdy one—and, even so, see that the reasons for it are thoroughly understood and respected!

How to select a paintbrush

A good brush performs better...
wears longer... saves you money

Check these points when buying your next paintbrush. First, look for a full stock of bristles in a firm, strong setting (1). Avoid brushes with loose bristles.

Then inspect the individual bristles closely (2). They should be finely tapered, with slightly curled tips.

Look again and be certain a generous portion (at least 10 to 20 per cent) of the bristles have tips which are split or "flagged" (3). Your final assurance of a brush which will give the best painting performance is bristles of varying lengths (4), but with a high proportion of longer lengths.

If the brush you look at passes all these tests, it will have a greater working and paint-holding capacity and eliminate excessive dipping. It will (5) release any type finish smoothly and evenly on any surface. The result will be a professional-looking paint job.

One short cut to selecting a good brush is to look for the black and yellow tag, signifying a brush with TYNEX nylon bristles (6). Properly made paintbrushes with tapered bristles of improved Du Pont TYNEX nylon give you better painting performance. They pick up a full paint load at every dip and give velvet-smooth paint-out. With proper care, brushes with durable bristles of TYNEX clean easily...rinse thoroughly...are quickly ready for another job.

FREE—An illustrated booklet prepared by Du Pont painting experts on "How to Choose and Use a Paintbrush." Tells how to paint walls, ceilings, trim, furniture, radiators and do other special jobs. Gives tips on the correct painting stroke, how to hold a paintbrush, how master painters dip their brushes, how they clean them. Gives five helpful pointers on common mistakes in painting. Tells what kind of paintbrush to use for each painting job. To get this valuable booklet, just send your name and address to E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. If you wish air mail delivery, kindly add 15¢ per pattern to cover cost of postage.

These patterns are shown on page 78:

1740—25¢. Crocheted place mat of simple white and colored chain crochet with added woven stripes of color flecked with silver.

1741—25¢. Solid crochet for a formal place mat with mitered corners and neat silver-sprinkled border.

1742—25¢. Country-style place mat of plain pearl cotton chain crochet woven through with heavy rug yarn for rough texture.

1743—25¢. This place mat vies with delicate lace, but is quick as a breeze to do. Alternate stripes of plain chain stitch and ric rac braid.

1632—50¢. A set of beautiful floral initials to iron on fabric for textile painting or embroidery.

These patterns are shown on page 79:

1745—25¢. Heap big Indian motifs will make meal time much more interesting to your Junior cowboys and girls. These designs are cut out of iron-on tape which is washable.

1744—25¢. Penna. Dutch designs have always been appealing and these are especially bright designs that are quick and easy to cut out of iron-on tape for a washable tablecloth.

1747—25¢. Smart sophistication in these Swedish weaving designs for towels and café curtains are quick and easy to do. Perfect summer pick-up.

These patterns are not shown in this issue:

11—30¢. Do you have some old tin trays that would be perfect for serving IF they only had attractive designs painted on them? Try either or both of the two beautiful motifs in this pattern. One is a fruit grouping, the other a floral.

785—25¢. For real summer pleasure paint that plain old glass pitcher and tumblers with gay flowers like the ones in this pattern; wild roses, daisies, cornflowers and bright black-eyed susans.

1100—25¢. This pattern gives you the easiest simplest decoupage instructions for trays, furniture and decorative accessories.

1417—25¢. Nice summer pick-up work and lots of fun to do—a pair of designs to paint on plates; two of the lovely Chinese "Four Seasons" motifs, Winter and Autumn, Hawthorne blossoms, tiny birds and shaggy Chrysanthemums.

1418—25¢. Companion pair to above,
Spring and Summer motifs of peonies, lotus and tiny birds.

1479—35¢. Cool blue and white Meissen designs to paint on small decorative items like spice boxes, trays, china doorknobs and little buckets.

1590—50¢. Make Sis a bedspread that will encourage her to keep her bed neat.
Made-up bed has a big Raggedy
Ann-type doll as part of the spread!
Easy to make and keep nice.

1591—40¢. Just to show that we think of little brother too, here is a pattern for a laundry bag. It is a plywood figure of a small boy dressed in real blue jeans; the jeans are really the bag!

1647—50¢. Make a little "Courting Mirror" for someone you love. This home workshop pattern has full instructions for building the frame and painting the rose floral designs.

1673—85¢. Have you a little Kangaroo in your home? This funny tall figure holds a mirror just high enough for a small boy or girl with a shelf just below for a comb and brush.
There is a big laundry bag pouch and a place for shoes. Will teach neatness and good grooming.

1676—50¢. Swedish weaving on towels is fun and very easy to do. This pattern includes four different designs.

1680—85¢. Another idea for children. This is a painting pattern of a grow-up measure to paint on a door or a mirror. It tells the story of Jack and the Beanstalk very cleverly.

1685—35¢. Step-by-step picture pattern for a slipcover for a reclining chair.
Cover fits like a glove, doesn't interfere with movement of chair.

1691—$1. Transfer pattern for a complete set of "Daisy Fresh" initials. These are very beautiful appliqué and simple daisy-like embroidery sprays.
Large size approximately 5 in.

1698—$1. Pattern for cool summery organdy café curtains with pique lattice frame for around window.

2005, 2006, 2007—50¢ each. If you want to build the most wonderfully imaginative playground for your children, these patterns are for you.
The first one is a Lion swing, the second a Tiger slide and the third a wonderful Clown see-saw.

2121—50¢. If you have reached the point where you have to have a place to keep your tools and you have NO space, this pattern for a folding workbench is for you. Holds an amazing amount of tools, including full size saws, and opens to a good sized working surface. It looks like a small cabinet when closed.

Shrinks Hemorrhoids
New Way
Without Surgery

Science Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain — without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*) — discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name *Preparation H.** Ask for it at all drug counters — money back guarantee.

Relax in cool comfort with WOVEN WOOD PORCH SHADES

Your porch can be a haven of cool comfort during the hot summer months ahead. The grace and beauty of woven wood (in sparkling stained colors) turn your porch into an outdoor "family room" at low, low cost. Wonderful too, for creating modern decorating effects at the windows of your den or playroom. See your VENI-SHADE or AEROLUX Porch Shade dealer today—both fine products of Consolidated General Products, Inc. Made of durable Northern Basswood by American craftsmen—not flimsy, inexpensive foreign materials

"Witness for the Prosecution"

An Arthur
Hornblow
Production

Charles Laughton, playing a lead part as the attorney for the defense, skims up and down the stairs on an Inclinator. You can have the comfort of an INCLIN-ATOR in your home. It will save you and your family from the unnecessary strain of climbing stairs dozens of times a day. Many smart people install an INCLIN-ATOR without waiting for the doctor to tell them to "take it easy."

We also build "Elevette" for those who prefer a vertical home elevator.

said good-bye to the bride who was once your little girl, and to that handsome boy who is now your son. The youngsters are on their own: and so, after twenty-odd years, are you! Now is the time to think of yourselves—your pleasures, your security, your eventual retirement. A good time to start putting part of your savings away in safe, sure, United States Savings Bonds. Where nothing can touch your principal. And where your money earns 3 1/4% when bonds are held to maturity. Series E Bonds grow in value, year by year—and Series H Bonds pay you interest twice a year. Whichever you choose, start your bond program today! When financial independence counts, count on U. S. Savings Bonds!

OLD-FASHIONED SINK AREA had a clumsy divider between dining and cooking area; in the new plan the wall was removed, refrigerator changed to the window wall position to make room for new appliances. More adequate counter space was gained. Mrs. Harmon now has an efficient kitchen to work in.

We first introduced you to the Tommy Harmons in December '51, when we showed you their All-American family home—pretty as a picture and glowing with color. Proud they were of it, too! But, as time passed, with growing children and heartier appetites, they felt they needed a new home: they had simply outgrown their kitchen. But after much investigation, they concluded their old home had all the advantages they were looking for—except in the kitchen. So they remodeled it, and here's what they did!

why sweater THIS SUMMER

Here, now, is whole-house air conditioning as you've always wanted it—draft-free, quiet, clean, thrifty—in a unique new system that can be individualized you live, however you live, whatever kind of house you live in (not just a room or two, but in every room!)

IT'S THE COMBINATION of comfort elements—for cooling, air handling, heating—that adds up to perfect air conditioning. And only your engineer-trained Lennox Comfort Craftsman can set up the one right combination for your climate, your home, your personal comfort needs. For only the Landmark, by Lennox, comes in completely separate "blocks of comfort"—so he can pick this cooling unit, that heating unit, this other air handling unit (out of dozens available) . . . to assemble the perfect combination for you!

NO COMBINATION OF WINDOW UNITS, no other air conditioning system approaches such selectivity, such freedom from the age-old "comfort-compromise" of under-cooling/over-heating or over-cooling/under-heating. No other offers such better-living advantages c's:

NO DRAFTS, NO NOISES. Landmark air travels in gentle slow motion, through properly proportioned ducts and registers. The big, two-speed Landmark blower is live-rubber-mounted, sound conditioned.

DUST IS OUT, POLLEN COUNT DOWN — trapped by the Lennox Hammock Filter. Less housework! Lower cleaning costs! Blessed comfort 24 hours a day!

LOWER OPERATING COSTS, with precision sizing made possible by the Landmark, expert installation by your Lennox Comfort Craftsman. Less electricity! Less fuel!

IT WILL BE HOT THIS SUMMER! So set yourself up now for cool, healthful, happy summer living. Call your Lennox Comfort Craftsman — now, when he can serve you best. (Find his name in the Yellow Pages, or write.) Ask about a FREE AIR CONDITIONING SURVEY; and about installing Landmark whole-house cooling now, heating later. (Lennox offers more than 100 ways to air condition your home—shops, offices too.)

Buy that new home now — and be sure there's a Lennox in it!

WHAT IS SO RARE as a day in June? A steak (or chops, or spareribs!) turned at just the right moment. These so-handy barbecue tongs will solve the problem—they're 14" long, of satin black cast iron. They'll be just as useful for putting charcoal briquettes in position. $1.80. Kings Forge, 580-A3 Hathaway Road, New Bedford, Mass.

A GUEST IN THE HOUSE is almost always a guest in the kitchen, it seems. So this gay red and white steel napkin holder would be an appropriate remembrance for a favorite hostess, since it bears the legend "No matter where I serve my guests . . . it seems they like my kitchen best." It's $1.25 from George International, Box 596-AH, Virginia Beach, Virginia.

FLOWER POT LUCK. Your house will blossom out into its summer finery when you hang Horseshoe Flower Pot Holders outside the door or in the breezeway filled with gay plants. 17x13" wide, three leaves are made from horseshoes and a ponyshoe beneath takes a 4" flower pot. Dull black. $3.85 ea. $7.50 a pr. Horseshoe Forge, 2 Muzzey St., Lexington 73, Mass.

SHAKE IT UP in this decanter. Milkshakes, juice, iced tea and coffee all respond to the treatment. Your concoctions will look so refreshing in it, with its fresh, woodsy pine design and brass stopper marked as an extra measure. Jar holds one qt. liquid, has measuring marks for accurate mixing. $2.00 from Buyways, Box 469-AH, Caldwell, New Jersey.

OVER THE BRIDGE and far away the luckiest elephants we've seen (all upturned trunks), this herd of five ranging in size from poppa to little baby look carved out of one tusk of pure ivory, but of course it's only fake. On a black carved base, put them on a window sill, or the TV set. 7½" long. $2.95. Carol Beatty, 544 Beatty Bldg., Hollywood 46, Calif.

GET RID OF YOUR WRINKLES on the run with this wonderful Folding Ironing Board. Fits right into your suitcase because it measures 11x18" when closed. Opened it is 11x35". Just the thing for small apartments and the college crowd! Made of wood with thick padding and a muslin cover. $3.95 ppd. From Ditson Manufacturing Co., Dept. AH, Box 8556, Dallas, Tex.

THE POINT OF NO RETURN comes when you've just turned on to the turnpike, your smallest passenger begins to wriggle, and there's no service area for sixty miles. Here's a neat solution—travel with the Gotta-Go. Its disposable plastic insides are smartly disguised by the red candy-striped exterior box. $2.89 from Hanover Associates, Box 104-AH, West Orange, N. J.

KEEPER OF THE CHEESE is made of wood and Swedish glass, with a knife rack at the side for convenience (knife not included). 6½" by 10" by 8½", it's a serving piece that will look just as well on the table as in the pantry. It's worthwhile flavor insurance at $5.95, plus 65¢ postage. The Vermont Crossroads Store, Box 562-AH, Montpelier, Vermont.

A-TISKIT, A-TASKET, we've found a barbecue basket that works on a rotisserie or an outdoor grill. Its self-basting, tumble action gives a crisp, even brown to chops, chicken, spareribs. Triple-plated steel wire basket holds 6-8 lbs. of cut-up meat. $5.98 plus 50¢ postage. Merrill Ann Creations, 3601-AH Kingsbridge Avenue, New York 63, New York.

KING EDWARD'S SHIELD adds a real regal touch hung in a man's den, a recreation room or over the fireplace. This historic shield was designed by the revived gallant order of Knights of the Round Table in the 14th century. Approximately 14x19" of cast aluminum finished in antique silver, or bronze. $14.95. D. Corrado, Dept. AH, 26 North Clark St., Chicago 2, Ill.

THE GANG'S ALL THERE, so perk up and make coffee in a big 15-cup Automatic Coffeemaker with Westinghouse thermostat. Markings for water and coffee make measuring simple; you dial strength you want. Light signals it's ready. Aluminum. $12.95; Chrome. $14.95; Copper $15.95. Add 50¢ handling. Scott Mitchell, CM-64, 611 Broadway, N.Y.C. 12.

Ann Takes Over

My daddy's company makes wallpaper. It's called E-Z-DU. He is away working and can't write the add this month, I'm helping him. My name is Ann and I'm nine years old. I don't spell so good but I can spell E-Z-DU. It's on the walls in my room. It looks lushious just like ice cream and I like ice cream.

I helped daddy hang E-Z-DU. It was easy. We used water and a spunj. The lady next door (she's nice) is hanging E-Z-DU on her walls to. I showed her how to hang it. Tommy, he's my brother, wanted to help but he's to littl. He's four.

Daddy says he wishes everyone would try E-Z-DU*. He says if I can hang it anyone can. My daddy is very smart. You buy E-Z-DU at the store wear you live. It's made by a nice company (Imperial). When I can spell better, daddy says I can write all the adds. But I don't know. I think I'll grow up and live in a big house with lots of E-Z-DU wallpaper. Won't that be pretty?

Floor is Armstrong Embossed Inlaid Linoleum, No. 5310

all flagstone's virtues—and something extra, too

No, it's not flagstone. It's one of the exciting designs in Armstrong Linoleum. As you can see, this floor has all the natural beauty of flagstone. It even has gently embossed mortar lines—an exclusive Armstrong feature which gives it a realistic three-dimensional effect. To the good looks of flagstone, this floor adds the famous easy-care virtues of Armstrong Linoleum. There are no dirt-catching cracks. This whole dining-room floor has only two seams, and they're so tightly joined that not a speck of dust can hide between. Spilled things, even grease, won't stain Armstrong Linoleum. You just whisk them away with a damp mop. And because handsome designs like this one are built in, your dealer can put down this floor much faster than a custom design in tile. This is important to remember, because the less time it takes to install a floor, the less money you spend. This modern, fashionable floor offers you so many lovely styles and colors to choose from. Just think which rooms in your house would gain new beauty and practicality from a floor of Armstrong Linoleum.

SEND 25¢ FOR "SUCCESSFUL DECORATING," 32 pages full of ideas in color for every room. Description of this "Flagstone Dining Room," with list of furnishings, available free. Write Armstrong Cork Company, 5806 Pine Street, Lancaster, Pennsylvania.
