This is the best toaster you can buy.

Even if it only toasted bread.

No, we’re not putting you on. It’s true. Our toaster does more than anybody else’s. That’s because it’s an oven, too.

We call it Toast-R-Oven®. It bakes potatoes, makes a mini-meat loaf, pops popovers, top browns cheese sandwiches. Does hors d’oeuvres, biscuits, croissants, muffins.

Even if it only toasted bread, this Toast-R-Oven still would be great. It takes on almost any shape or size bread. Even thinks for you. Opens its door when the toast is done.

Gingerbread and peppermint, cinnamon and chocolate, the rich aromas of Christmas have filled our halls, wafting from our kitchens, all month long. How those marvelous fragrances evoke Christmases past, the times when Christmas decorations, Christmas presents, Christmas foods were more often made than bought. Remember the joys of making and giving, the special warmth of receiving a present made especially for you? Wouldn't you rather have a box of Apricot-Coconut Balls homemade by the children next door (see page 62) than a box of drugstore chocolates?

It is in this spirit that we prepared this issue. Not only is it full of a rich abundance of foods to make, to give or to serve for your holiday entertaining, but of decorations for the house, the yard, for your packaging; of toys and a crèche, of lights and candles, of trees and flowers. Starting with the Popcorn-Ball Tree on our cover, there is a project to challenge you on almost every page. Some are child’s play, and others will bring out the latent craftsman in us all. The special, 8-page bonus insert that begins on page 43 shows how. We hope that your family gets as much pleasure out of the making as we did.

And by the way, as you get out the hammer and saw, the needle, the glue or the scissors, you’ll be in good company. Everybody is doing it. One of the most reassuring signs we find in America is the reawakening of the crafting spirit that was once so native to us, but got stored on a shelf during the super-consuming 60’s. Craft shops, craft fairs and craft courses have proliferated to an amazing degree around the country. Right here at AH we have a most tangible example: This year you have ordered twice as many of our famous needlework kits as you did last year. As one of you writes: “Making something is wonderful therapy—more soothing and much cheaper than psychiatry.” So do yourself, and those on your VIP list, a favor—give something you have made, and have a Merry Christmas.
Free decorator door panels when you buy a new Amana decorator refrigerator-freezer.

We'll give you your choice of over 329 designs and wood grains. And if you're too busy to design on a decorating scheme between now and Christmas, start enjoying the refrigerator now, and pick up the panels any time during the next six months.

Your new Amana has a lot of exclusive designs inside, as well. Like an automatic icemaker that you can add now, or years from now, because Amana makes the only one that's easy to install in your home.

And so the milk isn't frozen just because the ice cream is, Amana gives you two temperature controls. One for the freezer, one for the refrigerator. Setting one won't affect the other.

There's a new fresh fruit bin that you can convert to a slide-out shelf.

There's also a "little refrigerator within the big refrigerator," especially for fresh meat, with its own temperature control. Keeps meat 8 to 10 degrees colder, so it stays fresh twice as long as an ordinary meat keeper.

All this plus adjustable cantilevered shelves on recessed tracks in the refrigerator, that go wherever you want them.

Of course there are some things you wouldn't want to change. The handsome built-in look of our design. Even the biggest side-by-side (25.5 cu. ft.) is only 35½" wide. And freezer-at-the-top models, only 32" wide.

All of this plus Free O'Frost... no defrosting ever in refrigerator or freezer.

Hurry to see your participating
Amana dealer. Offer expires December
24, 1970. So get busy now with Amana's designs for your kitchen.

Ann Anderson (left) prepares a holiday-gift batch of sweet and garlicky pickles—her seasonal specialty. Another of her hobbies: pressing and drying wild flowers for use in her home.

Ann and Pat Anderson felt unavoidably drawn and quartered by the urban scene. Life in Washington, D.C., left them with little involvement in community affairs. To get a tree planted in the park, according to Ann, practically required an act of Congress. So a year and a half ago, when the Andersons, both professional writers, found themselves longing for "a lifestyle with a different beat," they took a Sunday drive and wound up in Waterford, Va., a hideaway village in the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains, and "a place," they say, "like no place else. It was like walking back into a forgotten time."

Only 45 miles from Washington's city sprawl, Waterford was settled in 1732 by Quakers. It flourished in the 18th and 19th centuries, then slowly went to seed until some 30 years ago when history buffs moved in, armed with hammer and brush, and restored it to its full Colonial bloom. "Visitors claim Waterford looks like a movie set," says Ann, "and I guess it does." Indeed, if it weren't for the car-poolers shuttling to and from Washington each day, you'd start looking around for Betsy Ross. Yet Waterford is a uniquely all-together town in which community interests cut across age and economic lines. "Even at small dinner parties," adds Ann, "people of all sorts come together."

The Andersons bought a Federalist house (circa 1813) shaded by a pair of titanic chestnut trees. They painted and papered on their own, blanketing the study in wide-awake red. Here Pat wrote his most recent novel, The Approach to Kings. (He wrote an earlier work, The Presidents' Men, while the Andersons lived near Washington's Capitol Hill.) Ann, besides tending 3-year-old Laura, commutes three days a week to Washington as writer-consultant to the decennial White House Conference on Children and Youth. The rest of the week she's likely to be found in the kitchen steeped in brine—with pickles, that is, a preserving art she learned in Tennessee, where the Andersons met and married during their cub-reporter days in Nashville. Over the years, she has brined and jarred her pickles as Christmas gifts. Last season she was asked to test her talents before the Waterford Historical Society. She passed muster, and her pickles now line the shelves of the Society's gift shop and the Waterford Foundation's Corner Store, an operation whose proceeds are used for the restoration and preservation of the village.

"Waterford," says Pat (below, with Laura and Ann), "is a place where the barber still cuts everybody's hair on Friday night. I like that." Laura, a little charmer in calico, likes life in Waterford, too.

Pat and Ann have taken to Waterford ways as easily as pioneers to their buckskin breeches. They recently held an open house for some 2,000 tourists attending the town fair. They've also planted a garden and bought a pony. Not a bad beginning for city folks.

Different people like Lark for different reasons.

For instance, the Captain (1), Nina (3) and Tony (8) like Lark because they know that most of cigarette smoke is gas. That certain of these gases are harsh tasting. And that Lark's Gas-Trap filter does a better job of reducing these gases than any Other Popular Brand on the scene.

On the other hand, Kay (15), and Bob (14), like us because, to clean smoke, our Gas-Trap filter is made from the same kind of charcoal that space capsules use to clean air.

Barbara's reason is that she thinks our filter looks cute (6).

The Gas-less Society: All in all, they have only one thing in common—an uncommon cigarette.

If you like the taste of gas you'll hate the taste of Lark.
Baby Jason, spurred on by Mom, brother Dana and sister Allison, makes the big slide down the ramp of the supergraphic Playhouse. Instructions to make the Playhouse, a Stits creation, are on page 45.

Darla and Joe Stits are crazy for kids. But seemingly unable to have any of their own, they decided to adopt. Since in Los Angeles, as in most big cities, there are lots of racially mixed children awaiting adoption, the Stitses sought out a local agency that places children of all heritages. "We just wanted kids," says Joe, "whatever color." They brought home Dana, now 7, and two years later, Allison, now 5. Then a year and a half ago, to the family's delight, Darla gave birth to Jason. "Both Dana and Allison have been informed of their adoption and racial background," says Darla, "because we feel that identity is so important to a child's development. But it would be wrong for us to overemphasize racial factors. We have a strong sense of family unity."

Dana was still a tot when the Stitses realized that the jazziest toys ran long on price while others fell short on fun. Toy manufacturers didn't seem to take a child's point of view. So Darla and Joe, who teaches high-school history and crafts, took to turning out playthings on their own, and now they are making their designs to be sold in stores around the Los Angeles area. "Darla comes up with the original design and I try to make it work," says Joe. He stays away from overworked plastics in favor of bang-and-clink wood. The Playhouse (above, and shown in how-to detail on page 45), made from two sheets of plywood, is a child's delight of peekaboo windows, slither-through holes and a slide ramp. "Our only formula is 'Make sure it's fun,'" Joe explains. "Toys should be brightly colored to grab a child's eye. Adults have learned not to touch, to hold back and hesitate. But I never met a child who didn't march up to a fun-looking thing and dig in playing." For Darla and Joe, who also make puppets, crib toys, puzzles and plywood castles, it's all part of a day's play.
Fresh ground hamburger. It's hard to beat. But Ken-L Ration Burger has more protein than hamburger. More balanced nourishment for your dog. And a lot less fat. Ken-L Ration Burger costs less than hamburger, too. Even less than many canned dog foods. Do dogs like Ken-L Ration Burger better than hamburger? We can't prove it. Because they won't stop eating long enough to give us an answer.
Now, for every woman: the second deodorant you may need whether you know it or not.

Norforms, the internal deodorant, stop feminine odor where it starts.

Sure, your underarm deodorant protects you. Under your arms. But what about an even more serious odor problem—internal feminine odor? For that you need Norforms, the second deodorant™.

It's every woman's worry...

Germs inside you every day cause internal odor—an odor different from the one on the outer vaginal area. So even regular bathing or feminine sprays won't solve the problem. They can't get inside to give protection internally where this problem starts. And many doctors say you shouldn't douche daily.

Is there any solution?

Yes. Norforms...the internal deodorant. Just insert! These tiny suppositories spread an antiseptic germ-killing film to stop odor internally where it starts. And they're so safe, you can use Norforms as often as necessary to feel fresh and secure.

Make your second deodorant, Norforms, the internal deodorant.

BEAUTY AND THE BATH

Little personal luxuries that make holiday giving easy.

There's not a feminine creature on your list—from your teen-age niece to your mother-in-law to your most fashionable friend—who won't enjoy getting something luxurious for the bath this Christmas.

Bath salts, lotions, powders and soaps, like those shown above, make sure-to-please Christmas gifts. (And what nicer way to display them than on a Lucite two-tier shelf and pedestal soap dish from New York's Lucidity, Inc.)

The price range is so wide that you can splurge or stay well within your budget. And the shopping is convenient. You can easily order by telephone or by mail without bucking the holiday crowds.

Most bath products begin with a fragrance and then proliferate from there into a dazzling variety of forms—salts, gels, lotions, dusting powders, spray-on liquid powders, soaps, milk baths, mineral baths, liquid soaps, shower products, bath oils and, of course, cologne, toilet water, perfume and solid perfume.

For Christmas gifts, nearly all of these are packaged in combinations of two, three, four or more—up to and including the luxurious entire collection in one fragrance. But because these combinations in their infinite variety are impossible to list in anything smaller than a directory, those we've selected are mostly single products. However, every product we cover comes in other forms, in combinations and at varying prices. If you like a particular fragrance that we mention in a bath oil, but you prefer to give bath salts, just ask for the salts.

For starters, what about Estée Lauder's Azurec Perfumed Bath Crystals in an impressive green-glass apothecary jar ($10), which she'll treasure long after the crystals are used? Or a giant 32-ounce version of the same jar ($20) filled with European Mineral Bath Salts?

Charles of the Ritz's haunting Ritual fragrance comes in a Dry Milk Bath which is poured into a golden shaker camister (like the ones used for powdered sugar) and sprinkled into the tub. Wrapped in a pink-and-red paisley print and tied with a plush orange ribbon, it sells for $7.50.

For very modern, world-of-the-future types on your list, Fabergé's Xanadu is the obvious choice. Xanadu Shampeau Liquid Lather is a liquid body soap in a see-through Cantini that looks like a little oil can. The Shampeau, in tandem with a huge, round bowling-ball sponge with two holes for gripping and a third for (continued on page 20)

ALL ABOUT DECORATING By Vera D. Hahn

DO NOT OPEN... EVEN AT CHRISTMAS

Pretty gift boxes add so much to the festive scene that it almost seems a pity to unwrap them on Christmas. Have you ever thought about purely decorative packages, containing nothing and designed never to be opened? They're easy to make and can be used, as here, in many ways—hung as tree ornaments, piled atop one another for a stylized tree or assembled into a wreath. Directions for the gift-box tree and wreath are on page 48, where you'll also find how to's for the Evergreen Cone Tree, a bigger project but well worth the time.

Even though you are the greatest matchmaker of them all from January through November, chances are you'll wish all your friends were single come Christmas-shopping time. That's because it is so much easier to buy a gift for Him or for Her than it is to find something appropriate for Them.

It is the couple-to-couple or family-to-family present that's apt to be the real problem on your Christmas list. Ideally, you want a gift that will please both husband and wife, one that they can share and that will give them equal enjoyment. So forget that handsome, massive bronze desk set that's only for Him or the adorable, ruffled eyelet embroidery pillow destined for Her. Instead, consider the following suggestions for presents from both of you to both of them.

HOUSE GIFTS

House gifts are among the best ideas. However, they do require imagination, observation and knowledge of the couple's tastes and habits. All this means, of course, is that you've spent more than money, making the well-chosen house gift doubly welcome.

The more glamorous among the small electric appliances immediately come to mind. An electric ice-crusher or ice-maker will work for both him and her. So will a warming tray or a serving cart with a built-in warming tray. A second blender for the bar or country house—or one that cooks as well as blends—might be suitable. For your coffee-drinking friends, attractive insulated pitchers will keep a brew hot for eight hours or more without ruining the flavor.

Mini-refrigerators in furniture style are perfect for a den, family room or second home and they also make great night tables.

For gregarious types who throw large parties, super-size electrical appliances, like a multi-cup coffee urn, make a lot of sense. So do extra-large serving platters (most practical in plain, go-with-everything white). Another boon to partying are clear plastic glasses that come in all shapes and sizes, from sherry to champagne, and are usually wrapped by the dozen so that all you have to add is a bright bow or card.

More formal party-givers are probably table-linen collectors. It might be a good idea to find out if they prefer mats or cloths, also the size of their table and the style, color and design of their party china. Candlesticks or candelabra, again to match the dining-room decor, are ever welcome to couples who frequently play host, especially in this gala holiday season.

FOR HOBBYISTS

Hobbies make giving easy. Enologists (wine lovers) are always interested in glasses. Special types, such as the "balloon" for Burgundy sniffing and sipping or the delicate Rhine wine glass are highly appreciated. So are antique or reproduction taste-vins, those shallow wine-tasting cups with round handles, or wine-bottle coasters. And don’t forget that many Southerners still like to drink their wine out of footed silver goblets. A wine rack is a foolproof present for any couple.
interested in wine. Also, an addition to the wine library is always a pleasant gift surprise.

Other hobbyists easily pleased at Christmas are book lovers with a well-stocked home library. Consider yourself lucky if you number some of this happy breed among your friends, for library steps and ladders make excellent gifts, especially those wonderful elephant-mounting ladders that look like a fat piece of bamboo until they are unfolded.

If exercise via home workouts is your friends' hobby, look into exercise equipment. There's a raft of body-building gadgets available at modest cost.

Are there any football addicts in your crowd? If so, they can always use lap robes and waterproof cushions for the big weekend games. And campers will appreciate a king-sized sleeping bag with its own air mattress. Or how about a good pair of binoculars? They'll get plenty of use by bird-watching enthusiasts or any couple who enjoy the outdoors together.

At one of those hundreds of Japanese import shops across the country, you can assemble a fitted picnic basket—complete with color-coordinated plates, glasses, mugs, serving dishes, napkins, pitchers, tablecloth and anything else your fancy and wallet dictate. It's fun to put together and far less expensive than the elaborate, pre-fitted picnic hampers on the market.

THE PERSONAL TOUCH

Electrical personal-care items are usually woman-oriented, but this year His and Her hand hair dryers and hot combs are available for the first time. And for the couple on the go, an electric wrinkle-steamer is easier to use than a travel iron. Though cosmetics have developed strong male-female polarities, such popular scents as pine and sandalwood are appropriate for both husband and wife and thoroughly enjoyable as luxurious soaps they might not think of buying for themselves.

BY SPECIAL ORDER

In New York, there is a baby-sitting service that sells gift-subscription booklets. If you don't happen to live in Manhattan, try to make arrangements with a reliable, local sitting service for one to 10 evenings of baby tending. Naturally, these should be scheduled at your friends' convenience.

If they both love fresh flowers, why not work out a similar subscription with your local florist? You pay him a lump sum and he arranges to deliver flowers once a week or once a month for a prescribed period of time. Leave him a list of room color schemes and a general description of the house. State its style and give him some idea of the couple's lifestyle—are they breezy and casual or traditional and formal?

Do your friends have a real working fireplace? If they do, then they might enjoy regular deliveries of logs. This couple-to-couple gift would be particularly treasured by city friends who rarely light their fireplace because logs are such a luxury. Announce your log subscription with a note taped to a box of long fireplace matches.

And if they both work, nothing would please them more than a subscription for several dinners à deux to be delivered to their house by a catering or send-out food service. It's a great way for a favorite couple to enjoy a relaxing evening at home after having a hectic day at the office.
New cookbooks are always a hit at Christmas—both with the family chef and those who savor her culinary accomplishments. The books that follow, a selection of the year’s best, run the gamut of the current scenes: ecological, economic and ethnic.

The Best of Shaker Cooking (Macmillan, $10) by Amy Bess Miller and Persis Fuller gets it all together. The Shakers’ pure and simple approach to the preparation of food is very much to our modern taste. They fought adulteration of food products—a cause that has become very close to us today. But they weren’t health-food cranks; their cooking is delicious and not extravagant and the book makes good reading. The historical background is especially lively.

Even cookbook writers seem to be feeling the money pinch. How to Eat Better for Less Money (Simon and Schuster, $6.95) by James Beard and Sam Aaron is a reasonably priced, sensible guide to food and drink. Beard’s recipes are simple and good and Aaron covers our California wines. Adventures in French Cooking (Macmillan, $9.95) by Myriam Guidroz is an excellent book for family cooking. The recipes are imaginative and not too expensive.

If you want to try ethnic specialties, there’s The Cookbook of the United Nations (Simon and Schuster, $5.95) The U.S. has contributed Mrs. Harry Truman’s Ozark Pudding (“Do not be dismayed when this ‘pudding’ rises high, then falls before time to remove it from the oven. It is supposed to do so.”) There are also such esoteric items as Palaver Stew from Ghana. But the book is valued chiefly for its African recipes (after all, 42 of the 126 member nations of the UN are African).

From Africa to Asia. One of the most attractive books of the season is The Korean Cookbook (Follett, $4.95) by Judy Hyun, a young American married to a Korean. Korean cuisine is comparatively little-known in the U.S., but judging from the recipes Mrs. Hyun gives us, her book should change all that.

The best of the new French cookbooks is in the old extravagant tradition. Written by Richard Olney, an American expatriate from Marathon, Iowa, now living on the Riviera, The French Menu Cookbook (Simon and Schuster, $10) is intensely personal and highly professional. The book is in the form of seasonal menus, and the preparation of each dish is lovingly described.

Michael Field’s new book, All Manner of Food (Knopf, $8.95) spares us no detail, either. The author warns us at the outset that he never takes anything for granted. The essays that introduce each chapter (on garlic, cheese, the lemon, the egg, pasta) are models of erudition, and the recipes are from the world over.

Christmas has a way of making all of us want to bake a cake. The Viennese Pastry Cookbook (Macmillan, $10) by Lilly Joss Reich is a book mainly for cooks who are expert enough bakers to own a springform pan, an essential piece of equipment for Mrs. Reich’s superb Christmas torte. If you want to bake cookies for Christmas gifts, the recipe for Hussar Rounds makes delicious cookies that improve with keeping. For beginners, Our Daily Bread (Funk & Wagnalls, $9.95) by Stella Standard, includes recipes for a German Holiday Cake, an Italian sugar bun and a Norwegian Christmas Bread. Happy cooking!—Frances M. Crawford Colorful confections for tree or table, made quick 'n easy with Kellogg's Rice Krispies.

You start with this famous "Marshmallow Treats" recipe:

1/4 cup regular margarine or butter
6-10 ounces regular marshmallows (about 40) or 4 cups miniature marshmallows
5 cups KELLOGG'S RICE KRISPIES cereal

Melt margarine in 3-quart saucepan. Add marshmallows and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until marshmallows are melted and mixture is very syrupy. Remove from heat. Add Rice Krispies cereal and stir until well-coated. Shape with buttered hands into Clown Pops, Snowmen, Toy Animals, and other "Festive Treats" pictured above. See recipes at right.

CLOWN POPS—Shape warm Rice Krispies cereal mixture to form 12 flat-bottomed ovals; insert wooden skewers. When cool, decorate with frosting, raisins, nuts or cooky decorations to make clown faces.

SURPRISE BALLS—Shape warm Rice Krispies cereal mixture into 24 balls around surprise center of a gum-drop, raisins, walnut half, pitted date or candied cherry. Roll in colored sugar or flaked coconut; cool.

PUDDIN' TART SHELLS—Press thin layer of warm Rice Krispies cereal mixture into buttered muffin-pan cups or custard cups to form tart shells. Let stand until firm; remove from pans. Just before serving fill with pudding, sweetened whipped cream, ice cream, or fresh fruit.

SNOWMEN—Shape warm Rice Krispies cereal mixture to form 3 balls of decreasing size for each snowman; roll in flaked coconut. When cool, put balls together with thick confectioners sugar frosting to make snowmen; decorate with raisins, cinnamon candies and gumdrops.

TOY ANIMALS—Press warm Rice Krispies cereal mixture into buttered shallow pans in a layer about 1/2-inch thick. When slightly cooled, cut into assorted shapes with buttered animal cooky cutters. Frost or decorate as desired.
Package home-baked cookies, candies and plum puddings in Corning's Store 'n See containers with white, green, yellow or new wood-grain lids. After the goodies are gone, the containers make wonderful canisters. They're priced 89c-$1.98.

For the fresh-orange-juice fan, Van Wyck International offers a handsome, easy-to-use, easy-to-clean electric juicer for under $10. Present it with a stock-ing full of juice oranges.

Westinghouse combines safety with entertainment in its new radio for bicycles—complete with a headlight and flashing amber light for emergencies, all for under $13.

The latest in lightweight, soft-bonnet hair dryers (the motor weighs only 7 ounces!) has a huge hood, big enough to cover a headful of the largest rollers, that floats over the curls so there is no elastic pressure on the forehead. It's from Sunbeam for under $18.

If you're tired of serving warmed-over dinners to late-comers, treat yourself to the new Remington heated serving dish called Stay-Warm. Dividable into two compartments for different foods—or you can leave it as one—it sells for under $20.

For the traveling gal, Sunbeam has a lovely new cordless, lighted cosmetic mirror, no bigger than a shaver case. The price: under $20.

Give the whole household Whirlpool's front-loading portable dishwasher (under $340). Half the top is a cutting board and the other half is a food warmer with independent controls.

For the family with hundreds of snapshots in dozens of albums (and no better way of showing them than passing them around), General Electric has a new viewer. Just drop up to 50 color prints into the tray, push a button and each photograph is projected on a 10x10-inch screen. The price is under $70.

For the two-vacuum house, GE has a new little model that needs only 4½ inches clearance for vacuuming under furniture. The sleek design is well-engineered inside, too. Dirt does not pass through the fan, so there is no chance of its jamming. Best of all, it costs only $45.

For the big splash, Frigidaire has overhauled their entire 1971 line of washer and dryer designs. The top capacity of every model is now 18 pounds vs. the 12-pound maximum of 1970. Yet they managed to keep the new cabinet the same size—only 27 inches wide.

In this big washer or dryer, you can launder only one dainty negligee if you wish and it won't swing out of balance. The agitator bounces up and down rather than whirling around and the washer is designed so that water fills from five different tiers. Thus you can select any level of water you need and there are no gears to wear out inside.

For easy service, the entire control panel lifts off the top. If it needs repair, the serviceman can lend you one from his truck—every control panel from each of the seven models fits every other '71 Frigidaire washer. All other parts are accessible from the front—the washer or dryer need not be moved.

The dryer has a huge opening, raised 19 inches off the floor, so the clothes are easier to reach and you stoop less. It also has a lift-off control panel that fits each of the nine '71 dryer models.

As we go to press the prices have not been announced, but Frigidaire assures us that they will be competitive.

You buy a grapefruit more intelligently than a sanitary napkin.

Think about it. When you buy a grapefruit, you look for differences. You compare one grapefruit with another. To make sure you've got the best one around.

You don't do the same when you buy a sanitary napkin, do you? You buy one particular brand because you're in the habit of buying it.

If there were no differences between sanitary napkins, it would be all right to buy a sanitary napkin that way. But there are differences. And big ones.

For instance. Do you know if the plastic lining of your sanitary napkin covers all of the bottom—to protect you against accidents? Or only part of the bottom?

Modess has a protective cradle of blue polyethylene that covers every inch of its bottom. And both sides, where accidents also happen. Nobody else has that.

And what's your sanitary napkin made of? Paper and tissue may sound good. But it's not very good for absorbing moisture.

Modess is made of high-absorption material. They've also discovered a criss-cross system—that's been patented*—that distributes moisture throughout the entire napkin. So the napkin absorbs better. And you're protected from one-spot soak-through.

Does your sanitary napkin have embossed impressions on top? Oh, they're pretty. But they leave uncomfortable wetness near you. And that's not so pretty. The top layer of Modess doesn't have impressions. So the napkin absorbs faster. And you stay drier.

Think over these differences. So you can buy a sanitary napkin as intelligently as you buy a grapefruit.
SOUNDS OF SILENCE

Although you might assume that life would be bliss if we could only get rid of the onslaught of noises that go along with the convenience of modern technology, there are thoughts to the contrary. Certain noises, according to Montclair, N. J., acoustical engineer Ray Donley, are considered integral to the quality of some appliances. In a paper read before an AMA Congress on Environmental Health, Donley noted that noiseless, small appliances are not likely to sell very well. Reason: The consumer will think the silent appliance inferior because it does not resound with the hum normally associated with power. On the other hand, with major appliances, the quieter the better the seller. We wonder if suddenly our world went as quiet as a primeval forest, would the noise of silence prevent people from working and sleeping?

TRANSPORT TRENDS

If a PeopleMover can transport hordes through an amusement park like Disneyland, why not try the same principle to make cities more fun? Goodyear, who developed the Disneyland system, has come up with an adaptation tailored to urban needs. Under the Carveyor system, passengers at stations board cars moving at 1 1/2 mph. As the cars depart, they move over a bank of accelerator wheels (no engine, thus no smokemone) that increase movement to a speed of 15 mph. San Jose, Calif., Houston, Texas, and Akron, Columbus and Cleveland, Ohio, are all taking a look at the system as a possible solution to their transportation problems. New York City may follow suit. It has tapped planners Rai Okamoto and William Liskamm to devise a similar system that would go from east to west on a main crosstown street, joining the United Nations, Park Avenue offices, Fifth Avenue stores, Broadway theaters, the projected West Midtown development and the dock area.

COMPUTERIZED HOME-BUYING

Marriage partners, horoscopes and now housing suggestions—there's no question about it, the computer, that mystical hero-villain of our technological world, is a versatile creature. The National Home Exchange in Southport, Conn., has a computer into which it feeds a listing of all the houses it offers for sale. A prospective home-buyer can telephone (203-255-3527) or write to headquarters (National Home Exchange, 250 Pequot Ave., Southport, Conn. 06490) and give his requirements, such as preferred style of architecture, number of bedrooms, acreage and price. The computer takes all this in and spews out a list of houses available in the designated geographical area. If the specifications are too involved for the computer, the Exchange gives the buyer's name to a real-estate broker who contacts him or sends the buyer the names of brokers in his area. There is no charge for the service. The Exchange's revenue comes from real-estate brokers and home-sellers who list their homes with the computer for a fee.

CHRISTMAS ON CAMERA

By Denise McCluggage

Tips from six professional photographers on capturing your house in its very best light.

Christmas is the time, with your house looking its holiday best, to take pictures—maybe to send to dear but distant relatives, perhaps for next year's Christmas card or maybe just to keep as a record of Christmases past. Here are suggestions from professional photographers who have shot many houses to help you do justice to yours.

Keep in mind that you are not a camera. Your two eyes see differently than a camera's single eye. To a camera, everything is on the same plane—flat. What your vision is clearly behind something else—depth, the third dimension—to a camera may look as if it is growing out of an object in front. Thus do lamps sprout from people's heads and tables glue themselves to chairs.

How do you avoid the problem? "Simplicity is the key," says John Zimmerman, who photographed "Haven in New England Snows" on pages 52–55. "The simpler the decor, the better the picture." Richard Meek, who has photographed many of the "American Treasuries" in AH, also pleads for simplification: "Try taking away some of the furnishings and pictures in the background."

The absence of clutter, however, doesn't mean emptiness; it means that the open space is used in the total composition. The camera, in ironing out the third dimension, can play tricks with spatial relationships, and the necessary space of actual living can appear as dull holes in the picture. Look at some of the rooms pictured in this issue. You are apt to find furnishings pushed closer together than practicable for "real" comfort or objects arranged in a place where they would clearly be in the way if someone were "really" walking around that room. Only experience and experimentation will tell you what changes will make your room look more real and alive.

"Try arranging and grouping the objects in your room as a painter would do," suggests Fred J. Maroon, whose "Festive Holiday Buffet" photographs appear in this issue. "Put something in the far background, something in the middle and then something close." Just because a picture is by nature flat doesn't mean that it should look flat. And if there are people in the picture, he adds, give them the painting-like treatment, arranging them as part of the room instead of posing them in a stiff row.

Meek recommends putting something in the foreground of a picture to enhance the room, such as out-of-focus flowers. "They can give a picture both color and depth," he points out. "They believe, too, that it is of the utmost importance to "define your subject, mentally and visually," before you start shooting. Decide what is the most important element. "Avoid two equal, competing forces in a picture," he advises (which is good advice for decorating a room in the first place). (continued on page 89)

THE GLOWING SEASON

Christmas is to see. It is a festival of lights radiating its message around the world. (Here, sparkling brilliants settle like a shower of diamonds on the wintry trees of New York’s Paley Park.) Christmas is to hear. Join us in a joyous, old-fashioned celebration with the Skitch Hendersons. Christmas is to taste, with tantalizing country-style and grand-manner buffet menus. Above all, Christmas is to make and to give—and in the following pages we give you a host of ideas to help you make this the merriest holiday ever.
Glittering firefly lights, as pictured on the preceding page, are blazing a holiday trail coast to coast. Yet candles have for centuries embodied the very spirit of Christmas. Even today they continue to light up our countryside. In the American Southwest, myriads of luminarias, candle-lit paper-bag lanterns, illuminate every building ledge and walkway. And the custom of using these primitive decorations, as shown here, is spreading to other parts of the country. Equally delightful—and also fashioned from a paper bag and candle—is the fanal (inset, opposite) of Haiti. Carried about by the children who make them, these church-shaped lanterns herald the joy of the Christmas season.
Fanals, like the one above, are made by Haitian children from brown paper bags. Lawrence Peabody, who designs home furnishings for Sears and winters in Haiti, collects them. "Boys and girls carrying their fanals up and down the steep mountain roads," he says, "mean Christmas to me." How-to's for the one pictured are given on page 47.

Luminarias, shown at left outlining the adobe enclosure of St. Francis Mission Church at Ranchos de Taos, N. M., are also fashioned from paper bags. To make yours, see page 46.
In their living room, aglow with Christmas decorations, the Hendersons—Skitch, Heidi, Ruth and Hans—gather for a game of backgammon. The towering tree, from the family farm in Vermont, is adorned with hand-carved figures from Germany (where Ruth grew up), shiny tin baubles from Mexico, a net of twinkling firefly lights and garlands of sparkling glass beads.
Hans and Heidi (above), who have joined in concocting cookies and gingerbread men since they were toddlers, consider themselves accomplished bakers. Although the floor is often as well-floured as the cookies, no one seems to mind. This year Heidi trimmed a Paper-Fan Tree (top, right) that she and friends, helped by her parents, made of paper bags, popcorn balls, ice-cream cones, cookies, nuts and gingerbread men. To make a Christmas tree just like it (shown completed at right), turn to page 44

CHRISTMAS WITH THE SKITCH HENDERSONS

Amid the sleek, sophisticated holiday trappings of New York City, composer-conductor Skitch Henderson and family manage each year to celebrate a truly traditional Christmas full of old-fashioned pleasures. For this boundlessly talented household, however, Christmas preparations go on year-round. Encouraged by their mother, Ruth, youngsters Heidi, 8, and Hans, 9, make special presents for their favorite people. Hans fashions gifts of leather; Heidi, tiny needlepoint paintings and collages. After Thanksgiving, real activity sets in. The Hendersons' four-story house gets decorated inside and out. That means the making of wreaths and garlands, cinnamon-stick baskets, stylized Christmas trees. There's also popcorn to string and cookies and gingerbread men to be baked. (continued)

To usher in the Yuletide season, on the Sunday before Christmas Skitch leads a lively group of carolers through the neighborhood. And there are parties—lots of them, starting Christmas Eve when friends drop in to help the Hendersons trim their 20-foot tree, and ending with an open house on New Year’s Day when the cookies, candies and nuts that were such a fragrant part of the decorations are shared by all.

Popcorn-Ball Tree (far left), decorative and delicious, also appears on this month’s cover. Hans and Heidi Henderson, turned loose in a candy shop to buy the tasty trimmings, had great fun decorating this one. For instructions to make your own, see the opposite page.

Cinnamon-Stick Basket (left), one of several made each year by Ruth Henderson, becomes a holiday holder for a pot of bright poinsettias. How-to’s for this container are also opposite.

Heidi (far left) dashes down the garlanded staircase to join her waiting family and friends. The occasion: a performance of that holiday favorite, Amahl and the Night Visitors, at the New York City Center.

55 HAPPY IDEAS FOR HOLIDAY MAKING AND GIVING

From the fabulous Christmas tree on our cover to a simple crèche to treasure on page 51, here are decorative ways to spread Christmas all through your house. Some are ambitious family projects; others, simple enough for children. You’ll see several pictured in this issue... plus many more. All make for a creative and money-saving approach to holiday preparations and for very special giving.

POPCORN-BALL TREE

(Note: the tree shown opposite and on the cover, for which we give directions here, is 48 inches high. To make one only 24 inches high, reduce size and quantity of material by half. Also remember to reduce size of popcorn balls as indicated in recipe.)

225 popcorn balls (See recipe following to make your own. This is time-consuming, we admit, but many consider it well worth the effort. If you don’t wish to make your own, popcorn balls can be purchased ready-made in some localities or ordered, at $2.79 for a box of 60, through the Sears Christmas catalog.)

250 pieces coat-hanger wire (or galvanized wire), 5 inches long

1 piece hardware cloth, 3½-feet square

Chalk

Gloves

Wire cutters

Side-cutting pliers

3 sheets Styrofoam for filling wire cone, about 2 inches thick, each 8x36 inches. (Note: Styrofoam sheets may vary in size from area to area. If larger than required, merely cut sheets to size.)

Flowerpot, 8 inches in diameter, filled with sand

Wooden picks

Large gumdrops (about 1 pound)

Lollipops (about 8 dozen)

White glue

Assorted hard and berry candies

Assorted small artificial berries, fruits and leaves

1 box weather-strip caulking

Candy canes (3 dozen or more)

Make popcorn balls; when cool, insert 5-inch wires about 1 inch deep into balls. Fashion wire cone from 3½-foot hardware-cloth square as follows: Cut a piece of string 4 feet long. Attach a piece of chalk at one end. Tack other end of string to upper-left corner of hardware cloth. Length of string should measure 3½ feet from tack to chalk when pulled tight from the upper-left to upper-right corner. Draw a half-circle from upper-right to lower-left corner (see Diagram A).

Wearing gloves, cut curved line with wire cutters. Bend sides 1 and 2 to one another and lap over at meeting point until you have a cone with a 10-inch diameter base. Bend and pinch loose ends of edges to cone with pliers. Cut Styrofoam sheets into strips and to stuff cone tightly. Run strips of tape across bottom to keep foam in cone. Tape the cone snugly onto sand-filled flowerpot.

Push wired popcorn balls close to wire surface of cone in rows until surface is completely covered (see Diagram B). Insert additional popcorn balls in a second layer over the first layer of popcorn balls in order to give the tree a full, rounded shape (see Diagram C and photograph on opposite page).

Stick wooden picks into bottoms of gumdrops and insert these into popcorn balls. Place lollipops and candy canes at various angles between popcorn balls. Glue on candy, berries, fruits and green leaves as shown in photograph opposite.

Put two strips of weather-strip caulking around top of flowerpot and another 1 inch from bottom of pot. Stick about 3 dozen candy canes around the pot (see Diagram C).

POPCORN BALLS

(Work with only one recipe for 12 popcorn balls at a time. Syrup becomes too hard to mold if the popcorn balls are not shaped quickly.)

8 cups popped popcorn (Note: Generally, ¼ cup popcorn kernels will yield 8 cups popped corn.)

1 cup sugar

⅔ cup light corn syrup

½ cup water

Place popcorn in a large, well-buttered bowl. Combine sugar, corn syrup and water in 1-quart saucepan. Cook over medium heat until syrup reaches 240° on candy thermometer or a drop forms a soft ball when tested in ice water. Do not stir syrup. Pour hot syrup over popcorn immediately. Mix well with two forks. Butter hands; scoop up mixture and press lightly into 12 medium-size (about 3-inch diameter) popcorn balls (or 24 small-size balls for 24-inch tree).

CINNAMON-STICK BASKET

(Size: 3¼ inches or 7 inches in diameter. See photograph opposite.)

1 box weather-strip caulking

1 flowerpot (3¼ inches or 7 inches in diameter)

Cinnamon sticks (Note: For the smaller pot, you will need about 5 dozen 4-inch sticks. For the larger pot, you will need about 9 dozen 10-inch sticks. Sticks in 10-inch lengths may be ordered by mail from Lekvar By The Barrel, 1577 First Ave., New York, N.Y. 10028, or Paprikas Weiss Importer, 1546 Second Ave., New York, N.Y. 10028. If you prefer, breadsticks can be substituted for cinnamon sticks.)

Red or moss-green velvet ribbon

Wrap two strips of caulking around pot 1 inch down from top and 1 inch up from bottom. On the smaller pot, wrap a third strip ¼ inches up from bottom.

For the smaller pot, break several cinnamon sticks into pieces about 1 inch long. Press short lengths into caulking all around bottom of pot (see diagram). Then, above the short lengths, press longer lengths to top of pot. Sticks can overlap at bottom, and top should be uneven (pot should not show).

For the larger pot, press full-length cinnamon sticks from bottom to top, overlapping occasionally at sides. Keep sticks flush at base, but not at the top. Tie velvet ribbon around the pot.
PAPER-FAN TREE

3½-foot hardware-cloth tree cone (See materials and instructions for Popcorn-Boll Tree, page 43.)

300 pieces of brown paper, 6x2 inches

32½ 5-inch lengths galvanized wire or large paper clips, straightened

1 heavy-duty stapler

1 box ½-inch staples

Flowerpot, 8 inches in diameter, filled with sand or pebbles

Waffle ice-cream cones (about 20–24)

20–24 popcorn balls (See recipe on page 43.)

Threaded awl

5 dozen assorted cookies

15 Gingerbread Men (see recipe)

1 ball gold cord

1 ball brown cord

2 pounds walnuts, filberts, almonds (in shells)

8-inch-wide strip of corrugated paper, 32 inches long

1½ yards natural-color ribbon

GINGEBREAD MEN

3/4 cup molasses 1 teaspoon ground ginger

1 cup butter 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon

cup sugar 1 egg, beaten

tablespoon vinegar 2 tablespoons baking powder

1 egg, beaten 1/2 teaspoon salt

5 cups sifted, Reains All-purpose flour Almond halves

tea spoon baking Confectioners' soda Sugar Glaze

Heat molasses to boiling; pour over butter and sugar in large bowl. Add vinegar; stir until smooth. Cool. Add egg. Sift dry ingredients together; stir into molasses mixture. Cover; chill overnight.

Remove about ¾ cup dough from bowl (makes 1 cookie). Refrigerate remainder. Roll dough out on floured board with floured rolling pin to ¼-inch thickness. Cut out, using Diagram B as guide to making cardboard pattern. (Graph is ¼ size. To enlarge, draw grid of ½-inch squares. Copy lines of figure over squares. Cut out and use to make cardboard pattern.) Transfer cookie to greased cookie sheet with 1 or 2 broad spatulas. Repeat, placing cookies about 1 inch apart. Press raisins in dough for eyes and almond half for nose. Refrigerate dough scraps. Bake cookies at 350° 10 to 12 minutes. Transfer to wire racks; cool. Repeat procedure until all dough is used. Decorate with Confectioners' Sugar Glaze: Stir enough milk or water into 1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar to make it of spreading consistency. Pipe through decorator's tube with plain tip to form mouth and buttons. Makes about 15–18 Gingerbread Men.

ROCK-CANDY TREE

(Size: 12 inches high.)

2 cottage-cheese containers, about 3½ inches in diameter

Foil paper (gold or colored, see instructions) to cover containers

Metallic ribbon to trim containers

1 cube Styrofoam, 2x2x2 inches

1 small pencil flashlight

White cardboard, 6 inches square

Wax paper

2 pounds clear or maple rock candy

Plastic cement

Clean cottage-cheese containers and cut out the bottoms, leaving rims in place. Place one container inside the other. Pleat gold paper for maple rock candy or colored foil paper for clear rock candy. (Color reflects through candy when tree is completed.) Wrap around container and trim with metallic ribbon.

Cut a hole in center of Styrofoam cube to hold flashlight tightly upright. Cut a white cardboard circle ⅛ inch larger in diameter than the top of the container. Cut a 2-inch-diameter hole in the center of the circle. Next, starting on the outside edge of the cardboard circle, and overlapping slightly, assemble a thick ring of rock-candy pieces (see Diagram A). Dribble plastic cement down between pieces and allow to dry.

On a large piece of wax paper, assemble another ring of rock-candy pieces, slightly smaller than first in diameter but of approximately the same thickness. Dribble plastic cement between pieces as you did with the first ring. Repeat procedure until you have 7 rings, each one progressively smaller. Allow to dry 8 hours. Put a thick layer of plastic cement on top of the first large ring. Place second ring on top. Allow to dry 8 hours. Repeat procedure until all rings are in place.

You now have a tree-shaped, irregular cone without a tip. Finish top of tree by gluing on individual pieces of rock candy to form tip (see Diagram B).

Insert flashlight into Styrofoam cube and place this unit into bottomless container. Light flashlight. Carefully set completed tree (on its cardboard circle) over container with flashlight.

When you wish to shut off flashlight or replace its battery, lift off tree and container together. For an even more decorative touch, set the tree in the center of a flat, round mirror to double its sparkle.

[Diagram A]

Make hardware-cloth cone as directed on page 43. Fold 200 paper pieces in half the long way into 6x6-inch squares. Pleat into fans, folding each 12 times. Place 5-inch wire 1 inch up onto each fan shank and staple (see Diagram A).

Attach each fan to wire cone by pushing fan wires snugly into Styrofoam filling in cone. Start with a row around bottom of cone (which rests securely on its flowerpot base), then add remaining fans at random angles—working toward the top—about two-thirds of the way up the cone. Pleat 75 more fans, cut ½ inch off from shanks of fans and shorten wires 1 inch. Staple wires onto shanks. Attach to cone almost to top. Pleat the remaining 25 fans and cut 1 inch from the fan shanks. Shorten and attach wires as before. Arrange around top of cone. The last 3 or 4 fans should be vertical for point at top.:

Trimming. Using a threaded awl, make a hole through the back of each ice-cream cone. (Back up cone with a small piece of wood for support.) Fill cones with wired popcorn balls (see recipe and wiring instructions on page 43). Push wires through walls of cones and into tree between fans.

Pierce fans, cookies and Gingerbread Men (see recipe following) with a darning needle to make holes for hanging. Use gold and brown cords to hang. Glue nuts to tree. Wrap corrugated paper around flowerpot; trim with ribbon.

1) Place a mirror flat in the center of the dining table. Mass together an assortment of chunky, dripless candles of varying heights in red, white and green. Place them in the center of the mirror. See how much prettier candlelight is when reflected from a mirrored base.

2) Make a little tree of bare branches sprayed white and anchored in a small wicker basket. Line basket with aluminum foil and fill with sand. If you are planning on tiny packages for Christmas, wrap them in papers of brown, gold and white and hang them from the tree.

3) Cut gold foil paper in the shape of a star, slightly larger than a conventional place mat. Fashion a lacy snowflake of silver foil paper several inches smaller than the star. This is easily done by cutting a circle of silver foil, folding it in half and then in half again. Now pleat several times until you have a fan. Cut tree forms with scissors from the left edge and now the right, being careful not to join left and right cuts. Open flat and you have a lacy snowflake. Center over gold star.

4) Glue a sheet of silver foil paper onto a sheet of gold foil paper with white glue. You now have a sheet with gold on one side, silver on the other. Cut out various-sized stars and snowflakes (see directions above in No. 3). Attach uneven lengths of nylon fishing or transparent nylon thread to tops of stars and snowflakes and tie to a 1/2-inch wooden dowel sprayed silver. Suspend from the ceiling over dining table.

5) For a white, silver and gold table, spray small wicker baskets with silver for each place setting (or for the center of the table). Place small glasses of water in baskets and fill with white flowers (or use a cluster of silver and white vases filled with white flowers). Tablecloth should be pristine white. To hold rolled, white napkins, use brass curtain clips trimmed with tiny silver and gold Christmas balls and tiny sprays of greens, all tied to clip with narrow white or gold ribbon. The clips can be made lovely enough to give as small favors to guests.

6) Arrange children’s blocks in various heights down the center of the table or on a mantel or sideboard. Set votive candles in their heatproof glasses at random among and upon the blocks.

7) Tightly fill red pottery coffee mugs with white carnations for individual decorations at each place setting. Or mass the mugs in a ring in the center of the table around a cluster of votive candles.

On one sheet of plywood, outline two 3-foot squares, one 2 x 3-foot piece and one 1 x 3-foot piece. Repeat on second sheet of plywood (but omit 1 x 3-foot piece). Cut out all pieces with table saw.

Draw lines for assembly slots on each piece (see Diagram A). With table saw, cut out assembly slots.

Draw outlines for entry shapes on both pieces (see Diagram A). Join roof pieces with butt hinges (set in 1 inch from outside edges.)

The slide ramp is made by nailing, with brads, two strips of pine, each 1 x 1 inch and 1 x 3 1/2 inches long on the back of the 1 x 3-foot plywood piece. Center one strip across top of plywood 1/4 inch down from top edge of ramp. Nail in place with brads. Space second strip 1 inch down from first strip and nail in place. These locking strips are used to prevent ramp from slipping from bottom edge of entry.

Sand and prime all pieces. When dry, apply background coat. Dry. Draw lines for viewing slots in position and cut out all pieces with table saw.

Note: A play “wing” can be added to house by swinging front (or back) of house to one side (see photograph, page 12).
Merry Midget bulbs, GE's outdoor firefly lights, are available in cool colors (blue and green), warm colors (red and yellow), gold and clear. (Note: If cool and warm colors are mixed, results will be murky.)

Outdoor strings of Merry Midget lights come in 20-lamp (bulb) strings, 35-lamp strings and 50-lamp strings, priced $2.95 and up. Each bulb has a ring fastener for easy placing and securing of sockets on branches. The bulbs are the plug-in type. If one bulb burns out, the rest remain lighted. However, burned-out bulbs should be replaced to prolong the life of the strings. The following materials are necessary:

- Ball of cord (for deciduous trees)
- Strings of outdoor lights
- 1 roll garden wire
- Cube-top connectors
- Waterproof electrical tape (to be used on all connections and unused terminal plugs)
- Outdoor extension cords (if needed)

DECIDUOUS TREES

Use Waterfall style (Diagram A) for densely branched deciduous trees and Silhouette style (Diagram B) for sparsely branched trees. To determine length and amount of light strings required for both Waterfall and Silhouette styles, it is advisable to make a test run with a ball of cord. Since the lights are spaced 10 inches apart, knot the cord every 10 inches. Count knots for number of lights required and to estimate length and number of light strings. Each string forms a loop in a continuous strand.

Waterfall style (Diagram A): With cord, measure for one "fall" required for selected tree, then add additional lengths for each "fall" desired. Wire 2 cube-top connectors to branches as far up tree as you can and still have them well supported. Join the two connectors (see Diagram C). Plug into the main line. Plug in one string of lights and bring it up in a slight curve to the top of the tree, wiring to branches where needed. Allow strings to cascade over the outer edge of the tree. If more than five strings are needed, add additional connectors.

Silhouette style (Diagram B): Measure each branch and twig formation (with the knotted cord as in preceding instructions) to determine required length and number of light strings. For this style, the double light strings can be separated to give additional length. Place connectors in crotch of tree. Wire securely in place. Plug into main line. Plug in one string of lights and wire it along one main branch and out to twig formations. If more strings are required than the two connectors will accommodate, add more connectors.

EVERGREEN TREES

Use the following formula to determine number of lights per evergreen tree: Multiply height of tree by width of tree (in feet) times 6. Since light strings are available in 20-35- and 50-light lengths, estimate the number of strings that will be required from the formula.

Spiral and Garland styles (Diagrams D and E): Follow same procedure for connectors used with deciduous trees. Wire the connectors halfway up the tree as shown. Work half of the light strings up to the top of tree and the other half to bottom of the tree.

Cascade style (Diagram F): Wire connectors to trunk, 1 or 2 feet from ground. Run doubled light strings straight up outer edges of tree. Space them evenly around the tree and wire each string to the top of tree.

For a very tall tree, start at center of tree and run one light string up to top of tree and a second light string center to bottom of tree.

NEW MEXICAN LUMINARIAS

(See photograph, pages 38-39)

1. paper bag for each luminaria, about 10 inches high
2. 3 inches of sand, gravel or pebbles for each bag
3. 1 votive candle for each luminaria or string of Christmas lights (the number depending on the number of luminarias)
4. 1 large hairpin for each Christmas-light socket

Open up medium-size paper bag and fold top edge over twice onto the outside. Fill bottom of bag with 3 inches of sand, gravel or pebbles. Place a votive candle in its heatproof glass in the bag. If you live in a windy area, use a clear oil-lamp chimney over the candle. Or use a string of small Christmas-tree lights and wire several luminarias as follows: Slip a large hairpin around the socket of bulb and make a loop by twisting ends of hairpin twice. To allow wiring, socket and bulb to pass through bag, make crosshatch 1-inch cuts about 4 inches up from the base of the bag. Spread ends of hairpin apart and stick them in sand (see Diagram A). The luminarias can be used in a row along a terrace or at each side of a walk leading to your house. To conceal Christmas-light wiring, overlap or wrap with green garland.
LAUREL- OR LEMON-LEAF DECORATIONS

Make garlands of laurel or lemon leaves, wrapping stems from the back with fine wire, overlapping leaves as you go. Firefly lights can be woven around each garland, or tie on gold or silver ribbons at intervals. (Ropes of laurel or lemon leaves can be purchased ready-made, either fresh or artificial.) Below are several ways to use garlands in your holiday decorating:

1) Drape along top of walls all around the room, adding small, rosy apples for color. Attach the apples by pushing large hairpins from back of evergreen rope into the apples.
2) Drape around upper edge of deep-skirted tablecloth, attaching artificial berries along rope.
3) Put two lengths down the center of the dining table and several crosswise. Add tiny Christmas balls.
4) Drape and wind around staircase banister. Tie brown velvet bows at top and bottom.

COAT-HANGER STAR

(See Diagram A for completed star.)
3 wire coat hangers
½ yard masking tape
1 roll fine wire
Wire clips
18 dozen medium-sized wooden beads (available in hobby shops and toy departments)
2 yards tan wool yarn
1 straw star

Crisscross coat hangers, one over the other, to form star shape. Center and tape all three hangers together at base and top crossing points. Reinforce tape by wrapping with fine wire.

With wire clips, clip off hooks and twisted wire at tops of hangers, allowing about 1 inch of tops to remain. Slip wooden beads over hangers until they are completely covered, but allow 1 inch of wire hanger to remain uncovered at tops. Next bind tops of hangers together with fine wire. With wire clips, bend each top in an outward curve to form finial. Wind wool yarn around wired area to conceal wiring. Add a small straw star or Christmas ornament to center of star.

HAITIAN FANAL

(Size: 12½ x 8½ x 5½ inches. See photograph, page 39.)
2 brown paper bags, size 6¼ x 12¼ x 1½ inches (supermarket size)
Scissors
2 packages single-edge razor blades
Watercolors or vegetable dyes
1 package cotton-tipped swabs
1 block paraffin (canning wax)
White glue
1 roll ½-inch masking tape (tan)
1 roll ¾-inch masking tape (tan)
Sand, gravel or pebbles
Votive candle or small flashlight

Open paper bags and stand them up. With scissors, slit each corner lengthwise and lay flat. Following dimensions on left and bottom projections of Diagram A, mark each section lightly in pencil. Cut away excess paper bag. Cut out shape as outlined. On one bag, pencil design (see top and right projections of Diagram A) on each of the four sections. Use single-edge razor blade to cut out design. Corrugated cardboard makes an excellent cutting board under the bag.

Place Bag 1 (which has been cut to shape and has had an all-over design cut out on its surface) over Bag 2 (which has been cut for shape only) and trace the cutout design, with pencil, onto Bag 2. Bag 2 will be glued to Bag 1 later.

The traced design areas on Bag 2 are to be painted in color with watercolors or vegetable dyes. (Choose some design areas to be colored; leave other design areas uncolored.) Decide on colors and where you wish them to be, and apply with swabs. Dry thoroughly. When dry, carefully rub a piece of wax, candle or paraffin over all colored and uncolored design areas. Do not permit wax to get on edges and strips between design cutouts that will have glue applied later. Leave ½ inch of outside edges unwaxed.

Place waxed areas between paper towels and press with a warm iron. This will make colored and uncolored design areas translucent. Place Bag 1 face down on a sheet of newspaper. Using swab, apply white glue along all edges and between cutout areas. Do not use too much glue—it should not run. Carefully place Bag 2 under glazed areas of Bag 1. Matching edges, secure both bags together. Press firmly with hands.

Cut 2 sets of extra tower pieces A, B and C (see Diagram B). Wax the 6 pieces to within ½ inch of edges. Press with warm iron. Cut out tower design (see right projection of Diagram A) on these 6 tower pieces. Glue cutout tower pieces to waxed tower pieces. Press flat. Dry. Assemble entire fanal unit by taping all edges together with ½-inch masking tape. You now have a box shape with one tower panel extending at top on two sides. To form additional tower sides, tape 3 tower pieces A, B and C to each tower panel on fanal unit with ½-inch masking tape. Wax sides should be inside.

Tape bottom of tower panels A and B to top of fanal. Reinforce bottom of C panel with tape. Tape areas at top of fanal between towers. Put about 1 inch of sand, gravel or pebbles in bottom of fanal. Set votive candle (in heatproof glass jar) or small flashlight in open area between towers. (Note: Be sure candle flame is below edge of jar.)
FIT TO BE TIED

1) Wrap a cookbook in a special kitchen towel. Top with kitchen gadgets.

2) Make a small evergreen garland to fit across top of package and down two-thirds of each side of package. Trim with tiny, gaily wrapped packages, each containing a little surprise.

3) Make a cornucopia (Diagram A) out of gold foil paper or buy a small wicker one. Wrap tiny gift packages in multicolor paper tied with narrow red velvet or satin ribbon. Have them spilling out of the cornucopia. Secure entire unit to top of package. Use double-faced tape to hold the packages in place.

4) Wrap a baby’s gift with an infant’s towel topped with a soft toy.

5) Have a little toy train run across top of package for a small boy.

6) Wrap bath powder with pretty hand towel or guest towel and top with soap dish filled with decorative soap.

7) For Dad’s electric-tool gift, cut a pine board to fit top of a medium-size carton. Attach this to top of a box.

8) Tape Christmas tree-top ornament upright on top of a package.

9) Secure cluster of blown-up, colored balloons to a package top with brightly colored, thick yarn.

10) Secure to top of a package a tiny sailboat, walking Santas, angel figurines in a group, straw stars or small straw animals.

11) To decorate a bottle, add Styrofoam-ball “head” to top. Lace ribbon around neck of bottle for bodice and add a pleated paper skirt.

12) For a cluster of gifts, glue big gold initials on bright paper sacks or paint half-bushel baskets bright red and trim with greens and ribbon.

13) Make a wreath of greens with tiny candy canes. Attach to top of package with double-faced tape. Wreath can be removed later and hung.

EVERGREEN CONE TREE

(Sizes: 48 inches high. See photograph, page 22.)

Wicker basket, about 10 inches in diameter
Green spray paint for basket,
Sand
3½-foot hardware-cloth tree (See instructions for Popcorn-Ball Tree on page 43.)
3 bushel baskets of assorted evergreens (cedar, boxwood, holly, laurel, spruce), 8–10 inches long.
Roll of fine wire
40 feet of galvanized wire
Garden shears
Side-cutting pliers
Several bags of popcorn
Colorless acrylic spray
Aluminum foil
Silver glitter
Several assorted small boxes
Green and white assorted gift papers
Green and white ribbons
Spray wicker basket green. Allow to dry. Fill with sand. Make wire-cone tree filled with Styrofoam as directed for Popcorn-Ball Tree, page 43. Cover the tree with assorted evergreens, which are wired together for the bottom third of the tree as follows: Cut three lengths of one of the greens, each 8 inches long. Fasten together with fine wire to form clump.

Attach a 5-inch length of galvanized wire to the bottom of the evergreen clump with fine wire, leaving 4 inches of galvanized wire below bottom of wired clump. Combining different types of greens, wire additional clumps in the same manner. Next, push the entire 4-inch length of galvanized wire through the wire mesh of the cone tree into its Styrofoam lining. Start at base of tree and work up to top. Continue to wire clumps, alternating greens until you have covered one-third of the cone.

Make another group of wired evergreen clumps 6 inches long. With side-cutting pliers, cut galvanized wire lengths 4 inches long. Wire these to 6-inch clumps so 3 inches of galvanized wire are below bottom of clumps. For remainder of cone tree, cut evergreens 4 inches long and galvanized wires 3 inches long. With fine wire, attach galvanized wires to clumps, allowing 2 inches of wire to extend below clumps.

Cover top of tree with evergreen clumps. If your tree is not as shapely as you wish, shape it with garden shears. Set tree on top of wicker basket.

Trimming. String popcorn into garlands. Use only the largest, fluffiest kernels or group several small ones together so the garlands look uniform. Spread aluminum foil, with a larger area of newspaper beneath it, flat on the floor. (The foil is necessary to prevent popcorn garlands from sticking.) Working over the foil, spray popcorn with colorless acrylic spray, doing only a small area at a time. While still wet, sprinkle on silver glitter. Repeat until all garlands are sprinkled. Allow to dry. Crisscross garlands on tree (see photograph, page 22). Wrap tiny gift packages with assorted green and white paper. Tie with green and white ribbons, alternating colors. Hang on tree as shown in photograph on page 22.

GIFT-BOX DECORATIONS

WREATH

Use a Styrofoam wreath or cut an 18-inch circle 2 inches wide from building board. Wrap tiny boxes, about 3½ inches square, in color-coordinated papers. Tie with harmonizing braid. The secret of well-wrapped packages is to cut the paper small, just to fit the box with only enough left over to fold neatly and flatly at ends. Be sure paper fits tightly, secure with cellophane tape. Pin and tape package to wreath at various angles.

TREE

Wrap graduated boxes in matching paper. Pile one atop the other, pyramid-fashion. Angle the boxes to form “branches.” Tie entire pyramid with heavy yarn in assorted colors. Top with big poms in matching colors.

LACY CANDLE

Large-eyed darning needle
Cotton string, 12 inches long
1 empty milk carton, with top cut off
Pencil
Old candle stubs
Coffee can
Cracked ice

To make wick, thread needle with string. Push the needle through center bottom of empty milk carton to top. Tape string to bottom on the outside. Remove string from needle. Holding string firmly above top of carton, roll string around the center of a pencil until pencil is flush with carton’s sides. Make sure string is centered.

In a coffee can placed in a pan of boiling water, heat old candles slowly until wax melts. (Add color, if desired, by adding wax crayons.) Remove old wicks as wax melts. While heating wax, fill carton with cracked ice. Carefully pour melted wax into carton evenly on all four sides until full. Allow to cool. Unroll pencil. Remove candle from carton and drain off water. Trim wick.
DOORS THAT SAY
"WELCOME!"

1) For an apartment door, make a wreath from skeins of green wool wrapped around a Styrofoam wreath. Stud with small, wrapped balls of colored wool.
2) Spray small gelatin molds gold or leave them aluminum. Punch small hole in lip of each using hammer and nail. Use wood block under nailing area to insure mold keeps its shape. Run gold cord or a narrow, green-velvet ribbon through hole; tie in bow. Fill each mold with a square of Styrofoam secured to bottom of mold with double-faced tape. Styrofoam need not fill mold exactly; it should be level with outer edge of mold so you can fasten another piece of double-faced tape over Styrofoam surface (see Diagram A) and press onto door surface. Use one above another to form pattern on door panels.

Vegetable dye
Small curtain ring

Carve body pieces (see Diagram A). Carve 4 heads ¾ inch long. Drill ½-inch holes for faces of three Kings and Joseph in head pieces. Drill ½-inch hole in top of body piece for Mary. Drill ¼-inch hole in top of body piece for Baby Jesus. Cut out crowns and Joseph's cap. (Do not try to make pieces perfectly; a crude look adds to their charm.) Carve lamb's body and head pieces (see Diagram B). Glue head in place. When dry, rough-carve the surface of the lamb to simulate wool. (If you are handy with a jackknife, the figures can be carved further to give them a rounded dimension.)

The manger (Diagram C) is made from scraps left over from the making of the Creche. Split the wood strips lengthwise with a chisel. Glue and nail into rough manger shape.

For cloaks and Mary's mantle, cut circles of cheesecloth. The diameter should be twice the height of each figure. Fold circles in half and dip into vegetable dye. Dry. Wrap around figures. Baby Jesus is wrapped in swaddling clothes made from scraps of white fabric. Use small curtain ring for halo. Place figures in Creche (see directions for making Creche on next page).

CHRISTMAS FOR THE BIRDS

1) Cut a grapefruit in half. Clean out pulp of grapefruit, leaving only the shell. Pierce four small holes equidistant just below rim for hanging cords. Stud rim with cranberries secured with halved, flat wooden picks. Add cords for hanging (see Diagram A). Fill with bird seed and hang outside.
2) Cut a pineapple, lengthwise, in half. Decorate and fill in same way as grapefruit (see Diagram B).
3) Make a montage of shiny cake molds and cookie cutters. (See directions above in No. 2 for method of attaching molds to door.) Use star shapes or one or more ring molds tied with bows (see Diagram B). Fill wire salad baskets with greens and apples or Styrofoam snowballs. Hang near your front door in groups of three, one above the other.
4) Make a Christmas bellpull from a wide strip of felt. Attach small bells with wool yarn along the length or attach one large bell at the end.
5) If your door is paneled, try several wreaths, one in each panel, rather than one large one.
6) Cover your door with Mylar (shiny silver plastic). No other ornament is needed, but if you must have a wreath, use an all-white one.
CRÈCHE

(Use: 14x8x17 inches. See photograph opposite.)

Fine-tooth saw
4 feet of ½ x 6-inch pine or fir, rough-cut in strips ½ inch wide
1 box ¾-inch brads
Cotton-tipped swabs
White glue
1 box 1-inch brads
Hand drill
Tack hammer
1 piece fiberboard or ½-inch plywood,
8 x 14 inches

Coping saw
1 ½ yards cheesecloth
Straw (or wood shavings)
(Note: Leave wood strips rough and natural. Do not try for perfection in nailing and gluing as a primitive look adds to the attractiveness. Read instructions for cutting wood strips at right before starting.)

With a fine-tooth saw, cut wood in following lengths. Key each piece lightly with pencil and refer to creche pattern for placement.

A—1 piece, 8 inches long
B—2 pieces, each 8 inches long
C—2 pieces, each 8 inches long
D—3 pieces, each 8 inches long
E—2 pieces, each 5 ½ inches long
F—2 pieces, each 9 inches long
G—6 pieces, each 9 inches long
H—6 pieces, each 11 inches long
I—3 pieces, each 11 inches long
J—1 piece, 12 inches long
K—1 piece, 17 inches long
L—2 pieces, each 7½ inches long
M—7 pieces, each 1½ inches long
N—1 piece fiberboard or ½-inch plywood, already cut to 8 x 14-inch size

Assemble the left wall pieces B, G, and C (see Diagram 1). Use ¾-inch brads and, with a swab, brush a little glue between each joint. Put aside until glue has dried. Repeat for right wall.

Assemble left (facing crèche) side of roof, pieces H and A, as shown in Diagram 2. Use ¾-inch brads and glue. Extend pieces H ½ inch beyond piece A. Add 3 pieces of H for right side of roof with 1-inch brads as follows: Brush glue on edge and line up in proper flush position on piece A. Then drill, at a 90° angle, through pieces H into piece A just enough to catch 1-inch brads. Carefully hammer the brads in position (see Diagram 3).

Glue and nail assembled left wall to outer edge of plywood or fiberboard floor N on 8-inch side. Repeat for other side.

Glue and nail pieces I in position on pieces H, 6 inches down from peak of roof (see Diagram 4). Assemble hayloft pieces D and E (see Diagram 5). Glue and nail hayloft 7 ¼ inches up from floor on right (facing crèche) wall. The extensions on pieces E will overlap on front and back pieces G (see crèche assembly above). Glue and nail pieces F to hayloft at front edge of pieces E. Piece F should extend slightly beyond pieces E and G (see assembly and Diagram 6).

Glue and nail roof to side walls, extending pieces H about 1 inch beyond side walls as follows: Drill a small hole through pieces H into pieces B at an angle (see Diagram 7). Apply glue to all pieces that touch. Hammer 1-inch brads through drilled holes.

If you prefer, you can make right-angle notches in all pieces H (see Diagram 8) with a coping saw. In this case, glue and nail notched pieces H to pieces B as follows: Drill a small hole through pieces H into B at an angle (see Diagram 9). Brush glue on all edges that touch and hammer 1-inch brads through drilled holes.

Glue and nail piece K, keeping it vertically straight, to A under roof peak and to floor N. Glue and nail piece J to K and G on side of crèche back. Glue and nail ladder pieces M to ladder pieces L (see Diagram 10). Start ½ inch from top of ladder and space evenly to ½ inch from bottom of ladder.

Tint cheesecloth with strong coffee or tea. When dry, cut two strips about 5 inches wide by 1½ yards long; reserve rest of cheesecloth. Drape continuous strips over outside wall, up between rafters H on one side, over roof peak, down the other side of the roof and down second wall (see photograph opposite). Cut another piece of cheesecloth to fit back wall from top of eave to floor. Cover floor and one end of hayloft with rumpled cheesecloth scattered with straw or wood shavings. Place Nativity figures (see directions to make them on the preceding page) inside crèche.
SIMPLE CRECHE TO TREASURE

Each era has interpreted the crèche in its own way—from the touchingly naïve concepts during the Age of Faith to the magnificently baroque creations wrought by the Neapolitan court in the 18th century. This version was made by furniture designer Milo Baughman for his family. The Baughmans are Mormons and live in Provo, Utah. Their crèche is barnlike, the materials are natural. To make one like it, see the directions opposite.
HAVEN IN NEW ENGLAND SNOWS

The best of today's ski houses are more than inviting second homes for winter-sports enthusiasts. They are also year-round havens for families who are just as keen on flowers budding in the spring, grass growing lush in the summer, leaves flaming their colors in the fall as they are about winter's snowy splendor.

Neil Goodwin, a Cambridge, Mass., designer, wanted just such a house and surroundings for his family, consisting of wife Jane and son Seth, 4. Here, nestled in winter white, is the handsome result. (continued)
Pitched-roof second story of this Vermont house, faced in cedar shingle, sits like a hat on the low, cedar-sided horizontal band of a first floor. Triangular windows repeat the roof shape; rectangular windows, the box shape.
Goodwin bought part of an old farm property in the heart of Vermont’s ski country and proceeded to build his house, orienting it toward a vista of rolling hills. Although the exterior looks modern, the house uses traditionally Yankee materials and forms. The interior, an exciting progression of spaces defined by ceilings of different angles and heights, is divided by three major elements: a stair-balcony, dining-area divider wall and free-standing fireplace. The major living spaces are located in one end of the house; the four bedrooms, in the other. (See floor plans on page 87.) The furnishings are minimal, with as much built in as possible, and the decor, set off by Navajo rugs and hanging Indian blankets, is strongly graphic.

In the dining area (below), Seth tags along as his mother sets the luncheon table. The fireplace, its rounded cavity echoed by the curved log receptacle, divides living and dining areas.
The Paiute Indians who once inhabited Bear Valley, Calif., would find this octagonal ski house recently erected there a far cry from their brush shelters. San Francisco architect Donald MacDonald’s multisided design is scaled to the site, a heavily wooded lot whose trees the owners wanted to save. He elevated the house, topping it with a steeply pitched, overhanging roof, to keep it from being swallowed by the heavy Sierra snows. In contrast to the sculptured modernity of the Neil Goodwins’ Vermont ski house on the preceding pages, MacDonald’s compact, 1,900-square-foot retreat (which doubles as a cabin in summer) reflects the rustic, open informality of the West. Built for under $25,000, the house is shared by three families and their eight children. Generally, the families alternate weekends, but the occasional one that finds them all in the house together is remembered as relaxed and comfortable. Each couple has a private bedroom and adjoining deck, while the children sleep on a balcony which overlooks the living and dining areas.

Each of the bedrooms, shown in the rendering above, is enclosed and has access to a deck. Children’s sleeping balcony (shaded area), divided into “his” and “hers” sections, is easily reached by trap doors and ladders.

Todd and Troy Kjos (left) hitch a lift up the hill from an obliging weekend houseguest. The site, on a knoll leading down to a lake, makes an ideal toboggan run for the kids.
The wide overhang of the steep, cedar-shingled roofs keeps decks, entrance and windows clear of snow. A triangular clerestory between the two roof heights brings daylight into the upstairs sleeping balcony.

Read America's No.1 Best Seller.

If you haven't read any good soup labels lately, you may be surprised to discover how revealing a soup label can be.

Start with the name. After more than a hundred years, we think it's fair to say that Campbell's needs no introduction. Suffice it to say that every can of soup that bears the Campbell name has earned it.

Then, you might turn to the table of contents. Here it's important to note not only the ingredients themselves, but the order in which they appear. By law, all ingredients must be listed by order of volume. In Campbell's Tomato Soup, for instance, there are more tomatoes than anything else, so tomatoes come first in the listing. With enriched wheat flour second. Followed by sugar, salt, vegetable oil, butter, natural spice oils and Vitamin C.

Checking the ingredients and the order in which they're listed can help you to make sound value judgments when comparing various brands of packaged foods.

Next, look for recipes and serving suggestions. That kind of helpful information tells you a lot about a company's attitude toward homemakers. Campbell's Soup labels provide you with a unique kind of revolving recipe file. And each and every recipe of the dozens that appear on Campbell's Soup labels is carefully developed, kitchen-tested, easy to prepare and foolproof.

In short, you can tell a lot about our soup by its cover. But the final test comes when you open a can of America's best-selling soup and taste the fresh-picked flavor of sun-ripened tomatoes seasoned with a dash of real creamery butter. That's the payoff. And all for about 5¢ a 7-ounce serving.

Campbell's Tomato Soup is America's best-selling soup.

Christmas, kids and candy are natural go-togethers. This is the season when family kitchens begin to look like sugarplum land as small hands turn out sweet-dream confections like these. Some are familiar favorites, such as Peanut Brittle and Fudge; others, like the Marshmallow Haystacks, are new. But all are simple to make, need no special tools, little or no cooking and a minimum of help from Mother. Even kindergartners (like the 5-year-old at center here, shaping Apricot-Coconut Balls) can join in the fun. And if the kids can resist eating their own handiwork, these are the best Christmas gifts of all, for they made them themselves. You can, too, from the recipes for the candies shown—and more—beginning on page 78.

Lindsay, Mark and Billy have a candymaking fling. Clockwise from directly at left: Apricot-Coconut Balls, Peanut Brittle, Orange Pecans, Double Peanut Clusters, Cobblestone Fudge, Peanut Brittle and Marshmallow Haystacks. Center: Fondant Mint Patties (peppermint and wintergreen), French Cocoa Balls and Old-Fashioned Fudge.
Your name doesn’t have to be Gina or Sophia to cook like one. Here's an Instant Italian chef kit. Spaghetti, grated Parmesan, plus a special blend of herbs and spices. Enough to flavor more than a pint of sauce with an authentic Neapolitan accent. Just add tomato paste and serve beautiful Spaghetti, Tangy Italian Style. It's one of the famous Kraft Home Cooked Dinners, the kind you cook up fresh—and quick.
Pâté MAISON

A pâté is a mixture of ground meats and seasonings baked in an earthenware dish called a terrine. The word maison simply signifies homemade style and, because it is homemade, the cook decides on the choice of ingredients and the proportions in which they will be used. Pork is basic to almost all French pâtés. My version uses chicken livers with pork. Surprisingly inexpensive and easy to make, it is best served at room temperature with French bread or thin toast, cocktail onions and sour gherkins. The recipe and the how to's are on page 66.
Stouffer’s introduces single-serving Newburgs. In a new cooking pouch. Lobster. Shrimp. King Crab. Fresh-frozen. In a surf of pure butter, rich cream and fine wine. Truly good things to make truly good flavors. For the people you love, Stouffer’s plays it straight.

1 1/2 pounds chicken livers
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/2 cup chopped onion
1 clove of garlic, minced
1 1/2 pounds ground fresh pork
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 tablespoon salt
pinch of poultry seasoning
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 egg, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons brandy (optional)
1 bay leaf

1. First assemble all the ingredients, even those for garnish, and heat the oven to 400°F so it will be ready for the pâté. 2. Pat the chicken livers dry with paper towels and cut them in half. Sauté the livers in the butter or margarine in a large skillet over high heat. Stir occasionally to keep the livers from sticking. Remove them with a slotted spoon to a cutting board. 3. Add the onion and garlic to the fat left in the pan and cook, stirring constantly, 1 minute. Remove from heat and set aside. 4. Chop the chicken livers finely. The best tool for this is a heavy French chef’s knife. 5. Mix everything but the bay leaf thoroughly in a large bowl. 6. Pack the mixture into a 1 1/4-quart terrine or a 9x5x3-inch loaf pan. Put the bay leaf on top. Cover. The terrine has a cover and you can use foil for the loaf pan. 7. Set a large pan on the oven rack. Place the pâté in it and pour boiling water into the large pan to a depth of 1 inch. Bake 1 hour. Uncover and bake 15 minutes. Remove from oven. Remove pâté from water bath. Cool 10 minutes, then refrigerate 2 hours or more. 8. Pâté may be served from the terrine or may be unmolded onto a board or platter. Makes 12 servings.

The Christmas pudding is an annual ritual for dessert-loving traditionalists. Here are two simple ones—rich, fragrant and festive. Making a steamed pudding is quite easy and if you don't have a steamer you can always improvise. The only things you need are a deep kettle with a tight-fitting lid and a rack or trivet on which to set the mold. Most important: You must keep the water boiling gently throughout the steaming period.

1. Brush a 2-quart mold generously with butter or margarine.
2. Sprinkle surface with granulated sugar. Rotate mold to coat it. Turn mold over and shake out excess sugar.
3. Chop cranberries coarsely with a heavy knife or, using the coarse blade, put them through a food chopper.
4. Put cranberries, raisins, and lemon peel in a large bowl. Mix together well.
5. Put flour and baking soda in a sifter. Sift them over the mixed fruits. Mix well.
6. Blend molasses and hot water. Stir into the fruit-flour mixture until thoroughly mixed.
7. Pour into prepared mold. Cover mold. If it does not have a cover of its own, butter a piece of aluminum foil and place it, buttered side down, over mold. Tie it securely.
8. Place mold on a rack or trivet in a large kettle.
9. Pour enough boiling water into kettle so water comes halfway up the side of the mold.
10. Cover kettle. Steam pudding 1½ hours. Make sure the water boils all the time. Add more water if needed to keep the level constant.

CRANBERRY PUDDING

Softened butter or margarine
Granulated sugar
4 cups cranberries
1 cup seedless raisins
1 jar (4 ounces) candied lemon peel (½ cup)
3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
⅔ teaspoons baking soda
1 cup molasses
¾ cup hot water

1. Grease a 2-quart mold well.
2. Sift flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt together onto a piece of wax paper. Set aside.
3. Put butter or margarine, brown sugar, granulated sugar, cinnamon, ginger, nutmeg and cloves into large bowl. Beat at medium speed on electric mixer or cream by hand with a wooden spoon until all the mixture is light and fluffy.
5. Stir in walnuts.
6. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with pumpkin and sour cream. Begin and end with dry ingredients.

7. Turn into prepared mold.
8. Cover mold. If it does not have a cover of its own, butter a piece of aluminum foil and place it on the mold, buttered side down. Tie it securely around mold.
9. Place mold on a rack or trivet in a large kettle.
10. Pour enough boiling water into kettle so water comes halfway up the side of the mold.
11. Cover kettle. Steam pudding 2 hours. Make sure the water boils all the time. Add more water if needed to keep the level halfway up the mold.

1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
1/2 cup water

Prepare pudding according to package directions using 1 1/2 cups milk per package instead of 2 cups. Turn into bowl. Place a piece of wax paper directly on top of the pudding to prevent a skin from forming. Refrigerate while making cream puffs.

Combine water, butter or margarine and salt. Bring to boiling. Add flour all at once; stir rapidly over heat until mixture forms ball and follows spoon around pan. Cool slightly. Beat in eggs, one at a time; beat well until mixture is smooth and each egg is blended in. Mixture will be slippery and separated but the beating will smooth it. Heat oven to 400°. Drop mixture from spoon or press through pastry bag into 40 to 45 small mounds onto greased cookie sheets. Leave about 2 inches between mounds. Bake 30 minutes or until puffed and golden brown and there are no tiny bubbles of moisture on surface. Transfer puffs to wire racks with a spatula. Cool completely.

Continue to add puffs, dipping them in caramel and piling them in the shape of a cone until all are used. Pour remaining caramel in a thread over the mound of puffs. Turkey Foiled Again

All we're doing here is reminding you of a universally known truth: turkey is juicier, moister, tenderer, plumper when cooked tightly covered with Alcoa® Wrap aluminum foil. aluminum can or 10 cents per pound. Not only is returning cans good for the anti-litter effort; as a major neighborhood drive, it can also raise funds for your favorite environment group or charity. Since the saving and reclaiming of aluminum cans is such a universal good, the question that occurs is how to tell whether a can of tomatoes, say, is made of steel or aluminum. Reynolds offers these clues: Aluminum cans have rounded bottoms, no seams, are nonmagnetic.

DETERGENT BREAKTHROUGH
Stewart L. Udall, Former Secretary of the Interior and one of today’s leading environmentalists, has endorsed a new phosphate-free laundry detergent developed by Sears, Roebuck & Co.

"Tests performed by outside consultants," he said, "convinced me that Sears has produced an efficient and environmentally safe detergent which would provide cleaner water for the country."

The formula, according to Sears, meets a number of environmental requirements: It uses no phosphates, a prime pollutant of our streams and rivers, and is biodegradable (can be returned to the earth). The product is noncorrosive, does not harm dyed fabrics, works well in hard water and, by independent testing, performs as efficiently as phosphate detergents.

The detergent is available in most Sears’ stores and will be featured in the company’s spring catalog.

HELP ABOUT THE HOUSE

ELECTRIFY YOUR GUTTERS

Now that winter is upon us, I'm concerned about how to prevent ice from clogging the gutters on my house. Whenever this happens, water seeps into the house, staining the ceiling and walls and causing paint to peel. Is there a practical way to keep gutters free of ice?

Toledo, Ohio

Many hardware stores, and mail-order houses such as Sears, sell a heating cable which you criss cross over the bottom edge of the roof adjoining your gutters. Then you place a single strand along the bottom of each gutter. When snow builds up on the roof, you connect this cable to an electrical outlet and your problem is solved.

COATED SAW BLADES STAY CLEAN

I've noticed that many tool manufacturers offer handsaw and power-saw blades that are plastic-coated. What is the advantage?

St. Louis, Mo.

Probably the biggest advantage is rustproofing. You don't have to oil a coated saw to prevent rust, and leaving it in a damp basement or tool shed, therefore, won't ruin it. The coating also acts as a lubricant, lessening the tendency to bind. With handsaws this makes a big difference when cutting sheet materials such as quarter-inch plywood. The coating also discourages the accumulation of sap.

MATCH OLD AND NEW TILES

In replacing several asphalt tiles on our kitchen floor, I had to use new ones that didn't quite match the old tiles in color. Is there a way to darken the new tile?

Hamden, Conn.

It's difficult. You could rub into the new tiles small amounts of highly diluted dye, such as black shoe dye or ink from a felt-tipped marker that is a little darker than the color of the old tiles. This is a hit-or-miss proposition which should be tried first on leftover new tiles. Another way would be to place more new tiles around the floor to create the suggestion of a pattern.

IS A PET GETTING YOU FOR CHRISTMAS?

Shopping for a Christmas pet is a combination of fun and heart-tugging confusion. In every pet shop or kennel, cuddly pups and pansy-faced kittens seem to sense that it's the season to use every beguiling trick they know—offering a small, soft paw, a joyful yip, a woeful meow. Each one seems to be saying, "I want you for Christmas!"

Before exposing yourself to the blandishments of these charmers, it's a good idea to think first about the kind of dog or cat that will fit in best with your family. The beagle, for example, is a perennial favorite. This little hound has an easy-going temperament and is sturdy and medium-sized, just right for a child's pet. The fact that a beagle is short-haired is a plus, too. A quick slick-down with a soft brush keeps his coat clean and shiny.

German shepherds, boxers, collies and Labrador retrievers fit the family who wants a lot of dog to love. Indoors, a big dog is generally quieter than some of the smaller breeds. He is best suited, however, to a home with a yard where he can run off his energy and get plenty of exercise.

If you live in a small house or apartment, you can find big-dog spirit in one of the medium or miniature breeds. Many of the toy dogs, like the Pekingese or the Yorkshire, have retained many of the characteristics of their bigger ancestors. Terriers are spunky, independent critters who require little living space and get plenty of exercise from a brisk walk each day.

Coat care, an important consideration in choosing a dog, should be kept in mind in choosing a kitten, too. The long-haired varieties are terribly elegant, but that luxuriant coat must be brushed every day. Long- or short-haired, cats are best suited to homes where they are appreciated for their playful, companionable personalities. Since a cat can live indoors and is clean and quiet, a kitten makes an ideal pet for apartment dwellers.

You should make a few preparations to be sure your new pet will feel comfortable. Before he arrives, the children should understand that he's more like a new baby than a new toy. Small children should be taught to sit on the floor when they hold a small animal. Should he suddenly wiggle out of the child's arms, he won't be dropped and injured. After the pet arrives, the children should also understand the ways an animal says that he is ready to play, needs food, prefers to take a nap or wants to go out.

A young animal requires plenty of sleep. Be sure your pet has a bed he can snuggle into when he needs a nap. Cats love the enclosed type with just a hole in front for coming and going. A dog's bed should have sides to ward off drafts and a comfortable, washable pad. Your new pet needs a place to enjoy his meals, too. Put his dish in a corner where he can eat without being stepped on.

Don't let small children spank or scold a puppy or a kitten—they're often too zealous. House-training and teaching a pet to obey are jobs that should be taken on by a mature youngster or adult, some one who can be both patient and consistent.

Care and kindness are all the pet that gets you for Christmas asks for. In return, he'll give you years of fun, affection and companionship.

A TRADITION FOR PRISCILLA
By Marilyn Estes Smith

We are a family who collects antiques and were eager to instill this love in our 10-year-old daughter, Priscilla.

When Priscilla was 2, her father and I decided that she was old enough for her first antique. We gave her a squat-legged, little wooden chair which she loved dearly. This chair had originally been yellow, but several generations of chubby little bottoms had worn the paint down to the bare wood. She also received a daguerreotype of Great-Great Aunt Priscilla. At the time, she didn't appreciate the gift but, as time has passed, she has come to enjoy it.

On her third birthday, her Uncle Ted, a faithful auction-goer, found a small chest of drawers only 14 inches high. The chest was probably used originally for gloves or hankies—or it may have been a furniture sample. It made a perfect chest for Priscilla's doll clothes.

By the time she had neared the age of 4, Priscilla was becoming interested in these unique gifts and looked forward to her birthday with the hope of receiving a new treasure. On this occasion, we found a lovely, hand-hooked flowered rug—a cozy place for Priscilla to sit when she dressed her dolls.

Her fifth birthday garnered a complete set of blue-willow doll dishes, old and fragile. We felt that, with some help from the adults in the family, she was old enough to care for her own china. She proved that she was, for Priscilla's set is still complete now five years later.

For her sixth birthday, Priscilla asked if she could help choose her gift, a tradition that has been carried on to this day. The search became a four-week adventure. Every Saturday morning, soon after breakfast, we went about searching for her gift. Finally, we found it—a doll with a delicate bisque head and leather arms and legs. Priscilla named her "Emily" for the doll belonging to Sara Crewe in A Little Princess, her favorite storybook.

Her next two birthdays evinced her growing interest in more personal gifts. One year she chose a lovely, old gold locket that housed as a keepsake a soft blond curl. What fun we had imagining its unknown history! The next year she found a beaded pouch bag with a long handle and a tassel on the bottom, a beautiful accessory that should see plenty of evening use in later years when she is older.

On her ninth birthday, Priscilla asked for a rocking chair. We found a small, adult-sized rocker. Grandfather refinished it for her and Grandmother added her own delicate touch with a lovely needlepoint seat pad.

This year Priscilla reached her tenth birthday—and, as everyone knows, to be 10 is to be very special. Priscilla asked if she might have another piece of grown-up furniture to go with her rocker. After a lengthy search, we found a Jenny Lind bed. Grandfather was again put to work on the refinishing. And Priscilla's Aunt Jean gave her a "wedding ring" design quilt that had for years been lying in wait in her cedar chest for just such a special occasion.

All these antiques are unique gifts for a youngster. Priscilla has a head start on a lifetime interest that is healthy and absorbing. Just as important, she is developing a real sense of history and respect for the past. When you come to think of it, what more enduring gift can a child be given?

Stephen Green-Armytage—he photographed "Christmas With the Sketch Hendersons" on pages 40-42—agrees, suggesting that in photographing your Christmas tree you close in on it until it fills the picture frame. "This way your tree will appear in all its glory, not just lost in a room."

Another Christmas-tree suggestion comes from photographer Tom Burnside. His technique: Take a time exposure with only the Christmas-tree lights and some candles burning while you hold a piece of glass lightly smeared with petroleum jelly in front of the lens. Remove the glass and expose the rest of the room with a manual flash. (This is all done in a few seconds.) The result will be tiny coronas of light around your candles and Christmas-tree lights with the rest of the room clearly visible as normal.

Variety of approach is what Fred Lyon urges as you shoot your holiday interiors. "Don't try for a whole room," cautions this photographer, whose work frequently appears in these pages. "Look at the corners—there may be an interesting arrangement in one of them."

Lyon also suggests trying new angles: "Squat with your camera. Stand on your toes. Turn the camera on its side and try vertical views."

Light, of course, is the basis of photography and how you use it will mean the difference between success and failure. Maroon reminds us that "film does not soften images." A room too softly lighted will turn out to be harsh and contrasty if shot without a flash. He recommends "long exposures in a soft light for depth" and prefers late-afternoon exterior light for really soft effects. "For best results use a soft light in the foreground and a bright one in the background," he says, warning against having a brightly lighted object in the foreground (which will throw your background into darkness) or too wide a range of light. (The human eye is far superior to any film in accommodating to extremes of light, but since it is film, not the retina, that gets developed and printed, the photographer is better off with the middle intensities of light.) Another interior-lighting approach is offered by Tom Burnside: "Just use the normal room lights but with bulbs of greater wattage in the sockets."

Meek likes to work with light that comes in a window to mold, sculpt and give richness to the forms and furnishings in a room. This is not direct sunlight, which is too harsh, but the filtered feel of north light. He suggests making the most of such light by reflecting it back on the subject with "a white object, such as a sheet or a piece of paper." That sort of reflector is helpful. But of no help at all is another kind that Lyon warns against—a mirror or shiny surface that will bounce the light of a flash bulb right back into the camera. Remove the offending mirror, he says, or change the angle of your camera.

Zimmerman, who claims the hardest assignment he ever had was shooting his own house ("Suspended from a Hill," AH, Jan., '70), advises home photographers to get to know the varied exterior moods of their houses throughout all the hours and all the seasons and shoot the moods they like best. For interior shots, he recommends photographing early in the morning or late evening to achieve a balance of artificial light inside and natural light outside.

Shooting when it is totally dark outside eliminates, of course, the problems of color balance between natural and artificial light and the dangers of unbecoming blueness that imbalance brings about. If you are shooting color, you should use only one type of light source—the natural light coming in the window or artificial interior light—unless you are a wizard with filters and gels and that sort of gadgetry. Be sure, too, that you have the proper type of film for the light with which you are working.

Exterior shots are among the most popular at Christmas, particularly if there is snow. The danger in shooting exteriors, however, is that you might "tilt" the house over. How? If you aim your camera up to be sure of getting the chimney in, the walls of your house will not appear parallel in the photograph but will narrow at the top. The house will look as if it is falling over backwards. Green-Armytage advises using a stepladder to get your camera more into the middle of the house. Or borrow a neighbor's upstairs window across the street.

A final word from the pros on steadying your camera. Zimmerman: "Don't trust your own hand. Use a tripod." Lyon: "If you don't use a tripod, try placing your camera on a table." And a last word from an amateur: The human eye sees what it wants to see, the camera sees what is there. So look sharp, then look again. And take the lens cap off. END

DEAR AMERICAN HOME

WYETH COUNTRY

Your October American Treasury on Chester County, Pa., brought back pleasant memories of long walks and Sunday drives along the paths and roads near the Brandywine Creek. I was impressed with your sensitive coverage of this beautiful historic area. Many thanks.

(Mrs.) Caroline W. Schroth Branchville, N.J.

It was a great pleasure to see several pages of early Americana in the October issue. Today, more than ever, we need a sense of perpetuity in our homes to counteract the restlessness and rootlessness of the age. There is no better medium to carry on the traditions of the past, to my mind, than AH.

(Mrs.) Anne Rotruck Anderson, Ind.

The "Wyeth Country" Treasury was particularly interesting and the recipes are marvelous. I'm looking forward to your next issue.

Frances Soika Novelty, Ohio

THE NEW, OLD FASHIONED 9½ MINUTE FRUITCAKE.

This is the fruitcake that kept grandmother in the kitchen all day. Now it's yours in a fraction of the time. With all the tempting, spicy flavor you remember. This traditional holiday favorite takes just 9½ minutes to mix. With a little help from Eagle Brand's blend of fresh whole milk and pure sugar. And a sweet touch from tangy None Such Mince Meat. And the nutcracker fresh flavor of Diamond Walnuts, available shelled or in the shell. Christmas wouldn't be the same without it.

Holiday Fruitcake
(makes one 9-inch tube cake)
2½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 tsp. baking soda
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1 can Eagle Brand® Sweetened Condensed Milk (not evaporated)
2½ cups (28-oz. jar) None Such Mince Meat*
2 cups (1-lb. jar) mixed candied fruit
1 cup Diamond Walnuts, coarsely chopped
Butter one 9-inch tube or spring form pan. Line with waxed paper. Butter again. Sift flour with baking soda. Combine eggs, Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk, None Such Mince Meat, fruits and Diamond Walnuts. Fold in dry ingredients. Turn into pan. Bake at 300°F. for 2 hours, or until center springs back and top is golden. Cool 5 minutes. Turn out; remove paper. Cool. Decorate with Diamond Walnuts and glazed fruit. Serve with your favorite vanilla or hard sauce.

*To use 9-oz. box None Such Mince Meat, crumble 2 packages into saucepan; add 1½ cups water. Cook, stirring to break lumps; boil 1 minute, cool.
If a poll were taken, forget-me-nots, daisies and violets would be at the top of the list of favorite flowers. These creative stitcheries are cheerful, colorful, and, best of all, easy to do. Designed for us by Barbara Sparre, with simple stitch charts and color guides, they are an amateur’s delight; yet their distinctive designs won’t be beneath the more accomplished needlewoman. The flowers are stamped on off-white cotton homespun, size 12 x 30 inches. Kits include wool yarn for the embroidery. Make one or both to brighten a hall, dining room, breakfast room or bedroom. The frames are also available. They come unassembled, to save you money, and the wood is unfinished so you can paint it any color you like—green, or perhaps one of the flower colors. Put together frame instructions are also included.

Dear Sirs: I have had an opportunity to use Sauna Shorts primarily for the purpose of evaluating its worth in view of the many inquiries that have been made to me relating to your product. This Sauna Shorts' Inches-Off Program is based on sound scientific principles. It's sensible and it works—a rare combination! I plan to recommend it to all my patients who want to take off inches. Yours very truly, Anita Sharpe, Registered Physiotherapist, Los Angeles, Calif.

Gentlemen; I feel I simply must write to tell you how happy I am with the results of your Sauna Shorts. I lost 5 inches in the very first week—2 inches from my waist and 3 inches from my hips. You can believe me when I say I'll make sure they don't come back! I wear my Sauna Shorts once a week now to keep my great new shape. My friends keep telling me how great I look and they, too, are interested in purchasing your Sauna Shorts. Sincerely, Mrs. Ina Ann Debs, Chicago, Illinois

Dear Sirs: Thanks to Sauna Shorts and an easy to follow exercise plan, I've lost 2 inches from my waist and 2 inches from my hips. Barbara McArdle, Inglewood, Calif.

SAUNA SHORTS

Be fully satisfied in 1 week or your money back.

Since Sauna Shorts were first developed and put on the market, numerous letters have indicated that the Sauna Shorts' "Inches-Off" Program is not only an effective approach to removing unwanted inches from hips, thighs and waistline, but also a very simple and pleasant way to obtain those lovely results. All it takes is thirty minutes a day with your regular or long-line Sauna Shorts and within a week you will be totally amazed and satisfied or we will cheerfully refund your money.

HOW DO SAUNA SHORTS WORK THEIR WONDERS?

Following your 3-step exercise plan, just slip into your Sauna Shorts as you would any shorts and inflate them with the detachable air pump we provide you. You'll enjoy the warm, gently "massaging" action of Sauna Shorts' many air pockets, snuggling up to you tighter and tighter. Now you're ready to put the air pump aside while your Sauna Shorts go to work creating a Finnish Sauna-like warmth. This is your Sauna Shorts rest period, preceded by the 3-step exercise plan which was designed to pinpoint "inches removal" from your hips, thighs and waistline. While you relax and go about your regular routine, you'll feel your Sauna Shorts doing their part—silently, comfortably, and with no further effort on your part.

CHOOSE REGULAR OR LONG-LINE SAUNA SHORTS—BOTH INCREDIBLE BARGAINS!

The regular Sauna Shorts and 3-step exercise plan for reducing hips and thigh measurements are priced at a low $9.95. For hips, thighs and waistline reduction, select the long-line Sauna Shorts...only $14.95. The long-line Sauna Shorts extend above the waist with vertical air pocket sauna strips, to help work off "lower midriff bulge" too.

MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE—If for any reason, whatsoever, you are not 100% satisfied with your Sauna Shorts Inches-Off Program, please return your Sauna Shorts for a prompt, total refund, no questions asked.

Charming Statuettes
Capture the Beauty of World Famous Figurines

From the rollicking and often heart warming movie that’s become a classic in our time, comes one of the most popular tunes ever written. If you thrilled to the adventures of the two delightful heroes, you’ll remember with fond nostalgia this melody as it comes tinkling out of this charming music box. You can almost hear the echoes of the Old West captured by a host of now silent player pianoes as the crystal clear notes recreate this happy theme.

Created with an heirloom tone, delicate bisque-finish, here is a collector’s treasure that becomes a classic decorating piece wherever it is displayed. Of course it is literally impossible to even remotely capture the soft bisque colorations and workmanship from the small black and white illustration here. Only when you yourself daydream to the delightful melody and see the consummate beauty of the work will you fully appreciate the charm and appeal it will bring to your home.

OFFER WILL NOT BE REPEATED THIS SEASON

We firmly believe that these exquisite music boxes with their old world charm will soon become hard-to-get collectors’ items you will treasure forever. Gaines-burgers are the same. So they’re better.

To your dog, Gaines-burgers are the same as canned dog food because he can’t taste them apart. To you, Gaines-burgers are better because there’s no inconvenience of a can.

To your dog, two meaty moist Gaines-burgers are heaven. To you, it’s the fact that he gets all the vitamins, vegetables, milk protein and more solid food than the leading complete canned dog food.

To your dog, it’s the fresh water you place next to his food. To you, it’s the nice feeling you get knowing you didn’t lug home all those cans.

To your dog, it’s the healthy feeling he gets from a steady diet of Gaines-burgers. To you, it’s no stacking cans, no opening cans, no refrigerating half-empty cans.

Gaines-burgers. The canned dog food without the can?
Their dinner parties? They're famous for them. Always unique. Always successful. Besides, searching out the unusual is a lot more fun for them.

Their cigarette? Viceroy. They won't settle for less. It's a matter of taste.

Viceroy gives you all the taste, all the time.
