Foolproof crust for THE PERFECT PIE
A Reynolds Wrap "collar" holds firm and keeps the temperature even all around, coaxes your soufflé to new heights.

Reynolds Wrap is oven-tcmix?rcd for flexible strength...a special kind of strength that resists tearing and puncturing. So strong, so dependable, so versatile. Maybe that's why more women buy Reynolds Wrap than all other foils combined.

MAKE YOUR OWN REYNOLDS WRAP "COLLAR" FOR YOUR MUSHROOM SOUFFLÉ
5 Tbsp. butter or margarine
1 tsp. salt
1/2 cups milk
3/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
6 egg yolks
1/2 lb. fresh mushrooms, finely chopped
8 egg whites
1/8 tsp. cream of tartar

Fold a length of Reynolds Wrap to make a 3" foil collar. Shape around 1 1/4 quart soufflé dish, letting collar extend 2" above rim. Secure with paper clips. Oil inside surface of foil collar and dish.

ASPARAGUS "TIP": To lift stalks in and out of boiling water without breaking them, use a wide strip of Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap.
No dishwasher detergent can prevent water spots.

No detergent, even the best, can prevent water spots. Jet-Dry and only Jet-Dry is made to sheet off water in the rinse cycle. (It’s there water spots form, after your detergent’s gone down the drain.) Jet-Dry comes in liquid for machines with dispensers. Or a solid little basket you hang in your dishwasher.

So next time a dishwasher detergent promises you nothing but spotless, spotless, spotless, remember its claim goes down the drain when it goes down the drain.

Try Jet-Dry Water Spot Remover. You’ll see what spotless really means.

Promise.

I ate my way through eleven countries. Then I lost 80 pounds.

By Helga Heckel — as told to Ruth L. McCarthy

When you are married to an Air Force man, you can be pretty sure of one thing: moving around. And if you like food the way I do, the whole world turns into a smorgasbord. Bratwurst in Germany. Soufflés in France. Meat pies in England. It was eat... eat... eat from one country to the next, until we finally came home to Safford, Arizona. Then I took a look at the one ugly souvenir I had brought back: my fat. I was 197 pounds! And I knew I had to lose a part of me.

I am German by birth and I was used to good, solid food always. Yet at my marriage (after the Berlin Air-Lift), I weighed only 110 pounds. It was not until my first daughter was born that my weight really went up. Then it seemed there was no stop to it.

Every country we went to, I picked up new recipes as I added dimples to my elbows and another course to our meals. Dinners in our house got so long, my husband had to have two cigarette breaks just to get through them. I don't know how he ever stayed slim. For I just got fatter and fatter. The last dress I remember buying for myself was size 18½. After that, I made my clothes and I went as high as a 42 pattern.

All those "pasties" I used to make certainly didn't help. Maybe you never heard of them. They are like turnovers, filled with diced beef, carrots, potatoes and seasoning. It's an old recipe which came from Cornwall, England to the Finns of northern Michigan where my husband was raised. The copper miners used to take "pasties" with them underground for lunch, because they taste delicious cold. But I like them hot better.

Such eating as this pushed me so close to 200 pounds on the scale that finally I knew I must do something to reduce.

I had been reading stories in magazines about those ladies who lost weight with the Ayds® Plan, and I thought I should buy a box of these reducing plan candies. We have to drive about 125 miles to a shopping center, so on one trip I went to the drug section and got the chocolate fudge-type Ayds. The caramel kind was too chewy for me and they didn't have the butterscotch fudge then.

I had never tried a reducing product before. Just some exercise. And once a carrot diet that turned me so yellow, I was afraid. I also tried to control my appetite by myself, but that was too hard. I needed something to help me and Ayds did, when I took them like it says. And the directions say they contain no harmful drugs. With Ayds I really was able to eat less. I even started to cook less. I made meals of meat and vegetables and fruit, without eating any bread or potatoes. And I began to lose pounds on the Ayds Plan.

At first I thought that if I lost weight, maybe I would lose my strength and get weak. But I did not. I did all my own housework and gardening without getting tired at all. I can still even tear a big catalog, like a telephone book, right in half. I saw a man do that on television once and I practiced until I learned it also.

My husband says now that I am down to 117 pounds that we get better mileage on our sports car. I don't know whether he is teasing me or not, but this much I surely do know: he likes me slim again.

And now, please, I would like to say just one more thing to anybody who is reading this and wondering if this Ayds Candy can really help. I say to you that the hardest part of reducing is to start. It's like going to the dentist. You know you must do it, even if you are afraid. But once you make up your mind, it immediately becomes easier. That's how it was at first for me on the Ayds Plan. But once I had lost 17 pounds, I knew I could go down as much as I wanted. Look at my pictures. See what I mean?

Where can you turn if you’re leaving “the pill”?

Of course “the pill” is the most effective form of contraceptive known to woman. But if you’re forced to look for another answer, consider modern, easy Delfen® Contraceptive Foam.

Delfen gives you instant, highly effective protection that has been proven in extensive medical research. Although it is undetectable in use, Delfen creates a chemical shield with the most effective spermicide you can get. (Clinical data is available to your doctor.) In fact, there is no more effective method of vaginal contraception than Delfen. And, for most women, no side effects.

Delfen is so easy. Unlike old-fashioned methods, there’s nothing to wear or remove, no douching necessary.

Delfen Foam. At drugstores throughout the U. S. and Canada without a prescription. Or choose cream form.

Even if you’re sorry to leave the pill, be glad you can turn to Delfen.

We recently received a letter—you’ll find it on page 81—from Mrs. Robert S. Barry, a reader from New Orleans, who writes: “Instead of sparking public reaction to our environmental dilemma, today’s magazines are boring the public to death.” She certainly has a point. The strident shrieks of “too late, too late,” which set the tone of most newspaper and magazine reports on our threatened environment, are so frequent that if they do not bore you with repetitiveness they frustrate you with despair.

What about the positive side of the ecological picture? We constantly search for The Better Life as we look for stories for AH, and never in our memory have families across the land been so involved, so concerned, so actively at work to improve the quality of their home place. This first-of-the-year issue is a tribute to that spirit. Our lead story is a words-and-pictures essay on a new community called Sunriver. We call it “Pollution-Free Paradise” (page 33), and while it is located in the beautiful and remote interior of Oregon, the care behind its plan, its building, its lifestyle should inspire communities everywhere to look at their own natural resources with a more thoughtful eye.

If you have been led to think, as so many have, that Earth-Day-type movers and marchers are either hippy escapists or political or business profiteers, take a look at the families who people this issue. They should reinforce your pride in America. On page 8 you find the Harvey Sloanes of Louisville who are at work improving the life of a crumbling downtown core; following them, on page 12, are the Lee Kellys, who left the city to reclaim a used-up farm in Oregon. Cliff Humphrey (page 41) is a gentle ecology crusader in California; the William Graysons (above and on page 40) are saving the wood duck from becoming extinct in Virginia. There are many more like them in this issue and millions more across the country.

What can you do? Well, you could plant a tree. The 10 best buys for this most helpful of nature’s gifts appear on pages 43-45. Or you could have your own Ecological Day. Jeanne Lamb O’Neill tells how on page 26 in “The Housewife’s Dilemma,” or how to use the washing machine with a clear conscience.

In Louisville, a doctor and his wife are devoted city-savers.

Lifestyle

Kathy and Harvey Sloane are determined cities will survive. They have chosen Louisville, Ky., as the place to prove their point. Says Harvey, "The problems here—housing, health care, air and water pollution—can still be solved."

In his summers off from Yale, Harvey, now a 34-year-old physician, had traveled across the land, harvesting celery with migrant Mexicans in California and picking strawberries with the Indians in Oregon. He shoed horses in Wyoming, bored for oil in Texas and worked with construction gangs in Canada. After medical school, he joined the U.S. Public Health Service and spent two years doctoring Kentucky's Appalachian poor. Moving on, he spent two months as a volunteer M.D. in Vietnam, visited health facilities in Russia and Peru, joined a nutritional survey team in Malaysia and climbed Tanganyika's Mt. Kilimajaro somewhere along the way. That's when he decided to settle down. Explains Harvey, "I had some unsettling to do. What I had seen convinced me that the redevelopment of our cities is the greatest challenge we face today."

As a beginning, Harvey shook loose enough local funds to found the Park-DuValle Neighborhood Health Center in downtown Louisville, an impressive medical facility for the urban poor. He is now director. He also became chairman of Citizens for Clean Air, thus earning himself a power berth with the county Air Pollution Control Board.

Good-looking Kathy Sloane whisked into her husband's whirlwind after their marriage a year and a half ago. She has become as active as Harvey, stuffing her head and house with files of data for urban cure. Kathy also works at the Health Center's Parent-Child Center, at a drug addiction halfway house and also finds time to help raise funds for the Actors Theatre of Louisville.

As further proof of their commitment to the inner city, the Sloanes bought a house in Belgravia Court, a cluster of Victorian town houses in the center of a deteriorating downtown neighborhood. "You can't work in the heat of the city," says Harvey, "and go home to the suburban shade." Just after they had moved into their house, Kathy and Harvey and their neighbors found themselves up against a new highway proposal that would have destroyed the court. Another battle later and they had won a bend in the road.

"We love the involvement of city life," says Kathy. "For us, it is the community effort to rebuild that gives meaning to our private lives. In Louisville, we think that we've made a start." That's one city down, several thousand more to go.

Harvey and Kathy Sloane (above left) play audience to a performance by Bathsheba, their German shepherd, near their downtown Louisville home. An antiques showcase, the Sloanes' Victorian house serves as a genial inn for the many visitors who come to see Harvey's "model" Health Center.

Kathy (left) spends much of her time at the Health Center's Parent-Child Center. Here she huddles with a group of 4- and 5-year-olds to organize the morning's playtime agenda.

In Oregon, a family replants America the beautiful, from sod to seedling fir.

Bonnie and Lee Kelly and their children, Kassandra and Jason, have made friends with the earth. Eight years ago, they bought five acres of tired but rolling hills in Oregon City, Ore., an hour's drive south of Portland. The region had once been thick with Douglas fir, but early settlers, impatient to farm, indiscriminately cleared all the land. When the Kellys came, the land was so spent that only four trees grew near the farmhouse that came with the property.

On the advice of a biologist friend, they trucked in tons of new topsoil and added bark dust and manure. Slowly the land awoke, and the Kellys set to planting: 1,800 Douglas fir, some pine, a grape arbor and a garden of organically grown fruits and vegetables.

"Most people turn to chemical gardening because it is easier and takes less time," says Bonnie. "Instead of pesticides, I use garlic, onion and hot pepper, crushed and made into a liquid spray. Last year we hatched thousands of eggs from praying mantises—they're great for eating bugs."

Bonnie and Lee patched the roof on the farmhouse, painted it with a fresh coat of white but otherwise chose to leave their modest home alone. Today, along with two dogs, two cats and a couple of peacocks, the Kellys' farmyard includes a horse, a donkey, a turkey gobbler, some pheasant and a waddle of ducks. From a cage of fryers comes each Sunday's supper and their laying hens supply enough fresh eggs for everyone. The family is cutting down on red meat, and may decide to eliminate it entirely from their diet.

"If you're going to change your way of life, it must be slow and gradual," says Bonnie, "otherwise it's truly not effective."

Lee, a successful sculptor who works with metal, converted the barn into a studio while Bonnie remade the garage as her own studio for painting. Other outbuildings have been turned into work and living space for three visiting artists in residence.

This Oregon soil, once gone sour, now feeds them all. What they can't consume, they give back to the land. "It takes a month to load up one garbage can, and it is mostly filled with plastic," says Lee. "We salvage tin and glass for redemption and all the other waste either goes into compost piles or is used for land fill."

The Kellys are not the only ones concerned with restoring the ecological balance. In 1970, Oregon state nurseries sold more than 8.2 million trees for private reforestation. The Kellys may have only five acres on this earth, but that's a mighty start.

Barbara Mayall is a Manhattan homemaker and working wife. Each morning she hops a subway downtown to Wall Street where she starts her active day as a stockbroker. Her beauty philosophy is simple: "Look natural." But the natural look in New York City—where the air is often at odds with a healthy skin—requires more than a little help.

Depending on where you live, your skin is assaulted daily by sulphur dioxide and carbon monoxide fumes. Pollution is a constant skin hazard.

So, as you might expect, "ecology" has become as much a watchword to cosmetic makers as to everyone else. Skin-care routines are now determined by skin type plus the particular environment you live in. This means any skin analysis must take into account where you live and how you live.

There is a new emphasis on balance, with the objective of redressing environmental wrongs and restoring the natural chemical equilibrium of your skin. Special attention is given to the pH factor, the measurement of the acidity or alkaline level of the skin. Healthy skin is a bit on the acid side, so the new skin-care preparations strive to restore this acidity with a favorable pH. There has also been an increase in the use of allergy-tested products. Once used primarily by women with special skin sensitivities, they are now the domain of every woman. The reason: With so many substances polluting the air, the more protection you have, the better.

As a first step in a survival program for your skin, look into the many new environment-oriented skin-care and makeup products. Which is just what Barbara Mayall did.

Concerned about the effect of big-city fallout on her skin, she visited the Elizabeth Arden salon for help. After a skin analysis, makeup specialist Roy Karrell recommended a basic treatment and makeup program using Elizabeth Arden's new Directionale line of skin-care and makeup preparations.

Directionale, Clinique from Clinique Laboratories, Coty's Equasion and Max Factor's Swedish Formula Facial Collection are among the cosmetic lines formulated to counteract unfriendly air and give you the look you want.

After Barbara's skin treatment with Directionale's Equalizing Treatment Bar No. 1, a cleanser for oily skin, and Equalizing Lotion No. 1, an astringent used to tighten and minimize enlarged pores, Roy Karrell applied Moisture Shield, a light moisturizer to protect the skin. The treatment complete, next came a Color Control Cream Foundation (Rose No. 4), Colorless Equalizing Powder to set it, Color Control Blusher/Toner to heighten her cheek bones. For her eyes: Willow Green Soft Tone Eye-lid Color on the lid, Fawn Soft Tone in the crease, Magnolia Soft Tone on the brow—all to make the eyes stand out. And as a final touch: Moisting Lip Color, Pink No. 7, on the lips. The result is a healthy, natural look, and long-term protection, too.

Once you've selected the right skin-care and makeup products for your environmental needs, your overall strategy should be the following:

1) Clean your skin thoroughly, and in high-pollution areas this could mean three times a day—morning, night and possibly right after lunch.

2) Prevent dryness with nonstop moisturizing. Every time you cleanse, moisturize immediately afterward—and apply extra moisturizer between times to areas that seem extra dry. You can use a moisturizer alone, a moisturizer under a foundation or a foundation containing a moisturizer. Use nondrying makeup, lipstick and eye makeup.

3) Fight indoor dryness with a humidifier. Or put shallow pans of water on your radiators.

4) Protect against extremes of weather by moisturizing even more heavily with products that contain special anti-irritating, anti-chapping ingredients.

5) Wear a sunscreen whenever the sun can reach you. Remember, sunlight can penetrate smog.

6) Your hands, arms, legs and your hair are also exposed to the environment, so cleanse, moisturize, condition and protect them, too.

7) Give your skin a big boost by some intelligent discipline in matters of general health. You know the rules—the right diet, decent rest, enough water to drink, fewer pills and as much serenity as you can muster.

STYLE AND THE SINGLE STEM

The single perfect flower, or a tiny cluster, can often be more expressive than cliché dozens of blooms that cost much more. So for sudden gift urges (or to give your own decorating a lift), why not stock up on these vases designed to hold a few flowers only? Moderately priced at the New York shops mentioned, they are fashioned to flatter the most delicate blossoms. The Gerbera (top left), the Pink Perfection Lily (center) and the tufted Allium (top right) are imported rarities. Put just one in the right container and the effect is luxurious. A half dozen of the others—asters, roses and daisies won’t batter the bankroll. And in these vases they take on a new perspective,

It contains five outstanding books, including Love Story by Erich Segal, One Life by Christian Barnard, A Place in the Woods by Helen Hoover, The Secret Woman by Victoria Holt, The Homecoming by Earl Hamner, Jr., all condensed into a permanent luxurious volume. These are the books that people have been reading and discussing; you won’t want to miss getting them free.

We hope that once you’ve seen your free “sample” you’ll want to go on and receive future volumes, but the choice is completely yours. Condensed Books bring you America’s great best sellers at only a fraction of their original prices. Every three months, 5 or 6 of the best current novels, biographies, and other important books are skillfully condensed into a single volume of at least 576 pages (none of these condensations ever appears in Reader’s Digest). The books in each volume would cost you $20 to $30 if bought in publishers’ editions. But you get them all in condensed form for only $3.63, plus shipping.

So won’t you reply right away? A $5,000.00 check may be waiting for you right now. And if you don’t send your numbers back, you haven’t a chance to win. It’s as simple as that. So please do return your Lucky Number Card today. Maybe you’re already a big winner and we’d hate to think you missed out on your prize because you forgot to mail back your Lucky Number Card.
This kit of eight fine Belgian linen napkins will enhance your table as well as your appreciation of Americana. They are stamped with familiar wild flowers from a cross-section of the United States. Embroidery threads and directions are included. The choice of edging is up to you (ours is a narrow lace). Flowers are, clockwise from left: poppy, California; goldenrod, Kentucky, Nebraska; Cherokee rose, Georgia; violet, Rhode Island, Illinois, New Jersey, Wisconsin; mountain laurel, Pennsylvania, Connecticut; clover, Vermont; bluebonnet, Texas; hawthorn, Missouri.

Regional wild-flower bouquets created with blooms from all over America, each representing a different area, were the inspiration for these handsome wild-flower napkins.
If you can tie a knot, you can make these luxurious, deep-pile wool rugs

Making one of these beautiful rugs is not only easy—it's fun, too—the remarkable Shillcraft way. The richness of your very first rug will amaze you and your friends.

Choose from 49 exclusive Shillcraft designs, including modern...4 shapes: oval, rectangular, circular, semi-circular...162 selections in all...53 colors (if you prefer, choose your own color combinations).

Create a perfect heirloom-quality rug using Shillcraft's Shillcut moth-proofed 100%-wool 6-ply rug yarn, imported from England. No cutting or winding...comes cut-to-size. Guarantees extra-deep, even pile.

The pattern is stencilled in color on sturdy English canvas. Just match yarn to colors on canvas; you can't make errors. Work on an ordinary table or even on your lap. No bulky frame needed.

Shillcraft latchet hook ties wool to canvas easily, quickly, tightly. Vacuum or clean with safety...wool cannot pull out.

Enjoy a relaxing, valuable spare-time hobby. So easy, you can do it watching TV. Two can enjoy it at the same time...so simple even young children can help.

Convenient terms available on our easy Monthly Payment Plan. You can make a complete rug for as little as $13.50.

Stain or painting is often an inexpensive way to revitalize a floor's attractiveness. To make it practical, the final coat should be a polyurethane or clear-plastic finish. This will preserve the floor without waxing or the need to worry about dampness.

Is that repair call necessary?

You'd think it would be obvious—if your appliance won’t work, it's broken, right? Perhaps not. It is estimated that $50,000,000 worth of service calls—that's 30 to 40 percent of all service calls—are unnecessary. But how, short of taking engineering courses, can you tell when your appliance needs fixing?

First, make sure that the plug is pushed all the way in and that no fuse has blown. If those aren't the troubles, perhaps you haven't pushed the proper buttons in all the way or set control dials correctly.

Read the instruction book that came with the appliance. New models often incorporate new features on which you should brush up. Operating manuals also list possible problems you may encounter, so look for the “What to do if...” section of the booklet.

Once you're sure that you are operating the appliance properly, unplug the unit and clean the exterior thoroughly. Do not fiddle with motors and inner workings but do clean those parts you can see. Gas burners won't light, for example, when grease builds up on the jets. Refrigerators don't work as efficiently with dust on the coils.

If all else fails, call the serviceman—preferably the one authorized to repair models made by the manufacturer of your appliance. If you are lucky, you'll get good, prompt attention within 24 hours. But remember, more than one-third of a serviceman’s time is spent answering unnecessary calls. So you may have to wait. In fairness to yourself and the serviceman, ask what his rates are before he comes. There are basic charges for driving out to see the appliance, others for taking the appliance into the shop. Once he diagnoses the problem, he can estimate the cost of labor and parts. Remember, also paying for his training and experience as well as for the mileage on his service truck, an inventory of repair parts, his tools, wages and insurance.

If despite the repairs, you still aren't satisfied, write the Major Appliance Consumer Action Panel, 20 North Wacker Drive, Chicago, Ill. 60606. They will send your problem to the appliance manufacturer and follow it up.

For small appliances, write the manufacturer's president, giving all the details. You'll be amazed at how fast you get action. —Maidie Kerr Spencer.

THE HOUSEWIFE'S DILEMMA

What to do for the home environment when everything is either immoral, ill-advised . . . or polluting.

Some years it doesn't pay to get out of bed. Like now—the era of Galloping Ecology. All of a sudden everything we do is wrong. We're wrong when the wash comes out too white. We're wrong when we spray the roses with pesticides. We're wrong when we use disposable diapers for the baby, incinerate the garbage, run the vacuum, chauffeur the kids on their endless rounds and collapse at the end of the day, curled up with a cigarette on our bear-skin rug in front of a cozy coal fire.

Do we get any medals for producing a healthy, happy brood of youngsters? No, we get dirty looks and a nagging conscience for overpopulating the earth. Chief cook, bottle-washer and polluter of the world's environment—that's the housewife of today. Did I say bottle-washer? Now there's an old-timey, pre-ecological expression. Most of us haven't washed a bottle in years. We've been brought up to believe that handy disposables are for disposing of and throwaways are for throwing away—and we couldn't imagine life without paper napkins and paper plates.

“What's a poor housewife to do?” troubled women are asking all over the country. We want to fight pollution, but we don't want to go back to the Dark Ages. We're concerned but not committed to marching in parades, getting up petitions or camping on our Congressman's doorstep. Maybe we're just not ready to trade in the washer-dryer for a washboard and a bar of yellow soap. Isn't there something an ordinary, nonmilitant, everyday housewife can do to help save the environment—and, at the same time, her self-respect?

Yes, there is. It's amazing how many little ecological tricks you can practice around the house day by day. Let's say you decide to have an Ecological Day tomorrow. The routine might go something like this: First thing, you'll skip your morning shower. Sure, showers are quicker than a loll in the tub, but think of all that water down the drain. After your husband and kids are gone, you can take a peaceful, leisurely tub—half-full. Later, you might sweet-talk them into cutting down on their showering time—without yelling, no matter what. There's enough noise pollution around the house with radio, TV, dishwasher, vacuum cleaner, kitchen-exhaust fan and low-flying jets.

You'll squeeze fresh orange juice for the family today. (The rinds, added to the compost heap, make first-rate mulch for the garden.) The children's lunches? Each will go in its own trim lunch box, instead of a flimsy paper bag. And today is the day that you actually will get that leaky faucet fixed. Honest!

Eventually, the coast will be clear—your husband off to the station via car pool or bike, your children off on their school bus. Tidying up the kitchen, you'll empty the cooking fat and coffee grounds in the garbage, not down the drain. And why not check your outside garbage cans—made of quiet, heavy— (continued on page 80)

THE EXPERIMENTAL MEMBERSHIP suggested here will prove, by your own actual experience, how effectively membership in the Book-of-the-Month Club can keep you from missing books you fully intend to read.

As long as you remain a member, you will receive, each month, the Book-of-the-Month Club News, which describes the monthly Selection as ill as scores of other important books, most of which are available at substantial discounts—up to 40% on more expensive volumes. All of these books are identical in size, quality and format to the publishers' intentions. If you wish to purchase the monthly Selection, do nothing and it will be shipped to you automatically. However, there is no obligation to purchase any particular volume. If you do not wish the selection or any other book offered—or if you want one of the Alternates simply indicate your decision on the form provided each month and mail it so that it is received by the date specified on the form.

If you continue after this experimental membership, you will earn, for every Club Selection or Alternate you buy, a Book-Dividend Credit.
Each Credit, upon payment of a nominal sum, often only $1.00 or $1.50
—somewhat more for unusually expensive volumes or sets—will entitle you to a Book-Dividend® which you may choose from over 100 fine library volumes available over the year. This unique library-building system, together with the sizable discounts on Selections and Alternates, enables members to save more than 60% of what they would otherwise

Nestled in pines, a cluster of Sunriver condominiums, their pitched roofs and stair-step design echoing the nearby Cascade Range, reposes at the golf course edge.

The flutter of wings overhead: the dewy fragrance of pine, meadow, morning flowers; the vibrant colors of a land awakening to the sun—this is the Sunriver experience, shared proudly by members of an Oregon community who have found in a quality environment the better life. Following, we look at the Sunriver plan and its architecture; we meet its people and the men who have made it so special. Sunriver is unique, but its spirit is everywhere, as the families on pages 40–41 should convince you. Environmental doers, they are fore-runners of a movement that is spreading coast to coast. Want to join it? This issue is full of ideas that will help you bring a little of Sunriver to your town.
By Barbara Plumb

Sunriver's 5,500 acres, laced by 8½ miles of Oregon's rambling Deschutes River, is an environmentalist's dream, a community that should forever remain unpolluted in a landscape that will always remain unspoiled. The men behind it, Oregonians John Gray and Don McCallum and a staff of planners and ecologists, came before the people came to assure that the wildlife would not be driven out or the beauty destroyed by bulldozers. Today Sunriver is a recreational paradise near Bend, reposing in the shadows of the Cascade Range. Tomorrow it will be a self-supporting small town, one where nature is not subdued but enhanced. Even when there are 5,000 families in residence, there will be only one family per acre instead of the three or four found in the average suburb. The river banks, valuable as potential developer lots, are not to be built on but are to be kept for the wildlife and the residents—as are the meadows, the marshes, half the land. All utilities are underground; the sewage system is superb; and the bicycle is far more popular than the automobile. The architecture of lodges, condominiums and houses is a contemporary blend of woods native to the Northwest. What is life like at Sunriver? See page 39.
Geese (left) catch the setting sun as they fly over the 600-acre meadow adjoining Sunriver Lodge. Designed by George T. Rockrise and Associates, the lodge is a Northwest-Orient blend of native lava stone and wood.

The Deschutes River (top right) belongs to the local wildlife and to all for fishing and canoeing. No building is allowed along its winding banks.

Housing is clustered (bottom right) and kept in the timberline with green belts or the golf course acting as buffer zones between the dwellings and the wild areas. Roads are narrow and curved to slow traffic, minimize the use of cars. Bike paths are the shortest routes across the acreage.

a rugged architecture at home in the northwest woods
The Pole House condominiums are among Sunriver's most popular dwellings. The pitched roof, the shingles, the emphatic use of support posts give this Church and Shiels design its strong character. One bedroom is basic; four more are optional, as is the two-level sleeping loft (inset, right), a favorite with children. There are 30 units so far, sharing 9 acres of joint recreational land. The price is $28,000-$34,000.

Fairway Island town houses (above), many with rear decks, overlook Sunriver's 18-hole golf course. They are built with one to three bedrooms and range in price from $31,000 to $46,000, including land. The architects are Zaik and Miller of Portland.

Redwood cabins (above), by Boise Cascade, consist of two connected modules, are precut for on-site assembly. Living-kitchen-dining areas are neatly arranged in one module (right); the other has two to four bedrooms, depending on model. The least expensive of Sunriver's houses, they start at $15,000.
A passionate concern for the perfect environment is making Sunriver THE HEALTHIEST NEW TOWN IN AMERICA

By Dolly Connelly

Do you suppose it can happen? That a sophisticated Oregon real-estate development can survive on the premise that what’s good for the red-shafted flickers and the Deschutes River otters is also good for Sunriver residents? And, more crassly, for business? It sounds like a utopian dream—that, until you talk with Sunriver’s ecologist-in-residence, Jim Anderson (shown with friend “Owl” and Sunriverites below during one of his twice-weekly nature talks), or sit in on a Sunriver discussion ranging from the reproductive rate of the Gambusia guppy (used for mosquito control) to the healthy incidence of twin fawns among the mule deer of surrounding Deschutes National Forest.

Guiding spirits of Sunriver, a community development of private homes and condominiums keyed to environmental living, are two Oregonians who have maintained an abiding determination that their state continue to dwell in beauty. Donald V. McCallum, former head of the Portland Title and Trust Co., is president of Sunriver Properties, Inc. Chairman of the Board is John Gray, president of a saw-chain manufacturing company with plants worldwide. Constantly on the go internationally, Gray still knows his home state with a backpacker’s familiarity. He is known best to Oregonians as the creator of their gem resort on the coast, Salishan, a vibrant example of Gray’s resolve “to use this land better, to set an example.”

The two visionaries came together over McCallum’s search for a secluded location for a fishing cabin. He turned up the 5-by-2½-mile Sunriver site, used during World War II as a training base for the Army Corp of Engineers. McCallum knew that he’d found a good deal more than a fishing hole. He took color slides and maps to Gray, who saw the lyrically lovely land as a new challenge, as a fresh possibility for “an exciting mode of life.”

Sunriver—5,500 acres of sun-washed subalpine meadow necklaced with 8½ miles of the meandering Deschutes River—is a geologic accident, a lake basin formed some 2,000 years ago in the wake of an immense lava flow that spilled from Lava Butte, a 5,016-foot cinder cone a few miles south of Bend in central Oregon. Indians camped in the ancient lake basin, and eventually trappers, explorers, hunters and stockmen came to this (continued on page 76)

Jim Anderson, Sunriver's ecologist-in-residence, gives regular nature talks to overflow audiences. Friend "Owl" is a frequent spellbinder.
At their Virginia farm, the Grayson family (top) admires one of their favorite guests, a home-grown wood duck. Katherine and her dad (right) put up one of the nesting boxes they designed for the ducks.

By Barbara Plumb

Everyone talks about the environment but, unlike the weather, many are doing something about it. These environmental activists are a species unlikely to be found on the endangered list because they are multiplying at such a phenomenal rate. You've met the Harvey Sloanes (page 8), the Lee Kellys (page 12) and Jim Anderson (page 39). Now meet some others.

Janet and William Grayson thrill at the sight of ducks in flight but bristle at the thought of airborne pesticides. Janet, the mother of three, works as a volunteer for Concern, Inc., a Washington, D.C., group that keeps consumers abreast of environmentally damaging products. William is chairman of the Audubon Naturalists Society. Says Janet, "Much of today's pesticide trouble is caused by people who spray their whole garden. It's like taking penicillin before you have a cold." The Graysons began their own save-the-wildlife program 17 years ago on their farm near Middleburg, Va. With the clearing away of hollow nesting trees, local wood ducks were becoming extinct. The family has raised more than 500, nesting them in homemade boxes until they can fly off on their own.
John Cole lives with his wife, Jean, and their children in a farmhouse near Brunswick, Me. A former New York public relations man, John is the co-founder of The Maine Times, a newspaper in which he hammers hard at saving the state’s environment. Maine has 2,500 miles of coastline and only a million people—the makings, John feels, of a perfect environmental sanctuary. “The state isn’t being polluted by industry,” he says, “as much as it is by tourists and developers.” His proposal: Make nonpollution as economically productive as the polluters. For example, he points out, the state could double its lobster production by cultivating its underwater areas. Jean’s environmentalist roots go back a generation—her parents were organic farmers. As for the Coles’ children, with their 15-acre classroom they take ecology in stride.

Mitzi Staley, who lives in San Anselmo, Calif., took on the environment in 1960 after reading Rachel Carson’s The Sea Around Us. Her husband, Earl, then a biology student, helped her wage the offensive. Today Mitzi is still hard at her task and says of her husband, now with the Bay Area Rapid Transit, “He’s doing his bit, too—phasing out the car in town.” The mother of two, Mitzi helped found the Marin Ecology Center, where she collects glass, cans and paper for recycling. Three days a week she works for Friends of the Earth, one of the Earth Day sponsors. At home, she can be found stockpiling plastic bags for reuse. She also insists that her dairy use bottles and take back egg cartons. “I bug everybody,” Mitzi says.

Clifford Humphrey is an activist’s activator. As a writer, ecologist, lecturer, teacher and co-founder of Ecology Action, an organization whose aim is to bring about environmental change, he has had a strong impact on others. Cliff, his wife Mary and their 6-year-old son live in Modesto, Calif., a town whose problems are typical (“If something works here, it will work elsewhere”). Cliff’s interest in ecology began while he was a student at Merritt Junior College in Oakland. “Our professors would tell us about all the horrible problems,” he explains, “and then go home to their moneyed suburbs. They made little attempt to involve themselves.” Since then, he has organized workshops, exhibits and marches, all under the banner of Ecology Action. With more than 100 letters from all over the world pouring in each day and a phone that never stops ringing, they must be reaching someone.
Ailene Rogers (above) and a group of junior ecologists examine a lichen-laden piece of bark at a pond near her home. Her husband, Lee (left), totes a tuckered daughter Helen after a day's hike in the woods.

Lee and Ailene Rogers, who live with their youngsters in Stony Brook, N.Y., are fighting for the environment on two fronts—public and private. Lee is General Counsel for the Environmental Defense Fund, an organization that brings the issues of environmental quality to court. Ailene is a biology buff who delights in taking local children on nature walks. "The more they know," she says, "the more of a chance we have to save what we want." Lee left his native Oregon to attend law school in the east, where he met urban problems head on. Since then, he has been trying to find answers to the problems of the nature-technology mix. Although he loves the outdoors as much as Ailene, Lee is no back-to-nature escapist. "It's far more important to come up with solutions to our problems than merely to be against things," he insists.
By Lawrence V. Power

Columbus discovered a land of trees and Indians. Americans quickly transplanted or eradicated the Indians but, despite our best efforts, the trees persist. We've burned our forests, imported beetles, bugs and fungi to blight them, decimated them for lumber and choked them with a polluted atmosphere. Yet still they grow. Noble trees—reaching for the heavens, supplying the very oxygen we breathe, screening out noise, moderating temperatures, providing the materials for paper, for shelter, for warmth, giving a home to animals and birds, enriching the human spirit. The form, the shape, the movement, the sound of trees have inspired man through the ages. We value them for the beauty of pale, budding leaves in spring, the coolness of full-leafed summer shade, the brilliance of fall foliage, the starkness of textured bark against a winter sky.

The early settlers valued trees in terms of personal survival, and our early economy was based largely on the by-products of the forests. The great eastern pines were much coveted by the British Admiralty for ships' masts. Pine also provided much of the shingles and clapboard on early American houses as well as a wide range of interior furnishings.

Since then we have spent almost 200 years brutalizing our timberland. Today, however, our forests prosper, thanks to the enlightened conservation programs of both government and industry. There are currently 758,865,000 acres of woodlands in America and approximately 865 distinct species of trees.

Although our timberland is by no means endangered, trees of the backyard variety have definitely seen better days. The homeowner who was once proud of his spreading chestnut or stately American elm must, due to environmental blight, look for replacements. Huge housing tracts and instant communities, their bulldozers ravaging every tree in sight, have made the new homeowner treeless and therefore tree-conscious. Specimens which may have taken 50 or more years to grow are felled by unthinking builders in a matter of minutes. In addition, the air in our cities has allowed only the hardiest trees to survive.

To aid both suburbanite and city gardener in choosing trees that are easy to grow and relatively disease-resistant, we've selected ten trees which have varieties that thrive in most parts of the country. Each has proven capable of handling the extremes of our violent climates and most of them will flourish even under the adversity of pollution. Given time, all are worth the growing—fast or slow—and any will add lasting beauty and living value to any landscape.

THE OAK is historically the symbol of strength, permanence and endurance. The ancients associated it with worship of the gods, and poets have celebrated it as "Jove's" own tree. Its symmetrically spreading branches can attain a height of 75-100 feet. Of the 80 species which grow in the U.S., there's bound to be one just right for you.

TEN TREES:
Plant a sapling for the land's sake.

BEST BUYS
Most of these varieties cost under $10.
CRABAPPLE trees, the flowering varieties, are among the most beautiful of the ornamentals. Almost immediately after planting they produce fragrant flowers in spring and yellow-red fruit in fall. They grow to a height of 15-25 feet and acquire the look of maturity in just a few years. The Japanese flowering variety has twisted branches and a weeping silhouette which makes it a delight in the winter landscape.

HAWTHORN trees, low and wide-spreading, grow to a height of 20 feet, can be clipped to make a medium-size hedge. The Washington hawthorn is one of the best and fastest-growing varieties. It bears masses of white flowers in late spring and clusters of bright orange-red fruit which last through the winter.

PINE trees are most effective when planted in groups. They are used widely as screens or windbreaks or as backdrops for landscaping large properties. They will grow two feet a year and can reach a height of 80-150 feet. The white pine is used extensively for reforestation projects in the northeast and in the Great Lakes states. There are pines for every kind of climate and exposure in this country.

GINKGO, sometimes called the maidenhair tree, has been around for 10 million years. It seems to have outlived its enemies and is remarkably hardy in adverse city conditions. It grows to about 15 feet in 10 years; a sapling may cost $15. Buy only male trees—the females bear ill-smelling fruit.
FLOWERING DOGWOOD

Trees and their western counterparts, the Pacific dogwoods, are grown for their lavish spring flowers. However, their summer red berries and brilliant fall foliage make them assets most any time of year. They grow rapidly, but seldom exceed a height of 40 feet. The dogwoods will not do well in areas colder than southern Massachusetts.

HOLLY trees may be slow growing but they are definitely worth the wait. The shiny green leaves and the brilliant-red berries of the female add interest to any landscape. Although most varieties can’t stand severe winters, they are steady growers when the conditions are right. The American holly, which is native to eastern and southern states, can grow to a height of 40 feet.

HONEY LOCUST in the seedless, thornless variety is probably the best tree for city planting. Large specimens which grow to 90 feet are being used to replace the fast-dying American elm. The locust is an excellent tree in every way: It is disease-free, grows rapidly, has a lovely, graceful shape and delicate, lacy leaves.

ASH is a fast-growing, shapely tree with varieties that are among the most vigorous and adaptable of shade trees. It is prized for its shapely, oval crown. The green ash, which will grow more than 25 feet in 10 years, is the most widely planted variety. The Modesto ash is excellent for planting in arid, desert regions.

Like many ships in the China trade, the bark Cynthia (below) sailed out of Salem to ply the Oriental trade routes, returning with riches like those shown opposite. Derby Wharf (bottom) was a typical mooring. In this painting from Salem’s Peabody Museum—the work of Sunqua, a famous port artist of the day—she is pictured off Lintin Island, China.

CARGOES OF SPLENDOR

By Vera D. Hahn and Mary Evans

The China trade was one of the greatest American adventures. It began at the end of the Revolutionary War, when our country was new, ambitious and eager to prove itself to the rest of the world. Our small, swift ships quested for the riches of the Orient, picking up from lands along the way whatever could enrich the pocket and the mind, filling our homes with exquisite examples of Far Eastern workmanship, giving us a foothold in the Pacific Northwest and Hawaii. Part of a spirited impulse that was taking prairie schooners westward, the China trade gave us tea and silk and porcelain—and a sense of world destiny.

Salem, at the start of the adventure a Massachusetts village of only 8,000 people, was not the only east-coast port to engage in the trade. New York sent the very first ship, the Empress of China, in 1784, and Boston, Providence, Philadelphia and Baltimore all in time became centers of the trade. But Salem was a smaller community, where the impact of the trade affected all and brought about a cosmopolitan style of living.

Salem captains and merchants who were members of the East India Marine Society kept detailed journals meant to be preserved. They also agreed to bring back whatever curiosities they came upon for the Society’s ethnological-maritime collection, first started in 1799. The collection is enshrined in Salem’s Peabody Museum, named for George Peabody a London banker and philanthropist born near Salem, who endowed it in 1867.

Oriental household treasures like these were common cargo aboard China-trade ships returning to America's eastern wharves. The exotic beauty of lacquerware and delicate porcelain graced many early 19th-century homes. The rare lacquered screen and gaming table, the white Celadon dinner service and the intricately ornamented vase and silverware are part of the prestigious collection preserved in the China Trade Museum in Milton, Mass.

a spreading fascination with oriental workmanship

Snug bachelor quarters (far left) bear witness to owner's China-trade ancestors. The paintings are of family-owned ships, the Zotoff (over mantel) and Mary E. Dana. The flag that flew from their ships hangs on wall. Key near fireplace was to a warehouse on the family's wharf in Salem.

Drafting desk (left), used by Nathaniel Bowditch, the famous Salem navigator, was inherited by his great granddaughter, the last owner of the Capt. R. B. Forbes house (today the China Trade Museum). The ship's candlesticks are of the China-trade period.

Ornate silver tea set in Chinese design (far left) was made in 19th-century London. The service is displayed in its original trunk, set against a background of silk-on-silk embroidered Canton draperies.

China Trade Museum library (left) has its walls restored to their original deep-plum color, a fitting contrast to the blue and white Chinese garden seats, vase and cuspidor. On the skirted table are displayed ivory toys, silver chalices and mugs—all China trade.

The same questing spirit that brought Salem into the lucrative China trade captured other cities along our Atlantic coast. Boston was one, and it is at the China Trade Museum in nearby Milton, Mass., (several of its rooms are shown here) that one of the most extensive American collections of 19th-century Chinese wares is displayed. Beautiful silver, carved ivory, rich furnishings, handsome paintings—there was something for everyone, a treasure for every pocketbook. Many China-trade objects still exist in our eastern cities, a fact that has led to a revival in their collection. (continued)

Ornate Chinese table and chairs highlight the museum's front room (opposite). The wallpaper is handpainted silk. The handsome portrait over the mantel is of Houqua, the wealthiest of China's 19th-century merchants.
An accounting of the contents of an average Salem, Mass., house in the early 19th century would have shown that nearly one-fifth of the furnishings had come from China. As remarkable as the intricate beauty of these objects was their incredible variety—tables, dinnerware, trunks, paintings, mirrors, feather dusters, cloth for tables and beds. The Yankee traders, taking their countrymen's taste into consideration, had furnishings produced in China specifically for the American market. Empire and Greek revival furniture was copied in teak, American paintings were reproduced by Chinese artists, coats of arms embellished family porcelain. To Salem interiors these furnishings brought a touch of the exotic and of color—and they continue to do so today.

The parlor of this Salem house (below) mixes Chinese treasures with American furniture. The carved teak table, many of the paintings and much of the porcelain are Chinese as is the ivory letter opener. The room reflects the city's motto, adopted during the China trade: "To the farthest parts of the rich East."

The living-room furnishings (above) of Crossman's apartment were almost completely made in China. Even the sofa cushions are covered in Chinese silks. The leather and brass trunks were for seagoing traders. The chairs of bamboo and cane were for the English market. A ship's bed, with its original caning, becomes a settee in the window bay.

To this day, many Salem dinner tables are set with fine export porcelain. At right, Canton warming plates, hollow to hold hot water, complement a delicately embroidered Chinese tablecloth.
ONE-DISH MEALS FOR THE LONG, COLD WINTER

One-dish meals are almost as old as the art of cooking. Man first learned to make fire, then later invented pots of clay that could be put over the heat and so began to boil his foods in liquids. Through the ages, classic dishes of all cuisines have been cooked in a single pot. And for heart-warming cooking and eating on a cold winter’s day, nothing could be better than one of these hearty favorites. They cook slowly and need little attention while they develop their tempting blend of flavors. French or Italian bread and wine are all the accompaniments they need, though you can add a crisp salad if you wish. Recipes for those shown and more begin on page 59.

From the left: Cassoulet, a variation of a classic, layered with beans and meats; Flemish-Style Chicken, rich with vegetables and cream; Stuffed Cabbage, with delicately seasoned pork filling and a flavorful tomato sauce.

THE PERFECT PIE

Pie is the country's No. 1 dessert. Yet the knack of making a perfect pie has eluded cooks for years. The secret is in the pastry, and even the most accomplished baker knows that it takes a easy directions for a foolproof crust and you can make a triumph like this apple pie.

certain artistry to turn four simple ingredients—flour, salt, shortening and water—into a winning pie crust. For blue-ribbon honors, your pastry—one-crust, two-crust or lattice—should be so tender and flaky that, when broken, it will shatter into layers rather than crumble. The success of your pies depends upon you, and the trick lies in having a deft and gentle touch in the mixing, rolling and handling of the dough. This is true whether you make your pastry from scratch or use a packaged mix. You'll find a host of hints and recipes for pastries and fillings to help you on your way, beginning on the next page.
PIE CRUST HINTS

- For well-baked, golden-brown crusts, use pans of heat-resistant glass, dull aluminum, enamel or dark metal.
- Always preheat oven before baking. Allow 15 to 20 minutes for oven to heat.
- Measure ingredients accurately—dry ingredients in standard stack-type measuring cups, liquids in glass or see-through measuring cups. Use standard measuring spoons for small amounts.
- Use a light hand when mixing dough; rough handling will toughen pastry.
- Too much shortening, too little water or insufficient blending will make dough crumbly.
- Do not use self-rising or instant flour unless your recipe specifically calls for it.
- Pastry is easier to work with and will be flakier if chilled before rolling.
- Rolling pastry on a pastry cloth with a stockinet-covered rolling pin makes rolling easier and extra flour unnecessary.
- Always roll from the center out, using short, gentle strokes. Never roll from one end to the other across the pastry, as this stretches the dough.
- Roll crusts 3 inches larger than the pie plate to allow for fitting and trimming.
- If a tear occurs, patch it with a scrap of dough—do not reshape and reroll. To reroll scraps of dough, don't squeeze them together—pile them on a flat surface and press with a rolling pin.
- To place dough in pie plate, fold in half and place in plate gently. Or lift gently on rolling pin and unroll into plate. Pat dough gently into the contours of the plate. Do not stretch it—this will cause it to shrink in baking.
- Trim pastry edge with a knife or kitchen shears. Do not tear it.
- A soggy bottom crust can be caused by underbaking or a break or tear in the crust. Shiny metal pans, aluminum foil or baking sheet under the pie plate will reflect heat, causing sogginess.
- To help avoid soggy crusts on pumpkin or custard pies, beat the eggs for the filling, remove 1 teaspoonful and brush it over the crust. Chill to let egg dry.
- Pastry will not brown if the recipe has too much water or not enough fat or oil, if too much flour is used when rolling the dough or if the crust is rolled too thin.

STANDARD PASTRY (for 2-crust pie)

| 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour | 1/2 teaspoon salt |
| 1/4 cup shortening | 6 tablespoons cold water |

Sift flour and salt into mixing bowl. Cut in shortening with pastry blender until mixture resembles cornmeal. Sprinkle cold water evenly over surface; stir with fork until all dry particles are moistened and pastry clings together. Shape into ball; divide in half. Roll out one half with floured rolling pin to 12-inch circle on floured surface, using a light motion from center to edge. (Be sure dough is free-moving at all times. If it sticks to the surface, loosen with spatula and sprinkle a little flour underneath the dough.) To make 12-inch circle, invert pie plate over dough; mark a circle 1/2 inches out from edge of plate. Cut through mark with sharp knife; remove plate. Fold dough in half; lift into 9-inch pie plate; unfold. Fit gently into contours of plate by pressing gently with fingertips. Do not stretch dough to fit plate. Trim 1/2 inch from edge of pie plate. Spoon or pour in filling.

Top crust: Roll out second half of dough to 12-inch circle; cut vents for steam to escape. Fold in half; place on filling. Trim overhanging edge 1 inch from edge of plate. Fold top crust under bottom crust, even with edge of plate. Pinch with fingers to form high-standing collar around rim. Flute edge, or crimp with tines of floured fork.

Lattice-top crust: Prepare dough for 2-crust pie; line pan with half of dough. Trim, leaving 1-inch overhang. Roll rest of dough; cut into 1/2-inch strips with pastry wheel or paring knife. Fill pie; moisten edge of bottom crust with water. Place 2 strips of dough across top of pie, forming a cross. Working from center outward, add a strip at a time across each arm of the cross. Weave the strips over and under, allowing 1/4 to 1/2 inch between strips. Continue until top is complete. Press strips to bottom crust. Fold crust over strips; form standing rim and flute.

FLAVOR VARIATIONS FOR 2-CRUST PIE

Cheese: Add 1 cup grated Cheddar cheese to flour before adding shortening.

Orange: Add 2 tablespoons grated orange rind and 2 teaspoons sugar to the flour before cutting in shortening.

Lemon: Replace 2 tablespoons water with 2 tablespoons lemon juice.

Nut: Add 1/4 cup chopped nuts to flour before cutting in shortening.

STANDARD PASTRY (Electric-Mixer Method)

Use redpe ingredients for Standard Pastry. Measure flour, salt and shortening into large mixer bowl for 2-crust pastry and small bowl for 1-crust pastry. Mix at low speed 1 minute, scraping bowl constantly with rubber scraper. Add water; continue mixing, scraping bowl, until flour is moistened and dough just begins to cling to beaters (about 10 seconds). Remove dough from bowl and beaters and press firmly into ball. Proceed as for Standard Pastry.

LATTICE-TOP APPLE PIE

(pictured on cover and page 55)

Pastry for 2-crust pie

8 cups sliced, pared and cored cooking apples (about 3 pounds)
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour or 1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Prepare pastry. Roll out half the dough to a 12-inch circle; line 9-inch pie plate. Heat oven to 425°. Put apples in colander or sieve; place under simmering water in large pot. Cover; steam 5 minutes or until apples are soft but not mushy; cool. Combine sugar, flour or cornstarch, cinnamon, nutmeg, salt, grated lemon rind and cooled apples. Turn into lined pie plate; dot with butter or margarine. Roll out remaining dough. Make lattice top according to directions for Lattice-Top Crust (above). For a shiny top, brush with 1 egg yolk mixed with 1 tablespoon water. Bake 40 to 45 minutes. Remove from oven. Cool.

CHOCOLATE MERINGUE PIE
1 baked 9-inch pastry crust
1/4 cup cornstarch
1 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
3 squares unsweetened chocolate, cut up
2 1/2 cups milk
3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
2 teaspoons vanilla
3 egg whites
1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
6 tablespoons sugar

Prepare pastry crust according to recipe. Combine cornstarch, 1 cup sugar, salt and chocolate in saucepan. Stir in milk gradually. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to boiling. Boil 1 minute; blend half the mixture into egg yolks; stir into mixture in saucepan; cook 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat; stir in butter or margarine and vanilla; cool slightly. Pour filling into pastry shell.

Beat egg whites and cream of tartar until foamy. Sprinkle 6 tablespoons sugar, a little at a time, over egg whites; beat well after each addition. Continue beating until meringue forms stiff, glossy peaks. Spread meringue over filling, making sure it touches crust all the way around. Bake at 350° for 15 to 20 minutes or until meringue is tipped with brown. Allow to cool at room temperature on wire rack.

BUTTERMILK-CUSTARD PIE
A light pie, custardy on the bottom with a delicate foam on the top.
1 unbaked, 9-inch pastry crust
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 egg yolks
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cups buttermilk
2 teaspoons vanilla
3 egg whites

Prepare pastry crust according to recipe. Melt butter or margarine; cool. Beat egg yolks slightly; stir in sugar, flour and salt. Add butter or margarine, buttermilk and vanilla. Beat egg whites until soft peaks form; fold into buttermilk mixture. Pour into pastry crust. Bake at 450° for 10 minutes. Reduce heat to 350°; bake 15 to 20 minutes or until thin-bladed knife inserted in pie halfway between center and edge comes out clean and pie is golden brown. Allow to cool on wire rack. Chill.

DEEP-DISH CHERRY-ALMOND PIE
3 cans (1 pound each) pitted, tart cherries (water pack)
2 1/2 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
1 1/2 cups sugar
1 1/2 teaspoons almond extract
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1/4 teaspoon salt
Few drops red food coloring
1/2 cup toasted, slivered almonds

Pastry for 1-crust pie

Heat oven to 425°. Drain cherries; measure 1/2 cup juice into mixing bowl. Add cherries, tapioca, sugar, almond extract, lemon juice, salt, food coloring and nuts; mix well. Pour into ungreased 8-inch-square baking dish. Roll out dough to 9-inch square. Cut vents to allow steam to escape during baking. Place over filling; press to rim of baking dish; flute. Bake 40 to 50 minutes or until lightly browned. Serve warm with ice cream or whipped cream, if desired.
(pictured)
This dish may be prepared ahead and set aside or refrigerated until serving time.

1 pound dry, white beans
1 pound salt pork
kielbasa sausage (about 1 pound)
4 small carrots, pared
1 large onion
2 cloves of garlic
2 bay leaves
1 teaspoon salt
a cup lard, butter or margarine
1 pound boned shoulder of lamb, cut in 1-inch cubes
1 pound boned shoulder of pork, cut in 1-inch cubes

Soak beans in cold water to cover about 2 hours. Drain. Place in large saucepan or kettle. Add salt pork, sausage, carrots, onion with cloves inserted, garlic cloves and 2 bay leaves. Add enough water to cover all ingredients. Bring to boiling, uncovered. Skim foam from surface. Reduce heat; simmer 30 minutes.

Remove sausage; reserve. Simmer remaining ingredients 30 to 45 minutes. Remove salt pork; reserve. Add salt. Continue cooking about 30 minutes or until beans are just tender, adding more boiling water if necessary. Discard onion, carrots, garlic and bay leaves.

While beans are cooking, heat lard, butter or margarine in heavy saucepan or Dutch oven. Add lamb and pork pieces. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Brown meat on all sides. Add minced onion and garlic. Cook 2 minutes. Pour off as much of the fat as possible. Add wine, tomato sauce, chicken broth, 2 bay leaves and thyme. Bring to boiling. Simmer 1 hour or until meat is just tender. Correct seasoning to taste.

Heat oven to 375°. Drain beans. Cut sausage and salt pork in ¼-inch-thick slices. Reserve a few pieces of each for top of casserole. Arrange a layer of beans in 2- to 4-inch-high 4-quart casserole. Continue with layers of lamb, pork, salt pork, sausage and beans, ending with a layer of beans. Arrange reserved sausage and salt pork on top. Pour sauce over. Sprinkle with bread crumbs. Dot with butter or margarine. Bake 45 minutes to 1 hour. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

FLEMISH-STYLE CHICKEN
(ppictured)

3 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 cups sliced onion (2 large)
2 leeks (white part only), thinly sliced
2 celery stalks, thinly sliced
2 medium carrots, pared, thinly sliced
2 tablespoons chopped parsley (reserve stems)
1 bay leaf
2 broiler-fryers (3 pounds each), cut up
Salt
Pepper
1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup heavy cream

Heat butter or margarine in heavy saucepan, stirring constantly. Add onion, leeks, celery, carrots, parsley and bay leaf. Cook 5 minutes. Add flour. Cook 1 minute. Add reserved parsley stems, 2 cups boiling water and 1 cup cold water. Bring to boiling. Stir in 1 cup cubed apples and 1 cup thinly sliced celery. Bring to boiling. Simmer 10 minutes or until apples and celery are tender. Add salt and pepper to taste. Pour into 1½-quart mold; chill until almost firm.

Combine 1 cup cubed apples, 1 cup thinly sliced celery, 1 cup chopped nuts, 1 cup Miracle Whip Salad Dressing, 2 tablespoons strawberry flavored gelatin and 2 tablespoons butter or margarine. Place in 1½-quart mold; chill until firm. Garnish with endive, apple slices and walnut halves, if desired. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Washington Waldorf Mallow Salad
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1 cup cold water
1 tablespoon lemon juice
a cup Miracle Whip Salad Dressing
1 3-oz. pkg. Philadelphia Brand Cream Cheese
2 3-oz. pkgs. strawberry flavored gelatin

Soften gelatin in cold water and lemon juice; stir over low heat until dissolved. Gradually add salad dressing to softened cream cheese, mixing until well blended. Stir in gelatin. Pour into 1½-quart mold; chill until almost firm.

Combine peaches and blueberries; mix lightly. Place in sherbet glasses. Fold marshmallows and salad dressing into whipped cream, mixing until well blended. Serve over fruit. Garnish with maraschino cherry, if desired. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Snow Mallow Appetizer Cups
2 cups (2 1-lb. cans) drained peach slices
1 cup fresh blueberries or 1 10-oz. pkg. frozen blueberries, well drained
a cup Kraft Miniature Marshmallows

Combine peaches and blueberries; mix lightly. Place in sherbet glasses. Fold marshmallows and salad dressing into whipped cream. Serve over fruit. Garnish with maraschino cherry, if desired. Makes 6 servings.
STUFFED CABBAGE
(pictured)
1 large head green cabbage
Salted water
½ cup minced onion (1 medium)
1 small clove garlic, minced
5 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 cans (8 ounces each) tomato sauce
1 teaspoon salt
½ pound ground, fresh pork
½ cup soft bread crumbs (2 slices)
¼ cup chopped parsley (reserve stems)

¼ teaspoon leaf thyme, crumbled
Dash of pepper
1 cup coarsely chopped onion (1 large)
1 cup sliced, pared carrots
1 can (10½ ounces) beef consommé

Sauté minced onion and garlic 2 minutes in 3 tablespoons butter or margarine in large skillet over medium heat. Add chopped cabbage, 3 tablespoons tomato sauce and salt. Cook 8 minutes, stirring frequently. Combine cabbage mixture, pork, bread crumbs, parsley, thyme and pepper. Mix well. Stuff cabbage with mixture. Tie cabbage in large piece of cheesecloth.

Sauté chopped onion and carrots 5 minutes in remaining 2 tablespoons butter or margarine in saucepan just large enough to hold cabbage. Place cabbage, stem-side down, over vegetables. Add consommé, remaining tomato sauce and reserved parsley stems. Cover. Bring to boiling. Simmer about 1 hour or until cabbage is tender, basting frequently. Place cabbage on serving platter. Remove cheesecloth. Correct seasoning of tomato sauce to taste. Strain over cabbage. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

CURRIED PORK WITH LENTILS
½ pound lentils
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 pounds shoulder of pork, cut in 1-inch cubes
Salt
2 cups sliced onion (2 large)
1 to 1½ tablespoons curry powder
2 tablespoons flour
1 can (13½ ounces) chicken broth
2 tablespoons chopped parsley

Cook lentils according to package directions. Drain well. Heat butter or margarine in heavy saucepan or Dutch oven. Sprinkle pork pieces with salt. Brown on all sides. Stir in onion. Cook 2 minutes. Sprinkle with curry powder and flour. Cook 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Add chicken broth. Bring to boiling, stirring constantly. Cover. Sim-

BAKER-STYLE SHOULDER OF LAMB
4- to 5-pound shoulder of lamb, boned, rolled and tied
1 large clove of garlic, cut in 5 or 6 slivers
Salt
Pepper
6 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 cups finely sliced onion
(3 large)
4 pounds potatoes, pared and sliced
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons chopped parsley

Heat oven to 450°. Make slits in meat; insert garlic slivers. Rub meat with salt and pepper. Place in roasting pan or large earthenware casserole. Melt 2 tablespoons butter or margarine; brush over meat. Roast 15 minutes. Sauté onion in remaining butter or margarine in large skillet until light brown. Combine onions, potatoes, salt and pepper. Toss well. Arrange around meat in pan. Reduce heat to 400°. Roast 40 to 45 minutes or, if you use a meat thermometer, to an internal temperature of 125 to 130° for medium-rare. Stir potatoes and onions occasionally during cooking. Sprinkle with chopped parsley. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

BRAISED BEEF SAN FERNANDO
5- to 6-pound pot roast of beef
1½ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons pure vegetable oil
2 cups dry sherry
2 cans (10½ ounces each) beef broth
½ cup catsup
2 packages (11 ounces each) mixed, dried fruits
2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons cold water

Skim fat from surface of sauce. Blend cornstarch and water to a smooth paste. Bring sauce to boiling. Stir in cornstarch mixture gradually; cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Simmer 5 minutes. Strain into sauceboat. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

BEEF STEW PROVENCALE
3 pounds beef chuck, cut in 1½-inch cubes
4 cup pure vegetable or olive oil
4 cup minced onion (1 large)
4 cup minced shallots or green onions
2 cloves of garlic, minced
1 cup dry rosé or white wine
2 cans (8 ounces each) tomato sauce
1 can (10½ ounces) beef broth
2 bay leaves
1 teaspoon dried rosemary, crumbled
½ teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
8 carrots, pared and cut into 2-inch pieces
2 stalks celery, cut into 2-inch pieces
2 cups stuffed green olives

COQUILLES SAINT JACQUES A LA PARISIENNE

1 package (10 servings) instant mashed potatoes
4 egg yolks, beaten
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ pound mushrooms, sliced
⅛ cup minced green onions or shallots
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1½ pounds scallops, washed, drained and cut in ½-inch pieces
1 ½ cups dry white wine
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of white or cayenne pepper
1 small bay leaf
1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine
1 tablespoon flour
1 ½ cups heavy cream
2 egg yolks
½ cup grated Parmesan or Swiss cheese
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

1 pound mushrooms, sliced
1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine
1 tablespoon flour
1 ½ cups heavy cream
2 egg yolks
½ cup grated Parmesan or Swiss cheese
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
Prepare potatoes according to package directions, but omit the milk. Beat in 4 egg yolks. Beat smooth. Put into pastry bag fitted with star tube. Pipe a ½-inch strip around edge of shells or small ramekins.

Heat 2 tablespoons butter or margarine in large skillet over medium heat. Add mushrooms, green onions or shallots and lemon juice. Cook 2 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add scallops, wine, salt, pepper and bay leaf. Cover skillet. Bring to boiling. Simmer 1 minute.

Remove the scallops and mushrooms with a slotted spoon and set aside. Boil the liquid in the skillet until you have ½ cup left. Remove and discard bay leaf.

Blend the melted butter or margarine and flour. Stir it into the reduced liquid and cook until thickened. Add 1 cup cream. Bring to boiling, stirring constantly. Beat 2 egg yolks and remaining ½ cup cream together. Beat into sauce gradually. Correct seasoning to taste. Add scallops and mushrooms to sauce. Stir 1 minute or until heated through. Do not boil.

Fill shells with mixture. Sprinkle with cheese. Dot with 2 tablespoons butter or margarine. Broil until potatoes and scallops are golden. Makes 12 servings.
Imagine a range top so flat that it looks like part of a counter. Now think of a material so versatile that it conducts heat only to specific cooking areas, remaining cool to the touch everywhere else, and so tough that it would take a sledgehammer to crack it. The material is Pyroceram. Resembling white glass, it introduced a whole new concept in cooking. Easy to clean, Pyroceram is a chemical cousin to Corning Ware, Corning Glass Works’ line of cook-and-serve pots and pans. The built-in counter design shown is one of several models, running from a two-burner unit to a four-burner, freestanding range including oven. Electricity is the power source used here, but one day these ranges may be gas-fueled. In the meantime, other manufacturers have been developing similar flat-top ranges for your cooking-with-glass future.

Corning’s engineers removed the Pyroceram panel on the right for our photograph so that you could see the inner workings of their Counter That Cooks. Normally it has two sealed, opaque panels with sunburst patterns marking the heating areas. The red strips on the exposed unit are heating ribbons. The wider, dark strip in the middle of the grid is a thermostatic sensor.
Here's the famous Good Housekeeping basic diet with some tasty Florida Grapefruit variations.

Lose up to two pounds a week with this basic 1200-calorie diet plan. Caloric and nutrient content of our Shape-up Diet has been verified by Good Housekeeping Institute. But it's well to check with your doctor before starting any diet. For diet plans and recipes, send name and address to Grapefruit Diet, AH, P.O. Box 6066C, Orlando, Florida 32803, with 25¢ in cash only (for postage and handling).

1200-CALORIE DIET

Breakfast
- Grapefruit half or ½ cup freshly squeezed grapefruit juice
- 1 soft or hard-cooked, poached or baked egg and 1 slice lightly buttered toast
- ½ cup cooked or ¾ cup ready-to-eat cereal (choose from your favorites, but flaked or puffed cereals are your best choices) with 1 glass skimmed milk
- ½ cup cottage cheese and 1 slice lightly buttered toast
- Coffee or tea, black or with a bit of skimmed milk and no more than 1 teaspoon sugar

Lunch or Supper
- 3 thin slices lean meat or poultry or 1 medium serving of fish; 2 servings of these vegetables: asparagus, broccoli, Brussels sprouts, cabbage, carrots, cauliflower, celery, green beans, greens, Italian beans, okra, sauerkraut, spinach or tomatoes. Serve them hot (unbuttered), or as salads with low-calorie dressing
- 1 sandwich (2 sliced eggs or 2 slices poultry, lean beef or ham) with mustard, catsup or low-calorie dressing; greens, as desired
- ½ cup seafood, poultry or egg salad made with 2 tablespoons dressing; seasonings and greens
- 2 egg Western, mushroom or plain omelet, cooked in 1 teaspoon fat, 1 slice buttered toast and grapefruit half; fresh orange or tangerine or ½ cup fresh grapefruit sections
- ½ glass skimmed milk or buttermilk
- Coffee or tea (see breakfast note)

Dinner
- ½ cup freshly squeezed grapefruit juice
- 3 thin slices lean meat or poultry or a medium serving of fish; 2 servings vegetables—one from luncheon list and one of the following: ½ cup serving of beans, corn, macaroni family or potatoes or 1 slice lightly buttered bread
- Any main course from luncheon list and 1 slice lightly buttered or jellied bread or toast
- ½ cup mixed fresh grapefruit and orange sections
- 1 serving fruit from luncheon list
- ½ cup serving gelatin dessert or pudding made with skimmed milk
- 1 thin slice angel food or sponge cake
- 1 glass skimmed milk or buttermilk and coffee or tea (see breakfast note)

Shape up with Grapefruit from Florida.
One of the limitations of cooking with glass is that you must use pots with absolutely flat bottoms for perfect contact with the source of heat. Many metal pots do not qualify as they have built-in ridges or concave or convex curves to compensate for the natural expansion of heated metal. Even two of the same style metal pots from the same manufacturer may vary in degrees of flatness. Thus, no particular brand of metal cookware is suggested.

To help you start cooking on their new glass-top range, Corning gives you a complete set of Pyroceram cookware. Called Cookmates, they are basically Corning Ware with bottoms polished as flat as a sheet of glass. This flat surface mates perfectly with the Pyroceram cooking surface to distribute heat evenly. This also means, however, that the pot is so slippery that it may spin on the surface if you don’t hold it while stirring a sauce. The set includes seven pots and their lids, a detachable handle that fits all and a teakettle. You can also purchase more of these Cookmates if you need them. Another cookware manufacturer is working on a line of metal pots and pans which will also be compatible with these new flat-top ranges. You probably already have some utensils with flat bottoms that will work very well on a ceramic top. Use a higher heat setting with metal pots than you would with the Cookmates.

Don’t cook directly on the smooth surface without a pot. It’s not a griddle and you would have a terrible mess to clean up. But no matter what boils over, you never have to worry about the spills getting down into the works and damaging the mechanisms. The heating grids and insulation are completely sealed.

Is the flat-top range really easy to clean? Indeed. As a test, we sprinkled flour over the surface and turned on the burners. (We don’t recommend this, either, but we wanted to see the heat distribution without interference of pots). The heat was, by the way, very even. We cleaned up a hefty char of ashen flour with the Cleaner Conditioner that Corning provides. This preparation wipes off the worst goo with no trouble and it is even good for cleaning the Cookmates, a convenience since you should never use abrasive cleaners or steel wool that might scratch the Pyroceram. If you should run out, you can reorder the cleaner: $1.25 for an 8-ounce bottle. That much should last you through a lot of simmered spaghetti-sauce splatters and other inevitable food spills.

Suppose someone does take a sledgehammer to the Pyroceram panel—replacement is not prohibitive, about $25. If necessary, the heating elements can be removed individually for repair or replacement and any defective replacement part is covered by a three-year guarantee. The Cookmates are guaranteed forever against breaking due to thermal shock (plunging them while hot from the top of the range into cold water, for example).

Installing a flat-top range is like installing any built-in range top. The sizes are comparable to other built-ins and the power requirements are the same as those called for by conventional electric ranges.

What does this new range cost? Hold onto your hats—the built-in two-burner model is about $220 and the freestanding, four-burner range with self-cleaning oven runs about $600. That is comparable to top-line double-oven ranges with conventional burners, but remember you are paying for a cooking concept and convenience of tomorrow. However, as production increases and competitors flourish, the price will undoubtedly come down.

The most astonishing detective
the unearthing of EARLY MAN

Follow his progress from tree-dweller to space-traveler for 10 days free as a guest of the LIFE Nature Library

Did you know that the famous "Piltdown man" was a deliberate hoax that fooled scientists for 40 years? That the early history of the human species has a 10-million-year gap about which nothing is known? That modern science can diagnose arthritis in a 44,000-year-old skeleton?

Fascinating discoveries like these make the development of man the greatest drama the world has ever witnessed. Here is the birth of all our history, our art, our religion, our civilization. Here you see emerging all those qualities that made us what we are today... that enabled us to descend from the trees and reach for the stars.

The story begins with a handful of men who risked their reputations—and sometimes their lives—to defy convention and dig out the truth. It gathers force with Darwin's On the Origin of Species, which challenged man's whole conception of himself as being above the laws of nature. And it reaches a climax today with the introduction of scientific methods that can reconstruct a fantastic story millions of years old from a few teeth, fragments of bone and chipped stones.

More than 200 Illustrations—many in full color

Like all the volumes in the LIFE Nature Library, Early Man brings its subject vividly alive before your eyes. In realistic artists' renderings—based on the latest archaeological evidence—you'll see what early man looked like in the various stages of his long history. You'll learn what he ate and wore... what sort of shelter he slept in... how he managed with the simplest weapons to kill elephants and huge bears. You'll see him discovering the uses of fire... learning to make tools... turning his hand to art... developing social and religious awareness.

You'll see—in their true colors—remarkably expressive paintings and sculptures of primitive man, and the actual skulls that showed early man's growing brain. You'll learn how a dog discovered the great prehistoric cave paintings of Lascaux and how almost branch of modern science has played in reconstructing man's step-by-step advance over 25 million years.

You'll be surprised to see how deeply rooted we still are by our ancestors... how traits they needed to survive persist today. You'll understand what scientists mean when they say that our technology has dwarfed our biology, leaving us a million years behind in step with our own inventions. Early Man shows you how cholesterol and coronary problems may well result from the "wild" appetite of our bodies to stress. The book also presents the research of various medicine and sociology to help us deal with these ancient carryovers.

Written by F. Clark Howell, Professor of Anthropology, University of California, Berkeley, and the Editors of TIME-BOOKS, Early Man is both an authority on the early history of the human species and a rousing adventure story.

CONCRETE AND GLASS JEWEL BOX

The bold lines of this award-winning house, reposing at the edge of a Connecticut pond, are a fitting foil for their natural surroundings. The concrete-block structure was designed by New York architects Oppenheimer, Brady and Associates. Porches off the living area invite an intimacy with nature as do the glass walls and doors. The living, dining and kitchen areas are one compact space.

First featured in the September 1969 AH as a "Homes for Better Living" Honor Award Winner, this house has provoked unprecedented reader response. By popular request, we are now offering complete plans for the house (see coupon below)—a hands-down winner on any site.

Fill out coupon and enclose check or money order. Florida residents please add sales tax. Please allow 3 weeks for handling and mailing. To avoid delays, please indicate your zip code.

Getting to the "nature" of things was never easier than in this prize-winning house, a concrete and glass beauty designed for maximum enjoyment in minimal space. It is another example of our continuing aim to bring you top designs and low-cost construction methods.

Use the coupon at left to order house plans. A complete set of drawings plus list of materials costs just $20 and is all you'll need for a builder's estimate. Three sets, at $35, will start you on construction. Also available at $50: each: A catalog of 52 house plans featured in AH.
Now you can give yourself a solid, fully-rounded training in Art — at home — in your spare time, for a fraction of the outlay you ever thought necessary. A complete down-to-earth course of basics in all the important art techniques of our time. Artists Institute instruction is so uncomplicated, so much fun and so rewarding, you will be amazed to see the rapid unfolding of talents you did not know you possessed.

ART OPENS MANY NEW CAREERS
Everyone has his own private reasons for developing his ability in art — self-expression, relaxation, just plain fun — but there are also a multitude of different, fascinating careers open to the self-trained artist. For example: magazine illustration, television art, advertising layout, cartooning, fashion design, department store art, architectural art, poster art, lettering, package design, portraits and landscape art. Artists Institute prepares you for all these and a number of others. Artists Institute supplies you with the basic tools and techniques including oils, gouache, pastels, watercolors, charcoal, pen and ink.

The detailed works of these famous artists are covered in this course—
Robert Riger / Erica / John Groth
Harold R. Foster / Lou Eisele / Herb Olsen / Gene Byrnes / Ralph Fabri / Lee Gustavson / Henry Kurt Stoessel / Harvey Schmidt / Lew Ayre Schwartz and many others each chosen for a particular specialty.

ASSOCIATION OF
RECOGNIZED STUDY AGENCIES
high plateau-transition region (4,200 feet) with its ponderosa-pine forests and open meadows within full view of the snowy Cascade Range.

The Sunriver development, which now includes weekenders, vacationers and year-round residents, was opened on June 28, 1968, with a 20-year prognosis for completion. That the completion span now appears to have shortened to 12–15 years indicates no lessening of ecological vigilance, but rather an astonishing response from people who want to breathe clean, crisp air, walk gently in the woods and live in an environment controlled for the benefit of man, pine tree and red-tailed hawk.

Ecologist Jim Anderson, employed full time as Sunriver's naturalist, consultant in planning for protection of the environment and overseer of the community's wildlife sanctuary, explains it another way. Says Anderson, "We don't have to manage wildlife. We manage the people. We protect the habitat, and from there on nature does the rest."

A young man of tremendous zeal, Jim lopes happily from marshland to rimrock in work boots and dusty pants, forever enlarging the definition of his extraordinary job. Often he is accompanied by a friend known simply as "Owl"—because that is what he is, a splendid specimen of the great-horned variety. Jim's Nature Study Center, a fascinating hodgepodge of outdoor photographs, field-trip paraphernalia, a tarantula, snakes, mice and Owl, soon will be moved to an "ecologium," an ambitious nature-interpretation center. Of it he says, "The ecologium will function for people and for the very nature we're here to enjoy. To my knowledge, this is the first time that a community development has ever taken this step.

"I'm employed to function in the planning of the area and to interpret its nature to the inhabitants. This is done through regular evening programs, saddle trips, canoe drifts, rock hounding, fossil hunting, nature walks, bird counts—the whole bit. The more nature and wildlife activity people see, the more aware they will become of this tremendous asset and the more they will respect it.

"As for industry in Sunriver, we'll be encouraging the so-called 'clean' industries to come here—'brain' industries, research companies, not the smoke belchers. When that happens we'll have a greater economic cross-section. Weekenders, summer people, retirees, skiers will be balanced by working people."

Anderson's twice-weekly evening nature lectures originally were scheduled in the Nature Study Center conference room in the hope that his bird-banding youngsters and college ecology majors might turn up two dozen strong. Programs have now been shifted to the Great Hall, the immense log-beamed, onetime Army officers' club where an overflow of mesmerized children sprawls on the floor and adults fill every chair.

The end result of all this passionate concern is a perfect environment for families, best expressed by Robert and Mary Glass, who, with their three young boys, spend their weekends and summers in Sunriver. Robert is a dentist in Eugene and a skier who knows the value of nature. He says, "Owl"—because that is what he is, a splendid specimen of the great-horned variety. Jim's Nature Study Center, a fascinating hodgepodge of outdoor photographs, field-trip paraphernalia, a tarantula, snakes, mice and Owl, soon will be moved to an "ecologium," an ambitious nature-interpretation center. Of it he says, "The ecologium will function for people and for the very nature we're here to enjoy. To my knowledge, this is the first time that a community development has ever taken this step.

When that happens we'll have a greater economic cross-section. Weekenders, summer people, retirees, skiers will be balanced by working people."

The basic plan of Sunriver is flexible. It can be adapted without destruction of the environment. Sunriver Properties turns the clustered communities over to their residents when 90 percent of the land is developed or when the developer declares that it is virtually complete or, at the latest, by the year 1999. I believe Sunriver's eventual 5,000 families will want to retain a quality project utilizing the best of the environment.

Peter Walsh, who works in Portland, charter flies to the Sunriver Airport to join his wife, Lindy, and two daughters at Sunriver. Peter, who admits that the handyman act is "not my bag," wants relief from all the worries of absentee homeownership.

"The condominium concept appeals to me—no headaches. It's amazing how easy it is to live here. We're at Sunriver primarily for the recreation. I've been a golfer all my life and like tennis before breakfast. I also like to fish and hunt and some of us ski and ride and explore. The only thing missing is the ocean, but we've got great sailing lakes. We take our boat up on the high lakes on Century Drive. Then there's the airport—only a 50-minute flight from Portland."

Lindy Walsh was hosting a half-dozen of her older daughter's college friends when we visited her. She said, "It's simple to entertain here because there's so much for people to do. You don't really 'entertain' them—you just give them the opportunity to do exactly as they please."

Peter, whose front-porch view of the distant mountains is endlessly spectacular, sums it up: "I can't think of anything they've left out at this stage of the game. They've made a tremendous investment here, some $13,000,000 plus land and operating costs, and yet the main interest doesn't appear to be making money, but in creating a way of life."

Private homes already completed range in value from $15,000 to $100,000. The lots vary from about ⅓ to ½ acre with a value spread from $5,700 to $22,800. Residential condominiums range from $29,950 to $43,000, land included. The Design Committee must approve house plans, which are required to blend naturally into the environment with no clash of exterior material. Natural landscaping is the rule, and special permission must be obtained for removal of any tree larger than three inches in diameter. Fences at property lines, urban lawns, paving, planting of any growth not indigenous to the area are restricted.

The monthly maintenance charge, levied on all residents, is $10 and includes fire and police protection. The fee entitles homeowners to unlimited use of the swimming pool, tennis courts, children’s playground and pays for the upkeep. It also gives them a price break on family use of the 18-hole golf course, soon to be augmented by another.

Nonresidents can also join in the Sunriver experience. Scattered throughout the development are 23 guest lodges, open year-round, where vacationers can bed down between trips to the wilds or the ski slopes. In the main Sunriver Lodge, teen-agers have their own place, the Establishment, a noon-to-midnight jukebox, soda-fountain and psychedelic-postered recreation center into which adults cannot step after 7 p.m. unless accompanied by their young.

Ask residents what they like about Sunriver and the answers are sure to vary. Canoeists reply, “It’s the 8.5 miles of the Deschutes winding through Sunriver, the trout—the big German browns, the rainbows and the brookies.”

Judy King, a member of Sunriver’s birdwatching clan, found it easy to answer. “We’ve lived in cities. We’ve lived in California. But here I can see hundreds of wild birds—look at them bathing in my pool.”

Judy and husband Kenneth King, a retired Denver businessman, worry over “the thin line separating practical considerations and idealism.” Says Judy, “Whether Sunriver can remain under control with today’s pressures of population and technology is unknown. It’s still a real-estate sales program. The company cannot develop the project solely to keep dear healthy and attract wild birds. Can it be environmentally attractive and yet make of money?”

“Jim Anderson is opening the eyes of the young people to the beauty of the land. They’ll be willing to protect it. But can Sunriver remain a sanctuary until these young people serve on the boards that assist in the planning?”

This unique development has been put in capable hands. Sunriver may serve as an inspiration to other community planners to go forth and do likewise. It isn’t unrealistic to hope that a day may come when real-estate development begins not with the snarl of bulldozers, but with the laugh of a child, the song of a bird, the splash of a silvery trout in clean water—in short, with ecological research into the living relationship between man and other endangered species.
What to do if your husband’s cold is keeping you up.

Give him NyQuil.
NyQuil relieves noisy cold symptoms: snifflas, sneezes, and hacking coughs.
It also relieves the silent symptoms: aches and pains, nasal congestion, and minor throat irritation.

And because it helps relieve all these symptoms, NyQuil also helps provide the one other thing a cold really needs: a good night’s rest.
Give him NyQuil. You’ll both feel better in the morning.

duty plastic, please, instead of noisy metal— for missing handles and poor-fitting lids? The dishes are snugly stacked in the dishwasher without an inch of wasted space.

Then it's off to pick up the dirty laundry strewed around the house. You don't have quite enough wash-and-wear for a full load, so you'll put them aside and do a capacity wash of towels and T-shirts. Of course you gave up high-in-phosphate detergents months ago, but today you might even cut down on your rinsing time and water level.

Now it's off to do the shopping. No impulsive hopping into that new family car with its souped-down engine and modern pollution-control equipment for you. You'll organize your errands, carrying your own marketing bag, and do them all on your way to the dentist.

At the gas station you'll tank up on lead-free gasoline. But you'll skip the car wash this week. And when you stop to chat with a friend at the supermarket parking lot, maybe you'll both remember to turn off your motors instead of letting them idle unnecessarily. No surreptitious dumping of your car's ashtray in the parking lot, either. Incidentally, when you're with the dentist, couldn't you ask him if he really needs to keep the water running in that little bowl?

While you're waiting for the children to come home is the ideal time for letter writing. Tell the influential—your newspaper editor, mayor, park commissioner, county health officer or Congressman—your ecological gripes. Why be a silent majority? And when the children come home and start whining, "What can we do?" you'll be full of ideas. Go around the neighborhood and collect glass bottles for redemption, you can tell them. (Some 23 billion of them clutter the countryside each year.) The same for aluminum cans—also cash-redeemable for recycling in many areas.

And so we come to the end of a perfect ecological day. Naturally, you won't nag your husband to build a fire in the fireplace. You'll bask in the glow of your ecological efforts instead. And to top it all off, here's what some environmentalists suggest you put in front of everyone at the dinner table—½ cup of rice, one glass of milk made from soybean oil plus a side dish of brownish-red seaweed. When they scream, "What's that?" you'll tell them, "That, on this overpopulated planet, is your daily share of the world's available food if it were evenly divided among us all." END
PPG Twindow® is the welded-glass insulating window with a sure way of protecting against the cold.

Twindow is two panes of glass welded together with a blanket of dry air in between. It keeps you and the cold apart. And cuts heat loss through the glass by as much as 50%. That means more indoor comfort and lower heating bills.

And what about all those window miseries that accompany the cold season? Cold downdrafts? Sloppy fogging and frosting? Twindow units cut them way back.

Storm windows? They’re not needed. If you specify Twindow units early in the construction of a new home, they cost no more than adding quality storm windows later. Twindow units look more attractive than storm windows. And there are only two surfaces to wash.

Twindow welded-glass units are available in all window styles. Ask your builder or architect about them now. Or write for the free Twindow book: PPG Industries, Dept. AH-1, One Gateway Center, Pittsburgh, Pa. 15222.

In laboratory tests—using wood sash and simulating normal wall insulation and indoor home conditions—condensation normally will form on single glass when the outdoor temperature is 25°F and indoor temperature and relative humidity are 70°F and 30%. With the same indoor temperature and relative humidity, condensation does not normally occur on Twindow Glass Edge Insulating Glass until the outdoor temperature drops to -5°F.

GARAGE SALES:
BEST BET FOR BARGAINS

Every day in normally quiet neighborhoods all over the country, men and women dash from their hastily parked cars up strange driveways in pursuit of garage-sale bargains. The open garage has become a 20th-century bazaar with a carnival spirit. Few stores or catalogs have ever offered such a variety of nearly new, old and rare merchandise at such low prices. And with a little know-how, persistent shoppers can stretch today's budget with sensible, secondhand garage-sale buys.

You can find out about these sales (and related events such as patio, drive-away and backyard sales) in the want ads of your local newspaper. Notices appear daily in "Furniture for Sale" and "Miscellaneous for Sale" columns. But "Trading Post," "Shopper" or similarly named sections of the paper featuring weekend specials carry the most extensive and enticing ads: "Model's wardrobe, size 12"; "Six laying hens FREE—We don't like eggs"; or how about "50-family garage sale"?

Each ad tells you about the kind of sale you'll find. A "neighborhood garage sale," for instance, means that a large, varied selection of goodies is probably being offered. Other ads itemize the merchandise: "Modern sectional, $25, Cartop carrier, $10." "Estate sale," "House full of furniture," or "MOVING—everything goes!" means quantity.

Recognizing what is worth buying and what is not requires practice. To test the economies of this kind of buying, think of some retail purchase you intended to make, then compare a garage-sale item for quality and price.

The safest buys are among that broad array of miscellany whose condition and durability are easily discerned. These include dishes, pans, simple utensils, picture frames, non-antique furniture, plants, table linens, knickknacks and building supplies such as bricks, sinks, pipe and tile. You will find real savings on baby equipment, luggage, toys, sporting goods, camping gear and books. Nearly new furniture and carpeting in almost perfect condition can often be bought for less than half the original cost. There are great savings here if you can locate suitable colors and styles.

The riskier items are appliances, machines or gadgets that are electrical or have moving parts. Don't be embarrassed to plug in and try out a clock, radio, hair dryer, vacuum cleaner, adding machine or power mower. Lamps can be easily fixed and are often worth buying for the shade alone. If you know the seller personally you'll be able to take his word for the condition of questionable merchandise. Consider the circumstances of the sale, too. A family moving a long distance or relocating from a large home to an apartment is likely to be leaving behind appliances and other items that are still in good working order.

The most fervently hunted articles are antiques and "collectibles" such as copper and brass pieces, colored glassware, baskets, lace, buttons, old dolls, toy trains and miniatures. Garage sales are providing homemakers and novice collectors that rare opportunity to compete with dealers for family treasures that are finally being offered for sale.

Intrepid bargain hunters locate the earliest available copy of the want ads. If something catches your fancy in the morning paper, it doesn't pay to be shy about knocking on doors before breakfast—the dealers aren't. Some ads state a time preference, such as "after 12" or "evenings," but in actual practice any time goes.

Once on target, look inside of, beneath, behind and directly at all merchandise displayed. If you are interested, but a little unsure about buying, say, a dresser, put your hand on it and ask the seller a few questions to stall for time. In the case of a smaller item, perhaps a rare tea cup, carry it around with you while you make up your mind. Speak to the seller as soon as you decide to buy, before someone else who's been eyeing that cup can get to him.

It helps to keep a list of items you hope to find. Also note measurements and other pertinent data, for a bookcase or fire screen, no matter how cheap, is not a bargain if it doesn't fit the space intended for it.

At garage sales you will have to make quick decisions that are not required for the average counter-top purchase. If you discover a treadle sewing machine, ask yourself: Do I really want it? Is there oak underneath all that paint? Is it worth refinishing? Will my new portable adapt to the old fittings? Can I sell it again without a loss if I change my mind? Last of all, is it worth the price being asked?

Many people who give garage sales are amateur, secondhand dealers and they try to price fairly. But you can buy with more confidence if you will jot down comparative prices of items you hope to find. It is especially important to know going prices when buying antiques. Garage-sale antiques can be purchased for less than a dealer's price—much less when extensive repair or refinishing is needed.

When prices are not marked, they will usually be quoted verbally. Occasionally a rare item, such as an Oriental rug, will be sold by the collection of written bids. Most women feel uncomfortable about haggling, but there are ladylike ways to strike a bargain. And it's perfectly acceptable to offer a lower amount. If you are interested in an item, but not desperate, check back by phone later. Prices are often reduced at the end of the day, so don't be overeager to buy.

The telephone, by the way, is a buyer's ally. Call for information on color and size and for directions on how to get to the sale, or just to compare prices.

Most sellers will accept checks for garage-sale purchases. Some will even take trading stamps for their goods. And if cash is demanded, a small deposit will normally hold your purchase while you cash a check.

When the time comes to bring your treasure home, it helps to have a way to haul it, a place to put it, a knack for fixing it, and a husband who is sympathetic with the whole enterprise. The rewards go beyond material pleasures. Garage-sale shopping is great entertainment—you'll be discovering new neighborhoods and meeting interesting people while you're poking around in others' junk.

"I don't know why she's carting all this stuff home," commented one man about his wife, just returned from a neighborhood sale. "We can't even get the car in our garage." The answer was provided by an onlooker—and it's good advice. "Just keep the things you like best," she said, "and with the leftovers give a garage sale yourself."
When a girl leaves home to set up housekeeping—as we all do sooner or later—she receives a good deal of well-meaning advice from her mother. My mother gave me a case of the tomato sauce she always used. I soon realized that although everything I cooked tasted delicious, all my dishes had a resemblance.

When I could cook a respectable fricassee and felt brave enough to try my hand at Greek lamb shanks and other exotica, they all tasted alike, too. Mom’s tomato taste was still there, crossing all frontiers. Baked lasagna, meat loaf and goulash—the flavors of Italy, the U.S. and Hungary—had all disappeared into Brand X.

The time had come to try another kind of tomato. But when I first went to the supermarket, I nearly gave up the struggle, so bewildering was the selection. Tomatoes of all shapes and sizes lined the shelves: whole, plum and round. There were peeled, whole tomatoes from California, Italy and Spain; tomatoes packed in juice or puree or with paste added; stewed tomatoes with onion, celery and green pepper; tomato juice; tomato paste (with or without basil leaf); sliced baby tomatoes and tomato wedges in juice... and of course the numerous brands of prepared sauce.

How do you guide the right can to the right dish? The labels don’t help. So here is a beginner’s index to the canned tomato products that I have found, by trial and error, to be most useful in the kitchen.

Tomato paste. European recipes use tomato paste when fresh tomatoes are out of season. For French recipes, use a domestic American brand; for Italian cooking, the imported paste, with basil leaf. To remove the bitter taste, cook the tomato paste in oil as the Italians do when making pizza sauce. Or bake it for hours, the way the French do in cassoulet. Remember that tomato paste is highly concentrated—a little goes a long way.

Plain, peeled tomatoes. Use these with their own liquid for soups, stews and casseroles. Stew meat is generally tough, and the natural acidity of canned tomatoes helps break down the fibers.

Tomatoes packed in juice or puree. These are ideal for vegetable stews like ratatouille, and for cooking fish in the Greek way with tomatoes, herbs and onions.

Tomato juice. This is just as good a marinating agent as wine, lemon juice or vinegar. Plain tomato juice is often all you need to moisten moussaka, meat loaf or baked rice casseroles.

Stewed tomatoes with onion, celery and green pepper. This product is excellent for all cuisines where green and red peppers form an integral part of the seasoning. Geographically speaking, this includes Spain, Hungary, Louisiana, the Caribbean and South America—once all linked together in Spanish colonial times. Stewed tomatoes are the correct seasoning for such apparently disparate dishes as New Orleans creole gumbo, Hungarian goulash and South American picadillo.

Tomato sauce. In addition to the regular, there is Spanish-style tomato sauce, a tomato sauce with mushrooms, cheese, onion or tomato pieces added. Use the Spanish style or those with the added products when you want a special extra flavor. As for the tomato sauce my mother recommended, I heat it and pour it over spaghetti. That way I remember Mother now and then, rather than all the time. —Eleanor Marlowe

POLLUTION POLEMICS
I am as concerned over the pollution problem as anyone, yet I feel most are overdoing the subject. Instead of sparking public reaction to our environmental dilemma, today’s magazines are boring the public to death. A new approach to the problem should provide good subjects for creative writers.

SUNRIVER IN THE SNOW
We own a home at Sunriver, Ore., and were there when your photographers were taking pictures for the January issue. At this moment there are many happy skiers and Pole House [see page 36] owners at Sunriver because 8 inches of snow have just fallen. The place is out of this world. Only trouble is, we are trying to keep Sunriver a secret.

THE RETURN OF Elegance
...A Famous Timepiece restored as a Classic Decoration for your Home or Office

MAGNIFICENT GEORGIAN PENDULUM AND CHIME CLOCK

Long the stately halls of Georgian Manors echoed with the measured beat and soothing chimes of this classic wall clock. The rhythmic motion of the pendulum, the heavy weights gleaming in the glow of fireplaces, the intricately worked faces, all convey the passage of time measured in grace and dignity. Now all the craftsmanship and artistry of this honored timepiece has been captured in this authentic model of a Georgian Hall Clock by a world famous horological house. All its elegance and magnificence has been recreated in a beautiful hand-finished case accented with a gold-toned pendulum and superbly embossed dial. Accentuated by the gleaming counterweights and chains, here is the kind of elegance usually found in only the most expensive settings. Combined with the precision electric movement, with its lovely chime that sounds once on the hour and half hour, here is a memento of the past, that will serve you in beauty and utter dependability.

OFFER WILL NOT BE REPEATED THIS SEASON

Because of the unusual value of the Georgian Wall Clock we urge you to order now while our supply lasts. Each clock, complete with electric pendulum, is 16" high, 7" wide and 3" deep. Unfortunately it is impossible for you to envisage its handcrafted beauty from the small black and white illustration here. Only when you see it in your home or office can you fully appreciate its antique beauty and superb craftsmanship. In order that you may actually see for yourself its beauty and value, we will send it to you for only $14.98 on full money-back guarantee. So hurry, order now, this offer will not be repeated this season in this magazine.

MAKING YOUR OWN AFGHAN on this page is fun but not always easy. Why? Because it takes a whole row at a time. Use 4" x 4" squares or 4" x 4" doilies in minutes. Sew or weave together for sweaters, afghans, etc. Now, here's a new way:

WEAVE AN AFGHAN

Here's a new technique that's fast, easy and elegant. Weave it, knot it, knit it, or even just picture it. You'll need:

- Yarn
- Needle
- Scissors
- Straight pins

Instructions:
1. Choose your yarn(s).
2. Decide on the length and width of your afghan.
3. Wet the yarn and let it dry completely.
4. Lay out the yarn on a flat surface and measure the length and width.
5. Cut the yarn into 4" x 4" squares or 4" x 4" doilies.
6. Assemble the squares or doilies using straight pins to form a grid.
7. Weave, knot, or knit the squares or doilies together to complete your afghan.

Imagine paying under $125 for a perfect two-carat ring... under $125 for fabulous one-carat earrings... $60 for a full carat tie-tac!

Impossible?

Since diamond prices are so closely controlled by the international cartels, of course a full carat tie-tac! Imagine paying under $125 for a perfect diamond. Since diamond prices are so closely controlled by the international cartels, you can do practically the same thing.

Now, for a fraction of what you would pay for real diamonds, you can purchase a man-made jewel so perfect only an expert can tell it from the real thing for sure.

Imagine! Man-made Diagems so perfect that only experts can tell them apart. So beautiful that many jewelers—and even pawnbrokers—are fooled! So flawless that few genuine diamonds are a Diagem as well! . . . and for less than one twentieth the cost!

These magnificent jewels are called Diagems. They are identical to diamonds in appearance.

THE ONLY DIFFERENCE

Genuine diamonds are produced under tremendous heat and pressure. So are Diagems! Genuine diamonds have a cubic molecular structure. So do Diagems! Genuine diamonds have a fire and brilliance measured by the refractive scale as 2.4. So do Diagems! Genuine diamonds are cut by expert diamond cutters. So are Diagems!

What is the difference then? Simply this . . . A diamond, which is the hardest substance in the world, is harder than a Diagem. This is the basic difference between a genuine diamond and a Diagem.

Even the woman who wears a Diagem can't tell the difference. Diagems pass for real diamonds in looks anywhere, in the most knowledgeable and most sophisticated company!

100 years ago, 50 years ago, even 20 years ago, there was no substitute for diamonds. There were paste, zirconas, and a few laboratory-made stones of uncertain quality, but nothing that could actually pass in appearance as a genuine diamond. Diagem, the most magnificent man-made jewel can't be told from a diamond and knowledgeable people everywhere are taking advantage of that fact!

Those magnificent diamond earrings your friend's wife was wearing the other day may actually have been Diagems! The beautiful ring your best friend was wearing may have been a Diagem as well! More people—especially among the wealthy—are wearing Diagems than you would begin to suspect, but they're not talking, and unless they do, there is no way you could possibly know.

WHY NOT YOU?

Unless you are buying purely for investment, Diagems make perfect sense because they are not merely a fraction of what diamonds cost, yet they are just as beautiful and often more so. 2. They pose no expensive insurance problems. If one should be lost, strayed or stolen, the event is not the calamity it might otherwise be. 3. Only an expert can tell them from the real thing for sure.

If you are wondering what kind of a gift to get for that special occasion... why not a Diagem? If you have an anniversary coming up, what better way to go all out than with a gift like this? If you'd like to purchase an engagement ring, how much more sense to invest in a Diagem! You get a bigger (and since diamonds are judged by size), a far more lovely and impressive ring for a fraction of what you would expect to pay, and the huge savings can go towards furnishing the house or towards that new car.

Or, if you are simply trying to impress or win over a friend, what better way than this? If diamonds are a girl's best friend, so are Diagems because she can't tell them apart!

No matter what kind of gift, no matter what the occasion, certainly Diagems make good sense, and if you have any doubts, you can actually see for yourself without risk. We are so confident you will be impressed with Diagems once you actually examine one, that we make this FREE EXAMINATION OFFER

Diagems are available only in a few smart outlets in several of our larger cities and nowhere else. Now, for the first time, they are being offered by mail!

We are a highly reputable and well-financed organization. You may deal with us with complete confidence. No one will ever know that you are our customer. If Diagems sound intriguing to you, simply indicate your choice below. When your Diagem arrives, look it over for 10 full days at our risk. Have it examined by whomever you like. If, at the end of that time, you are not completely satisfied in every way, return for an immediate refund, no questions asked! Your friends must be convinced you are wearing a magnificent genuine diamond, or you pay!

FREE EXAMINATION OFFER

If diamonds are a girl's best friend, so are Diagems because she can't tell them apart!

PAWNBROKERS BEWARE

(TWO TRUE STORIES)

When Diagems were first introduced, a man we know approached a pawnbroker with a one carat Diagem ring. The broker examined it through his glass and said, "$750." Look again, smiled our friend expecting the pawnbroker to recognize his error. "O.K., $600," he replied, "but no higher."

The prospective mother-in-law was unimpressed by her daughters choice of a beau. When the young couple showed her the magnificent engagement ring, Momma softened a bit. After all, anyone who could afford an $1,800 ring couldn't be all bad. The actual cost of that ring? Less than $80, but to this day Momma hasn't the slightest inkling! Diagems simply cannot be told from real diamonds positively except by an expert jeweler!

MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE

When your Diagem arrives, examine it for 10 days at our risk. If you aren't convinced it is everything we claim, replace it completely! In the event it is undistinguishable from a genuine diamond in appearance, don't keep it; simply return for full and immediate refund.

Don't Compare

These Diagems with zircons, white sapphires, paste or any of the "synthetic diamond" you may have heard of, are not the same as Diagems! The product of years of research and development, they are virtually identical to and indistinguishable from genuine diamonds in appearance... Same basic cubic molecular structure, same light refractive index (2.4), same clarity and brilliance.

records for only $2.86
plus mailing and handling

I, IT'S TRUE — if you join right now, you may have your choice of ANY 12 of these records for only $2.86. And all you have to do is agree to buy as few as ten records (at the regular Club price) during the coming two years. That's right — you'll have two full years in which to buy ten records. After doing so, you'll have acquired 22 records—but you'll have paid for just half of them. That's a savings of 50% off regular Club prices!

A MEMBER of the Columbia Record Club you simply agree to buy records during the coming 2 years.

A MEMBER will receive, every four weeks, a copy of the Club's entertaining music magazine. Each issue debes the regular selection for each musical interest and lists 300 other records ... hit albums from every field of music, from scores of record labels. So, if you do not want any record in any month — just tell us by returning the selection card by the date specified ... you may use the card to order any of the records offered. You want only the regular selection for your musical interest, you need do nothing — it will be shipped to you automatically. And from time to time, the Club will offer special albums, which you may reject by returning the dated form provided—or accept by doing nothing.

Cords Sent on Credit. Upon enrollment, the Club will open a charge account in your name ... records will be mailed and billed to you at the regular Club price of $2.86 (Classical and occasional special albums somewhat higher), plus a mailing and handling charge.

NASTIC BONUS PLAN. As soon as you complete your enrollment agreement, you will automatically become eligible for the Club's generous bonus plan, which entitles you to one record of your choice free (plus 25c for mailing and handling) for every one you buy thereafter.

No No money — JUST MAIL THE POSTPAID CARD. In the numbers of the twelve records you want, for which you will be billed only $2.86, plus mailing and handling. Be sure to indicate the type of music in which you are mainly interested. Act today!

SWEDISH HEALTH SHORTS

“AT LAST AVAILABLE IN AMERICA”
Now, for the first time “Swedish Health Shorts” have been made available for the American market. “Swedish Health Shorts” are unquestionably made to help you reduce up to 6 inches and more of unwanted excess weight. Men and women everywhere are reporting inch losses the very first day, without dieting or taking harmful pills. You too can lose unsightly bulges the comfortable way.

“What are Swedish Health Shorts?”
“Swedish Health Shorts” are the modern method of removing unwanted inches without tiresome effort. They work on the principle of the famous Swedish Sauna cabinet. This method removes the excess liquid from your body. Swedish Health Shorts contain dozens of tiny air pockets that gently massage and soothe your hips, thighs and waistline. You inflate your Swedish Health Shorts with a hand pump, (for your convenience we supply this pump free) now your Swedish Health Shorts will do the rest.

“Wear for only 5 days”
Simply wear your Swedish Health Shorts about 20 minutes a day, for 5 days. Go about your normal routine of housework, indoors or outdoors. The results for the first 5 days will differ with the individual according to your physical appearance or size. Regardless of your physical factors, and assuming you do have excess weight, you must lose inches the first 5 days or your money will be promptly refunded.

Virtually every time that you spend money, whether at the supermarket, department store, drugstore, or gas station, you're being ROBBED! You're being duped, hoodwinked, and swindled out of the full value of your money by a combination of deceptive selling techniques that include Moneysworth's, mendacious salesmanship, and insidious labeling and packaging ploys. Senator Warren Magnuson, the most alert consumer watchdog in Congress, says that deceptive selling is today's "most serious form of theft, accounting for more dollars lost each year than robbery, larceny, auto thefts, embezzlement, and fraud combined." Sidney Margolius, the dean of American consumer writers, asserts that "Never in the 30 years I have been reporting on consumer problems has the public been as widely and steadily exploited as today." And Ralph Nader, the nation's most renowned champion of consumer rights, states that "Nowadays consumers are being manipulated and defrauded not just by marginal, fly-by-night hustlers, but by America's blue-chip business firms." In short, commercial flamboyancy is rife throughout the nation and the American consumer is being victimized as never before. As a result, widespread popular ignorance, confusion, and deception, an intrepid, authoritative, new publication has been launched. Its name is Moneysworth.

Moneysworth, as its name implies, aims to show you at a full value for the money you spend. It rates competitive products as to best buys (as among cameras, hi-fis, automobiles, and appliances), and suggests how to save money (they will astound you with their ingenuity); and it counsels you on the management of your personal finances (telling not only how to gain maximum return on your investments and savings, but also how to protect your money against the ravages of inflation). In short, Moneysworth is your own personal consumer crusader, trusted stockbroker, and chancellor of the exchequer—all in one.

Perhaps the best way to describe Moneysworth for you is to list the kinds of articles it prints:

- Earn 12% on Your Savings (Fully Insured)
- How to Buy A Car for $125 Over Dealer's Cost
- Inaccurate Billing by the Phone Company
- The Art of Bankrupting Account
- The New U.S.-Made Minicars: An Evaluation
- 14 Recession-Wrecked Cities Where Real Estate Is Selling for a Pittance
- "Consuming Fire"—Moneysworth takes aim at companies that are defrauding the public.
- Unsafe at Any Height—A comparison of the safety records of America's airlines.
- A Consumer's Guide to Marijuana
- Free Land and Free Money from Uncle Sam
- Stocks that Are on the Rebound
- Send Your Child to College Abroad
- The Moneysworth Co-operative—Details of a price-discount co-op (for purchasing typewriters, paper, and souped-up ads in hot-rod magazines).
- "L'Rnlprcm'—The most revolutionary developments in automobile safety. Moneysworth's advertising whatsoever; it is beholden to no one
- The Truth about Cut-Rate Gasolines
- "No-Fault" Insurance Clarified
- The Safest Car of 19__—A new series of an annual survey of safety records of America's airlines.
- The Encouragement of Reckless Driving by CM, the world's foremost automotive omen.
- How to Buy Medical Insurance Without Trauma
- The Courage of Reckless Driving by CM, the world's foremost automotive omen. Herb Lubalin, the world's foremost graphic designer, is Moneysworth's art director. Together, these men will produce the first—and only—consumer magazine with charisma.

Moneysworth is available by subscription only. Its price is $10 a year. However, right now you may order a special introductory Charter Subscription for only $5! This is HALFP PRICE!

Moreover, we are so confident that Moneysworth will prove indispensable to you that we are prepared to make what is probably the most generous subscription offer in publishing history: We will absolutely and unconditionally guarantee that Moneysworth will increase the purchasing power of your income by at least 15%—or we'll refund your money IN FULL. In other words, if you now earn $10,000 a year, we'll guarantee that Moneysworth will increase the value of your income by at least $1,500—or you get your money back. As you can see, a subscription to Moneysworth is an absolutely foolproof investment.

To enter your subscription, simply fill out the coupon below and mail it with $5 to: Moneysworth, 110 W. 40th St., New York, New York 10018.

We urge you to act at once. Stop being robbed and start getting your Moneysworth.

Arthritis can be successfully treated. Let new 5-way practical plan of active help you to buoyant, pain-free living!

By William S. Kitay

Medical Science Reporter

If you have had Arthritis for years, have just had first symptoms, or have a loved one who suffers from it, here’s news! Scientists have revised their viewpoint on Arthritis and what you can do about it. Science now knows you can calm the pain, the activity of Arthritis, even lessen the damage.

What Researchers Discovered

A simple home treatment can get you back on your feet, give you new independence and return you to useful living.

It stops pain, reduces inflammation and swelling, gives greater use of your joints. It’s surprisingly effective in even severe cases. Often it stops short pain and disability as first symptoms begin.

To find the truth about and OVERCOME ARTHRITIS—Over 1000 doctors and scientists joined in to investigate anything promising even alleviating relief, however unorthodox.

The frauds, the fakes, the false hopes were shown up. Full facts on all medical-side effects—disadvantages—withdrawal-effects in different situations were frankly faced.

ARTHRITIS DANGER QUIZ!

- Will the juice of one lemon in hot water before breakfast relieve your Arthritis? Do special diets help? Does constipation affect Arthritis? Do laxatives help?
- How about Vitamin B-12, Vitamin C and orange juice, cod liver oil, baking soda, honey? Does reducing help?
- Will oils be absorbed by your skin and help lubricate a stiff joint? Does iodine help? Are dry skin or dry eye symptoms indications of Arthritis? When can a small pillow under your head help—and when HARM?
- Will climbing stairs strengthen knees, feet, hips affected—or harm them? Will sitting in one spot cause any pain or stiffness long periods?
- Will swimming strengthen elements, knees, feet, hips affected—or harm them? Will sitting in one spot cause any pain or stiffness long periods?
- Will you be able to tell a good therapist from a quack? How to recognize and avoid the quack cures, "sure cures" and fake remedies.

Available To Anyone

Any doctor, any arthritis sufferer, anyone susceptible to Arthritis, any family member or friend may accept the amazing offer below. It’s a way to help yourself and your doctor to overcome Arthritis, stop Arthritis, relieve pain and misery, restore action to crippled limbs, and give back normal, pain-free living.

You get a blunt report in 5-Way Plan described here. The misinformation, confusion, claims and counter claims and ignorance about Arthritis are cleared up. You get the truth about, and how to recognize and avoid, quack cures, "sure cures" and fake remedies.

The quickest, surest method found—when again and again proven in different situations—have been included in a new 5-Way plan to give you greater relief from aches and pain, greater use of joints, faster resumption of activities.

5-Way Plan in Book Form

The entire plan is now published in one easy-to-read Volume. You just use the information you need. What kind of Arthritis do you have? Rheumatoid Arthritis? Osteo Arthritis? They’re covered (covering 95% of Arthritis cases) including Rheumatic Fever, Infective Arthritis, Gouty Arthritis, Shoulder and Hand Syndromes and Traumatic Arthritis—PLUS the RELATED DISORDERS of Rheumatism, Bursitis, Tendinitis, Psychogenic Rheumatism—Deformities—Fibrosis, Fascitis, Tendositis, and Myositis.

Get the facts about the Arthritics that strikes 10 men for each woman—and another kind that strikes 10 women for each man—the Arthritics most past 40 eventually get to some degree—the kind that attacks rugged outdoor men—and another kind that attacks thin, tense, intellectual types—the Arthritis that’s the most common cause of heart disease and often affects children. Arthritis involves the upper spine arriving with headache, earache, sore throat, neuritis pains in arms, or stiffness in neck. The kind Arthritis help prevent—and the kind former athletes often get—Arthritis passed on by mother to daughter.

And more! The most ignored warning signals of Arthritis and what to do when you first spot them. Facts you should know about aspirin, gold salts, prednisone, cortisone, hydrocortisone.

Amazing New Miracle Plants
With Lush Masses of Magnificent
Flowers and Spectacular Colors!

3 Color Rose of Sharon
EXTRAVAGANZA

RED, WHITE
and BLUE
ON ONE PLANT

THREE ON A MATCHLESS
BUSH! Red, white and blue! A kaleidoscope of color, a feast for the eyes, and all on one magnificent bush! So like roses one can hardly tell them apart! When shipped they are already to 3-feet of hearty growth.
You will be amazed at how quickly they burst into full bloom.
The luxurious, double-plated flowers average up to 3/4 inches across, and they keep coming in an almost endless procession of brilliance. A blanket of multi-colored Roses.

Cold, even zero weather doesn't frighten them! Any kind of soil, any climate, soon you will have a proud beauty up to 10-feet tall. An artist's painting has nothing on this for color!

30-DAY MONEY BACK GUARANTEE

Masses of Fresh Roses Every Day from Early Spring until Winter

CLIMBING RED HOT ROSES

Once planted they quickly leap and climb up the side of your house!
Up-up they go toward the roof in a frontal rush to be the most gorgeous climbing roses anywhere! The rose-rush-hour begins in early spring and continues on until the onset of winter. Huge masses of red/white roses, often bigger than any roses dare be! By the baker's dozens they bloom! We'll ship healthy, 2-year nursery stock, and the best part of all is that they require no special care even in nose-sipping temperatures! Company on the way... One quick trip of the rose-cutter, and you have a floral display for the table that will top any other.

MY GRASS IS NO. 1

By Mike Senkwik

It's true the things people are saying about Amazoy Meyer Z-52 Zoysia Grass. (Reg. T.M.) It grows so thick and luxurious that walking on it is unforgettable...like walking on a thick, pile carpet.

Your Zoysia lawn dries out in crumbly grass and needs all summer long. It stays green and beautiful in blistering heat when other grass burns out. It can mow by itself...it's perfect for summer homes and "problem" areas.

There's no need to rip out your old grass. Plug in Amazoy Zoysia Grass and let it spread into beautiful turf that never needs replacement. It will neither heat nor winter kill...merely goes off its green color after heavy frost and regains new beauty every Spring—a true perennial! Every plug guaranteed to grow in any soil in your area.

Send for the Ad Kit:

a) 100-gram packets of Zoysia seeds
b) 50-gram packets of Zoysia seeds

c) Zoysia grass plugs

d) Zoysia grass plugs

Should an 8-year-old worry about cholesterol?

He can’t worry about something he doesn’t know about. But you should.

Cholesterol can start building up in a kid. Up and up until he grows up with a real health risk.

Heart specialists recommend reducing one important risk of coronary disease tomorrow by starting your family on low cholesterol meals today. Foods low in saturated fats, high in polyunsaturates . . . to help reduce serum cholesterol.

Foods like Fleischmann’s® Margarine. It’s made from 100% corn oil. And there’s no better oil to help lower cholesterol levels. And no better tasting margarine. Fleischmann’s—the corn oil margarine doctors name most . . . and people like best.
Don't put your reputation on the spot. Get the spotless Cascade look.

Cascade has Chlorosheen. And Cascade—the best dishwasher detergent you can buy—makes water flow off dishes in clear sheets. Result? Drops that spot don't form. Dishes dry wonderfully free from embarrassing spots or streaks. Try Cascade and prove to yourself it's unbeatable.

Cascade eliminates drops that spot.
