WHAT DOES THE AIA
DO FOR ME?

A primary concern of many members centers on what benefits accrue from AIA membership at the national, state and local component level. The following is a brief, but by no means all inclusive, description of activities at the various levels:

NATIONAL AIA

- Legislative lobbying and policymaking with regard to issues that affect the practice of architecture at all levels of government with such issues as the Brooks Bill (architect selection based on qualification rather than fee proposal) and the Partial Self-Insurance Trust Bill (deals with set-asides out of pre-tax income covering professional liability insurance deductibles.)
- Development and distribution of contract documents and other forms which assist the architect in conducting his practice expeditiously, accurately and with a minimum amount of need for additional attorney and accounting fees.
- The distribution of the AIA Journal and a host of other information manuals to both inform and assist the architect in his practice and related matters.
- The design and development of programs (such as the energy development program) to continually upgrade the quality of service we render our client.
- The creation of a national forum which is effective in funding the interests of architects on a nationwide basis.

ILLINOIS COUNCIL, AIA

- Most recently ICAIA has been involved in the successful passage of a Statute of Limitations in the State of Illinois where heretofore none existed.
- Instrumental in the passage of a Designated Fund Bill which will make the Department of Registration and Education more responsive and ensure a minimum standard of professionalism of architects licensed in this state.
- Acts to influence and evaluate licensing exams for architects within the State of Illinois and assists in grading of those exams.
- Presently working to modify a bill which, if passed, would exempt design professionals from the Illinois Construction Work Act (Scaffolding Act), an onerous and expensive source of litigation of architects in our state.
- Will undertake to rewrite the Illinois Architectural Act in the coming year to avoid infringement upon the rights of architects and to ensure a strengthened posture with regard to "sunsetting" the licensing of architects in Illinois.

CHICAGO CHAPTER, AIA

- Provides through its committee structure an array of programs designed to appeal to the varying interests of its members.
- Develops programs and tours of special interest to the membership.
- Takes positions within city government on issues concerning architects.
- Instrumental in the initial development of the 1992 World's Fair concept.
- Maintains a liaison with various city agencies such as the Building Department to ensure fair and equitable building codes applied equitably throughout metropolitan Chicago.

I make no pretense that improvement cannot occur. We're aiming in that direction. Thus far this year, the Chicago Chapter sponsored approximately 50 events of great variety, depth and duration. I am pleased to report that attendance has increased enormously. Programs have ranged from a survey and report on the use of computers; to problems associated with overdue receivables and how to collect them; to techniques for new work development; to recommended guidelines for the North Loop Redevelopment and Theater Row; to the awards programs for both buildings and interior architecture.

The CCAIA Distinguished Building Awards ceremony and reception is scheduled for September 8 at the Art Institute when 13 projects will be premiated. On October 1 and 2, the Illinois Council will co-sponsor a two-day seminar at the Merchandise Mart. While the program is still in the formative stage, we hope to provide yet another opportunity for our members to benefit from AIA membership.

DBA ENTRIES & CHICAGO ARCHITECTURE RECEIVE JURY PLAUDITS

"I think there isn't a stronger single architectural community in the world," said Evans Woollen, AIA, chairman of the 1982 Distinguished Buildings Award jury, after viewing this year's entries. The jury met on July 31 and selected 13 designs to receive the Distinguished Building Award, plus a 25-year Honor Award winner.

After the jurying, Mr. Kennon remarked, "the encouraging thing that I see in the work here is that the Chicago architects are really coping with the forces that they can cope with and are attacking their problems with great skill. They are creating quite marvelous things in the realm of architecture....not just skirting the issues, but attempting to face them head on, and the work is truly at a high aesthetic and ideological level."

The awards ceremony will feature slides of the entire field of entries, a field of unusually high quality. Mr. Woollen has been invited to speak, sharing the jury's comments on how they see the state of Chicago design, based on the awards program submissions. The ceremony will begin at 5:30 PM on September 8 at the Columbus Drive Auditorium of the Art Institute of Chicago. The free program and talk by Mr. Woollen will be followed by a reception in the Art Institute Garden. Tickets to the reception are $10. For tickets, please contact the Chapter office.

The Art Institute will be exhibiting the fourteen award winners from September 9 until October 3. Catalogs from the awards program will be available from the Chapter office, the bookstore at the Art Institute of Chicago, the Prairie Avenue Bookstore, and the ArchiCenter Bookstore.

CCAIA TOURS THREE FIRST NATIONAL

Sixty-five members and guests toured one of the Loop's newest highrises on July 20. Bruce Graham, FAIA, of Skidmore, Owings and Merrill, chief designer of the building, spoke in the lobby about the client's program, the evolution of the design, and plans for a Henry Moore sculpture in the lobby. A special feature of the tour were two spaces which won Interior Architecture Awards from the CCAIA this year. Greg Landahl, AIA, led the group through the space he designed for Driehaus Research Associates, and Marvin Ullman, AIA, guided us through his office for Kanter & Eisenberg.

The tour was arranged by Phil Neuberg, chairman of the Tour Committee. Our special thanks to Messrs. Graham, Landahl, and Ullman, and to Richard Driehaus of Kanter & Eisenberg, and the management of Three First National Plaza.

Energy Management Ideas from Detroit Edison

Heat pump space conditioning can help lower the cost of doing business.

Whether you’re an architect/designer or a contractor, you can help your clients lower their cost of doing business by specifying a heat pump space-heating system. You can connect a heat pump to most electric, gas, oil or L.P. forced-air heating systems with no, or minimal, modification.

A heat pump lowers costs because it moves the natural heat, that’s always present in the outside air, inside to heat any kind of building. The heating system only has to go to work when the outside temperature is below freezing.

A Detroit Edison Specialist can give you straight answers on heat pump savings and recommend the kind of heat pump that will do the best job for any business. He can also recommend economical and efficient methods to improve interior and security lighting, assist you in selecting waste heat recovery equipment and advise you on maintenance schedules to keep all machinery operating more efficiently.

Whatever your business, energy management is a lot simpler when you can depend on a reliable power source. And you can in Southeastern Michigan because Detroit Edison provides this area with electricity that’s more than 90 percent generated from abundant coal.

So take advantage of Detroit Edison’s vast energy experience and set up an appointment with one of our Specialists soon. Call (313) 237-9228 or write Energy Management, Detroit Edison, 348 WCB, 2000 Second Avenue, Detroit, Michigan 48226.
