INDIANA AND KENTUCKY SOCIETIES TO HOLD SEPTEMBER REGIONAL CONVENTION

"MINI-GRASSROOTS" IS THEME OF 1973 MEETING

The Indiana Society of Architects and Kentucky Society of Architects will meet September 6 through 8 at the French Lick Sheraton, French Lick, Indiana, for a stimulating but relaxing convention.

This year's thrust spotlights how AIA, ISA and KSA work for the member and the profession and will provide the opportunity for those who attend to hear, direct from Washington, what is being done to represent them at all levels of governmental and community action. Conventioneers will also be able to discuss, in sessions and informally, their ideas concerning what each organization should be doing.

An optional Training Laboratory, "The Design Impacts of O.S.H.A.," to be held Thursday, September 6th, is an added attraction for the 1973 Convention.

Rotating concurrent sessions on Professional Practice, Public Relations, Continuing Education and Structure and Communications highlight convention activities Friday. The evening's social activities offer an exciting German Oktoberfest theme.

Several features make this year's convention even more attractive. First, registration costs have been slashed for the regular day and one-half session to just $5.00 for member and spouse. A special "package" which includes the Thursday special training lab on OSHA will cost a mere $50.00 and the convention registration will be free for the member and spouse.

Next, the convention has been compacted, except for the optional items, into not over a day and one-half. The effort of Mr. Robert Kennedy, Convention Committee Chairman, and the Convention Committee is to encourage the younger practitioner and those with small offices to attend. Especially welcome are students and younger non-members. All offices are encouraged to allow as many as possible to be away for the main "mini-grassroots" day. By compacting scheduling, equivalent savings in housing costs can be realized also.

A special main address and awards presentations will conclude the main convention at noon on Saturday, with optional organized recreational activities continuing until evening.

In short, the four "C's" of the 1973 Convention logo could mean Communication, Coordination, Continuity and Conviviality. Plan your calendars now to join us at French Lick!

The new wet erasable GAF intermediate. Because the best laid plans...

Changes of plan are a fact of life for an architect. With the new GAF® 102 EPC4 polyester intermediate however, changes are quick and easy. Just make an intermediate of the original drawing. Then, if a change is needed, just erase with a damp eraser. And redraw with pen or pencil (on either side, you get two quality drafting surfaces). That's all.

102 EPC4 is just one of a full line of high quality GAF drafting films and vellums. And for a limited time we'll give you a free lead holder if you'll let us give you a demonstration.

So, call Stuart Goldner at the GAF Business Systems Center (241-2877) for a demonstration. Or better yet, come on out. We're at 2260 Distributor's Drive, Park Fletcher Industrial Park, Indianapolis, Indiana 46241. If you'll let us show you what to draw on, we'll give you something to draw with.

A report on what is being done about the gas situation.

This is one of a series of reports about the gas situation. The Gas Utilities of Central Indiana want you to know what is being done to assure future supplies and what can be done to conserve present supplies.

The solutions to the gas energy problem will not be easy.

The earth still contains tremendous reserves of natural gas, but we will need new wells off-shore and much deeper wells on land to tap them. And we will need new systems to deliver gas from reserves in Alaska and foreign lands.

The gas industry is working with the government to develop new technologies to derive clean "pipeline quality" gas from the abundant deposits of coal in this country; pilot plants are already in operation. In other plants around the country, gas is being produced from oil and naphtha. All of these new methods require great investments of time and money, and the clean gas they produce will cost more.

But while we work together today to conserve our nation's resources of energy, be assured that the gas industry is exploring ways to meet the need for clean energy tomorrow, too.

Spandrel panels of I B London Fog brick enhance large expanses of Hand Molded Colonials in this apartment.

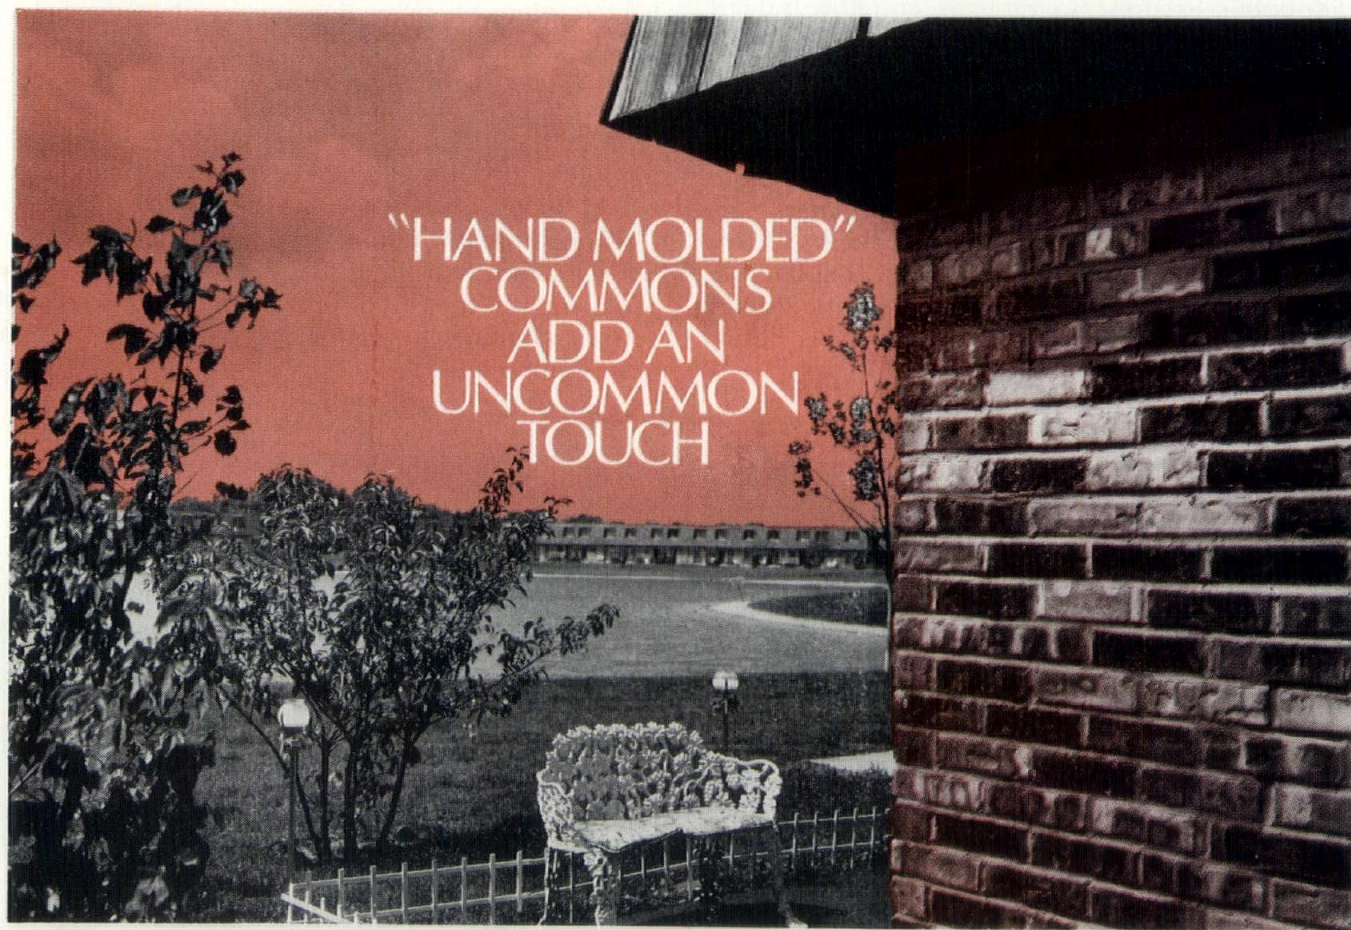

Mellowness and warmth are carried indoors in this school building.

Warm earth colors and sculptured textures characterize "Architectural Commons" by Illinois Brick. Architects find its roseate hues and molded face blend beautifully with such design features as the mansard roofs in the row houses shown — provides a pleasing complement to parklike landscaping.

Perhaps I B Architectural Brick can give your next project an "uncommon" touch. Illinois Brick offers fast service on a wide range of brick types and colors to meet your most exacting specifications—and schedules. Other popular brick styles include Lincoln Homespun, Cloister Black, Smooth Buff and many others. Call or write for more information.

Brick colors and molded texture increase visual interest in this bright natural setting.

TWO INDIANAPOLIS CHAPTER MEMBERS SELECTED FOR INDIANA ACADEMY

H. ROLL McLAUGHLIN, FAIA, and EVANS WOOLLEN III, AIA, were among 20 Hoosiers inducted June 18, 1973, into the Indiana Academy in recognition of their contributions to culture in Indiana.

MR. McLAUGHLIN, James Associates, is a national authority on historic landmarks and a specialist in the restoration of historic buildings. Preservation officer of the Indiana Society of Architects since 1960, he is a member of the Greater Indianapolis Progress Committee and the Indianapolis Arts and Culture Committee and director of the Historic Landmarks Foundation.

Among restorations done under MR. McLAUGHLIN's direction were the Old State Bank Memorial in Vincennes, the Old Opera House State Memorial in New Harmony and the Benjamin Harrison Home in Indianapolis. The Indiana Society of Architects presented MR. McLAUGHLIN two awards in 1972 for the restoration of the James Ball Residence in Lafayette and the Morris Butler House in Indianapolis.

MR. WOOLLEN, senior member of Woollen Associates, Indianapolis, is a trustee of the English Foundation and Crown Hill Cemetery and a member of the United States Institute of Theater Technology. From 1969 to 1972 he served on the Capital Improvements Board.

MR. WOOLLEN's designs include the Clowes Memorial Hall at Butler University and the Caroline Fesler Hall at the John Herron Art Institute. He was honored by the Indiana Society of Architects for his design of the Delta Zeta House at DePauw University and had also received recognition for his plans for several Indianapolis churches and branches for American Fletcher National Bank.

The INDIANA ACADEMY was founded in 1971 to recognize those who have contributed to Indiana through public service, higher education, arts, science and literature. Presidents of 18 independent colleges and universities affiliated with Associated Colleges of Indiana made the selections for membership.

The complexity of modern-day air handling systems, the needed skills of fabrication and techniques of installation plus a tremendous increase in the overall capacity of even an average system, have resulted in a corresponding increase in the responsibilities of the Air Handling Contractors. Only through a separate, detailed air handling specification can these new responsibilities be defined. As a consequence, there has been an ever increasing acceptance, by architects and engineers, of separate specifications and separate bids for air handling systems.

The above is a reproduction of the second edition of the Air Handling Specification, which is now available to architects and engineers throughout Indiana. The first edition received a top CSI award and the second edition updates all information as an aid to specification writers.

A major improvement: the second edition now conforms to the CSI format for construction specifications and is appropriately arranged for complete coverage of work that should be contracted by the sheet metal-air handling contractor under CSI Division 15, (entitled Mechanical) subdivision Air Distribution.

Before you start building, read this booklet.

"Our architect suggested a way of mounting our crane system that saved us $60,000..."

"He helped me develop a whole new way of merchandising..."

"His way of doing the building saved us $1 million..."

These intriguing quotations are right out of a new collection of short stories for businessmen.

It's strictly non-fiction.

And if you are involved in your company's decisions as to what to build and how to build it, you ought to have a copy.

(Especially if you think of architects as impractical dreamers who draw cupids and curlicues on buildings.)

Title of booklet: 10 BUSINESSMEN TALK ABOUT THEIR ARCHITECTS.

Authors: 10 men with jobs like yours: General Managers, Executive Vice Presidents, Directors of Facilities, Presidents.

(Worth repeating: Architects did not write these stories about architects. Businessmen did.)

Reading time: 15 minutes. You can skip parts without losing the plot.

Price: Nothing. It's free. Just ask your secretary to mail us this coupon.
