1971—New Interest, Involvement and Effectiveness

By Richard F. Whiteman,
President, Minnesota Society of Architects

1971 will be a new year of new interest, involvement and effectiveness. Our goals for the year can be outlined as follows:

- 1. The Minnesota Society of Architects can provide strengthening of these goals through group action where individual stimulation cannot be as effective. However, the strength of the group does depend wholly upon the commitment of the individual members. Involvement of all members is earnestly sought.
- 2. Our legislative program is limited and does not indicate the leadership role our profession should assume. We should strongly encourage passage of bills that can improve the quality of life even if these bills are controversial. We should be heard more often supporting positive proposals. A program should be implemented encouraging architects to seek elective offices on boards, city councils, county commissions and in the state legislature.
 - 3. Our public relations counsel, Roland

Minda, has been active the past year and has completed a study of architectural service patterns that indicates the minor role architects are playing in the development of our culture. Public relations counsel has made positive recommendations to strengthen this role and will hopefully continue this study to analyze and direct our actions to improve our effectiveness.

- 4. Our code of ethics is still undecided and this is causing confusion in the direction of our profession. I hope that we will be able to find ways of continuing the practice of architecture on a professional level rather than joining the speculative economy in a lesser role.
- 5. Encouragement and involvement of younger members should be a primary goal. We need new ideas and enthusiasm that youth can provide to meet current challenges and change as needed in the future.

Architecture will always be a great challenge and the goals worth achieving.

Legislation as Vital Part of Our Immediate Future

By Donald W. Hassenstab

Executive Director, Minnesota Society of Architects

Speaking not as an architect but as the executive director of MSA and its legislative representative, I believe the immediate future of architecture can best be measured in one year and that year is 1971. Within its months will be made decisions which can deeply influence the course of our profession, both as a separate unit within the economy and as an important part of the entire economy. During those months it therefore becomes important that those in our profession do everything possible to help turn the trends upward, toward making the year a successful one.

Legislation will be in the fore among activities of this year, especially during the initial months when the legislature meets. Architects have always taken some active part in the work leading to passage of state legislation. During the year 1971 they should increase their activities.

There are always new faces among the legislators at the capitol and this year there seem to be more than usual. These new men need to be contacted, to be told the story of the construction industry and the integral part in it which the architects handle, to be made familiar with the many ways in which those in the design professions can help. Architects' roles in legislation where they have expertize can be of great value in preparation of legislation for the benefit of all the citizens of the state.

Realizing this, the Minnesota Society of Architects planned well in advance of the actual sessions of the legislature to be more actively available than ever before—the times demand it of us. Our many committees, manned by members whose experience individually and collectively can take to the legislators a vast store of skilled knowledge, have prepared for their roles. Acting along strictly non-partisan lines, those who will be the voices of the society plan to devote as much time as needed so that the many bills which are planned for introduction and which touch in any way on our industry will be framed carefully with consideration for every aspect of their effects.

The professional roles of those in the design fields become even more important during legislative sessions because there seldom is a member of the state legislature who is from the design professions. Consequently, architects, engineers and others must make themselves readily and promptly available when needed to enhance the values of proposed new laws. It is obvious to us and should be made obvious to others that we provide sources of technical and other information and guidance of value to legislators which are not available from any other source.

Immediacy is a factor in some legislation which has been brought up to now through the considerations and actions of the several interim committees of the two houses of the legislature. Their work during the two years since the last session is ready to be put into the hopper for action. Our members and others have tried to provide adequate background for these immediate bills but they will none-theless probably require additional action as they go through committee, onto the floor and to a vote.

Looking further ahead into the year there will come the time when the active sessions have drawn to their close. Then a continuing offering of expertise should be made by our members and their associates as new interim committees carry forward the bridging work to the 1973 legislature's meetings. There is and should be a constant effort by us to see that those who guide the legal operations of our state—and, when possible, our country—are offered and accept our knowledge for the proper development of our futures.

"Our futures"—during the months of 1971 they will be shaped to great extent. The year-end forecasts of the economists pointed to an upswing in the construction industry, which had one of its worse years in 1970. Many of our members can vouch for the unhappy quality of the year past from personal experience. What develops during the present year depends on many factors of course, many of which are beyond this profession's, this industry's, power to affect. However, by all of us doing as much as possible when and where possible we can not help but affect the outcome to greater or lesser extent—but we do need to do it and it takes united effort!

Mark Waters was a chain smoker. Wonder who'll get his office?

Mark kept hearing the same thing everyone does about lung cancer but kept on smoking cigarettes. Probably thought: "been smoking all my life...won't help to stop."

No matter how long you've smoked, the risk of lung cancer decreases when you stop, provided cancer or emphysema have not developed.

Next time you reach for a cigarette, think of your office and your home.

finish and waterproof at 1/2 the cost

Two brush coats of THOROSEAL were applied over poured concrete walls to completely fill and seal all voids, making the surface attractive, thoroughly waterproofed, finished economically-no rubbing necessary. And, to secure a firm bond, ACRYL 60 was added to the mixing water (1 part to 3 parts water) for extra strength, a lifetime of wear.

You can do two things to guard yourself against cancer: Have an annual health checkup. Alert yourself to the seven danger signals that could mean cancer: 1. Unusual bleeding or discharge. 2. A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere. 3. A sore that does not heal. 4. Change in bowel or bladder habits. 5. Hoarseness or cough. 6. Indigestion or difficulty in swallowing. 7. Change in a wart or mole. If your signal lasts longer than two weeks, go to your physician. Give him the chance to give you the chance of a lifetime.

Some people don't know where to stop...or even care. Century Guard Rail prevents damage to buildings, walks, lawns and shrubs from poorly parked or carelessly driven vehicles. Guard Rail provides excellent "in-out" traffic control and maximum use of parking facilities around motels, restaurants, student dormitories, "drive-ins" and other parking areas. Rail sections are formed from semi-spring steel to safety cushion all impacts and assure maximum durability. Choice of curved terminal sections or gracefully curved and flared terminal end wings enhance appearance. Materials can be purchased separately or completely installed by expert Century erection crews from your nearby Century office.

ANOTHER DANGER for the musical arts: the soul pollution of organized noise—so-called "background music"—endangering our thinking, our concentration, dulling our awareness of what music could be, imbuing our mind with banality, may be more dangerous than air and water pollution because the future damage is not easily tangible. A hopeless case, especially in America. Some people try to object to it, but too softly. But, put, please, my words down: in ten or fifteen years from now the problem will come suddenly as a big psychological discovery (for one generation too late) like the recent news about millions of tons of DDT ("the miracle of the forties") being insoluble in nature and animal bodies.

Regency Hyatt House, Atlanta Architect: John Portman, Atlanta

A ROMANY-SPARTAN® FLOOR for the nation's

"most talked about" hotel

The $18-million, 800-room Regency Hyatt House in Atlanta's growing Peachtree Center is unique. . . . to say the least. And Romany-Spartan ceramic tile played an important part in the decor of the 22-story-high lobby which is overlooked by balconied corridors. The lobby floor had to be tough enough to withstand the traffic of millions of feet. But it also had to have old-world charm and graciousness. So Romany-Spartan Orsan® 11 Cork Tan heavy duty ceramic floor tiles were chosen . . . some 648,000 of them, covering 36,000 square feet, The 2"x4"x3/8" Orsan tiles were hand-set in fan-shaped patterns to create an old European cobblestone effect.

SPEEDS CONSTRUCTION OF MANUFACTURING BUILDING

HART SKI MFG., Pierce Butler Route and Minnehaha Arch. — A. G. Plagens and Associates Contractor — Kraus-Anderson of St. Paul Co.

In approximately one week's time the entire structural roof system of the Hart Ski Manufacturing building was installed in St. Paul. The precast system included 42 columns, 35 prestressed beams and 46,000 sq. ft. of Hi-Stress Flexicore roof slabs. This type of construction played a significant part in meeting the overall job time of less than three months.

Underwriters Laboratory labeling service is now available on 8" and 10" Flexicore. This service provides savings in fire insurance rates and is yet another reason for specifying Flexicore.
