First Impressions That Last!

Most successful corporate statements are designed to give a lasting quality first impression. When BASF Corporation approved the construction of their Agricultural Research Center in Research Triangle Park, North Carolina, they turned to Cherokee Design Materials for architectural brick and tile.

"The flexibility and beauty of the Endicott Clay is depicted in our brick wall sculpture. It highlights a number of crops whose quality or production efficiency has been improved through agricultural chemicals researched and developed by BASF. The sculpture is not only our corporate statement, but it is also a masterful work of art" — Dr. Joe Antognini, Director of the BASF facility.

"BASF was designed in contrast to the often sterile and impersonal image of most research centers. The warmth and color of Endicott Clay creates an inviting atmosphere both around and inside the facility. Also, the long-term durability of brick and its continued availability will ensure that future additions designed to expand around the lake will faithfully match the original construction" — Bill Foust, AIA of The FWA Group— Architects.

The old Willard Hotel, now the Willard Inter-Continental, was once called the Unofficial White House. During the meticulous Willard restoration, architects insisted on 1,675 custom Pella Windows. Pella created historic accuracy outside, wood's beauty inside and a new lifetime of Pella quality.

The custom Pella window units precisely match original profiles with special sash dimensions, exterior jamb extensions and perimeter trim extrusions modeled after pieces of original wood trim.

Pella built the new Willard's Traditional Double-hung (TD)

units with insulating glass, including archtops. Huge fixed windows with venting casements above match original 7' x 14' double-hungs.

Even the classic Willard trim color was matched with aluminum cladding in baked enamel.

Now, we know every window treatment challenge isn't the Willard. But should that really make any difference?

Some Concrete Evidence That Parking Can Be Beautiful.

Charlotte-Mecklenburg Government Center Parking Structure, Charlotte, NC.
Architect—J. N. Pease Associates.
Contractor—Laxton Construction Company, Inc.

To prove that decks don't have to be ugly, we offer the following evidence:

The Charlotte-Mecklenburg Government Center Parking Structure. Winner of several 1986 design awards. An integral part of an architecturally-consistent Government Center Plaza. A parking deck that inspired Richard Maschal, Art and Architecture Editor for The Charlotte Observer to say, "It is a handsome parking deck, a beautiful parking deck. It sets a new standard in Charlotte for what decks can be."

pre-stressed and custom-made in our factory for a perfect fit, to provide beauty and structural integrity in a very cost-effective package.

So if you have a parking deck to build, make Exposaic a part of your team. We'll show you how something beautiful can be cast in concrete.

We're very proud of those words, because much of the beauty of that deck comes from Exposaic pre-cast exterior panels. And beneath its pretty face there are more Exposaic products. L girders. T girders. Columns. Double tees. All pre-cast,

STYROFOAM Brand Insulation Directly on Metal Decks

It is now possible to install STYROFOAM* brand insulation directly onto metal decks by using a new system developed by Dow; no thermal barrier is required.

That fact has been established by conducting a large scale test at Underwriters Laboratories. STYROFOAM brand insulation placed on the metal deck passed the test without using a traditional barrier material, such as gypsum board. The system uses a patent-pending fire-block technique in the flutes of the deck.

This U.L.-tested system—STYROFOAM brand insulation, non-bituminous single-ply membrane, ballast and the inorganic fire block—provides time and material savings. Only non-bituminous membranes are appropriate.

This roofing assembly is described in U.L. Construction No. 260. Copies are available from The Dow Chemical Company.

Top-of-the-Line Insulation

Now you can take advantage of the high strength, the moisture resistance and the design R-values inherent in STYROFOAM brand insulation for applications directly on metal decks.

The insulation's closed cell structure and lack of voids between cells assure uniformity. This results in stable physical properties, water resistance and a predictable long-term thermal performance. STYROFOAM brand insulation has an aged R-value of 5 per inch. A 15-year thermal warranty is available.

For a description of U.L. Construction No. 260, plus additional facts on the advantages of using STYROFOAM brand insulation over metal decks, contact The Dow Chemical Company, STYROFOAM Brand Products, P.O. Box 1206, Midland, Michigan 48674.

Caution: STYROFOAM brand insulation is combustible and should be handled and installed properly according to Dow literature available from your supplier or from Dow.

WHAT MAKES THIS ONE BLOCK UNIQUELY ATTRACTIVE IS THE 1.8 MILLION OTHERS JUST LIKE IT.

Traditionally in concrete masonry, it has been difficult to get color and texture consistency within a single block, much less maintain it from one block to another. Yet the block specifications for the new R.J. Reynolds Tobacco plant in Tobaccoville, NC required that each of the over 1.8 million 8" equivalent units meet the same standards of uniform appearance plus high quality.

To meet these exacting standards for the largest concrete masonry project in the southeastern U.S., the blocks were made using 100% pure Solite (a chemically inert, structural lightweight aggregate). As a result, each block passed the toughest inspections for size, texture and color uniformity to give the project an unsurpassed attractiveness.

Make your next project look like a million with attractive, cost-effective 100% pure Solite lightweight aggregate concrete masonry units.

ARCHITECTURE IN NORTH CAROLINA WEEK

February 28-March 5, 1988

NCAIA will be hosting the first annual "Architecture in North Carolina Week" February 28-March 5, 1988. During this week, NCAIA sections, in conjunction with the Chapter, will be sponsoring a series of week-long events to increase the public's awareness of architects and architecture in North Carolina.

Reports from section committee chairpersons indicate a high level of enthusiasm and participation among their members in planning their section's events for the week. To date, arrangements have been made with The Charlotte Observer, The Asheville Citizen-Times and the Raleigh News and Observer to carry supplements in their papers advertising "Architecture Week in North Carolina." Special stories on architects and projects in the state will be included.

Among the activities scheduled by NCAIA sections are:

- Open Houses at various architectural firms
- Special Displays in downtown shopping malls
- Public service projects
- Kite Design contests
- Design-a-column contests
- People's choice awards

"Architecture in North Carolina Week" will have as its grand finale a Beaux Arts Architectural Ball. The ball will be held at the Graylyn Mansion in Winston-Salem on March 5. Proceeds from the ball and its raffle/auction will benefit the North Carolina Architectural Foundation's education and scholarship funds.

If you have not received an invitation to the Beaux Arts Architectural Ball or a calendar of statewide events for "Architecture in North Carolina Week," please feel free to contact the NCAIA at the AIA Tower in Raleigh, (919) 833-6656.

BEAUTY IS MORE THAN SKIN DEEP

Beyond the surface is the comfort of gas heat.

When Royal Insurance moved its headquarters, it became a beautiful addition to Charlotte. But the company realized that comfort as well as beauty is important. That is why a natural gas heating system was included in the design. Gas heat, combined with conventional air conditioning, provides much more comfortable temperatures than a heat pump. This comfort adds to employee efficiency and well being while the company is enjoying the savings in operating costs. Royal Insurance realizes additional savings with a gas kitchen and gas water heating.

Before you design your next beautiful building, get all the technical information on the many possibilities of gas and no-charge assistance from one of our Technical Service Engineers. Call toll free. From NC: 1-800-532-0462. From SC: 1-800-438-8410. Within Charlotte: 364-3120.

ARCHITECTURAL EDUCATION

Three N.C. schools offer programs for professionals

Three universities in North Carolina offer programs leading to degrees for architects or engineers.

Here are summaries of the programs at the three universities, compiled from material submitted to the NCAIA by the deans of the schools:

N.C. STATE

The Department of Architecture at N.C. State University in Raleigh was established in 1948 as one of two original academic components in the School of Design.

Under the guidance of founding Dean Henry L. Kamphoefner, the School of Design experienced a long period of creative and intellectual development. Designers and theorists such as Buckminster Fuller, Matthew Nowicki, Lewis Mumford, Eduardo Catalano and others joined the faculty in the school's early years and helped build a reputation for innovation and experimentation.

Throughout this early period, the Architecture Department offered a single degree, the five-year bachelor of architecture. In the late 1960s, the department altered its course and adopted the now-common "4+2" master of architecture curriculum to accommodate emerging professional and academic issues and to provide new opportunities for students to pursue nontraditional as well as traditional educational paths. The bachelor of architecture degree was phased out in 1972.

The Department of Architecture offers three degree programs:

1. Bachelor of Environmental Design in Architecture (BEDA)—a four-year pre-professional curriculum that serves as the foundation for the two advanced programs. The curriculum includes a balance of general studies (English, mathematics, science and humanities), design studio courses and architectural support courses (history, technology, methods and theory).

2. Bachelor of Architecture (B.A.RCH)—a one-year professional curriculum that builds on the four-year BEDA program.

3. Master of Architecture (M.A.RCH)—a two-year professional curriculum that follows a four-year pre-professional program in architecture. Additionally, applicants with the B.A.RCH degree are accepted for an intensive second professional program, and applicants with degrees in non-architectural fields may apply for a four-year graduate program.

Both the B.A.RCH and M.A.RCH are first professional degree accredited by the National Architectural Accrediting Board. As such, they satisfy educational requirements for professional certification established by the various states and the National Council of Architectural Registration Boards.

Admission to the architecture degree programs is competitive.

Application to the undergraduate BEDA program is made to the School of Design, which annually admits 100 to 120 freshmen and transfer students to the common first-year "Design Fundamentals" program. Students begin their architectural studies in the second year. For information about undergraduate admissions standards and procedures, contact the School of Design, NCSU, Box 7701, Raleigh, N.C. 27695-7701 or call (919) 737-2201.

Admission to the B.A.RCH and M.A.RCH programs is by application to the Department of Architecture. Creative ability, superior academic achievement and promise of professional accomplishment are criteria sought in applicants. For additional information, contact Robert Burns, Head/Department of Architecture, School of Design, N.C. State University, Box 7701, Raleigh, N.C. 27695-7701 or call (919) 737-2206.

There are approximately 600 students in the School of Design, 300 of whom are in the Architecture Department. Approximately 200 students are in the BEDA program, with the remainder in the advanced programs. In 1986-87, the Architecture Department awarded 38 BEDA degrees, 13 B.A.RCH degrees and 22 M.A.RCH degrees.

UNCC

The College of Architecture at the University of North Carolina at Charlotte was founded in 1969 and graduated its first students with professional degrees in 1976, the same year Charles C. Hight was named dean.

In July of 1984, the school received its second consecutive five-year accreditation from the National Architectural Accreditation Board.

The curriculum is organized so that students acquire a common body of general and architectural knowledge and skills while investigating societal and professional issues and subjects, many of which are of individual interest. Thus there is a balance between theory and application, general and professional education, intuitive and rational thinking, process and product, analysis and synthesis, common experience with opportunity for individual experimentation and skill development with intellectual maturation.

To assist students who desire a secondary concentration, the program is structured so a person may develop a double major or minor in another field such as engineering, earth science, business administration or behavioral science. The curriculum is organized in three sections:

1. The Foundation Program—During the first two years, students are enrolled in general educational and architectural courses. The comprehensive studios, which occur each semester, focus upon acquiring the fundamentals of: graphic development, exploration of visual form, development of problem solving and conceptualization skills as well as architectural form relationships with physical environmental, human needs and technology.

Architectural history courses in the second year give students an understanding of the evolution of architectural form and ideas, as well as their relationship to society.

2. The Middle Program—In the first semester of the third year, all students use the previously acquired knowledge and skills in the holistic design of relatively small-scaled buildings which are site specific. These endeavors include investigation of various architectural issues and ideas. In the following three semesters, students enroll in optional "topical studios."

Also, students take at least four architectural elective courses. These seminar/lab options include: exploration of applied visual form, graphic development, architectural readings and theory, urban design, architectural preservation, solar energy, programming, light/acoustics, study of communities and real estate development.

Upon completion of the fourth year, the bachelor of arts in architecture degree is awarded and students may apply for the fifth year.

3. Advanced Program—The fifth-year program, which is composed of students from UNCC and other schools, provides a balance between individual and collective professional studies. In the fall semester, students engage in a series of common design studies for the purpose of further developing their abilities to conceptualize, solve problems and deal holistically with architectural projects set in natural and urban environments. At the same time, students complete selection of their individual thesis and develop an appropriate program.

Upon completion, the professional bachelor of architecture degree is awarded.

The full-time faculty is augmented by a comprehensive visiting architects program.

The 270 students enrolled in the College of Architecture include a freshman class of approximately 72 students, one half of whom have prior college experience. Selection of students is based on SAT scores, prior academic record, the portfolio of creative work, quality of the applicant's letter of intent and personal interview.

Admission to the fifth-year program requires completion of a bachelor of arts in architecture, bachelor of environmental design or other related studies. Consideration for acceptance includes study of the student's previous academic record and professional activities, the personal statement of study intent and portfolio of creative work. When appropriate, a personal interview may be required.

More detailed information may be obtained by writing the Office of Admissions, UNCC, Charlotte, N.C. 28233, or the College of Architecture, UNCC, Charlotte, N.C. 28211.

N.C. A&T

The department of architectural engineering was founded at N.C. Agricultural and Technical State University, Greensboro, in 1918.

It has been accredited as an engineering program for nearly 20 years.

Strong emphasis is placed on training in the building sciences and on training in engineering as it applies to the design and construction of buildings, says acting department chairman Reginald Whitsett.

Instruction in the department is organized under four divisions.

1. Graphics, architectural design and architectural history.

2. Environmental control, electrical and mechanical equipment of buildings.

3. Professional practice, management and materials and methods of construction.

4. Structures.

The five-year program in architectural engineering offers 160 semester hours leading to the bachelor of science degree.

Enrollment has leveled to approximately 200 undergraduate students. Students are admitted to the department based on class rank and scores on standard aptitude tests.

Faculty members have backgrounds in city and urban planning, structural engineering, mechanical engineering and architecture.

More information can be obtained by writing: Reginald Whitsett, acting chairman, Department of Architectural Engineering, N.C. A&T State University, Greensboro, N.C. 27411.

Come See What An Up And Coming Design Firm Has Done With A Down And Out Building.

In its more than 100 year history, this building has gone from office to warehouse to just another dilapidated structure. But its high ceilings, large windows, solid steel beam construction and convenient location near revitalized Old Greensborough made it ideal for adapting to modern standards.

And that's what we did. Our experienced team of designers turned this old eyesore into our own award-winning showroom (1st Place, 1987 Institute of Business Designers Awards, Adaptive Re-Use Category).

Come see us. Creating functional commercial interiors with a fresh, distinctive look is what we do best.

NATIONAL COUNCIL SETS CERTIFICATION STANDARDS

The National Council of Architectural Registration Boards was established in 1920 to assist member boards in carrying out their duties, to foster the enactment of uniform architectural laws, to develop examinations and establish standards for certification requirements in education and training, to perfect its procedures for verifying the qualifications of applicants and determining their eligibility for certification and to establish and maintain reciprocal registration between states having registration laws.

The NCARB is a non-profit corporation with all legally constituted boards of architecture in the United States as members.

To be eligible for NCARB certification, architects must submit satisfactory evidence that they comply with the standard for education, training, examination and character and have been registered by a member board.

The NCARB will, upon request of an individual architect, secure authenticate and record factual data of the applicant's education, training, practice and character. This record will be forwarded to any state board upon request of the applicant.

Certification shall be given an applicant holding a council record verifying that the applicant has complied with the council's standards of education, training, practice and character; and that the applicant has passed an examination conforming to the council's standards of content, extent and length of time.

Certification by the NCARB is recommendation to all registration authorities that registration be granted to the holder without further examination. Most member boards accept NCARB certification as conclusive evidence of an architect's eligibility of registration. It is, however, not a national registration.

Complete information on compilation of a council record and obtaining council certification can be obtained from:

BOARD OF ARCHITECTURE HAS GOVERNED SINCE 1915

The North Carolina Board of Architecture, established by the legislature in 1915, is responsible for administering the practice of architecture in the state. The board is comprised of seven members appointed by the governor, five of whom are licensed architects. Two non-architects represent the public at large.

Current officers and board members are Tai Y. Lee, Waynesville, president; Lloyd G. Walter Jr., Winston-Salem, vice president; Herbert P. McKim, Wilmington, secretary/treasurer; John L. Atkins III, Chapel Hill, member; Walter L. Bost, Charlotte, member; Harold Barnes, public member; and Doris H. Moore, Yanceyville, public member.

North Carolina requires registered architects to be at least 18 years old, have a degree in architecture from a college or university with an approved five-year degree program, be of good moral character and have successfully completed a licensing examination in architecture as specified by the rule of the board. Equivalent professional education and practical training may, in some cases, qualify an applicant to take the examination.

Individuals holding a current license for the practice of architecture from another state and a certificate of qualification issued by the National Council of Architectural Registration Boards (NCARB) may, upon application and at the discretion of the board, be licensed without taking the written examination.

N.C. ARCHITECTURAL FOUNDATION

Established in 1963, the North Carolina Architectural Foundation had promoted and sponsored architectural programs and education over the years.

The Foundation has raised funds from NCAIA members to renovate the AIA Tower building and to fund architectural student scholarships at NCSU School of Design and UNC-C School of Architecture. One of the Foundation scholarships awarded through NCSU is in memory of William Henley Deitrick.

Because it no longer had the capability or mechanism to raise substantial amounts of funds to fulfill its purposes, the Foundation Board of Directors disbanded the Foundation in 1986. A newly organized N.C. Architectural Foundation replaced the original foundation. Using the original corporate charter of the old Foundation, the new Foundation is totally restructured and serves as the endowment arm of the NCAIA.

A substantial endowment is expected from Henry and Mabel Kamphoefner. This gift will be part of the financial base of the newly amended foundation. The purposes and goals of the foundation still are to actively encourage and support quality training and education in the field of architecture. The financial base has been broadened substantially as has the membership and Board of Directors of the Foundation.

The increased resources available for scholarships and other educational endeavors will enable the Foundation to achieve its goals more effectively.

NCAIA POLITICAL ACTION COMMITTEE

Recognizing the need to become politically involved in areas that have long-range consequences for architects and architecture in North Carolina, the NCAIA membership formally approved the establishment of the NCAIA Political Action Committee in 1986.

The PAC was established to assist candidates for the North Carolina General Assembly and statewide candidates. The national AIA-PAC focuses its attention and resources on candidates for federal offices. This two-prong PAC approach enables the NCAIA-PAC to use its own resources to concentrate on issues and laws in North Carolina.

The initial NCAIA-PAC board of directors, and all subsequent boards, represents the diversity of the general membership in terms of firm size, type of practice, geographic distribution, and bipartisan political affiliation.

The first year's efforts exceeded expectations. The NCAIA membership responded quickly and generously and enabled the NCAIA-PAC to endorse candidates for the 1986 elections. Of the ninety-seven candidates who were endorsed, 93 percent were elected.

This success rate places the NCAIA-PAC among the top PACs in North Carolina. Based on total financial contributions to candidates from individual PACs, the NCAIA-PAC was among the top ten in North Carolina.

As Board President A.J. Hammill said, "Our mission is to have an impact on election so that our PAC and NCAIA will become effective voices for architects in the political and legislative arenas. Our first year and our initial success have put us strongly on the road to achieving our goal."

HAPPY 75th BIRTHDAY NCAIA

ARRIS

Imagine a CAD system that will not only move a door, window or wall, but will automatically and accurately adjust everything affected. And generate a revised cost estimate based on the changes.

Imagine truly relational CAD... a single database that incorporates 2D design data and accurate and realistic 3D modeling and rendering. It includes the most advanced techniques available to allow you and your client to view your project from any perspective. Any Angle. Any time of day or night. And allows you to "walk through" every room and every corridor, as if the building actually existed.

The leading edge. Every Designer wants it. But as the times change, so do the tools. And today ordinary Computer Aided Design and Drafting is simply not enough.

These are some of the extraordinary advantages that make ARRIS the leading edge in architecture and building design. And this same software, that was developed and refined over 10 years of high-end usage, is now available on a high performance (3-MIPS), full color Sun-3/60 Workstation for under $20,000 for the first seat. ARRIS also runs on PC's under the Xenix operating system.

How To Avoid Manual Labor.

With all the recent innovations and improvements in high efficiency gas equipment, the sheer volume of information generated is staggering. So is the valuable time it takes you to analyze, evaluate and compare your options.

We've put together a comprehensive Architects' and Engineers' Manual that consolidates all this data in one easy-to-use volume. Including spec sheets and rates. And we update these for you as they change. We can even provide estimated operating cost analysis if requested. The manual is free. So is the service. Doesn't it make sense to avoid manual labor and send for our manual instead?

To get more information on how you can avoid manual labor, call John Stanley, at 704-864-6731 or fill in this coupon.

☐ Please send me a free copy of your Architect's and Engineer's Manual.

What Is The NCAIA?

The North Carolina Chapter of the American Institute of Architects was founded in 1913. Today, over 90 percent of the approximately 1,300 architects in the state belong to the NCAIA, which has its main offices on West Morgan Street in downtown Raleigh.

The NCAIA is the second-largest state chapter in the country, surpassed in size only by the chapter in New Jersey.

Members of the NCAIA are located in nearly 70 countries in the state, practicing in firms ranging from one to 300 members.

The NCAIA has divided its members into geographical sub-chapters, called sections, located in Raleigh, Durham, Charlotte, Wilmington, Greensboro, Winston-Salem, Asheville and Eastern North Carolina. Charlotte is the largest section in terms of members, followed by Raleigh, Winston-Salem and Greensboro.

The sections elect their own leaders and hold periodic meetings and other activities for their members. Each section also works closely with the NCAIA in a number of projects, such as this year's "Architecture in North Carolina" week; the annual NCAIA Design Awards; the annual convention; and seminars on management, professional liability and marketing techniques.

SHORT NOTES

The NCAIA has a number of committees on topics such as finance, government affairs, public relations, ethics and professional liability and captive insurance. It also publishes a monthly newsletter for its members and a bi-monthly magazine, North Carolina Architecture, that is distributed to the state's architects, engineers, contractors, major corporations and civic/business leaders.

In recent years the NCAIA has become more involved in state politics, including the formation of a political action committee (PAC). One of the group's main goals is cut down on the number of people without architectural training and certification who are being hired to do an architect's work.

New Prizes To Be Awarded In 1988

The North Carolina Chapter of the American Institute of Architects is pleased to announce that two new prizes will be awarded during 1988.

The Kamphoefner Award, an annual prize of $10,000, is made possible through the generosity of Henry Kamphoefner, FAIA, former Dean of the School of Design at NCSU. This award will be given to an architect or architectural firm which has, for a sustained period of 10 years or more, consistently contributed the most to the progress and excellence in the development of the Modern Movement in architecture.

The Kamphoefner Prize will be awarded March 5 at the Beaux Arts Ball in Winston-Salem, finale of the "Architecture in North Carolina Week."

7.2.6 Organizations as described in paragraph 7.2.1 of this Section, except those whose principals reside and work outside the territory of this chapter, shall pay annual supplemental dues as per paragraph 7.2.2 of this Section, based on the total number of registered architects employed by the organization in offices located within the Chapter territory.

7.5 Terminations for Default

7.5.1 If an unassigned member or a professional affiliate is in default to this Chapter for non-payment in full of dues and assessments at the end of the fiscal year, such membership shall be terminated, provided that in all cases such member shall have been given a written notice of impending termination at least thirty days prior to the date of termination, during which period the default may be cured and the membership maintained.

CAN YOU KEEP A SECRET?

Sure you can. So can we. But if you are designing buildings that you're proud of—and we hope that's the case with every architect in the state—then you need to share your news with the rest of us.

North Carolina Architecture magazine is supposed to feature the best of the state's design work. And we here at the magazine try our best to keep tabs on who's doing what. But it's not always easy to cover Charlotte, or Morganton, or Wrightsville Beach when you're based in Raleigh.

So...Don't keep your work a secret during 1988. Write us at the AIA Tower, 115 W. Morgan St., Raleigh, NC 27601. Tell us what your project is, where it is located, who the client is, an estimated completion date and a brief description of the project.

Chances are, we can use your project news somewhere in an upcoming issue of North Carolina Architecture magazine. And when that happens, your good work won't be a big secret anymore.

1988 NCAIA Design Awards Program

The NCAIA Design Awards program aims to encourage and recognize excellence in architecture and to dramatize to the public the variety, scope and value of architectural services. Therefore, careful consideration is given to submittals which exhibit excellence in function, economy and environmental harmony; in the distinguished execution of a complex program; and in the creative aspects of an esthetic or structural statement.

All entries shall be executed building projects designed by members of the North Carolina Chapter of the AIA. The projects may have been executed anywhere in the United States or abroad, and must have been completed after January 1, 1980.

Entry forms must be received by the NCAIA on or before March 18, 1988. The last day completed entry forms will be accepted is April 21. Awards will be announced at the annual Awards Banquet, to be held June 7 in Charleston, South Carolina.

Three distinguished professionals will meet on May 11 in Atlanta to select the 1988 award entries. They are: John C. Portman Jr., FAIA, of the firm John Portman and Associates; Joseph Amisano, FAIA, of the firm Toombs Amisano & Wells Inc.; and Raymond F. Stainback Jr., FAIA, of the firm Thompson, Ventulett, Stainback and Associates Inc.

Award-winning entries will be featured in the July/August issue of North Carolina Architecture magazine.

CODE OF ETHICS AND PROFESSIONAL CONDUCT Preamble

Members of The American Institute of Architects are dedicated to the highest standards of professionalism, integrity and competence. The following principles are guidelines for the conduct of members in fulfilling those obligations. They apply to all professional activities, wherever they occur. They address responsibilities to the public, which the profession serves and enriches; to the clients and users of architecture, and in the building industries, who help to shape the built environment; and to the art and science of architecture, that continuum of knowledge and creation which is the heritage and legacy of the profession.

This Code is arranged in three tiers of statements: Canons, Ethical Standards and Rules of Conduct. The Canons are broad principles of conduct. The Ethical Standards are more specific goals towards which members should aspire in professional performance and behavior. The Rules of Conduct are mandatory, the violation of which is grounds for disciplinary action by the Institute. The Rules of Conduct in some instances implement more than one Canon or Ethical Standard.

Commentary is provided for some of the Rules of Conduct. That commentary is meant to clarify or elaborate the intent of the rule. The commentary is not part of the Code. Enforcement will turn on application of the Rules of Conduct alone. But the commentary will assist those seeking to conform their conduct to the Code and those charged with its enforcement.

CANON I GENERAL OBLIGATIONS

MEMBERS SHOULD MAINTAIN AND ADVANCE THEIR KNOWLEDGE OF THE ART AND SCIENCE OF ARCHITECTURE, RESPECT THE BODY OF ARCHITECTURAL ACCOMPLISHMENT AND CONTRIBUTE TO ITS GROWTH; LEARNED AND UNCOMPROMISED PROFESSIONAL JUDGMENT SHOULD TAKE PRECEDENCE OVER ANY OTHER MOTIVE IN THE PURSUIT OF THE ART AND SCIENCE OF ARCHITECTURE.

E.S. 1.1 Knowledge and Skill: Members should strive to improve their professional knowledge and skill.

R. 1.101 In practicing architecture, members shall demonstrate a consistent pattern of reasonable care and competence, and shall apply the technical knowledge and skill which is ordinarily applied by architects of good standing practicing in the same locality.

Commentary: By requiring a "consistent pattern" of adherence to the common law standard of competence, this rule allows for discipline of a member who more than infrequently does not achieve that standard. Isolated instances of minor lapses would not provide the basis for discipline.

R. 1.102 Members shall not undertake to provide professional services if their competence is substantially impaired by physical or mental disabilities.

E.S. 1.2 Standards of Excellence: Members should continually seek to raise the standards of aesthetic excellence, architectural education, research, training and practice.

E.S. 1.3 Public Understanding: Members should strive to improve public appreciation and understanding of architecture and the functions and responsibilities of architects.

E.S. 1.4 Allied Arts & Industries: Members should promote allied arts and contribute to the knowledge and capability of the building industries as a whole.

CANON II

OBLIGATIONS TO THE PUBLIC

MEMBERS SHOULD EMBRACE THE SPIRIT AND LETTER OF THE LAW GOVERNING THEIR PROFESSIONAL AFFAIRS AND SHOULD THOUGHTFULLY CONSIDER THE SOCIAL AND ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT OF THEIR PROFESSIONAL ACTIVITIES.

E.S. 2.1 Conduct: Members should uphold the law in the conduct of their professional activities.

R. 2.101 Members shall not, in the conduct of their professional practice, knowingly violate the law.

Commentary: The violation of any law, local, state or federal, occurring in the conduct of a member's professional practice, is made the basis for discipline by this rule. R. 2.104 speaks to law violations by members occurring other than in the practice of architecture.

R. 2.102 Members shall neither offer nor make any payment or gift to a local, state or federal official with the intent of influencing the official's judgment in connection with an existing or prospective project in which the members are interested.

Commentary: This rule does not prohibit campaign contributions made in conformity with applicable federal and state campaign financing laws.

R. 2.103 Members serving in a public capacity shall not accept payments or gifts which are intended to influence their judgment.

R. 2.104 Members shall not engage in conduct involving fraud or wanton disregard of the rights of others.

Commentary: Conduct which brings into serious question a member's qualification to assume the fiduciary duties of an architect is the basis for discipline even if that conduct did not occur in the course of practice.

R. 2.105 If, in the course of their work on a project, the members become aware of a decision taken by their employer or client, against the members' advice, which violates any law or regulation and which will in the members' judgment, materially affect adversely the safety to the public of the finished project, the members shall:

- (a) refuse to consent to the decision, and
- (b) report the decision to the local building inspector or other public official charged with the enforcement of the applicable laws and regulations, unless the members are able to cause the matter to be satisfactorily resolved by other means.

Commentary: This rule extends only to violations of the building laws which threaten the public safety. Ethical Standard 2.1 calls on an architect to oppose technical violations of the law which are not threatening to safety, in which case discipline would not be imposed in the event that opposition is not successful. The obligation under this rule applies only to the safety of the finished project, an obligation coextensive with the usual undertaking of an architect.

R. 2.106 Members shall not counsel or assist a client in conduct that the architect knows, or reasonably should know, is fraudulent or illegal.

Commentary: This rule extends not only to matters which an architect knows are illegal, but also to matters which an architect of reasonable competence and prudence "should know" are illegal or fraudulent.

E.S. 2.2 Natural and Cultural Heritage: Members should respect and help conserve their natural and cultural heritage while striving to improve the environment and the quality of life within it.

E.S. 2.3 Civic Responsibility: Members should be involved in civic activities as citizens and professionals, and promote public awareness of architectural issues.

R. 2.301 Members making public statements on architectural issues shall disclose when they are being compensated for making such statements or when they have an economic interest in the issue.

E.S. 2.4 Public Interest Services: Members should render public interest professional services and encourage their employees to render such services.

E.S. 2.5 Human Rights: Members should uphold human rights in all their professional endeavors.

R. 2.501 Members shall not discriminate in their professional activities on the basis of race, religion, gender, national origin, age or nondisqualifying handicap.

Commentary: This rule applies to all professional activities of the member, including but not limited to dealings with clients, colleagues and employees. It is stated with such breadth here so as to avoid repetition under the other canons.

CANON III OBLIGATIONS TO THE CLIENT

MEMBERS SHOULD SERVE THEIR CLIENTS COMPETENTLY AND IN A PROFESSIONAL MANNER, AND SHOULD EXERCISE UNPREJUDICED AND UNBIASED JUDGMENT ON THEIR BEHALF.

E.S. 3.1 Competence: Members should serve their clients in a timely and competent manner.

R. 3.101 In performing professional services, members shall take into account applicable laws and regulations. Members may rely on the advice of other qualified persons as to the intent and meaning of such regulations.

R. 3.102 Members shall undertake to perform professional services only when they, together with those whom they may engage as consultants, are qualified by education, training, or experience in the specific technical areas involved.

Commentary: This rule is meant to ensure that members not undertake projects which are beyond their professional capacity. Members venturing into areas which require expertise they do not possess may obtain that expertise by additional education, training or through the retention of consultants with the necessary expertise.

R. 3.103 Members shall not materially alter the scope or objectives of a project without the client's consent.

R. 3.104 When acting by agreement of the parties as the independent interpreter of building contract documents and the judge of contract performance, members shall render decisions impartially, favoring neither party to the contract.

Commentary: This rule applies when the member, though paid by the owner and owing the owner loyalty, is nonetheless required to act with impartiality in fulfilling the architect's role in the typical construction industry documents.

E.S. 3.2 Conflict of Interest: Members should disclose to clients or owners significant circumstances that could be construed as conflicts of interest and should ensure that such conflicts do not compromise those interests.

R. 3.201 Members shall not accept compensation for their services from more than one party on a project unless the circumstances are fully disclosed and agreed to by all interested parties.

R. 3.202 If members have any business association, direct or indirect financial interest, or other interest which could be substantial enough to influence their judgment in connection with their performance of professional services, the members shall fully disclose to their clients or employers the nature of the business association, financial interest, or other interest, and if the clients or employers object to such association, financial interest, or other interest, the members will either terminate such association or interest or give up the commission or employment.

Commentary: These rules are intended to embrace the full range of situations which may present a member with a conflict between his interests and those of his client or employer. In some situations a conflict is easily discerned, as when the architect owns property adjacent to property upon which he has been asked to design a structure and is faced with design options which would affect the value of his property. Other instances are not so clear, and that is more frequently the case as new systems and procedures for the construction process, such as design-build, come into the market. In every case the architect must take adequate steps to ensure that the client is aware of any substantial interest which the architect has which might run counter to the interests of the client.

E.S. 3.3 Candor and Truthfulness: Members should be candid and truthful in their professional communications.

R. 3.301 Members shall not intentionally or recklessly mislead existing or prospective clients about the results that can be achieved through the use of the members' services, nor shall the members state that they can achieve results by means that violate applicable law or this Code.

Commentary: This rule is meant to preclude dishonest, reckless or illegal representations by a member either in the course of soliciting a client or during performance. For example, it would cover the conduct of an architect who provides conceptual drawings based on an inadequate site examination or without regard for zoning laws, which lead a prospective client to believe that a design could be achieved when in fact it could not.

E.S. 3.4 Confidentiality: Members should respect the confidentiality of sensitive information obtained in the course of their professional activities.

R. 3.401 Members shall not reveal information obtained in the course of their professional activities which they have been asked to maintain in confidence, or which the reasonably prudent architect would recognize as likely, if disclosed, to affect the interests of another adversely. However, under the following exceptional circumstances members may reveal such information to the extent the members reasonably believe necessary:

(a) To stop an act which creates an appreciable risk of significant harm to the public health or safety or property of others and which the members are unable to prevent in any other manner; or

(b) To establish claims or defenses on behalf of the members; or

(c) To comply with applicable law or with this Code.

Commentary: This rule embodies generally accepted standards of client confidentiality, recognizing that under certain circumstances that confidentiality must yield to other interests.

Because the law does not recognize an architect-client privilege, the rule permits an architect to reveal a confidence when necessary to comply with a subpoena or other legal process.

CANON IV OBLIGATIONS TO THE PROFESSION

MEMBERS SHOULD UPHOLD THE INTEGRITY AND DIGNITY OF THE PROFESSION.

E.S. 4.1 Honesty and Fairness: Members should pursue their professional activities with honesty and fairness.

R. 4.101 Members shall comply with the registration laws and regulations governing their professional practice.

R. 4.102 Members shall not knowingly make false statements or knowingly fail to disclose a material fact requested in connection with their application for registration or their application for AIA membership.

R. 4.103 Members shall not assist the application for registration or AIA membership of a person known by the members to be unqualified with respect to education, training, experience, or character.

R. 4.104 Members having substantial information which leads to a reasonable belief that another member has committed a violation of this Code which raises a serious question as to that member's honesty, trustworthiness or fitness as a member shall report such information to the body charged with enforcing this Code.

Commentary: Often, only an architect can recognize that the behavior of another architect poses a serious question as to that other's professional integrity. In those circumstances the duty to the professional's calling requires that the matter be brought to the attention of the proper authorities. In most jurisdictions such reporting, an implementation of professional standards, is protected from a libel or slander action if the report was made in good faith. If in doubt, a member should seek counsel before reporting on another under this rule.

- R. 4.105 Members shall not sign or seal drawings, specifications, reports or other professional work for which they do not have direct professional knowledge or direct supervisory control; however, in the case of those portions of such professional work prepared by the members' registered consultants, the members may sign or seal said portions of the professional work if the members have reviewed such portions, have coordinated their preparation, or intend to be responsible for their adequacy.

Commentary: The essence of this rule is that the sign or seal of a member should not be affixed to any professional work unless the member intends to accept professional responsibility for its adequacy. The requirement that the member have professional knowledge or supervisory control or have reviewed or coordinated the consultant's work is evidence of the intent to assume professional responsibility.

- R. 4.106 Members speaking in their capacity as architects shall not knowingly make false statements of material fact.
- R. 4.107 Members shall accurately represent their qualifications and the scope and nature of their responsibilities in connection with work for which they are claiming credit.

Commentary: This rule is meant to prevent members from claiming credit for work which they did not do, misleading others and denying other participants in a project their proper share of credit.

E.S. 4.2 Dignity and Integrity: Members should strive, through their actions, to promote the dignity and integrity of the profession, and to ensure that their representatives and employees conform their conduct to this Code.

- R. 4.201 Members shall not make misleading, deceptive or false statements or claims about their professional qualifications, experience or performance.
- R. 4.202 Members shall make reasonable efforts to ensure that those over whom they have supervisory authority conform their conduct to this Code.

Commentary: What constitutes "reasonable efforts" under this rule is a common sense matter. As it makes sense to ensure that those over whom the architect exercises supervision be made generally aware of the Code, it can also make sense to bring a particular provision to the attention of a particular employee when a situation is present which might give rise to violation.

CANON V

OBLIGATIONS TO COLLEAGUES

MEMBERS SHOULD RESPECT THE RIGHTS AND ACKNOWLEDGE THE PROFESSIONAL ASPIRATIONS AND CONTRIBUTIONS OF THEIR COLLEAGUES.

E.S. 5.1 Professional Environment: Members should provide their associates and employees with a suitable working environment, compensate them fairly, and facilitate their professional development.

E.S. 5.2 Professional Recognition: Members should build their professional reputation on the merits of their own service and performance and should recognize and give credit to others for the professional work they have performed.

- R. 5.201 Members shall recognize and respect the professional contributions of their employees, employers and business associates.
- R. 5.202 Members leaving an employer's service shall not without the permission of the employer take designs, drawings, data, reports, notes, or other materials relating to work performed in the employer's service by the members.
- R. 5.203 Members shall not unreasonably withhold permission from departing employees to take copies of designs, drawings, data, reports, notes, or other materials relating to work performed by the employees in the members' service which are not confidential.

Commentary: A member may impose reasonable conditions, such as the payment of copying costs, on the right of departing employees to take copies of work performed while in the member's service.

FIBERMESH

State-of-the-art secondary reinforcement that can't be misplaced in concrete Today we don't have to settle for the wire mesh method and gamble on it being in the right place. Technology has developed Fibermesh Fibers, a far superior system of engineered secondary reinforcement which provides automatic Hi-tech protection in both concrete's plastic and hardened state.

Fibermesh increases concrete's natural ability for lasting integrity.

Plastic shrinkage cracks generally pass through the entire slab and form planes of weakness permanently lowering the integrity of the structure.

Fibermesh provides concrete with necessary protection from plastic shrinkage cracking during its vulnerable early life. It's during this critical period, before concrete develops its own integrity, that the millions of uniformly distributed "crack inhibitors" produced by the Fibermesh system are so vital.

Concrete should be designed to perform to the high degree of which it is capable. The addition of Fibermesh Fibers with their unique secondary reinforcing capabilities is a necessity for all quality concrete.

What do you call someone who uses the floor to heat their home?

Smart. Very smart. Because there's no more logical way to heat a home than with the revolutionary Infloor™ Heating System.

The concept is simple: Hot water tubes or electric heating cables are laid out on the subfloor and then embedded in Gyp-Crete 2000™ Infloor Blend, a flowable floor underlayment. The system warms the underlayment, which gently radiates heat into the room.

It's clean, efficient and unsurpassed in comfort. There's no moving air to create drafts or stir up dust.

Just pleasantly warm floors silently radiating heat.

And with Infloor, there are no baseboard units, hot-air registers or cold-air returns. Nothing to interfere with the placement of furniture.
