The Real Beauty Is Unseen

Pozzi Wood Windows are beauty defined. Architecturally correct. Soundly crafted. Elegantly designed.

But beyond the surface, form and function combine to make this the finest, most perfectly engineered wood window made.

Commercial Grade Boot Glazing

Pozzi's insulated glass is surrounded by a vinyl boot that keeps out moisture, controls noise and cushions against the natural movement of the structure.

More Wood

Pozzi puts more wood into both its sash and frame to increase their natural insulating qualities, enhance structural integrity and make possible more attractive detailing and shadow lines.

3-Way Moisture Control Systems

Pozzi windows use a built-in gravity fed weep system, high-tech breather tubes that eliminate moisture and dust from the insulated glass compartment and the special boot glazing—to form an effective 3-way moisture control system.

Ease Of Maintenance

A phillips screwdriver, a rubber mallet, a nearby hardware store and a willing owner are all that are required to fully maintain all window components.

Learn More...

Pozzi offers a very detailed, full-color booklet, The Differences Defined, which will familiarize you with all the unseen beauties of this remarkable wood window. Call 1-800-821-1016 today to receive your personal copy.

Here's A Way To Install Natural Gas That Runs Rings Around The Old System.

There's a new way to install natural gas that cuts installation time (and labor costs) in half, increases safety, and improves the looks of the finished job.

It's as simple as using 2-PSIG copper tubing instead of steel pipe.

Use A Lot Of Copper And Save A Lot Of Copper Pennies.

Copper tubing bends where steel demands the installation of joints and elbows. When it does require joining, copper tubing can be soldered or joined with simple, inexpensive flair fittings. And copper tubing uses smaller, less expensive meters.

The results? Natural gas installation in a typical home using 2-PSIG copper tubing saves you approximately 50% in labor costs.

Get Competitive, And Get Into Big Business.

The 2-PSIG copper tubing system opens up a lot of new opportunities for the installation of natural gas. Especially in big, multi-housing and commercial projects where natural gas installation costs have not always been competitive in the past.

Now you can offer these customers the comfort, convenience and superior performance of natural gas at affordable installation costs. While you offer yourself the opportunity to build new business in a whole new market.

How To Make It Big In The Copper Market:

Learn how to save money, increase business and run rings around your competition. Call your local Piedmont office and ask for more information about 2-PSIG copper tubing today.

We'll show you how to turn copper into gold.

LUCK STONE PORTFOLIO SERIES

Fort Monroe has witnessed more than its share of history. Robert E. Lee served here. The Monitor and Merrimack battled beneath its walls. And Jefferson Davis was imprisoned here. When renovations began, Luck Stone was called in as the consulting supplier of matching sandstone. The original quarry at Aquia Creek, Virginia had closed down. Luck Stone sourced a similar vein of sandstone available from an active quarry in Ohio. Once again, Luck Stone's history of experience with challenging renovation projects proved invaluable to the preservation of an American historical landmark.

Original Architect: General Simon Bernard

Original Construction: 1818 to 1835

Renovations: 1985 to Present

Masonry Contractor: Hunt Restorations

Lasting beauty plus lowest cost alternative.

100% pure Solite concrete masonry units.

Requiring over 1.8 million 8" equivalent units, the R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Company plant in Tobaccoville, North Carolina was the largest concrete masonry project in the southeastern United States.

Reynolds demanded high quality block and to meet that demand, fine textured pure lightweight aggregate block was specified.

Working closely with Solite, the block manufacturer produced units to R.J. Reynolds specifications. Pure Solite lightweight aggregate block met every quality check for size, texture and color.

Throughout the project, the block was inspected to insure uniformity. The result was a new standard in the block industry... a beautiful masonry project.

Johnny Johnson, the project manager for the masonry contractor said, "...these pure Solite blocks were the best... if architects and owners could see their projects go up like this, they would use more and more masonry."

With all its beauty, pure Solite was the most cost effective.

For several decades, Solite lightweight aggregate block has been used in buildings for its durability, strength and light weight. Pure Solite block offers excellent insulation values, high fire resistance, superior acoustical properties, architectural design flexibility, thermal inertia and consistent quality of texture and color.

It pays off in reduced energy and insurance costs year after year.

For more proof of the beauty and savings of Solite, take a look at the R.J. Reynolds Tobaccoville plant. Or better yet, take a look in 10, 50 or 100 years.

WE ADVISED THE MEMBERS OF HOPEWELL UNITED METHODIST TO SEE THEIR CHURCH IN A DIFFERENT LIGHT.

Hopewell United Methodist Church in Lancaster, South Carolina badly needed to improve the lighting in their parking lot, but they weren't sure where to turn for guidance. Then they discovered Duke Power helps institutions, businesses and industries solve all kinds of problems. Problems as simple as lighting and as complex as finding new technologies for manufacturing.

They also found out we offer our consultation free of charge, which pleased the church stewards. So now, in place of their two old outdoor lights, the church has two new flood lights providing 50 percent more effective light than before — enough, in fact, to qualify as “security” lighting.

Chances are good we can help you find equally simple and economical solutions to some of your problems.

So call your Duke Power office and talk with a marketing representative. Like the congregation of Hopewell United Methodist, we think you'll find our DUKE POWER suggestions illuminating. Generating Energy Alternatives

Architectural Education

Three universities in North Carolina offer programs leading to degrees for architects or engineers.

Here are summaries of the programs at the three universities, compiled from material submitted to the NCAIA by the deans of the schools:

N.C. State

The Department of Architecture at N.C. State University in Raleigh was established in 1948 as one of two original academic components in the School of Design.

Under the guidance of founding Dean Henry L. Kamphoefner, the School of Design experienced a long period of creative and intellectual development. Designers and theorists such as Buckminster Fuller, Matthew Norwicks, Lewis Mumford, Eduardo Catalano and others joined the faculty in the school's early years and helped build a reputation for innovation and experimentation.

Those qualities have continued to provide the focus of academic concern as the architecture department has enlarged its mission and curricular options over the past 40 years. In the late 1960's the Department initiated a graduate program which made possible a more comprehensive professional education. As a result NCSU, which also offers a four-year BEDA program and the professional B. ARCH degree, provides a rich architectural curriculum in which design excellence is directed toward social and environmental goals.

The Department of Architecture offers three degree programs:

1. Bachelor of Environmental Design in Architecture (BEDA)—a four-year pre-professional curriculum that serves as the foundation for the two advanced programs. The curriculum includes a balance of general studies (English, mathematics, science and humanities), design studio courses and architectural support courses (history, technology, methods and theory).
2. Bachelor of Architecture (B. ARCH)—a one-year professional curriculum that builds on the four-year BEDA program.
3. Master of Architecture (M. ARCH)—a two-year professional curriculum that follows a four-year pre-professional program in architecture. Additionally, applicants with the B. ARCH degree are accepted for an intensive second professional program, and applicants with degrees in non-architectural fields may apply for a four-year graduate program.

Both the B. ARCH and M. ARCH are first professional degrees accredited by the National Architectural Accrediting Board. As such, they satisfy educational requirements for professional certification established by the various states and the National Council of Architectural Registration Boards.

Admission to the architecture degree programs is competitive.

Application to the undergraduate BEDA program is made to the School of Design, which annually admits 100 to 120 freshmen and transfer students to the common first-year "Design Fundamentals" program. Students begin their architectural studies in the second year. For information about undergraduate admissions standards and procedures, contact the School of Design, NCSU, Box 7701, Raleigh, N.C. 27695-7701 or call (919) 737-2201.

Admission to the B. ARCH and M. ARCH programs is by application to the Department of Architecture. Creative ability, superior academic achievement and promise of professional accomplishment are criteria sought in applicants. For additional information, contact Robert Burns, Head/Department of Architecture, School of Design, N.C. State University, Box 7701, Raleigh, N.C. 27695-7701 or call (919) 737-2204.

There are 600 students in the School of Design, 280 of whom are in the architecture department. Approximately 190 students are in the BEDA program, with the remainder in the advanced programs. In 1987-88, the architecture department awarded 46 BEDA degrees, 16 B. ARCH degrees and 22 M. ARCH degrees.

UNC Charlotte

The College of Architecture at the University of North Carolina at Charlotte was founded in 1969 and graduated its first students with professional degrees in 1976, the same year Charles C. Hight was named dean.

In July of 1984, the school received its second consecutive full accreditation from the National Architectural Accreditation Board.

The curriculum is organized so that students acquire a common body of general and architectural knowledge and skills while investigating societal and professional issues and subjects, many of which are of individual interest. Thus there is a balance between theory and application, general and professional education, intuitive and rational thinking, process and product, analysis and synthesis, common experience with opportunity for individual experimentation and skill development with intellectual maturation.

To assist students who desire a secondary concentration, the program is structured so a person may develop a double major or minor in another field such as engineering, earth science, business, computer or behavioral science. The curriculum is organized in three sections:

1. The Foundation Program—During the first two years, students are enrolled in general educational and architectural courses. The studios and seminars, which occur each semester, focus upon acquiring the fundamentals of graphic development, visual form, problem solving and conceptualization as well as the relationship of architectural form to physical environment, human needs and technology.

Architectural history courses in the second year give students an understanding of the evolution of architectural form and ideas, as well as their relationship to society.

2. The Middle Program—In the first semester of the third year, all students use the previously acquired knowledge and skills in the design of relatively small-scaled buildings which are site specific. These endeavors include investigation of various architectural issues and ideas. In the following three semesters, students enroll in optional "topical studios."

Also, students take at least four architectural elective courses. These seminar/lab options include: exploration of applied visual form, graphic development, architectural readings and theory, urban design, architectural preservation, solar energy, programming, light/acoustics, study of communities and real estate development.

Upon completion of the fourth year, the bachelor of arts in architecture degree is awarded and students may apply for the fifth year.

3. Advanced Program—The fifth-year program, which is composed of students from UNCC and other schools, provides a balance between individual and collective professional studies. In the fall semester, students engage in a series of common design studies for the purpose of further developing their abilities to conceptualize, solve problems and deal holistically with architectural projects set in natural and urban environments. Students may pursue a design thesis or study a faculty directed design topic in the Spring Semester.

Upon completion, the professional Bachelor of Architecture degree is awarded.

The full-time faculty is augmented by a comprehensive visiting architects program.

The 270 students enrolled in the College of Architecture include a freshman class of approximately 72 students, many of whom have prior college experience. Selection of students is based on SAT scores, prior academic record, the portfolio of creative work, quality of the applicant's letter of intent and personal interview.

Admission to the fifth-year program requires completion of a bachelor of arts in architecture, bachelor of environmental design or other related studies. Consideration for acceptance includes study of the student's previous academic record and professional activities, the personal statement of study intent and portfolio of creative work. When appropriate, a personal interview may be required.

More detailed information may be obtained by writing the Office of Admissions, UNCC, Charlotte, N.C. 28223 or the College of Architecture, UNCC, Charlotte, N.C. 28223.

N.C. A&T

The architectural engineering program at North Carolina A&T State University is based on a five-year, 160 semester credit hour curriculum. The program, which leads to a bachelor of science degree in architectural engineering, is accredited by the Engineering Accreditation Commission of the Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology.

The objectives of the first two years of the curriculum are to provide the student with a strong foundation of mathematics, chemistry, physics, written and graphic communications and the humanities. The remaining three years of the program emphasize the art and science of building design and construction. Students are required to take several courses in each of the following core areas:

- architectural history
- architectural design and site planning
- building materials and methods of construction
- structural analysis and design (including wood, concrete and steel)
- environmental systems analysis and design (HVAC, plumbing, lighting)
- ethics and professional practice

In addition to the core courses the student has several electives, of which general psychology, industrial psychology and social psychology are strongly recommended. In the senior year, each student selects an option block of courses which are designed to provide depth in a specific area. The option block areas include: design and planning, structures, and environmental systems. A total of nine credit hours must be taken in one of these areas.

The program embodies three major components. First is the typical classroom lecture. The second component includes hands-on laboratories in the following areas: structures, soils, concrete, and computers (including computer-aided drafting and design, and project management). The third component is the design studio in which each student is assigned a drafting table with parallel bar and a layout table for the entire semester. The jury system is used to critique most design projects. An interdisciplinary senior design project is a required part of the curriculum. In this course the students form design teams and each team must plan and execute a comprehensive design package including plans, specifications and construction cost estimate. A major goal in this course is to give the students experience in a team design effort similar to that which they might encounter in an architect's office. These program elements combine to provide the student with a well-rounded educational experience.

At the graduate level, the department offers programs that lead to a master of science degree in architectural engineering. The three degree options include: structures; facilities management; and heating, ventilating and air conditioning (HVAC). Thirty-six credit hours are required to complete the masters degree.

There are presently six full-time and two part-time faculty in the department in addition to the chairman. Four of the faculty hold Ph.D. degrees and three are registered professional engineers. Three faculty are graduates of schools of architecture and hold masters degrees. During the 1987-1988 academic year, all faculty members and the chairman were involved in funded research projects. Both undergraduate and graduate students participated in these research projects. Sponsoring agencies included: NASA; the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Construction Research Lab; Honeywell, Inc.; the North Carolina Alternative Energy Corporation; and the North Carolina Brick Association.

Coming Next in North Carolina Architecture

With the directory, North Carolina Architecture launches another year to showcase and discuss the work of the state's architects in a variety of settings. In addition, we'll take a look at the professionals who work with architects, including interior designers, artists, model builders and computer simulators. We also look forward to controversy and humor in Elevations, a new column designed to give our readers and others interested in architecture a forum for expressing opinion. Here is a preview of the issues ahead.

March/April 1989

Million-dollar homes. When money is no object, what are North Carolina architects delivering to the state's wealthiest clients? In this issue, we'll show that opulence can mean class, elegance and even simplicity. We'll also explore the role of the interior designer in the building of new homes and take a close look at stone, a hot item in today's designer homes.

May/June 1989

Changing skylines. New buildings are reaching to the skies in the downtowns of Charlotte, Greensboro, Winston-Salem and other cities in the state. This issue will explore the impact of the new buildings and take a fresh look at the old—the landmark structures that have weathered the changes and made history.

In addition, we'll explore the fascinating craft of model building and the high-tech phenomenon of computer simulation.

July/August 1989

Annual design awards

September/October 1989

Architecture and the arts. We'll feature new buildings designed to support the arts, from theaters to galleries.

And we'll look at the ways in which old buildings are being turned into art centers.

We'll also take you to the studio of a North Carolina artist whose abstract sculpture has become a selling point for developers.

November/December 1989

Suiting yourself. A look at the offices and homes that architects have designed for themselves.

NCAIA Political Action Committee

After its formation and initial success in 1986, the NCAIA-PAC has continued to be actively involved in the political arena and strengthened the depth and breadth of membership participation in political campaigns.

Established initially to assist candidates for the North Carolina General Assembly and statewide candidates, the NCAIA-PAC has reaffirmed that commitment to helping candidates who will be influential in determining the course and future of the practice of architecture in North Carolina. The national AIA-PAC focuses its attention and resources on candidates for federal offices. This two-prong PAC approach enables the NCAIA-PAC to use its own resources to concentrate on issues and laws in North Carolina.

The board of directors of the NCAIA-PAC represents the diversity of the general membership in terms of firm size, type of practice, geographic distribution and bipartisan political affiliation.

Candidates endorsed by the NCAIA-PAC scored impressive victories in 1988 despite the tumultuous campaigns and unpredicted results. This success rate continues to place the NCAIA-PAC among the top PACs in North Carolina.

Jeffrey Huberman, the 1989 NCAIA-PAC chairman, stated the mission of the PAC: "It is important to continue to increase our political awareness and participation. It is equally necessary for us to maintain our presence and voice in political circles and for us to assist in the growth of North Carolina."

National Council Sets Certification Standards

The National Council of Architectural Registration Boards was established in 1920 to assist member boards in carrying out their duties, to foster the enactment of uniform architectural laws, to develop examinations and establish standards for certification requirements in education and training, to perfect its procedures for verifying the qualifications of applicants and determining their eligibility for certification and to establish and maintain reciprocal registration between states having registration laws.

The NCARB is a non-profit corporation with all legally constituted boards of architecture in the United States as members.

To be eligible for NCARB certification, architects must submit satisfactory evidence that they comply with the standard for education, training, examination and character and have been registered by a member board.

The NCARB will, upon request of an individual architect, secure, authenticate, and record factual data of the applicant's education, training, practice and character. This record will be forwarded to any state board upon request of the applicant.

Certification shall be given an applicant holding a council record verifying that the applicant has complied with the council's standards of education, training, practice and character; and that the applicant has passed an examination conforming to the council's standards of content, extent and length of time.

Certification by the NCARB is recommendation to all registration authorities that registration be granted to the holder without further examination. Most member boards accept NCARB certification as conclusive evidence of an architect's eligibility of registration. It is, however, not a national registration.

Complete information on compiling a council record and obtaining council certification can be obtained from:

What is the NCAIA?

More than 90 percent of the 1,400 architects in the state are members of the North Carolina chapter of the American Institute of Architects, an organization that was founded in 1913. That makes the NCAIA the second-largest state chapter in the country, surpassed in size only by the chapter in New Jersey.

Members of the NCAIA are located in nearly 70 counties in the state, practicing in firms ranging from one to 300 members.

The membership is divided into geographical sections, located in Raleigh, Durham, Charlotte, Wilmington, Greensboro, Winston-Salem, Asheville and Eastern North Carolina. The Charlotte Section has the largest membership, followed by Raleigh, Winston-Salem and Greensboro.

The sections elect their own leaders and hold periodic meetings and other activities for their members. Each section also works closely with NCAIA in a number of statewide projects, including the annual NCAIA Design Awards, the annual convention and seminars on management, professional liability and marketing techniques.

The NCAIA has a number of committees on topics such as finance, government affairs, public relations, ethics and professional liability. It publishes a monthly newsletter for its members and North Carolina Architecture, a bi-monthly magazine that is distributed to the state's architects, engineers, contractors, elected officials, major corporations and business and civic leaders.

In recent years, the NCAIA has become more involved in state politics. It has formed a political action committee that aims, as one of its major goals, to cut down on the number of people who do not have architectural training and certification but are being hired to do the work of architects.

Moments of Recognition

Awards ceremonies will highlight this year's NCAIA annual convention in April.

The convention will feature the NCAIA Design Awards Program April 15. These awards are given to encourage and recognize excellence in architecture and to make the public aware of the tremendous variety, scope and quality of architectural services in the state. Entries are judged for excellence in function, economy and environmental harmony; for executing a complex program in a distinguished manner; and for creativity, both aesthetic and structural. Award-winning entries will be featured in the July/August issue of North Carolina Architecture.

The program also will include the presentation of the Kamphoefner Prize. In its second year, the Kamphoefner Prize awards $10,000 to an architect or architectural firm that, over a period of 10 years or more, has made a sustained contribution of excellence to the modern movement in architecture. The prize is named for Henry Kamphoefner, founder and dean emeritus of the N.C. State University School of Design. Last year, J. Norman Pease Jr., chairman and chief executive officer of J.N. Pease Associates, became the first Kamphoefner Prize winner.

Finally, a promising student of architecture will be granted a traveling fellowship of $3,000 sponsored by the North Carolina Architectural Foundation.

The convention will be held in Winston-Salem at the Regency Hyatt and Benton Convention Center April 14, 15 and 16.

Board of Architecture Has Governed Since 1915

The North Carolina Board of Architecture, established by the legislature in 1915, is responsible for administering the practice of architecture in the state. The board is comprised of seven members appointed by the governor, five of whom are licensed architects. Two non-architects represent the public at large.

Officers and board members are Walter L. Bost, Charlotte, president; James L. Padgett, Asheville, vice president; Doris H. Moore, Yanceyville, secretary/treasurer; Kenneth W. Burnette, Morehead City, member; Tai Y. Lee, Waynesville, member; Wanta T. Harvey, Rich Square, member; Michael R. Tye, Greensboro, member.

North Carolina requires registered architects either to have a degree in architecture from a board-approved college or university program or to have professional educational equivalents and at least three years practical experience as specified by the rules of the board. Architects also must successfully complete a licensing examination in architecture.

Individuals holding a current license for the practice of architecture from another state and a certificate of qualification issued by the National Council of Architectural Registration Boards (NCARB) may, upon application and at the discretion of the board, be licensed without taking the written examination.

North Carolina Architectural Foundation

Established in 1963, the North Carolina Architectural Foundation promotes and sponsors architectural programs and education.

The Foundation has raised funds from NCAIA members to renovate the AIA Tower building and to fund scholarships for architectural students at NCSU School of Design and UNC-C College of Architecture. One of the Foundation scholarships awarded through NCSU is in memory of William Henley Deitrick.

The Foundation was reorganized in 1986 to better enable it to fulfill its purposes. The restructured NC Architectural Foundation will continue to serve as the endowment arm of the NCAIA.

The purposes and goals of the Foundation are to actively encourage and support quality training and education in the field of architecture and to educate the lay public about architects and architecture.

The financial base of the Foundation has been broadened as has the membership and board of directors. These increased resources will enable the Foundation to achieve its goals more effectively and to increase its level of support for other architecture-related activities.

The Foundation has established a new annual traveling fellowship to be awarded to an architecture student. The first scholarship will be awarded in 1989.

TOO ERR IS HUMAN... ...UNLESS YOU'RE A DESIGN PROFESSIONAL

We're Professional Liability Consultants. Like you, we take Errors & Omissions coverage very seriously and we have been in business many years. That's why we have a separate fulltime Design Professionals Liability Insurance Department that provides coverage for over 200 architectural and engineering firms. But we do a lot more than just provide coverage, such as:

- Help you set policy limits to protect your business and personal assets.
- Tailor the deductible to reduce premiums while limiting risk to a comfortable level.
- Help you implement a loss prevention program to further reduce premiums.
- Conduct loss prevention seminars with your staff.
- Review your contracts to be certain your insurance coverage complies.

Dear Mr. Thomas:

We'd like to have our E & O coverage evaluated.

We understand there's no cost or obligation for this service.

Name _____

Firm _____

Address _____

Phone number () _____

- Recognize contract wording that could lead to claims.
- Provide pre-claim dispute resolution.

With today's litigation-prone business climate, your E & O coverage should be evaluated by a specialist. We'll be happy to do it at no cost or obligation. At the very least you'll have the peace of mind of knowing everything's fine.

DISTRIBUTORS

Fiandre is the world's porcelain industry leader, producing over 60 million square feet of tile annually. Fiandre Ceramic Granite™ is an exceptional, vitrified porcelain stoneware which is stronger and more resilient than granite itself.

Manufactured of raw materials from Italy and Germany – pure clay, quartz, feldspar and kaolin—each Fiandre Ceramic Granite™ tile meets the company's own exacting production standards. It's no surprise, then, that Fiandre exceeds most of the industry standards set for absorbency, hardness, and resistance to cold, fire, and chemicals. Fiandre is so hard that only a few materials, such as diamond, can scratch it. The tile is fully vitrified, highly resistant to wear and scarring, even under constant use in high traffic locations. The dense, consistent color is fired all the way through; its beauty lasts and lasts.

Fiandre will not fade. It is unaffected by light or wear. Fiandre's qualities make it an outstanding choice for both floors and vertical surfaces, in commercial and residential installations. The collections of Fiandre, in styles and colors, offer the architect or designer a versatile range of choices for any project.

Facts on Fiandre

Here are the extraordinary test results of Fiandre's ability to meet and exceed building standards. The testing is verified by the Smith-Emery Company, Los Angeles, CA.

HARDNESS

Fiandre Ceramic Granite™ tests 9 on the MOHS scale. In comparison testing with an average density natural granite, 30% less material was removed from the Fiandre sample during the same time cycle. Only diamond, with a hardness rating of 10, exceeds Fiandre.

BREAKING STRENGTH

Average breaking load for Fiandre tile is 640 pounds (ASTM test C-648). Industry standards are "250 pounds or more."

COMPRESSIVE STRENGTH

Fiandre reaches the amazing level of 35,000 pounds per square inch.

BOND STRENGTH

Measured at 446 P.S.I., nearly 9 times the industry minimum of 50 P.S.I.

WATER ABSORPTION

Fiandre has a water absorption rate of only .04 percent, compared to the industry standard of .5 percent. It is virtually impervious to water.

FROSTPROOF

Because of its extremely low water absorption rate, Fiandre is completely frostproof. No cracks or spalling occurred after Smith-Emery engineers exposed it to sustained temperatures of 115 degrees below zero, Fahrenheit.

ACID RESISTANCE

Fiandre is completely resistant to corrosive acids (except HF1 and substances containing this compound). Under testing, the tile was unaffected by exposure to a 10% solution of hydrochloric acid (HC1) for 24 hours at 75.5 degrees Fahrenheit.

FIRE RESISTANCE

Fiandre Ceramic Granite™ is totally inert and cannot contribute fuel. Because its melting point is approximately 2,400 degrees Fahrenheit, well above the flash point of other traditional building materials, Fiandre is an excellent fire stop.

SKID RESISTANCE

Fiandre exceeded the industry standard of a .50 coefficient of friction in a series of four tests. Its average skid resistance was .605.

MATTE FINISH

Matte finish is a smooth, velvet-like surface with low light reflectance. The delicate texture adds natural warmth to both interior and exterior applications. Matte finish is available on all colors of Granite, Corindo and Tinte Unite series.

MATTE FINISH

POLISHED FINISH

Granite, Corindo and Tinte Unite series are also available in polished finish. The highly reflective surface adds brilliance and sparkle to horizontal and vertical applications. On Granite and Corindo series, polished finish greatly enhances Fiandre's resemblance to natural stone.

POLISHED FINISH

SKID-RESISTANT FINISH

For demanding applications, a series of skid-resistant finishes have been developed to meet the rigorous needs of high-traffic areas and safety requirements. Skid Resistant #1, styled with individually textured blocks, is available in two plain colors and seven Granite Series colors in the 8" x 8" size. Skid Resistant #2, a crisp diagonal line style, comes in two plain colors and two Granite Series colors, also in the 8" x 8" size. And Skid Resistant Industry, a tile with a completely textured surface, may be ordered in a choice of two thicknesses in one plain color and two Granite Series colors, in the 6" x 6" size.

SLATE FINISH

We also offer a finish that gives the textured appearance of natural slate, combined with the exceptional durability and easy maintenance of Fiandre Ceramic Granite™. This finish may be ordered in the 8" x 8" size in seven colors of the Granite Series, and in the 12" x 12" size in six Granite Series colors.

SLATE FINISH

Corindo resembles the grain of granite, with its large-granule pattern and its choice of ten natural colors. Each color is available in slightly textured or polished finish. Corindo is available in two sizes: 12" x 12" or 16" x 16". This fine, fully vitrified porcelain stoneware also comes with five different kinds of trim.

Designer Line

Designed by the Biondi-Gasparini-Silvi Studio, the Fiandre Designer Line extends the range of tile applications into new dimensions with its contrast of polished and matte surfaces within each individual tile. Line, Square and Cross motifs are available in Gray, Black and White, 12" x 12". Interesting and unusual effects can be created by combining surface-patterned tiles with untextured solid color tiles, polished or matte finish. Designer Line tiles have all the benefits of permanent beauty and the durability of Fiandre Ceramic Granite.™

CODE OF ETHICS AND PROFESSIONAL CONDUCT

Preamble

Members of The American Institute of Architects are dedicated to the highest standards of professionalism, integrity and competence. The following principles are guidelines for the conduct of members in fulfilling those obligations. They apply to all professional activities, wherever they occur. They address responsibilities to the public, which the profession serves and enriches; to the clients and users of architecture, and in the building industries, who help to shape the built environment; and to the art and science of architecture, that continuum of knowledge and creation which is the heritage and legacy of the profession.

This Code is arranged in three tiers of statements: Canons, Ethical Standards and Rules of Conduct. The Canons are broad principles of conduct. The Ethical Standards are more specific goals towards which members should aspire in professional performance and behavior. The Rules of Conduct are mandatory, the violation of which is grounds for disciplinary action by the Institute. The Rules of Conduct in some instances implement more than one Canon or Ethical Standard.

Commentary is provided for some of the Rules of Conduct. That commentary is meant to clarify or elaborate the intent of the rule. The commentary is not part of the Code. Enforcement will turn on application of the Rules of Conduct alone. But the commentary will assist those seeking to conform their conduct to the Code and those charged with its enforcement.

CANON I GENERAL OBLIGATIONS

MEMBERS SHOULD MAINTAIN AND ADVANCE THEIR KNOWLEDGE OF THE ART AND SCIENCE OF ARCHITECTURE, RESPECT THE BODY OF ARCHITECTURAL ACCOMPLISHMENT AND CONTRIBUTE TO ITS GROWTH; LEARNED AND UNCOMPROMISED PROFESSIONAL JUDGMENT SHOULD TAKE PRECEDENCE OVER ANY OTHER MOTIVE IN THE PURSUIT OF THE ART AND SCIENCE OF ARCHITECTURE.

E.S. 1.1 Knowledge and Skill: Members should strive to improve their professional knowledge and skill.

R. 1.101 In practicing architecture, members shall demonstrate a consistent pattern of reasonable care and competence, and shall apply the technical knowledge and skill which is ordinarily applied by architects of good standing practicing in the same locality.

Commentary: By requiring a "consistent pattern" of adherence to the common law standard of competence, this rule allows for discipline of a member who more than infrequently does not achieve that standard. Isolated instances of minor lapses would not provide the basis for discipline.

R. 1.102 Members shall not undertake to provide professional services if their competence is substantially impaired by physical or mental disabilities.

E.S. 1.2 Standards of Excellence: Members should continually seek to raise the standards of aesthetic excellence, architectural education, research, training and practice.

E.S. 1.3 Public Understanding: Members should strive to improve public appreciation and understanding of architecture and the functions and responsibilities of architects.

E.S. 1.4 Allied Arts & Industries: Members should promote allied arts and contribute to the knowledge and capability of the building industries as a whole.

CANON II

OBLIGATIONS TO THE PUBLIC

MEMBERS SHOULD EMBRACE THE SPIRIT AND LETTER OF THE LAW GOVERNING THEIR PROFESSIONAL AFFAIRS AND SHOULD THOUGHTFULLY CONSIDER THE SOCIAL AND ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT OF THEIR PROFESSIONAL ACTIVITIES.

E.S. 2.1 Conduct: Members should uphold the law in the conduct of their professional activities.

R. 2.101 Members shall not, in the conduct of their professional practice, knowingly violate the law.

Commentary: The violation of any law, local, state or federal, occurring in the conduct of a member's professional practice, is made the basis for discipline by this rule. R. 2.104 speaks to law violations by members occurring other than in the practice of architecture.

R. 2.102 Members shall neither offer nor make any payment or gift to a local, state or federal official with the intent of influencing the official's judgment in connection with an existing or prospective project in which the members are interested.

Commentary: This rule does not prohibit campaign contributions made in conformity with applicable federal and state campaign financing laws.

R. 2.103 Members serving in a public capacity shall not accept payments or gifts which are intended to influence their judgment.

R. 2.104 Members shall not engage in conduct involving fraud or wanton disregard of the rights of others.

Commentary: Conduct which brings into serious question a member's qualification to assume the fiduciary duties of an architect is the basis for discipline even if that conduct did not occur in the course of practice.

R. 2.105 If, in the course of their work on a project, the members become aware of a decision taken by their employer or client, against the members' advice, which violates any law or regulation and which will in the members' judgment, materially affect adversely the safety to the public of the finished project, the members shall:

- (a) refuse to consent to the decision, and
- (b) report the decision to the local building inspector or other public official charged with the enforcement of the applicable laws and regulations, unless the members are able to cause the matter to be satisfactorily resolved by other means.

Commentary: This rule extends only to violations of the building laws which threaten the public safety. Ethical Standard 2.1 calls on an architect to oppose technical violations of the law which are not threatening to safety, in which case discipline would not be imposed in the event that opposition is not successful. The obligation under this rule applies only to the safety of the finished project, an obligation coextensive with the usual undertaking of an architect.

R. 2.106 Members shall not counsel or assist a client in conduct that the architect knows, or reasonably should know, is fraudulent or illegal.

Commentary: This rule extends not only to matters which an architect knows are illegal, but also to matters which an architect of reasonable competence and prudence "should know" are illegal or fraudulent.

E.S. 2.2 Natural and Cultural Heritage: Members should respect and help conserve their natural and cultural heritage while striving to improve the environment and the quality of life within it.

E.S. 2.3 Civic Responsibility: Members should be involved in civic activities as citizens and professionals, and promote public awareness of architectural issues.

R. 2.301 Members making public statements on architectural issues shall disclose when they are being compensated for making such statements or when they have an economic interest in the issue.

E.S. 2.4 Public Interest Services: Members should render public interest professional services and encourage their employees to render such services.

E.S. 2.5 Human Rights: Members should uphold human rights in all their professional endeavors.

R. 2.501 Members shall not discriminate in their professional activities on the basis of race, religion, gender, national origin, age or nondisqualifying handicap.

Commentary: This rule applies to all professional activities of the member, including but not limited to dealings with clients, colleagues and employees. It is stated with such breadth here so as to avoid repetition under the other canons.

CANON III OBLIGATIONS TO THE CLIENT

MEMBERS SHOULD SERVE THEIR CLIENTS COMPETENTLY AND IN A PROFESSIONAL MANNER, AND SHOULD EXERCISE UNPREJUDICED AND UNBIASED JUDGMENT ON THEIR BEHALF.

E.S. 3.1 Competence: Members should serve their clients in a timely and competent manner.

R. 3.101 In performing professional services, members shall take into account applicable laws and regulations. Members may rely on the advice of other qualified persons as to the intent and meaning of such regulations.

R. 3.102 Members shall undertake to perform professional services only when they, together with those whom they may engage as consultants, are qualified by education, training, or experience in the specific technical areas involved.

Commentary: This rule is meant to ensure that members not undertake projects which are beyond their professional capacity. Members venturing into areas which require expertise they do not possess may obtain that expertise by additional education, training or through the retention of consultants with the necessary expertise.

R. 3.103 Members shall not materially alter the scope or objectives of a project without the client's consent.

R. 3.104 When acting by agreement of the parties as the independent interpreter of building contract documents and the judge of contract performance, members shall render decisions impartially, favoring neither party to the contract.

Commentary: This rule applies when the member, though paid by the owner and owing the owner loyalty, is nonetheless required to act with impartiality in fulfilling the architect's role in the typical construction industry documents.

E.S. 3.2 Conflict of Interest: Members should disclose to clients or owners significant circumstances that could be construed as conflicts of interest and should ensure that such conflicts do not compromise those interests.

R. 3.201 Members shall not accept compensation for their services from more than one party on a project unless the circumstances are fully disclosed and agreed to by all interested parties.

R. 3.202 If members have any business association, direct or indirect financial interest, or other interest which could be substantial enough to influence their judgment in connection with their performance of professional services, the members shall fully disclose to their clients or employers the nature of the business association, financial interest, or other interest, and if the clients or employers object to such association, financial interest, or other interest, the members will either terminate such association or interest or give up the commission or employment.

Commentary: These rules are intended to embrace the full range of situations which may present a member with a conflict between his interests and those of his client or employer. In some situations a conflict is easily discerned, as when the architect owns property adjacent to property upon which he has been asked to design a structure and is faced with design options which would affect the value of his property.

Other instances are not so clear, and that is more frequently the case as new systems and procedures for the construction process, such as design-build, come into the market. In every case the architect must take adequate steps to ensure that the client is aware of any substantial interest which the architect has which might run counter to the interests of the client.

E.S. 3.3 Candor and Truthfulness: Members should be candid and truthful in their professional communications.

R. 3.301 Members shall not intentionally or recklessly mislead existing or prospective clients about the results that can be achieved through the use of the members' services, nor shall the members state that they can achieve results by means that violate applicable law or this Code.

Commentary: This rule is meant to preclude dishonest, reckless or illegal representations by a member either in the course of soliciting a client or during performance. For example, it would cover the conduct of an architect who provides conceptual drawings based on an inadequate site examination or without regard for zoning laws, which lead a prospective client to believe that a design could be achieved when in fact it could not.

E.S. 3.4 Confidentiality: Members should respect the confidentiality of sensitive information obtained in the course of their professional activities.

R. 3.401 Members shall not reveal information obtained in the course of their professional activities which they have been asked to maintain in confidence, or which the reasonably prudent architect would recognize as likely, if disclosed, to affect the interests of another adversely. However, under the following exceptional circumstances members may reveal such information to the extent the members reasonably believe necessary:

(a) To stop an act which creates an appreciable risk of significant harm to the public health or safety or property of others and which the members are unable to prevent in any other manner; or

(b) To establish claims or defenses on behalf of the members; or

(c) To comply with applicable law or with this Code.

Commentary: This rule embodies generally accepted standards of client confidentiality, recognizing that under certain circumstances that confidentiality must yield to other interests.

Because the law does not recognize an architect-client privilege, the rule permits an architect to reveal a confidence when necessary to comply with a subpoena or other legal process.

CANON IV OBLIGATIONS TO THE PROFESSION

MEMBERS SHOULD UPHOLD THE INTEGRITY AND DIGNITY OF THE PROFESSION.

E.S. 4.1 Honesty and Fairness: Members should pursue their professional activities with honesty and fairness.

R. 4.101 Members shall comply with the registration laws and regulations governing their professional practice.

R. 4.102 Members shall not knowingly make false statements or knowingly fail to disclose a material fact requested in connection with their application for registration or their application for AIA membership.

R. 4.103 Members shall not assist the application for registration or AIA membership of a person known by the members to be unqualified with respect to education, training, experience, or character.

R. 4.104 Members having substantial information which leads to a reasonable belief that another member has committed a violation of this Code which raises a serious question as to that member's honesty, trustworthiness or fitness as a member shall report such information to the body charged with enforcing this Code.

Commentary: Often, only an architect can recognize that the behavior of another architect poses a serious question as to that other's professional integrity. In those circumstances the duty to the professional's calling requires that the matter be brought to the attention of the proper authorities. In most jurisdictions such reporting, an implementation of professional standards, is protected from a libel or slander action if the report was made in good faith. If in doubt, a member should seek counsel before reporting on another under this rule.

- R. 4.105 Members shall not sign or seal drawings, specifications, reports or other professional work for which they do not have direct professional knowledge or direct supervisory control; however, in the case of those portions of such professional work prepared by the members' registered consultants, the members may sign or seal said portions of the professional work if the members have reviewed such portions, have coordinated their preparation, or intend to be responsible for their adequacy.

Commentary: The essence of this rule is that the sign or seal of a member should not be affixed to any professional work unless the member intends to accept professional responsibility for its adequacy. The requirement that the member have professional knowledge or supervisory control or have reviewed or coordinated the consultant's work is evidence of the intent to assume professional responsibility.

- R. 4.106 Members speaking in their capacity as architects shall not knowingly make false statements of material fact.
- R. 4.107 Members shall accurately represent their qualifications and the scope and nature of their responsibilities in connection with work for which they are claiming credit.

Commentary: This rule is meant to prevent members from claiming credit for work which they did not do, misleading others and denying other participants in a project their proper share of credit.

E.S. 4.2 Dignity and Integrity: Members should strive, through their actions, to promote the dignity and integrity of the profession, and to ensure that their representatives and employees conform their conduct to this Code.

- R. 4.201 Members shall not make misleading, deceptive or false statements or claims about their professional qualifications, experience or performance.
- R. 4.202 Members shall make reasonable efforts to ensure that those over whom they have supervisory authority conform their conduct to this Code.

Commentary: What constitutes "reasonable efforts" under this rule is a common sense matter. As it makes sense to ensure that those over whom the architect exercises supervision be made generally aware of the Code, it can also make sense to bring a particular provision to the attention of a particular employee when a situation is present which might give rise to violation.

CANON V OBLIGATIONS TO COLLEAGUES

MEMBERS SHOULD RESPECT THE RIGHTS AND ACKNOWLEDGE THE PROFESSIONAL ASPIRATIONS AND CONTRIBUTIONS OF THEIR COLLEAGUES.

E.S. 5.1 Professional Environment: Members should provide their associates and employees with a suitable working environment, compensate them fairly, and facilitate their professional development.

E.S. 5.2 Professional Recognition: Members should build their professional reputation on the merits of their own service and performance and should recognize and give credit to others for the professional work they have performed.

- R. 5.201 Members shall recognize and respect the professional contributions of their employees, employers and business associates.
- R. 5.202 Members leaving an employer's service shall not without the permission of the employer take designs, drawings, data, reports, notes, or other materials relating to work performed in the employer's service by the members.
- R. 5.203 Members shall not unreasonably withhold permission from departing employees to take copies of designs, drawings, data, reports, notes, or other materials relating to work performed by the employees in the members' service which are not confidential.

Commentary: A member may impose reasonable conditions, such as the payment of copying costs, on the right of departing employees to take copies of work performed while in the member's service.

RULES OF ENACTMENT, APPLICATION, ENFORCEMENT AND AMENDMENT

ARTICLE I ENACTMENT

The Canons of Ethics, Ethical Standards and Rules of Conduct, referred to as the "Code of Ethics and Professional Conduct," shall be adopted by the convention of the Institute, and shall take effect at such time as the resolution of adoption sets.

ARTICLE II APPLICATION

The code of Ethics and Professional Conduct applies to the professional activities of all members, associate members and members emeritus of the AIA.

ARTICLE III ENFORCEMENT

The AIA Board of Directors shall provide in the By-Laws of the Institute procedures for the enforcement of the Code of Ethics and Professional Conduct. Such procedures shall provide that:

- (1) Enforcement of the Code shall be administered through a National Judicial Council, appointed by the AIA Board of Directors.

- (2) Formal charges will be filed directly with the National Judicial Council by members, components or anyone directly aggrieved by the conduct of the members.
- (3) The National Judicial Council shall defer action on a charge to allow a component, which wishes, an opportunity to obtain an informal settlement.
- (4) Penalties which may be imposed by the National Judicial Council are:
 - (a) Admonition.
 - (b) Censure.
 - (c) Suspension of membership for a period of time.
 - (d) Termination of membership.
- (5) An appellate process be established.
- (6) All proceedings will be confidential, as shall the imposition of an admonishment; however, all other penalties shall be made public.

ARTICLE IV AMENDMENT

The Code of Ethics and Professional Conduct may be amended by the convention of the Institute under the same procedures as are necessary to amend the Institute's By-Laws. The Code may also be amended by the AIA Board of Directors, upon a two-thirds vote of the entire Board.

PYRAMID

COME WATCH THE BUILDING OF THE PYRAMIDS. AND YOU'LL BE HELPING US BUILD A SOLID FOUNDATION FOR EXCELLENCE.

Nothing has endured longer as a symbol of man's ability to design and build excellence than the Great Pyramids of Egypt.

Today, that same design discipline touches every one of us. From the homes we live in, to the clothes we wear, to the landscapes we enjoy, the world of design has a profound effect on our daily lives.

And now you have an opportunity to help educate our designers of tomorrow with the same commitment to excellence that has allowed the Pyramids to endure.

By purchasing a ticket to one of the showings of the outstanding film entitled "Pyramid," you will be investing in our new One Million Dollar Fund For Excellence Endowment.

This important fund will help propel the North Carolina State University School of Design into a new era of excellence by providing vital financial enhancement to its academic programs.

The endowment will be critical to recruiting an outstanding new dean of the School of Design—a leader with the vision to chart our course into the 21st century.

Please send in your investment today, and then come watch the building of the Pyramids at one of the gala showings scheduled at a city near you in 1989. When you do you'll be helping us build a solid foundation for excellence.

The old Willard Hotel, now the Willard Inter-Continental, was once called the Unofficial White House. During the meticulous Willard restoration, architects insisted on 1,675 custom Pella Windows. Pella created historic accuracy outside, wood's beauty inside and a new lifetime of Pella quality.

The custom Pella window units precisely match original profiles with special sash dimensions, exterior jamb extensions and perimeter trim extrusions modeled after pieces of original wood trim.

Pella built the new Willard's Traditional Double-hung (TD)

units with insulating glass, including archtops. Huge fixed windows with venting casements above match original 7' x 14' double-hungs.

Even the classic Willard trim color was matched with aluminum cladding in baked enamel.

Now, we know every window treatment challenge isn't the Willard. But should that really make any difference?

See What Happens And A Great Building

These are the winners from the 1988 Architectural Brick Design Awards. Each represents an idea brought to life by some of North Carolina's finest architects and architectural firms. A panel of independent judges reviewed work submitted from around the state — and were impressed by the brick in architecture that they saw. Congratulations to the winners, and we hope to see more of your work next year.

A Good Idea Makes Borden Look Good

As proud as we are of our brick, we know that it's the ideas and skills of the architects, contractors and craftsmen that make brick into buildings. But when it's an especially good idea — like the Lord Research & Development Building — an especially good brick — like Borden's Waynesboro — is shown at its best.

It's a utility brick that compliments the architect's graceful design.

The people that specify Borden brick have thousands of ideas, some of them very demanding. That's why Borden manufactures thousands of bricks in different colors, textures and shapes. We meet those demands.

An idea like the Lord Building does make us look good. And we like to think we do our part to make the building as good as the idea.
