QUIET'S BEST

Do you think new home owners want to hear their home's waste plumbing system in action?

Not a chance.

People making a substantial investment in a new home, or in an addition to any existing one, expect trouble-free performance and quiet operation. That's why the DWV plumbing system that's hidden within the walls is as important to the owner, architect and contractor as the visible features of the home.

To insure quiet DWV system operation, specify cast iron pipe for the drain lines and reserve plastics for venting purposes. Since a noisy plumbing system is long-lived and expensive to change, build a quiet one the first time.

Charlotte Pipe and Foundry Company manufactures both cast iron and plastic materials to the highest standards of quality. Charlotte Pipe . . . proudly providing customer satisfaction for over 90 years.

Equivalent Thickness and Fire Resistance of Typical Solite Lightweight Aggregate Concrete Masonry Units.

"Equivalent Solid Thickness" is the average thickness of the solid material in the unit, and is used as a criteria for fire resistance. We can compute Equivalent Solid Thickness by this formula. If Ps equals percent solid volume, T equals actual width of unit, then equivalent thickness, EQ. TH. = $\frac{T \times P_s}{100}$

If this 7 5/8" Hollow Unit has 52% solid material

Then its Equivalent Solid Thickness is $\frac{7.62" \times 52}{100} = 3.97"$ (2 Hour Rated)

American Institute of Architects

The mission of AIA North Carolina is to:

- Effectively represent the collective architectural membership to the general public, state government and its constituencies
- Provide meaningful services and support our members to produce excellence in architecture
- Coordinate the building industry and profession to ensure better living standards through an improved environment
- Organize and unite the profession in fellowship

The North Carolina Chapter of the American Institute of Architects is the recognized advocate for the architectural profession in this state.

With a membership of nearly 1,500 AIA North Carolina is the second largest statewide AIA chapter in America. More than 90 percent of the state's architects belong to AIA North Carolina. Membership has increased dramatically, from 215 in 1955 and 695 in 1975.

The advantage in membership lies in the breadth of service provided. AIA North Carolina publishes North Carolina Architecture, a bi-monthly magazine distributed to the state's architects, engineers, contractors, elected officials, civic leaders and decision-makers. AIA North Carolina also publishes a newsletter for its members.

The Chapter staff, headquartered in Raleigh, organizes an annual convention, highlighted by the presentation of the AIA North Carolina Design Awards.

Members also have an opportunity to supplement their education and training through seminars offered on subjects such as design trends, marketing and professional liability.

AIA North Carolina has become increasingly involved in public policy development and legislation. AIA North Carolina opinions and positions are actively sought by lawmakers when dealing with legislation affecting architecture, building codes, construction and planning.

AIA North Carolina members work and live in every corner of the state, practicing in firms ranging from one to 30 members. The membership is divided into geographical sections, located in Asheville, Charlotte, Durham/Chapel Hill, Eastern North Carolina, Piedmont (Greensboro/High Point), Raleigh, Wilmington and Winston-Salem.

AIA North Carolina offers its members an opportunity to participate in more than 20 committees dealing with topics such as historic preservation, continuing education, energy-efficient design and government affairs.

President's Message

Each new year affords the opportunity to reflect and anticipate. The past year has seen our world, our nation, our state and our profession undergoing considerable stress and change. We have experienced a restructuring of institutions and industries as well as a rethinking of ideas and perceptions.

Like a blank canvas, the coming year holds promise and possibilities limited only by our own preconceptions. The opportunities we make for ourselves will be constrained only by the limitations of our own creativity and imagination.

While some of the struggles of 1991 will continue to confront our profession and our society, 1992 offers a new threshold from which to spring. Our profession is a "leading indicator" in our society's largest industry. As we were the first to experience the economic slowdown, we will be the first to recover from it. The first signs of recovery are already appearing. We have reason to be optimistic.

Our recovery will not be without cost. Many of our fellow professionals are paying, or have paid, the price imposed upon us by virtue of our participation in an economy which is influenced by issues beyond our control. Our collective effort to enhance and improve our profession is the most effective means of serving our own.

Our collective effort will proceed along many different avenues:

- We must continue to look at ourselves and our profession, to identify and enhance the things we do well, and to acknowledge and improve the things we do less well.
- We must continue to educate those around us of the value of our services, and why we are the appropriate ones to provide them.
- We must continue to evaluate our education, from "cradle to grave," to assure that it is both relevant and credible.
- We must continue to influence government policy on local, state and national levels to ensure it affects responsible change.

As architects, we are uniquely situated to reach beyond the confines of our practices to offer leadership to the world around us. We are trained to analyze, evaluate, test and then to direct responsible change in our work, our lives and our society. This gift of leadership transcends our practices and should be shared with all with whom we come into contact.

AIA North Carolina, its programs, activities, committees, staff, officers and directors will do its part in offering leadership to address the challenges and seize the opportunities. The key to our collective success, however, will be found in the mind, talents, creativity and resolve which each of us, individually, contributes to the effort.

North Carolina Board of Architecture

The North Carolina Board of Architecture, established by the General Assembly in 1915, is responsible for enforcement of the laws and regulations governing the practice of architecture in the state. A major task is to determine the qualifications of applicants who seek to take the registration examination which is registered nationally.

The Board is comprised of seven members appointed by the governor, five of whom are licensed architects appointed for five-year terms. Two of the members of the Board are not licensed architects and represent the interests of the public at large. The public members serve at the pleasure of the governor.

North Carolina requires registered architects to hold a degree in architecture from a college or university where the degree program has been approved by the Board, or professional education equivalents outlined

"It shall be unlawful for any individual, firm or corporation to practice or offer to practice architecture in this state....unless such person holds a current individual or corporate certificate of admission to practice architecture."

—Chapter 83A,
North Carolina General Statutes

Architects are licensed in North Carolina for the express purpose of safeguarding life, health and property. By virtue of their education, professional training and passage of the Architectural Registration Examinaand defined in the Board's Table of Equivalents for Education and Experience. Beginning July 1, 1991, the professional education qualification shall be a National Architectural Accrediting Board (NAAB) accredited professional degree in architecture.

Officers and board members are: Michael R. Tye, AIA, president, High Point; W. Calvin Howell, AIA, vice president, Southern Pines; Barbara E. Armstrong, public member, secretary-treasurer, Fayetteville; Alan T. Baldwin, AIA, member, Charlotte; Walter L. Bost, AIA, member, Kannapolis; Kenneth W. North Carolina Architectural Foundation

Established in 1949, the North Carolina Architectural Foundation promotes and sponsors architectural programs and education. The mission of NCAF is to actively encourage and support quality in the field of architecture and to educate the public about architecture.

The Foundation awards the Kamphoefner Prize of $10,000 to an architect in North Carolina who exhibits excellence in the Modern Movement of architecture. The Prize is funded through an endowment bequeathed by Henry and Mabel Kamphoefner.

During its 42-year history, the Foundation's mission has evolved to adapt to various needs. Originally created to provide financial support for the then-new N.C. State School of Design, NCAF later relinquished that responsibility to the School of Design Foundation. Following the formation of the UNC Charlotte College of Architecture, NCAF began support-

In 1986, the Foundation's charter was revised to include the support of continuing education. A Traveling Fellowship of $3,000 was initiated in 1988 and was awarded to an architectural student of either N.C. State or UNC Charlotte. The program has since been discontinued due to a lack of student interest.

In recent months, NCAF has embarked on a series of architectural technology seminars to be held around the state on a continuing basis. Interested groups should contact NCAF concerning subject matter and schedule.

National Council of Architectural Registration Boards

The National Council of Architectural Registration Boards was established in 1920 to assist member boards in carrying out their duties, foster the enactment of uniform architectural laws, develop examinations and establish standards for certification requirements in education and training, to perfect its procedures for verifying the qualifications of applicants and determining their eligibility for certification and establish and maintain reciprocal registration between states having registration laws.

The NCARB is a non-profit corporation with all legally constituted boards of architecture in the United States as members.

To be eligible for NCARB certification, architects must submit satisfactory evidence that they comply with the standard for education, training, examination and character and have been registered by a member board.

The NCARB will, upon request of an individual architect, secure, authenticate, and record factual data of the applicant's education, training, practice and character. This record will be forwarded to any state board upon request of the applicant.

Certification shall be given an applicant holding a council record verifying that the applicant has complied with the council's standards of education, training, practice and character; and that the applicant has passed an examination conforming to the council's standards of content, extent and length of time.

Certification by the NCARB is recommendation to all registration authorities that registration be granted to the holder without further examination. Most board members accept NCARB certification as conclusive evidence of an architect's eligibility of registration. It is, however, not a national registration.

Complete information on compiling a council record and obtaining council certification can be obtained from:

AIA Political Action Committee

Since its formation in 1986, the AIA North Carolina Political Action Committee (NCAIA-PAC) has become increasingly active and successful in the political arena.

Established initially to assist candidates for the North Carolina General Assembly and Council of State, the NCAIA-PAC has reaffirmed that commitment to helping candidates who will be influential in determining the course and future practice of architecture in North Carolina. The national AIA-PAC focuses its attention and resources on candidates for federal offices. This two-pronged PAC approach enables the NCAIA-PAC to use its own resources to concentrate on legislative issues in North Carolina.

The Board of Directors of the NCAIA-PAC represents the diversity of the general membership in terms of firm size, type of practice, geographic distribution and bipartisan political affiliation. Board members are elected to three-year terms.

Candidates who receive contributions from the NCAIA-PAC have scored impressive victories. During the 1990 legislative elections, NCAIA-PAC contributed to 149 of the 170 successful candidates. This success rate places the NCAIA-PAC among the top PACs in North Carolina.

NCAIA-PAC assists the architects of this state in securing a legislative forum and access on issues facing the profession. Those issues include energy conservation, title registration of interior designers, frivolous litigation and future economic development.

Architectural Education

Three universities in North Carolina offer programs leading to degrees for architects or engineers. Here are summaries of the programs at the three universities, compiled from material submitted to AIA North Carolina by the deans of the schools.

NORTH CAROLINA STATE UNIVERSITY

The Department of Architecture at N.C. State University in Raleigh was established in 1948 as one of two original academic components in the School of Design.

Under the guidance of founding Dean Henry L. Kamphoefner, the School of Design experienced a long period of development. Designers and theorists such as Buckminster Fuller, Matthew Nowicki, Lewis Mumford, Eduardo Catalano and others joined the faculty in the school's early years and helped build its reputation for innovation and experimentation.

Those qualities have continued to provide the focus of academic concern as the architecture department has enlarged its mission and curricular options over the past 40 years. In the late 1960s the Department initiated a graduate program. N.C. State also offers a four-year BEDA program and the professional B. ARCH degree.

The Department of Architecture offers three degree programs:
Bachelor of Environmental Design in Architecture (BEDA)

A four-year pre-professional curriculum that serves as the foundation for the two advanced programs. The curriculum includes a balance of general studies (English, mathematics, science and humanities), design studio courses and architectural support courses (history, technology, methods and theory).

Bachelor of Architecture (B. ARCH)

A one-year professional curriculum that builds on the four-year BEDA program.

Master of Architecture (M. ARCH)

A two-year professional curriculum that follows a four-year pre-professional program in architecture. Additionally, applicants with the B. ARCH degree are accepted for an intensive second professional program, and applicants with degrees in non-architectural fields may apply for a four-year graduate program.

Both the B. ARCH and M. ARCH are first professional degrees accredited by the National Architectural Accrediting Board. The most recent accreditation action took place in 1990, extending accreditation of both programs for five years.

The School of Design annually admits 100 to 120 freshmen and transfer students to the common first-year "Design Fundamentals" program. Students begin their architectural studies in the second year. For information about undergraduate admissions standards and procedures, contact the School of Design, N.C. State University, Box 7701, Raleigh, NC 27695-7701 or call (919) 737-2201.

Admissions to the B. ARCH and M. ARCH programs are by application to the Department of Architecture. For additional information, contact the Department of Architecture, School of Design, N.C. State University, Box 7701, Raleigh, NC 27695-7701 or call (919) 737-2204.

There are 600 students in the School of Design, 300 of whom are in the architecture department. Approximately 200 students are in the BEDA program, with the remainder in the advanced programs. In 1990-91, the architecture department awarded 31 BEDA degrees, 22 B. ARCH degrees and 10 M. ARCH degrees.

UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA, CHARLOTTE

The College of Architecture at the University of North Carolina at Charlotte was founded in 1969 and graduated its first students with professional degrees in 1976, the same year Charles C. Hight was named dean.

In July, 1989, the school received its third consecutive full accreditation from the National Architectural Accreditation Board.

The curriculum provides a balance between theory and application, and general and professional education.

The program is structured so a person may develop a double major or minor in another field such as engineering, earth science, business, computer or behavioral science. The curriculum is organized in three sections:

The Foundation Program

During the first two years, students are enrolled in general education and architectural courses. The studios and seminars, which occur each semester, focus upon acquiring the fundamentals of visual development, problem solving, conceptualization and the relationship of architectural form to physical environment.

The Middle Program

In the third year, all students design relatively small-scaled building which are site-specific. In the following two semesters, students enroll in optional "topical studios."

Also, students take four architectural elective courses: exploration of applied visual form, graphic development, architectural reading and theory, urban design, lighting design, solar energy, programming, acoustics, and the study of communities.

Upon completion of the fourth year, the bachelor of arts in architecture degree is awarded.

Admission to the fifth-year program requires completion of a bachelor of arts in architecture, bachelor of environmental design or other related studies.

Advanced Program

In the fifth-year program, students may pursue a design thesis or study a faculty-directed design topic in the spring semester.

Upon completion, the professional Bachelor of Architecture degree is awarded.

The 25-person full-time faculty is augmented by an extensive distinguished visiting architects program. There is also a comprehensive field trip program and international studies options in Italy, Spain, Denmark and Britain.

In addition, the college has a graduate, Master of Science in Architecture, research program that focuses upon theories of architecture and technology and their relationship.

More detailed information may be obtained by writing the College of Architecture, UNC Charlotte, Charlotte, NC 28223.

NORTH CAROLINA A&T STATE UNIVERSITY

The architectural engineering program at North Carolina A&T State University is based on a five-year, 160 semester credit hour curriculum. The program, which leads to a bachelor of science degree in architectural engineering, is accredited by the Engineering Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology.

The objectives of the first two years of the curriculum are to provide the student with a strong foundation of mathematics, chemistry, physics, written and graphic communications and the humanities. The remaining three years of the program emphasize the art and science of building design and construction. Students are required to take several courses in each of the following core areas:

- architectural history
- architectural design and site planning
- building materials and methods of construction
- structural analysis and design (including wood, concrete and steel)
- environmental systems analysis and design (HVAC, plumbing, lighting)
- ethics and professional practice

In addition to the core courses, the student has several electives. In the senior year, each student selects an option block of courses that are designed to provide depth in a specific area. The option block areas include: design and planning, structures and environmental systems. A total of nine credit hours must be taken in one of these areas.

The program embodies three major components. First is the typical classroom lecture. The second component includes hands-on laboratories in the following areas: structures, soils, concrete and computers (including computer-aided drafting and design and project management). The third component is the design studio in which each student is assigned a drafting table with parallel bar and a layout table for the entire semester. The jury system is used to critique most design projects. An interdisciplinary senior design project is a required part of the curriculum. In this course the students form design teams and each team must plan and execute a comprehensive design package including plans, specifications and construction cost estimate. A major goal in this course is to give the students experience in a team design effort similar to that which they might encounter in an architect's office. These program elements combine to provide the student with a well-rounded educational experience.

At the graduate level, the department offers programs that lead to a master of science degree in architectural engineering. The three degree options include: structures, facilities management, and heating, ventilating and air conditioning (HVAC). Thirty-six credit hours are required to complete the masters degree.

There are presently six full-time and two part-time faculty in the department in addition to the chairman. During the past academic year, several faculty members and the chairman were involved in funded research projects. Both undergraduate and graduate students participated in these research projects. Sponsoring agencies included: NASA, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Construction Research Lab, the North Carolina Energy Office and the North Carolina Brick Association.

Architectural Drafting, Technology Programs

Of the 58 institutions in the North Carolina Community College System, 16 offer courses in architectural drafting, architectural technology or both. For more information, contact the schools.

The Kamphoefner Prize

Henry L. Kamphoefner, the late dean and founder of the North Carolina State University School of Design, is honored through the presentation of the prestigious Kamphoefner Prize.

Administered by the North Carolina Architectural Foundation, the $10,000 prize is given to a North Carolina architect for sustained contribution to the Modern Movement in architecture.

Henry Kamphoefner worked closely with NCAF to create the Prize which bears his name. The Prize is funded through an endowment bequeathed by Kamphoefner and his wife, Mabel. Considered the godfather of architectural education in North Carolina, Kamphoefner died in February 1990 at the age of 82.

During his 25-year tenure as founder and dean of the N.C. State School of Design, the School rose to international prominence in architectural and design education.

Born in Des Moines, Iowa, in 1907,

Henry L. Kamphoefner, 1907-1990

Kamphoefner received his B.S. in Architecture from the University of Illinois in 1930 and his M.S. in Architecture from Columbia University in 1931. He opened his own private practice in Iowa in 1932, began to teach at the University of Oklahoma in 1937 and served as the Director of the School of Architecture at Oklahoma from 1942-44. He became dean of the new School of Architecture and Landscape Design at N.C. State College in 1948 and immediately reshaped the School of Design, as he called it, to encompass not only architecture and landscape design but also textile, product and graphic design.

Kamphoefner was recognized for, among other things, the quality and creativity of the faculty he brought to N.C. State and his innovative visiting lecturer program. He retired in 1973 and received the Topaz Award in 1977 from the American Institute of Architects.

AIA North Carolina Design Awards Competition

The 1992 AIA North Carolina Design Awards will be presented on the evening of Aug. 15 during the 1992 AIA North Carolina Summer Design Conference in Charlotte.

Each year, a distinguished panel of independent judges selects the best design work submitted by AIA North Carolina members. Entries are judged for excellence in function, execution of a complex program in a distinguished manner and for creativity, both aesthetic and structural.

The winning entries receive widespread publicity and are scheduled to be featured in the September-October issue of North Carolina Architecture. Those winners are also displayed at various locations around the state as part of a traveling exhibit.

KNOW THE FUTURE OF YOUR TREATED LUMBER. BUY IT DRY.

Treated wood can warp, twist, and shrink unpredictably as it dries out. That's a natural characteristic of wood, but one you don't have to tolerate.

When you choose Lox treatment, you know its future — it's already dry. It is also lighter in weight and can be stained immediately.

I WANT A ROSY FUTURE. SEND ME:

- ☆ Spec sheets and information on dry treated lumber.
- ☆ Packet on other pressure-treated wood products.

*To err is human...
...unless you're a design professional*

We're Professional Liability Consultants. Like you, we take Errors & Omissions coverage very seriously and we have been in business since 1899. That's why we have a separate fulltime Design Professionals Liability Insurance Department that provides coverage for over 175 architectural and engineering firms. But we do a lot more than just provide coverage, such as:

- Help you set policy limits to protect your business and personal assets.
- Tailor the deductible to reduce premiums while limiting risk to a comfortable level.
- Help you implement a loss prevention program to further reduce premiums.
- Conduct loss prevention seminars with your staff.
- Review your contracts to be certain your insurance coverage complies.
- Recognize contract wording that could lead to claims.
- Provide pre-claim dispute resolution.

With today's litigation-prone business climate, your professional liability coverage should be evaluated by a specialist. We'll be happy to do it at no cost or obligation. At the very least you'll have the peace of mind of knowing everything's fine.

CODE OF ETHICS AND PROFESSIONAL CONDUCT

Preamble

Members of The American Institute of Architects are dedicated to the highest standards of professionalism, integrity, and competence. The following principles are guidelines for the conduct of Members in fulfilling those obligations. They apply to all professional activities, wherever they occur. They address responsibilities to the public, which the profession serves and enriches; to the clients and users of architecture and in the building industries, who help to shape the built environment; and to the art and science of architecture, that continuum of knowledge and creation which is the heritage and legacy of the profession.

This Code is arranged in three tiers of statements: Canons, Ethical Standards, and Rules of Conduct. The Canons are broad principles of conduct. The Ethical Standards (E.S.) are more specific goals toward which Members should aspire in professional performance and behavior. The Rules of Conduct (R.) are mandatory, the violation of which is grounds for disciplinary action by the Institute. The Rules of Conduct, in some instances, implement more than one Canon or Ethical Standard.

Commentary is provided for some of the Rules of Conduct. That commentary is meant to clarify or elaborate the intent of the rule. The commentary is not part of the Code. Enforcement will turn on application of the Rules of Conduct alone; but, the commentary will assist those seeking to conform their conduct to the Code and those charged with its enforcement.

Statement in Compliance With the 1990 Consent Decree: The following practices are not, in themselves, unethical, unprofessional, or contrary to any policy of The American Institute of Architects or any of its components: (1) submitting, at anytime, competitive bids or price quotations, including, in circumstances where price is the sole or principal consideration in the selection of an architect; (2) providing discounts; or (3) providing free services. Individual architects or architecture firms, acting alone and not on behalf of the Institute or any of its components, are free to decide for themselves whether or not to engage in any of these practices. The Consent Decree permits the Institute, its components, or Members to advocate legislative or other government policies or actions relating to these practices. Finally, architects should continue to consult with state laws or regulations governing the practice of architecture.

CANON I GENERAL OBLIGATIONS

MEMBERS SHOULD MAINTAIN AND ADVANCE THEIR KNOWLEDGE OF THE ART AND SCIENCE OF ARCHITECTURE, RESPECT THE BODY OF ARCHITECTURAL ACCOMPLISHMENT, AND CONTRIBUTE TO ITS GROWTH. LEARNED AND UNCOMPROMISED PROFESSIONAL JUDGMENT SHOULD TAKE PRECEDENCE OVER ANY OTHER MOTIVE IN THE PURSUIT OF THE ART AND SCIENCE OF ARCHITECTURE.

E.S. 1.1 Knowledge and Skill: Members should strive to improve their professional knowledge and skill.

R. 1.101 In practicing architecture, Members shall demonstrate a consistent pattern of reasonable care and competence, and shall apply the technical knowledge and skill which is ordinarily applied by architects of good standing practicing in the same locality.

Commentary: By requiring a "consistent pattern" of adherence to the common law standard of competence, this rule allows for discipline of a Member who more than infrequently does not achieve that standard. Isolated instances of minor lapses would not provide the basis for discipline.*

R. 1.102 Members shall not undertake to provide professional services if their competence is substantially impaired by physical or mental disabilities.

E.S. 1.2 Standards of Excellence: Members should continually seek to raise the standards of aesthetic excellence, architectural education, research, training and practice.

E.S. 1.3 Public Understanding: Members should strive to improve public appreciation and understanding of architecture and the functions and responsibilities of architects.

E.S. 1.4 Allied Arts & Industries: Members should promote allied arts and contribute to the knowledge and capability of the building industries as a whole.

CANON II

OBLIGATIONS TO THE PUBLIC

MEMBERS SHOULD EMBRACE THE SPIRIT AND LETTER OF THE LAW GOVERNING THEIR PROFESSIONAL AFFAIRS AND SHOULD THOUGHTFULLY CONSIDER THE SOCIAL AND ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT OF THEIR PROFESSIONAL ACTIVITIES.'

E.S. 2.1 Conduct: Members should uphold the law in the conduct of their professional activities.

R. 2.101 Members shall not, in the conduct of their professional practice, knowingly violate the law.

Commentary: The violation of any law, local, state or federal, occurring in the conduct of a Member's professional practice, is made the basis for discipline by this rule. Allegations of violations of this rule must be based on an independent finding of a violation of the law by a court of competent jurisdiction or an administrative or regulatory body.

R. 2.102 Members shall neither offer nor make any payment or gift to a local, state or federal official with the intent of influencing the official's judgment in connection with an existing or prospective project in which the Members are interested.

Commentary: This rule does not prohibit campaign contributions made in conformity with applicable federal and state campaign financing laws.

R. 2.103 Members serving in a public capacity shall not accept payments or gifts which are intended to influence their judgment.

R. 2.104 Members shall not engage in conduct involving fraud or wanton disregard of the rights of others.

Commentary: Conduct which brings into serious question a Member's qualification to assume the fiduciary duties of an architect is the basis for discipline even if that conduct did not occur in the course of practice. When an alleged violation of this rule is based on a violation of a law, then its proof must be based on an independent finding of a violation of the law by a court of competent jurisdiction or an administrative or regulatory body.

R. 2.105 If, in the course of their work on a project, the Members become aware of a decision taken by their employer or client, against the Members' advice, which violates any law or regulation and which will, in the Members' judgment, materially affect adversely the safety to the public of the finished project, the Members shall:

- (a) refuse to consent to the decision, and
- (b) report the decision to the local building inspector or other public official charged with the enforcement of the applicable laws and regulations, unless the Members are able to cause the matter to be satisfactorily resolved by other means.

Commentary: This rule extends only to violations of the building laws which threaten the public safety. E.S. 2.1 calls on an architect to oppose technical violations of the law which are not threatening to safety, in which case, discipline would not be imposed in the event that opposition is not successful. The obligation under this rule applies only to the safety of the finished project, an obligation coextensive with the usual undertaking of an architect.

R. 2.106 Members shall not counsel or assist a client in conduct that the architect knows, or reasonably should know, is fraudulent or illegal.

Commentary: This rule extends only to matters which architects know are illegal, but also to matters which an architect of reasonable competence and prudence "should know" are illegal or fraudulent.

ES. 2.2 Natural and Cultural Heritage:

Members should respect and help conserve their natural and cultural heritage while striving to improve the environment and the quality of life within it.

E.S. 2.3 Civic Responsibility: Members should be involved in civic activities, as citizens and professionals, and promote public awareness of architectural issues.

R. 2.301 Members making public statements on architectural issues shall disclose when they are being compensated for making such statements or when they have an economic interest in the issue.

E.S. 2.4 Public Interest Services: Members should render public interest professional services and encourage their employees to render such services.

E.S. 2.5 Human Rights: Members should uphold human rights in all their professional endeavors.

R. 2.501 Members shall not discriminate in their professional activities on the basis of race, religion, gender, national origin, age, disability or sexual orientation.

Commentary: This rule applies to all professional activities of the Member, including but not limited to, dealings with clients, colleagues and employees. It is stated with such breadth here so as to avoid repetition under the other canons. No ethical standard shall be construed as condoning inappropriate behavior or establishing special privileges for any group or member of a group.

CANON III

OBLIGATIONS TO THE CLIENT

MEMBERS SHOULD SERVE THEIR CLIENTS COMPETENTLY AND IN A PROFESSIONAL MANNER, AND SHOULD EXERCISE UNPREJUDICED AND UNBIASED JUDGMENT

WHEN PERFORMING ALL PROFESSIONAL SERVICES.

E.S. 3.1 Competence: Members should serve their clients in a timely and competent manner.

R. 3.101 In performing professional services, Members shall take into account applicable laws and regulations. Members may rely on the advice of other qualified persons as to the intent and meaning of such regulations.

R. 3.102 Members shall undertake to perform professional services only when they, together with those whom they may engage as consultants, are qualified by education, training, or experience in the specific technical areas involved.

Commentary: This rule is meant to ensure that Members not undertake projects which are beyond their professional capacity. Members venturing into areas which require expertise they do not possess may obtain that expertise by additional education, training or through the retention of consultants with the necessary expertise.

R. 3.103 Members shall not materially alter the scope or objectives of a project without the client's consent.

E.S. 3.2 Conflict of Interest: Members should disclose to clients, owners, or contractors, significant circumstances known to the Member that could be construed as creating a conflict of interest and should ensure that such conflict does not compromise legitimate interests of such persons or interfere with the Member's duty to render impartial judgment of contract performance by others.

R. 3.201 Members shall not accept compensation for their services from more than one party on a project unless the circumstances are fully disclosed and agreed to by all interested parties.

R. 3.202 If Members have any business association, direct or indirect financial interest, or other interest which could be substantial enough to influence their judgment in connection with their performance of professional services, the Members shall fully disclose to their clients or employers the nature of the business association, financial interest, or other interest, and if the clients or employers object to such association, financial interest, or other interest, the Members will either terminate such association or interest or give up the commission or employment.

Commentary: These rules are intended to embrace the full range of situations which may present a Member with a conflict between his interests and those of his client or employer. In some situations, a conflict is easily discerned, as when the architect owns property adjacent to property upon which he has been asked to design a structure and is faced with design options which would affect the value of his property. Other instances are not so clear, and that is more frequently the case as new systems and procedures of the construction process, such as design-build, come into the market. In every case, the architect must take adequate steps to ensure that the client is aware of any substantial interest which the architect has which might run counter to the interests of the client.

- R. 3.203 When acting by agreement of the parties as the independent interpreter of building contract documents and the judge of contract performance, Members shall render decisions impartially, favoring neither party to the contract.

Commentary: This rule applies when the Member, though paid by the owner and owing the owner loyalty, is nonetheless required to act with impartiality in fulfilling the architect's professional responsibilities.

E.S. 3.3 Candor and Truthfulness: Members should be candid and truthful in their professional communications.

- R. 3.301 Members shall not intentionally or recklessly mislead existing or prospective clients about the results that can be achieved through the use of the Members' services, nor shall the Members state that they can achieve results by means that violate applicable law or this Code.

Commentary: This rule is meant to preclude dishonest, reckless or illegal representations by a Member either in the course of soliciting a client or during performance. For example, it would cover the conduct of an architect who provides conceptual drawings based on an inadequate site examination or without regard for zoning laws, which lead a prospective client to believe that a design could be achieved when, in fact, it could not.

E.S. 3.4 Confidentiality: Members should respect the confidentiality of sensitive information obtained in the course of their professional activities.

- R. 3.401 Members shall not reveal information obtained in the course of their professional activities which they have been asked to maintain in confidence, or which the reasonably prudent architect would recognize as likely, if disclosed, to affect the interests of another adversely. However, under the following exceptional circumstances, Members may reveal such information to the extent the Members reasonably believe necessary:

- (a) To stop an act which creates an appreciable risk of significant harm to the public health or safety or property of others and which the Members are unable to prevent in any other manner; or
- (b) To establish claims or defenses on behalf of the Members; or
- (c) To comply with applicable law or with this Code.

Commentary: This rule embodies generally accepted standards of client confidentiality, recognizing that under certain circumstances that confidentiality must yield to other interests. Because the law does not recognize an architect-client privilege, the rule permits an architect to reveal a confidence when necessary to comply with a subpoena or other legal process.

CANON IV OBLIGATIONS TO THE PROFESSION

MEMBERS SHOULD UPHOLD THE INTEGRITY AND DIGNITY OF THE PROFESSION.

E.S. 4.1 Honesty and Fairness: Members should pursue their professional activities with honesty and fairness.

- R. 4.101 Members shall comply with the registration laws and regulations governing their professional practice.
- R. 4.102 Members shall not knowingly make false statements or knowingly fail to disclose a material fact requested in connection with their application for registration or their application for AIA membership.
- R. 4.103 Members shall not assist the application for registration or AIA membership of a person known by the Members to be unqualified with respect to education, training, experience, or character.
- R. 4.104 Members having substantial information which leads to a reasonable belief that another Member has committed a violation of this Code which raises a serious question as to that Member's honesty, trustworthiness, or fitness as a Member, shall report such information to the body charged with enforcing this Code.

Commentary: Often, only an architect can recognize that the behavior of another architect poses a serious question as to that other's professional integrity. In those circumstances, the duty to the professional's calling requires that the matter be brought to the attention of the proper authorities. In most jurisdictions, such reporting, an implementation of professional standards, is protected from a libel or slander action if the report was made in good faith. If in doubt, a Member should seek counsel before reporting on another under this rule.

- R. 4.105 Members shall not sign or seal drawings, specifications, reports or other professional work for which they do not have direct professional knowledge or direct supervisory control; however, in the case of those portions of such professional work prepared by the Members' registered consultants, the Members may sign or seal said portions of the professional work if the Members have reviewed such portions, have coordinated their preparation, or intend to be responsible for their adequacy.

Commentary: The essence of this rule is that the sign or seal of a Member should not be affixed to any professional work unless the Member intends to accept professional responsibility for its adequacy. The requirements that the Member have professional knowledge or supervisory control, or have reviewed or coordinated the consultant's work is evidence of the intent to assume professional responsibility.

- R. 4.106 Members speaking in their capacity as architects shall not knowingly make false statements of material fact.
- R. 4.107 Members shall accurately represent their qualifications and the scope and nature of their responsibilities in connection with work for which they are claiming credit.

Commentary: This rule is meant to prevent Members from claiming credit for work which they did not do, misleading others, and denying other participants in a project their proper share of credit.

- R. 4.108 Members shall neither copy nor reproduce the copyrighted works of other architects or design professionals.

Commentary: The copyright laws of the United States shall be used as guidelines for interpretation and enforcement of this Rule.

E.S. 4.2 Dignity and Integrity: Members should strive, through their actions, to promote the dignity and integrity of the profession, and to ensure that their representatives and employees conform their conduct to this Code.

- R. 4.201 Members shall not make misleading, deceptive, or false statements or claims about their professional qualifications, experience, or performance.

R. 4.202 Members shall make reasonable efforts to ensure that those over whom they have supervisory authority conform their conduct to this Code.

Commentary: What constitutes “reasonable efforts” under this rule is a common sense matter. As it makes sense to ensure that those over whom the architect exercises supervision be made generally aware of the Code, it can also make sense to bring a particular provisions to the attention of a particular employee when a situation is present which might give rise to violation.

OBLIGATIONS TO COLLEAGUES

MEMBERS SHOULD RESPECT THE RIGHTS AND ACKNOWLEDGE THE PROFESSIONAL ASPIRATIONS AND CONTRIBUTIONS OF THEIR COLLEAGUES.

E.S. 5.1 Professional Environment: Members should provide their associates and employees with a suitable working environment, compensate them fairly, and facilitate their professional development.

E.S. 5.2 Professional Recognition: Members should build their professional reputation on the merits of their own service and performance and should recognize and give credit to others for the professional work they have performed.

R. 5.201 Members shall recognize and respect the professional contributions of their employees, employers, and business associates.

R. 5.202 Members leaving an employer’s service shall not, without the permission of the employer, take designs, drawings, data, reports, notes, or other materials relating to work performed in the employer’s service by the Member.

R. 5.203 A Member shall not unreasonably withhold permission from departing employees to take copies of designs, drawings, data, reports, notes, or other materials relating to work performed by the employees in the Member’s service which are not confidential.

Commentary: A Member may impose reasonable conditions, such as the payment of copying costs, on the right of departing employees to take copies of work performed while in the Member’s service.

RULES OF ENACTMENT, APPLICATION, ENFORCEMENT, AND AMENDMENT

ARTICLE I ENACTMENT

The Canons of Ethics, Ethical Standards, and Rules of Conduct, referred to as the “Code of Ethics and Professional Conduct,” shall be adopted by the convention of the Institute, and shall take effect at such time as the resolution of adoption sets.

- (2) Formal charges will be filed directly with the National Judicial Council by Members, components, or anyone directly aggrieved by the conduct of the Members.

- (3) The National Judicial Council shall defer action on a charge to allow a component, which desires, an opportunity to obtain an informal settlement.
- (4) Penalties which may be imposed by the National Judicial Council are:
 - (a) Admonition
 - (b) Censure
 - (c) Suspension of membership for a period of time
 - (d) Termination of membership
- (5) An appellate process be established.
- (6) All proceedings will be confidential, as shall the imposition of an admonishment; however, all other penalties shall be made public.

ARTICLE IV AMENDMENT

Timeless roof design, for ageless architecture.

You've been looking for (and asking for) a roof that's as distinctive as your designs. And it's finally here with CertainTeed's new Grand Manor Shingle.^{TM*}

Grand Manor opens up a whole new world of design possibilities. It's more than just another new roof. It's a whole new kind of asphalt roof. An elegant, awe-inspiring roof with an unequalled, luxurious, natural appearance. Which is why it's a natural for architects who want their designs to make a real statement.

Grand Manor looks different because it's made different.

No other shingle in the world is made like Grand Manor. It's built on two full size, one piece base shingles. When applied, Grand Manor becomes a remarkable five layer shingle roof!

Triple stepped laminations create deep surrounds for each 8" tab. The visual effect wedes timeless design elements with state-of-the-art engineering.

Random shadow lines and extra deep tabs, together with the massive Shingle[®] construction, create a dimensional appearance and an authentic, natural look which no other shingle can duplicate. A look that's ideal for those special custom homes as well as for your more prestigious hotels, restaurants and other up-scale light commercial projects.

Our warranty has your buildings covered.

If a manufacturing defect exists in any shingle, it will usually show up in the first few years. So while your Grand Manor roof carries a 30-year limited warranty, we've added extraordinary security to the first 10 years following application with SureStartTM 10 protection. SureStart10 guarantees 100% replacement cost of labor and materials (including roof tear off and disposal costs) if you have a manufacturing defect during the first 10 years. Plus, the warranty is transferable during the SureStart period.

Start turning your buildings into something really grand. And start watching your business go through the roof. For more information and a brochure, call Steve Hamilton at 919-828-7471, Ext. 287.
