The Only Outdoor Lighting That Can Make Interiors Look Better.

When you specify CP&L SafeShine™ lighting, there are no upfront capital costs. Which means you can put that money into other areas of your project. Which means your bid has more bang for the buck. Which means the chances of actually winning the project go up. And we don't need to tell you what that means to you. Your clients come out ahead. Our warranty takes care of all maintenance and repairs.

Call 1-800-664-7867 about SafeShine leased lighting and a selection that goes from functional to decorative. Or go to our web site, www.cplc.com/2buslite.htm for a free consultation. The benefits are far reaching.

The Investment Of An Architect

A user's guide to architectural services

No matter what type of structure you are planning to build, you are embarking on a journey that will take you through a maze of design options, building codes, zoning laws and contractors.

You may be building a private residence, office complex, religious center or laboratory. Your construction plans may include an industrial plant or public facility such as a school or hospital. Or you may be interested in a restoration project.

To achieve the best possible building design for your budget and time frame, it is advisable to hire an architect.

The Architect Designs for Quality

The architect is naturally a generalist. In an age of specialization, the architect must consistently see the "big picture" while at the same time have a grasp on the smallest detail. An architect considers all building requirements — technological, artistic, functional and humanistic. Through the "process of design," the architect generates a total environment which makes dynamic use of space and satisfies functional needs.

Through formal training and experience, architects are equipped to solve problems. With their broad knowledge of design and construction, architects can show you alternatives and options you might never think of on your own.

What an Architect Contributes to the Design

Think of an architect's services as a wise investment, not an added cost to your building project. The following examples of architectural services explain why.

- A well-conceived project can be built more efficiently and economically. Architects plan the project with you. Working as a team, you and your architect can create a plan that will work best for your personal situation and requirements. As your ideas evolve, changes can be made to the plan much less expensively than later on when the building construction is underway. Detailed plans also help contractors accurately price and build your project.
- Energy-efficient buildings can save you money on fuel bills. An architect can design a building that maximizes heating from the sun and lets in natural light, thus reducing heating, cooling and fuel bills.
- Architects can work with your budget and help you select materials and contractors at fair prices. Using the drawings and specifications an architect provides, you can accurately receive construction bids which are based solely on your requirements. Furthermore, an architect can assemble and supervise the contracting team for you.

- Architects can help you choose cost effective materials and finishes. By selecting materials that are both durable and attractive, you will save money you could have spent on frequent maintenance and replacement costs. For example, architects keep abreast of advances in the roofing, masonry, flooring and painting industries, and they are familiar with the wide range of materials available.
- A building with a good design pays off. A well-designed house has much higher resale value. A well-designed store attracts more customers, and a well-designed workplace appeals to good employees and increases productivity.
- The architect can help reduce the stress you may face during the building process. Building is a long process that can be disorderly and disruptive. Architects work to reduce the disruption and look for ways to make the process run more smoothly.
- If your project requires the services of an engineer or other design services, such as a landscape architect, the architect can coordinate this team of experts for you. Architects can sort through complex building codes and find qualified allied design professionals for you, based on your project requirements. As part of your contractual agreement, architects can visit the construction site to verify the project is being built according to specifications.

The Selection Process

Architectural firms come in a variety of sizes and types. Architectural firms, typically, are small businesses. Two of every three North Carolina firms have four or fewer employees. Some larger firms may include in-house engineering, landscape architecture, planning, urban design and interior design services. As a result, each architectural firm brings a different combination of skills, expertise, interests and values to a project.

When selecting an architect you will inevitably face many new situations that will provoke numerous questions. The following are some of the more common inquiries.

- When should I bring an architect into the picture? The earlier the better. Architects can help you define your project. They can do site analyses and secure planning and zoning approvals.
- How do I find potentially suitable firms to contact? It is helpful to contact other owners who have built similar facilities to what you are planning to build. Ask them whom they interviewed and hired. Look at buildings you admire and appreciate, then find out who the designers were. Using the AIA North Carolina Directory, you can review the types of design services offered and past project lists.

■ Should I look at more than one firm? The option is yours. It makes sense to stay with an architect you have worked with in the past, and it is helpful to look at architects that have been recommended to you. If you don't already have a relationship with an architect you know and trust, it is best to interview between three to five firms. This will help you recognize the range of possibilities without being confused by a bombardment of options.

■ What information should I request from firms I may potentially hire? Ask prospective firms to show you examples of their work that have similar features to your project. Look for similarities in size and type, and review projects that have addressed similar issues such as function. Ask them to indicate how they will approach your project and who will work on it. Get a list of references you can contact.

■ What should be covered in the interview? In the interview, state what you want and need. The firm will present its services and experience. If the firm hasn't had the opportunity to discuss the project with you, don't expect a detailed design suggestion right then. During the interview, be frank. Tell the architect what you know and expect; however, be sure to ask for an explanation of anything you don't understand.

■ On what should I base my decision? Rely on your instincts; personal confidence in the architect is first priority. Look for a balance between technical competence, professional service and design ability. After you determine which firm is most qualified, negotiate a fair and equitable fee. If an agreement can't be reached, negotiate a fee with the next most qualified firm.

■ What do I do when I have selected an architect? Put in writing your terms of agreement regarding the scope of work, services, schedule, construction budget and architect's compensation. AIA North Carolina sells a variety of standard contract forms which are used industry-wide. For a list of the contract documents available, call (919) 833-6656.

As construction activity continues to increase, the architect naturally maintains a unique set of skills that enables him or her to solve problems and assist clients in realizing their objectives. Architects can transform undefined concepts into a design, through plans and specifications, and offer many intangibles including technical knowledge and aesthetic judgment.

An architect can guide your way through your construction journey and direct you toward solutions you may have never considered. Through your partnership with your architect, you will receive a building project that meets your needs, expresses your individuality and provides enjoyment for everyone who uses it.

Portions of this overview were adapted from two lengthier publications published by the American Institute of Architects, "A Beginner's Guide to Architectural Services" and "You and Your Architect." Copies of these publications may be ordered by calling AIA North Carolina at (919) 833-6656.

20 Questions to Ask Your Architect

1. What does the architect see as important issues or considerations in your project? What are the challenges of the project?
2. How will the architect approach your project?
3. How will the architect gather information about your needs, goals, etc.?
4. How will the architect establish priorities and make decisions?
5. Who from the architecture firm will you be dealing with directly? Is that the same person who will be designing the project? If not, who will be designing the project?
6. How interested is the architect in this project?
7. How busy is the architect?
8. What sets the architect apart from the rest?
9. How does the architect establish fees?
10. What should the architect expect the fee to be for this project?
11. What are the steps in the design process?
12. How does the architect organize the process?
13. What does the architect expect you to provide?
14. What is the architect's design philosophy?
15. What is the architect's experience and track record with cost estimating?
16. What will the architect show you along the way to explain the project? Will you see models, drawings, or sketches?
17. If the scope of the project changes later in the project, will there be additional fees? How will these fees be justified?
18. What services does the architect provide during construction?
19. How disruptive will construction be? How long does the architect expect it to take to complete your project?
20. Do you have a list of past clients that your firm has worked with?

President's Message

A message from William
G. Monroe, III, AIA, the
AIA North Carolina
President

AIA North Carolina president William G. Monroe, III, AIA, with daughter Kathryn, wife Anna and son William IV.

Centuries ago, an architect was the consummate designer, problem solver and craftsman. Every cathedral built, every stone carved, every tapestry woven and every building decision fell under the architect's scrutiny. The architect was considered the master builder. The mystique of creating a design and having it built continues today, but the public may not fully understand the role of the architect today.

The architect now shares his or her historical role with many other professionals including contractors, landscape architects, engineers, interior designers, and graphic designers. The architect's educational process allows him or her to understand all of these other professional roles and, in fact, the architect has the most rigorous educational process of all these professionals. An architect must receive a professional degree from an accredited college of architecture, which takes five to six years. An architect must then complete a monitored three-year internship before being allowed to sit for the architectural exam. The architect must then pass a multi-day exam that includes not only the design of buildings, but construction techniques, sizing of engineering components, contract administration, business practices, cost estimating, programming and other issues.

If an architect passes this exam, he or she is then legally charged with protecting the health, safety and welfare of the public. Unless a person passes all of these requirements, he or she cannot utilize the title of architect. The architect can then join the American Institute of Architects which adheres to a code of ethics as a measure of the highest standards of professionalism.

As we look forward to the new millennium, the role of the architect continues to evolve and change. The economic downturns of the early '70s and the late 1980s forced an upheaval in our profession. We now see a new breed of architects that either practice in smaller firms and specialize in a specific project type such as jails, hospitals, residences, or office buildings or, at the other end of the spectrum, become members of extremely large multinational and international organizations. We also see many of our members participating in emerging roles such as corporate architects, code officials and developers.

The American Institute of Architects is a professional association that provides direction for all architects similar to the American Bar Association or the American Medical Association. Our Mission Statement in North Carolina is to serve our members by promoting and enhancing the profession of architecture. A long range master plan was established in 1995 to provide a direction for AIA North Carolina over the next several years. This year, we have reorganized our committee structure and reporting system to better serve all of our members. Each of the four categories we have established for our framework is overviewed by both an officer and a director in charge. These areas are Government Affairs, Administrative Affairs, Continuing Education, and Communications. Within each of these groupings are between 5 and 10 committees that all support the overall goals and objectives for each group. These committees can work together or independently to meet the needs of our members. All these efforts are coordinated by our staff under the leadership of Tim Kent, our Executive Vice President.

In 1997, we will become more pro-active as an organization to share with the public the importance of the role of the architect in our society. We will also take a high level of initiative to make certain that our members become published and their achievements become noticed in the media. We would like to see numerous positive articles concerning architects. We hope to have the member architects become more involved in not only the American Institute of Architects, but in the community at large by serving on various boards and commissions within their cities.

We have completed our reorganization, found many qualified members to serve as committee chairpersons, and completed our Planning Retreat to set the goals and objectives for 1997 that are compatible with the long range plan initiated in 1995. I thank you for this opportunity to serve the architectural profession and I look forward to working with you.

American Institute of Architects

The North Carolina Chapter of the American Institute of Architects is the recognized advocate for the architectural profession in this state.

With a membership of 1,650, AIA North Carolina includes nearly 80 percent of the state's architects. Membership has increased dramatically, from 215 in 1955 and 695 in 1975.

The advantage in membership lies in the breadth of service provided. AIA North Carolina publishes North Carolina Architecture, a magazine distributed to the state's architects, engineers, contractors, elected officials, civic leaders and decision-makers. AIA North Carolina also publishes a newsletter for its members, AIA North Carolina Architext.

The Chapter staff, headquartered in Raleigh, organizes a number of meetings, highlighted by the AIA North Carolina Summer Design Conference, scheduled for July 24-27 at the Hilton Resort, Hilton Head Island, S.C. Continuing education is now a requirement of AIA membership. Seminars, lectures and workshops are provided through a variety of sources. Members may also receive credit through a program of self-directed study.

AIA North Carolina has become increasingly involved in public policy development and legislation. AIA North Carolina opinions and positions are actively sought by lawmakers when dealing with legislation affecting architecture, building codes, construction and planning.

AIA North Carolina was honored in January 1993 for having the best overall government affairs program of any AIA component in America.

AIA North Carolina members work and live in every corner of the state, practicing in firms ranging from one to 200 persons. The membership is divided into geographical sections, located in Asheville, Charlotte, Durham/Chapel Hill, Eastern North Carolina, Piedmont (Greensboro/High Point), Raleigh, Wilmington and Winston-Salem.

AIA North Carolina offers its members an opportunity to participate in a variety of committees dealing with topics such as historic preservation, continuing education, environmentally-sensitive design and government affairs.

The mission of AIA North Carolina is to serve its members by enhancing and promoting the profession of architecture.

History of AIA Tower

AIA Tower Vital Statistics

Built: 1887

Size: 85 feet tall

25 feet in diameter

3-foot-thick walls

Materials: The lower 30 feet are granite while the upper 55 feet are hand-made brick.

Celebrating its 110th anniversary as a landmark for downtown Raleigh, the AIA Tower serves as the headquarters for the North Carolina Chapter of the American Institute of Architects.

An interior renovation project is just the latest change in the face and function of this proud structure which is listed in the National Register of Historic Places and designated for preservation as a Raleigh Historic Site.

The Tower's courtyard offers a welcome respite from city sidewalks with its brick-paved design, shade trees, flowers and benches. Located within one-half block of the State Capitol building, the AIA Tower is a frequent stop for downtown Raleigh visitors who are fascinated by its enormous dimensions and unique design.

The Tower was built in 1887 by the Raleigh Water Works, a private business which had the franchise to supply Raleigh with water. The water source was Walnut Creek, south of Raleigh, from which the water was fed by wooden trough to a mud-bottom pond and then conveyed through metal pipe to the 30-foot high iron tank atop the Tower.

In 1901, the Wake Water Works took over the property and operated the water supply until the property was purchased by the City of Raleigh in 1913. Soon after, the water supply became inadequate and the Tower was abandoned.

In the early 1930's, William Henley Deitrick, FAIA, learned that the Raleigh City Council was considering turning the property over to the WPA for demolition. Deitrick, realizing the value and potential of the property, purchased the Tower from the city.

Deitrick remodeled the front and back buildings to be suitable for architectural quarters. Several generations of Raleigh architects were trained here under Deitrick's tutelage.

On May 27, 1963, Deitrick, a former president of the North Carolina Chapter of The American Institute of Architects, deeded the property to the Chapter in return for private office space until his death in 1974.

AIA North Carolina Awards Program

The 1997 AIA North Carolina Design Awards will be presented the evening of July 26 during a special event at the Hilton Resort, Hilton Head Island, S.C..

Each year, a distinguished panel of independent judges selects the best design work submitted by AIA North Carolina members. Entries are judged for excellence in function, execution of a complex program in a distinguished manner and aesthetic and structural creativity.

The winning entries will receive widespread publicity and be featured in the fall issue of North Carolina Architecture.

Why Do I Support the AIA-PAC?

“The building industry is the most highly regulated industry in the world. I like knowing the interest of the architecture profession is fairly represented to those who make the rules.”

Jim Williams, Director of Design
Little & Associates Architects

“The AIA-PAC is really a communications bridge between architects and the legislators of North Carolina. It helps prevent poorly considered building legislation from becoming law.”

“As a designer, I want regulation affecting the design and construction trade to have a positive impact on building quality – so clients are better served and the public is too.”

AIA North Carolina Leadership

Each year, the membership of the North Carolina Chapter of the American Institute of Architects elects officers and a board of directors to oversee the organization's operations. Here are brief biographies of the officers, directors and other important leaders for AIA North Carolina.

William G. Monroe III, AIA
President

William G. Monroe III, AIA, is president of WGM Design Inc. He has previously served as president and treasurer for the Charlotte Section and as secretary and treasurer for AIA North Carolina. His community activities include appointments to the Historic District Commission of Charlotte and the board of directors of Providence Day School. He is a past board member of the National Association of Industrial and Office Parks for the Charlotte region.

Monroe received his master and bachelor of arts degrees from N.C. State and was the recipient of the AIA School Medal and the Certificate of Merit from the Henry Adams Fund of the American Institute of Architects.

Herbert P. McKim, FAIA
President-Elect

Herbert P. McKim, FAIA, is a principal with BMS Architects in Wilmington. He received his bachelor of architecture degree from N.C. State in 1950.

McKim has previously been a member of the N.C.S.U. Design Foundation Board of Directors, N.C. Board of Architecture and N.C. Code Officials Qualifications Board. He has also served as the past president for the National Council of Architectural Registration Boards and AIA North Carolina's Eastern Section.

James H. Boniface, AIA
Treasurer

James H. Boniface, AIA, is a managing principal of FreemanWhite Architects, Inc., in Charlotte. Boniface received both his bachelor and master of architecture degrees from the University of Virginia. He served on the faculties of two schools of architecture and gained experience with several prominent design firms and as principal of his own firm before joining FreemanWhite in 1986. He has been active in AIA for over 15 years and served as the co-chair of the National Intern Development Program Coordinating Committee. Since joining AIA North Carolina, he has served as chair of the Chapter's Political Action Committee (AIA-PAC) and as director of the Charlotte Section. Boniface has previously chaired the AIA North Carolina Government Affairs Committee.

John K. Farkas, AIA
Secretary

John K. Farkas, AIA, is Vice President of Applegate Architects in New Bern. He received a bachelor of architecture and a bachelor of science in civil engineering from the New Jersey Institute of Technology. Farkas has previously served as secretary, president-elect, and president of the Eastern Section. He also served as a member of both the AIA North Carolina Public Awareness Task Force and Long Range Planning Task Force and was chairman of the Young Architects Forum. He currently serves as chairman of the Greenville Community Appearance Commission.

Paul Davis Boney, AIA
Immediate Past President

Paul Davis Boney, AIA, is vice president of operations in the firm of Boney Architects, with offices in Wilmington, Raleigh and Charlotte. He received a bachelor of environmental design in architecture degree from N.C. State in 1977 and is a graduate of the Young Executive Institute at UNC-Chapel Hill School of Business Administration.

In addition to having served as president of the Wilmington Section, Boney served as the 1991 Summer Design Conference chairman and previously as director, secretary and treasurer of AIA North Carolina. Boney is also a past chairman of the National AIA Committee for Educational Facilities, chairman of the board of directors for the Committee of 100 in Wilmington and was treasurer of the 1992 North Carolina Azalea Festival.

Boney was appointed by Gov. James B. Hunt, Jr., to serve on the Schools Capital Construction Study Commission.

Katherine Nielsen Russ, AIA
Director (1-year term)

Katherine Nielsen Russ, AIA, is a principal in the firm of Boney Architects. Boney Architects was founded in 1922 in Wilmington and has expanded in recent years to include offices in Raleigh and Charlotte. Russ joined the firm in 1988 and was named Director of the Raleigh office in 1992. She graduated Summa Cum Laude from North Carolina State University, School of Design with a Bachelor of Architecture and a Bachelor of Environmental Design.

Russ is a member of AIA's Committee on Architecture for Education and also a member of the Council of Educational Facility Planners International. She has served as a director of the Raleigh Section of AIA and co-chair of AIA North Carolina's Committee on Women and Minorities. She also chaired the 1996 South Atlantic Region AIA Design Awards.

Using Outdated Documents Can Cause Embarrassing and Costly Missteps.

It's dangerous to use outdated AIA documents. As construction practices, trade customs, and responsibilities change, AIA documents are updated to reflect current procedures and clearly specify each person's responsibilities. They are designed to protect you and all the other parties to the contract; that's why they're widely recognized and used throughout the industry. Unauthorized copying of outdated documents is not only a misstep, it's also illegal.

Take steps now to protect your reputation and limits of liability. Order a ready supply of documents from us, your AIA Full Service Documents Distributor. Call us today.

Johnson received his bachelor and law degrees from the University of North Carolina.

South Atlantic Regional Council

The leadership of AIA North Carolina, along with representatives from AIA Georgia and AIA South Carolina, participates in AIA's South Atlantic Regional Council (SARC).

SARC enables the AIA components in the South Atlantic Region to share ideas and also maintain liaison with national activities of the Institute.

South Atlantic Region directors serve rotating three-year terms with representation shared equally among the three states. SARC directors attend all Institute Board meetings and also travel the three-state region as a means of communicating and sharing information with AIA members.

SARC convenes at least three times a year. Every two years, SARC hosts a regional convention. The most recent SARC convention was in October 1996 in Charlotte.

The South Atlantic Region has two representatives who serve on the Institute Board of Directors. In 1997, those individuals are:

James A. Neal, AIA
South Atlantic Region Director

James A. Neal, AIA, is president of Neal-Prince & Partners Architects in Greenville, a 14-person firm that includes seven registered architects. He received a bachelor of architecture degree from Clemson University in 1959. After opening his own practice in 1969, Neal returned to Clemson to serve a two-year term as a visiting faculty member for third year design.

Neal's service to the Institute includes active AIA work at the section level by serving on committees and in all positions up to president. At the state level, he has served on the state AIA board as design commissioner, secretary, vice president and president from 1989 through 1991.

Danie A. Johnson, AIA
South Atlantic Region Director

Danie A. Johnson, AIA, is the principal of Danie A. Johnson, AIA/Architect in Asheville. He received a bachelor of architecture degree from the College of Architecture at Clemson University.

Johnson was president of AIA North Carolina in 1992, previously serving the state chapter as president-elect, treasurer and director. In 1987, he was president of AIA Asheville.

Johnson has served on the Board of Directors of various civic organizations, including the Asheville Area Chamber of Commerce and Leadership Asheville Alumni Association. In 1991, Johnson completed a five-year term on the Asheville Planning and Zoning Commission.

AIA North Carolina Staff

The AIA North Carolina staff is a knowledgeable resource for members and the public, offering general information on a wide variety of subjects.

Timothy D. Kent, CAE
Executive Vice President

Timothy D. Kent joined AIA North Carolina in June 1990 after serving as executive assistant to the Speaker of the North Carolina House of Representatives.

In addition to managing and administering AIA North Carolina, Kent is a registered lobbyist at the North Carolina General Assembly and serves as managing editor for North Carolina Architecture. In December 1993, the AIA North Carolina Board of Directors admitted Kent as an Honorary Affiliate member.

Kent received a bachelor of arts degree in journalism at the University of Southern California in 1976 and worked as a television reporter from 1976-1989. He was the political reporter at WRAL-TV in Raleigh from 1983-89.

Kent is a Certified Association Executive (CAE), a professional designation awarded by the American Society of Association Executives to less than 15 percent of its 22,000 members. CAE designation requires professional experience, continuing education and passage of a day-long exam.

Kent was the 1995-96 elected president of Association Executives of North Carolina (AENC), a 600-member organization dedicated to professionalism in association management.

Beth LeGrande
Administrative Assistant

Beth LeGrande is the newest addition to the AIA North Carolina staff, joining the organization in August 1996. Some of her responsibilities include managing the job bank and resume service, along with assisting persons who call or visit the AIA Tower.

Prior to joining the AIA, LeGrande spent six years as clerk for State Senator Clark Plexico. She also served as clerk for a number of legislative committees, including the Schools Capital Construction Study Commission. LeGrande is a graduate of Peace College in Raleigh.

Local Staff For AIA Charlotte

AIA Charlotte, a Section of the North Carolina Chapter of the American Institute of Architects has local staff to serve the needs of its 500-plus members and the public.

Lynette Dowd Rinker is the executive director of AIA Charlotte. AIA Charlotte members are also, of course, members of AIA North Carolina.

The address for AIA Charlotte is: P.O. Box 561065, Charlotte, NC 28256-1065 and the phone number is: (704) 895-0422.

Jo Ellen Mitchell
Business Manager

Jo Ellen Mitchell joined the AIA North Carolina staff in August 1989. Some of her duties as business manager include managing the financial records, processing new members and maintaining the membership database, serving as staff liaison for the annual design awards program and supervising the staff and personnel records.

For five years prior to working with the AIA, Mitchell held a financial position with the Biblical Recorder, the newsjournal for the Baptist State Convention, headquartered in Raleigh.

Mitchell attended business college and received an accounting certificate in 1970. She has previous experience in the fields of insurance and mortgage banking.

Marynell Gehrke
Director of Special Events

Marynell Gehrke joined the AIA North Carolina staff in January 1995 after working since 1992 with Olson Management Group, an association management company. Prior to joining AIA as a staff member, Gehrke helped coordinate the 1993 AIA North Carolina Summer Design Conference through her position at Olson Management Group.

As director of special events, Gehrke will act as staff liaison for the convention (Summer Design Conference) and continuing education committees and handle all AIA North Carolina meeting and conference planning.

Marynell received a bachelor of science degree from the University of North Carolina in industrial relations in 1984.

North Carolina Board Of Architecture

"It shall be unlawful for any individual, firm or corporation to practice or offer to practice architecture in this state.....unless such person holds a current individual or corporate certificate of admission to practice architecture."

—Chapter 83A,
North Carolina General
Statutes

The North Carolina Board of Architecture, established by the General Assembly in 1915, is responsible for enforcement of the laws and regulations governing the practice of architecture in the state. A major task is to determine the qualifications of applicants who seek to take the registration examination which is registered nationally.

The Board is comprised of seven members appointed by the governor, five of whom are licensed architects appointed for five-year terms. Two of the members of the Board are not licensed architects and represent the interests of the public at large. The public members serve at the pleasure of the governor.

North Carolina requires registered architects to hold a degree in architecture from a college or university where the degree program has been approved by the Board, or professional education equivalents outlined and defined in the Board's Table of Equivalents for Education and Experience. The professional education qualification shall be a National Architectural Accrediting Board (NAAB) accredited professional degree in architecture.

Officers and board members are: Alan T. Baldwin, AIA, president, Charlotte; Kenneth C. Mayer, Jr., AIA, vice president, Greensboro; Kenneth W. Burnette, AIA, Morehead City; Kiki Teague, public Architects are licensed in North Carolina for the express purpose of safeguarding life, health and property. By virtue of their education, professional training and passage of the Architectural Registration Examination, architects are uniquely qualified to perform this vital function.

member, Winston-Salem; Jeffrey A. Huberman, FAIA, secretary, Charlotte; Norma DeCamp Burns, FAIA, treasurer, Raleigh; Vinod Goel, public member, Raleigh.

National Council of Architectural Registration Boards

The National Council of Architectural Registration Boards was established in 1920 to assist member boards in carrying out their duties, foster the enactment of uniform architectural laws, develop examinations and establish standards for certification requirements in education and training, to perfect its procedures for verifying the qualifications of applicants and determining their eligibility for certification and establish and maintain reciprocal registration between states having registration laws.

The NCARB is a non-profit corporation with all legally constituted boards of architecture in the United States as members, including the North Carolina Board of Architecture.

To be eligible for NCARB certification, architects must submit satisfactory evidence that they comply with the standard for education, training, examination and character and have been registered by a member board.

The NCARB will, upon request of an individual architect, secure, authenticate, and record factual data of the applicant's education, training, practice and character.

This record will be forwarded to any state board upon request of the applicant.

Certification shall be given to an applicant holding a council record verifying that the applicant has complied with the council's standards of education, training, practice and character; and that the applicant has passed an examination conforming to the council's standards of content, extent and length of time.

Certification by the NCARB is recommendation to all registration authorities that registration be granted to the holder without further examination. Most board members accept NCARB certification as conclusive evidence of an architect's eligibility of registration. It is, however, not a national registration.

Complete information on compiling a council record and obtaining council certification can be obtained from:

"The New Direction In The World Of Construction"

We're not only the newest addition to the construction industry; . . . we're also the best.

No other project information source in the United States:

- Lists and updates your project information solely over the Internet, thus providing free Internet access to everyone.
- Has planning rooms exceeding 11,000 sq. ft. of wall to wall plans and is open to every skilled builder in the industry whether they are members or not.
- Stores previous work-related history files on 1000s of prime contractors and sub-contractors directly on the Internet. Pre-qualifying is suddenly obsolete.
- Allows builders to view and download basic plan and design specification layouts directly from the Internet.
- Has system integrated software on-line that allows builders to estimate projects and submit bids electronically.

And, NO ONE anywhere, guarantees your plans exposure by opening our database to the entire Southeast, United States; and displaying each of your plans in every major city in GA, NC, SC, TN, VA, and WV. (for starters)

- So, Do you want to save money; time?
- Do you want better bids; quality for your customers?
- Give us your plans, we'll do the rest!

It's what you needed; It's what we did!

North Carolina Architectural Foundation

The NCAF provides scholarships to collegiate students in architecture and administers the Kamphoefner Prize.

The North Carolina Architectural Foundation promotes and sponsors architectural programs and education. The mission of NCAF is to actively encourage and support quality in the field of architecture and to educate the public about architecture.

The Foundation awards the Kamphoefner Prize of $10,000 to an architect in North Carolina who exhibits excellence in the Modern Movement of architecture. The Prize is funded through an endowment bequeathed by Henry and Mabel Kamphoefner.

The Foundation's mission has evolved to adapt to various needs. NCAF now supports both the N.C. State School of Design and UNC-Charlotte College of Architecture through the presentation of scholarships and book awards to worthy students.

The 1997 president of the North Carolina Architectural Foundation is William A. Nichols, Jr., AIA, of Lee Nichols Hepler Architecture in Charlotte

The Kamphoefner Prize

Henry L. Kamphoefner, the late dean and founder of the North Carolina State University School of Design, is honored through the presentation of the prestigious Kamphoefner Prize. Administered by the North Carolina Architectural Foundation, the $10,000 prize is given to a North Carolina architect for sustained contribution to the Modern Movement in architecture. The 1997 Prize will be presented July 26 at Hilton Head Island, S.C.

Henry Kamphoefner worked closely with NCAF to create the Prize. The Prize is funded through an endowment bequeathed by Kamphoefner and his wife, Mabel. Considered the godfather of architectural education in North Carolina, Kamphoefner died in 1990 at the age of 82.

During his 25-year tenure as founder and dean of the N.C. State School of Design, the School rose to international prominence in architectural and design education.

Born in Des Moines, Iowa, in 1907, Kamphoefner received his B.S. in Architecture from the University of Illinois in 1930 and his M.S. in Architecture from Columbia University in 1931. He opened his own private practice in Iowa in 1932, began to teach at the University of Oklahoma in 1937 and served as the Director of the School of Architecture at Oklahoma from 1942-44. He became dean of the new School of Architecture and Landscape Design at N.C. State College in 1948 and immediately reshaped the School of Design, as he called it, to encompass not only architecture and landscape design but also textile, product and graphic design.

Kamphoefner was recognized for, among other things, the quality and creativity of the faculty he brought to N.C. State and his innovative visiting lecturer program. He retired in 1973 and received the Topaz Award in 1977 from the American Institute of Architects.

Maintain dialogue between AIA North Carolina and the N.C. Architectural Foundation on issues of mutual interest and concern.

AIA Political Action Committee

Since its formation in 1986, the AIA North Carolina Political Action Committee (AIA-PAC) has become increasingly active and successful in the political arena.

The AIA-PAC was established to assist the architects of North Carolina in gaining access to state legislators for the purpose of establishing an effective forum on issues facing the profession. Its mission is to work to create an environment in the North Carolina General Assembly and Council of State which is conducive to accomplishing the goals of the architectural profession.

Three specific objectives guide the activities of the AIA-PAC. These are:

- To solicit contributions.
- To make contributions to candidates who will be influential in determining the future course and the practice of architecture in North Carolina.
- To generally educate or inform the membership of AIA North Carolina concerning legislative and political issues affecting the profession.

The AIA-PAC is organized and operated on a voluntary, non-partisan basis to preserve and promote the status of architecture through the pursuit of its objectives. All active members of AIA North Carolina who contribute to AIA-PAC are eligible for membership in the organization.

The organization is governed and supervised by a Board of Directors composed of 21 members of the AIA-PAC, with a minimum of one member from each section of AIA North Carolina. Each Director is appointed to a term of three years, with no Director being appointed to more than two consecutive terms.

Recognized as one of the most successful architect-PACs in the country, the AIA-PAC has achieved high success rates in terms of its contributions to winning candidates and its ability to influence legislation. It has played a prominent role in enhancing the image of AIA North Carolina among state legislators and in establishing architects as a respected source of information for legislators.

To maintain established levels of candidate contributions and ensure the continued effectiveness of AIA North Carolina's Government Affairs Programs, AIA-PAC needs increased financial support from members and friends of the profession.

The 1997 AIA-PAC chair is Donald R. Lee, FAIA, of Lee Nichols Hepler Architecture in Charlotte.

The AIA-PAC assists North Carolina architects in gaining access to state legislators for the purpose of establishing an effective forum on issues facing the profession.

Code of Ethics and Professional Conduct

Members of The American Institute of Architects are dedicated to the highest standards of professionalism, integrity and competence. They apply to all professional activities, wherever they occur. They address responsibilities to the public, which the the profession serves and enriches; to the clients and users of architecture and in the building industries, who help to shape the built environment; and to the art and science of architecture, that continuum of knowledge and creation which is the heritage and legacy of the profession.

The Code is arranged in three tiers of statements: Canons, Ethical Standards and Rules of Conduct. The Canons are broad principles of conduct. The Ethical Standards are more specific goals toward which members should aspire in professional performance and behavior. The Rules of Conduct are mandatory, the violation of which is grounds for disciplinary action by the Institute.

For a copy of the Code or questions, please call (919) 833-6656.

For a copy of the Code of Ethics, please call (919) 833-6656.

Bylaws

Chartered in 1913, AIA North Carolina is legally registered and incorporated with the North Carolina Secretary of State as the North Carolina Chapter, The American Institute of Architects.

The Bylaws of AIA North Carolina serve as an agreement between the organization and its membership. The Bylaws were most recently revised December 10, 1993.

For a copy of the Bylaws or questions, please call (919) 833-6656.

For a copy of the Bylaws, please call (919) 833-6656.

Architectural Education

Two universities in North Carolina offer programs accredited by the National Architectural Accrediting Board – North Carolina State University in Raleigh and the University of North Carolina at Charlotte.

• N.C. STATE UNIVERSITY •

The Department of Architecture at N.C. STATE UNIVERSITY was established in 1948 as one of two original academic components in the School of Design. Under the guidance of founding dean Henry L. Kamphoefner, the School of Design experienced a long period of development, establishing a reputation for innovation.

The School is presently led by Dean Marvin J. Malecha, FAIA, who was appointed to the position in August 1994. Christos A. Saccopoulos, AIA, was appointed department head in August 1992.

The architecture department has enlarged its mission and curricular offerings over the years to include programs leading to the following three degrees:

• Bachelor of Environmental Design in Architecture (BEDA)

A four-year pre-professional curriculum that serves as the foundation for the two advanced programs. The curriculum includes a balance of general studies (English, mathematics, science and humanities), design studio courses and architectural support courses (history, technology, methods and theory).

• Bachelor of Architecture (B. ARCH)

A one-year professional curriculum that builds on the four-year BEDA or other equivalent program.

• Master of Architecture (M. ARCH)

Three tracks lead to the professional M.ARCH degree: Track I is a two-year program for holders of the BEDA or equivalent four-year pre-professional degree; Track II is a three-semester second professional degree program for holders of the B. ARCH degree.; Track III accepts students with degrees in non-architectural fields into a four-year program.

Both the B. ARCH and M. ARCH are professional degrees accredited by the National Architectural Accrediting Board. The most recent accreditation action took place in 1995, extending accreditation of both programs for five years.

The School of Design annually admits 100 to 120 freshmen and transfer students to the common first-year "Design Fundamentals" program. Students begin their architectural studies in the second year. For information about undergraduate admissions standards and procedures, contact the School of Design, N.C. State University, Box 7701, Raleigh, NC 27695-7701.

Admissions to the B. ARCH and M. ARCH programs are by application to the Department of Architecture. For additional information, contact the Department of Architecture, School of Design, N.C. State University, Box 7701, Raleigh, NC 27695-7701.

• UNC CHARLOTTE •

The College of Architecture at UNC CHARLOTTE was founded in 1969 and graduated its first students with professional degrees in 1976, the same year Charles C. Hight, FAIA, was named dean. In July, 1994, the school received its fourth consecutive full term accreditation from the National Architectural Accrediting Board.

The curriculum provides a balance between theory and application, and general and professional education. The program is structured so a person may develop a double major or minor in another field such as engineering, earth science, business, computer or behavioral science. The curriculum is organized into two sections:

• The Foundation Program

In the first three years, students are enrolled in general education and architectural courses. The studios and seminars, which occur each semester, enable students to acquire the fundamentals of visual design, problem solving, conceptualization and environmental influences. The third year studios focus upon building designs which are site specific. In addition, student extend their knowledge of architectural history and technology while having the opportunity to pursue individual interests through architectural and general elective seminars.

• Advanced Program

In the fourth and fifth years, students select design studios and seminars in accordance with their individual study plan they developed at the end of their third year. In addition, to the design thesis, students have the opportunity to enroll in studios and seminars which focus on topics such as design theories, programming, architectural materials and technology, lighting design, acoustics, wood and metals design/making, community design, computer-aided design, advanced studies in architectural history, graphic explorations and other design issues.

The Bachelor of Arts is awarded at the end of the fourth year and the professional degree, Bachelor of Architecture, is awarded in the fifth year.

Many students in the Advanced Program choose one of the college's European studio options: Spain, Italy, London and Copenhagen. In addition, non-studio architectural options are available in The Netherlands, Paris, Montana and other pertinent locations.

Students who do not desire to obtain the professional degree, may pursue a highly specialized or a general study program in the fourth year.

The College accepts transfer students for advanced standing from other NAAB schools.

More detailed information may be obtained by writing the College of Architecture, UNC Charlotte, Charlotte, NC 28223.

AIA Continuing Education Requirements For Membership

Continuing education is now a membership requirement for the American Institute of Architects. Developed to demonstrate AIA members' lifelong commitment to learning, the AIA Continuing Education System (CES) enhances knowledge, competency and competitiveness.

In summary, the Institute's plan includes the following:

- By the end of 1997, members must earn 36 Learning Units (LU) in order to renew membership in 1998. LUs earned during the AIA/CES pilot program phase, which took place in 1993 and 1994, can be applied to the October 1997 requirement. AIA North Carolina participated in this pilot program.
- Members must accrue 36 LUs each year after 1997 in order to maintain AIA membership. The 36 LUs must include 8 contact hours in health/safety-related subject matter.

AIA members can participate in a variety of learning programs and activities through CES. Members receive LUs for each program in which they participate based on the length of the program or activity and its educational level, called quality level (QL). The following summarizes how QLs are determined.

- Quality Level 1 - Passive learning
Members earn 1 LU for each hour of involvement in an activity with a clearly defined professional purpose.
- Quality Level 2 - Interactive learning
Courses at this level offer significant interaction between the instructor (or learning resource) and student. Members earn 2 LUs for each hour of involvement.
- Quality Level 3 - Interactive learning with feedback
In addition to meeting the QL2 requirements, this course includes a method of receiving feedback on the material actually learned. Members earn 3 LUs for each hour of involvement.

How LUs Are Earned

- Members can attend seminars or programs sponsored by an AIA/CES registered provider to receive LUs. In this manner, the provider is responsible for reporting the attendance to the AIA/CES recording center.
- Members may participate in self-directed study, including reading books, watching videos or listening to audio cassettes on architectural topics. Members who earn LUs in this manner are responsible for reporting their participation. AIA North Carolina members may obtain AIA/CES Self Report forms by calling (800) 617-FAXX and requesting item 3000.

Where AIA CES Records Are Kept

The CES recordkeeping is performed under contract by the University of Oklahoma, Continuing Education, AIA/CES, 1700 Asp Avenue, Room B4, Norman, OK 73072-6400. Call (202) 626-7353 for questions or comments on AIA/CES records.

This recordkeeping center monitors LUs earned by AIA members and keeps track of registered providers. Transcripts regarding LUs earned will be issued annually to AIA members.

Is CES a Requirement for Licensure?

CES is not yet a requirement for licensure in North Carolina; however, the North Carolina Board of Architecture is looking at this possibility. A number of states, including Alabama, Florida, Iowa and Louisiana, now have continuing education as part of architectural licensure.

Where To Find Seminars

The eight local sections of AIA North Carolina offer AIA/CES programs at their meetings. For an updated list of qualifying programs in the region, call (800) 617-FAXX and request item 2000.

The AIA Continuing Education System (CES) was developed to demonstrate AIA members' lifelong commitment to learning and to enhance knowledge, competency and competitiveness.

Deitrick Service Medal

Leslie N. Boney, Jr., FAIA
1996 Deitrick Medal Recipient

On July 26, 1997, AIA North Carolina will present the William Henley Deitrick Medal for Service.

The medal will be presented to an AIA North Carolina member who exhibits extraordinary service to the community, profession or AIA North Carolina. The medal is named in honor of the late William Henley Deitrick, FAIA, a former president of AIA North Carolina. The AIA Tower, headquarters for AIA North Carolina, previously served as Deitrick's architectural studio and offices.

Categories

One medal will be presented each year. The selection will be made from one of the following categories:

Service to the Community

This category recognizes the work of architects who serve as elected officials, public administrators or institutional leaders and establish and contribute to the development of laws, regulations and policies that promote excellence in architecture.

Service to the Chapter

This category recognizes the work of architects that, by their skill, professionalism, dedication, ability and commitment, have consistently advanced the common goals of AIA North Carolina.

Service to the Profession

This category recognizes the work of architects who have had a significant impact on the profession of architecture and its public perception as a profession.

Eligibility

Any AIA North Carolina member, group of members, component, or committee may nominate candidates for this award.

Architects registered in North Carolina and members of AIA North Carolina are eligible for this honor.

Submission Requirements

All exhibits must be submitted in a binder, not to exceed 20 8 1/2" x 11" pages. To obtain a binder, contact AIA North Carolina at (919) 833-6656.

Each submission shall contain the following:

- A nomination letter by the AIA member, group of members, component or committee.
- A biography of the nominee, not to exceed two pages, including a list of offices, positions, honors, publications and presentations that relate to the award's purpose.
- Five letters of support that give testament to the achievement presented.
- Exhibits, if appropriate for the nominee, to illustrate accomplishments that relate to the award's purpose.

All submissions must be received no later than May 31, 1997. Send submissions to the AIA Tower, 115 West Morgan Street, Raleigh, NC 27601.

Selection of Award

A jury of five members, appointed by the AIA North Carolina Board of Directors, will serve for a three-year staggered term. Jury members are not eligible for the medal during their term of service.

AIA National Design Awards

A total of nine projects, located in North Carolina, have received the AIA's highest recognition of design excellence.

- 1953: Project: N.C. State Fair Pavilion (Dorton Arena), Raleigh
Architect: William H. Deitrick, FAIA, with Matthew Nowicki, designer
- 1954: Project: Double Oaks Elementary School, Charlotte
Architect: Arthur G. Odell Jr., FAIA
- 1957: Project: Wilson Junior High School, Charlotte
Architect: Arthur G. Odell Jr., FAIA

AIA Fellows

The American Institute of Architects bestows the recognition of Fellowship for achievement in architecture on members who have contributed notably to the advancement of the profession of architecture. With the exception of the Gold Medal, fellowship is the highest honor the AIA can bestow on a member. It is conferred on members with at least 10 years of continuous membership who have made significant contributions to the aesthetic, scientific, and practical efficiency of the profession; to the standards of architectural education, training, and practice; to the building industry through leadership of the AIA and other related professional organizations; to the advancement of the living standards of people through their improved environment and to society through significant public service.

Founded in 1952, the College of Fellows includes approximately five percent of the total AIA membership. Those advanced to fellowship can use "FAIA" after their names in recognition of their contributions in design, education, research or public service.

Current members of AIA North Carolina who have been recognized for Fellowship are:

What Are Plain Paper Solutions Anyway?

HUGE EXHIBIT

graphics in vivid color, printed at 90 ft²/min.

We have the largest capacity in the area - up to 54" wide by any length on plain paper stock! We can work from any input you provide - existing computer files, CAD graphics, photos, documents, sketches - to create dramatic, attention-getting exhibit prints. In full color or black & white on plain paper, mounted or unmounted, with optional lamination. And at Plain Paper, we know your needs are often last-minute, so we are geared for fast turnaround and express shipment anywhere.

ARCHITECTS HAVE KNOWN PLAIN PAPER SOLUTIONS

as a provider of classic blueprints, plot prints, large scale black & white photocopies, high volume bid sets, AutoCAD systems and training. But Plain Paper Solutions has become a whole lot more than you may remember. We're now the Triangle's largest source for high volume color photocopies and large scale color digital prints on plain paper.

Statewide, few rivals even approach our capabilities, our technical expertise or our dedication to excellent service. Wherever you practice, when you need the best and the fastest color or black & white output, we have the plain paper solutions you're looking for. Make us part of your winning team.

HIGH VOLUME

color and black and white digital copies -
1,000's per hour!

We can produce over 80,000 color copies a day! (We work a 24-hour shift.) Up to 11X17, on plain paper. Our black & white capacity is even greater. Never get caught again with a tight deadline for large-volume copies. We also have a complete bindery and a trained staff fully experienced in providing the professional architect with the materials necessary for a successful project. (By the way, the insert you are now reading was digitally printed in our facility.)

Plain Paper Solutions. There's Nothing Plain About Us!

AIA Documents Make Life Easier ...For Most Of Us.

One of the real benefits of using current AIA Documents is you can save time and money by eliminating the need to draft a completely new document for every transaction. Documents are court tested and are updated regularly to reflect changes in industry and construction practices, technology, insurance, and legal precedent. You can choose from more than 120 contracts and forms that help to clarify your rights and obligations and those of the client, contractor, and consultant. It's no wonder AIA Documents are accepted throughout the construction industry. They make life so much easier ... for most of us. Contact us for details.

IF YOU'RE PLANNING EVEN A SMALL RENOVATION...

...PLAN ON SAVING MONEY WITH AN ARCHITECT.

Whether you're adding a bedroom or building a new home, it pays to call an architect. It all starts with your first meeting. By listening carefully to your specific wants and needs, an architect can help you make the most of your space, speed up your renovation, and smooth out the hassles from start to finish.

Architects know how to keep a watchful eye on your budget throughout a project and can help you avoid costly, last-minute changes.

So if you're considering either renovating or building a new home, give us a call.

We can put you in touch with an AIA architect who'll interpret your needs.

And keep a ceiling on your budget.

IT PAYS TO CALL AN ARCHITECT.

Build the way you think.

Introducing MicroStation TriForma.

Design in 3D,
get 2D instantly.

Image courtesy of Haines, Lundberg & Waehler and rendered in MicroStation MasterPiece™.

Build your designs the way you envision them. With new MicroStation TriForma. It's an architectural modeler with instant 2D drawings. What it does is make work flow more intuitively. So you can concentrate on the creative side. Whether you are designing or drafting, work is faster, easier and more productive.

MicroStation TriForma will deal with the details. Plans, sections, elevations, bills of materials, specifications are done quickly, automatically. As for your clients, they'll be able to view and have a better understanding of the end results. And then everyone will see eye-to-eye.

Don't drudge through 2D anymore. Build models and get drawings instantly. Go straight to reality.

With new MicroStation TriForma.
