Only One Power Company Has Won The Prestigious Edison Award Three Times.

Each year, the Edison Award is given to the nation's Number One electric utility. Needless to say, we're proud to have won it three times. More than any other power company in the U.S.

But as much as this high honor means to us, it should mean more to you. Because it assures that you're getting the most efficient, dependable electric service possible. Service that is, and always will be, second to none.

President's Message

A message from Herbert P. McKim, FAIA, the AIA North Carolina President

AIA North Carolina president Herbert P. McKim, FAIA, with his wife, Catherine.

The architectural profession is undergoing a dramatic transformation and, as someone who has been in active practice for 46 years, I can make that assessment from experience.

The forces of technology and demands of a fast-changing marketplace are providing new opportunities and challenges for architects to diversify their services and serve their clients' needs. In brief, architects are expected to do much more than just design buildings.

Results from the American Institute of Architects' 1997 Firm Survey support this notion of rapid change. Forty percent of an average firm's billings come from "expanded services" such as site selection, computer simulation and facility management.

Here in North Carolina, we have been blessed with a vibrant construction economy since the doldrums of the early 1990's. Our fast-growing population has fueled a demand for educational, healthcare, commercial and cultural facilities. A significant number of national architectural firms have established N.C. offices and many architects are moving here to work for our established firms.

As the professional association for architects, AIA North Carolina is challenged with communicating in a frequent, relevant manner with a 1,675-person membership, providing opportunities for professional development and offering representation in the halls of the General Assembly. A major priority for our organization is to make the public more aware of the services architects provide for their clients.

This challenge is increased because of the considerable diversity within our ranks. The terms "average architect" or "average firm" are, quite frankly, oxymorons. Nearly a third of our 500 firms are operated by sole practitioners, yet there are several N.C. firms with 100 or more employees. A one-person firm in Brevard has different needs than a fast-growing 25-person firm in Charlotte. Not only is there a difference in scale of these firms, but also there is a difference in the way they practice and in the needs of their clients.

A growing number of architects are now employed outside of the traditional architectural practice. Eighteen percent of all AIA members now work in "emerging roles" such as representatives of corporations, government, academia and developers.

One of the challenges we must address is how AIA North Carolina can best serve such a diverse constituency. What kind of seminars and professional practice assistance do our members need? How can we make our membership more participatory and volunteer-driven? What is the best way to communicate with our diverse membership and is this different from the way we should communicate the value of the profession to clients? More importantly, how can we best partner with our universities to educate and prepare the architects of tomorrow?

It's an exciting time to be an architect in one of the fastest-growing and most progressive states in America. For myself, it's an especially exciting time to serve as the president of a dynamic, statewide professional association which finds itself in the process of change as we enter the millennium.

Whether you are an architect, student, elected official or member of the general public, let us hear from you about how we can be of service to you in the coming year and beyond.

The Value Of An Architect

A user's guide to architectural services

No matter what type of structure you are planning to build, you are embarking on a journey that will take you through a maze of design options, building codes, zoning laws and contractors.

You may be building a private residence, office complex, religious center or laboratory. Your construction plans may include an industrial plant or public facility such as a school or hospital. Or you may be interested in a restoration project.

To achieve the best possible building design for your budget and time frame, it is advisable to hire an architect.

The Architect Designs for Quality

The architect is naturally a generalist. In an age of specialization, the architect must consistently see the "big picture" while at the same time have a grasp on the smallest detail. An architect considers all building requirements — technological, artistic, functional and humanistic. Through the "process of design," the architect generates a total environment which makes dynamic use of space and satisfies functional needs.

Through formal training and experience, architects are equipped to solve problems. With their broad knowledge of design and construction, architects can show you alternatives and options you might never otherwise consider.

What an Architect Contributes to the Design

Think of an architect's services as a wise investment, not an added cost to your building project. The following examples of architectural services explain why.

- A well-conceived project can be built more efficiently and economically. Architects plan the project with you. Working as a team, you and your architect create a plan that will work best for your personal situation and requirements. As your ideas evolve, changes can be made to the plan much less expensively than later on when the building construction is underway. Detailed plans also help contractors accurately price and build your project.
- Energy-efficient buildings can save you money on fuel bills. An architect can design a building that maximizes heating from the sun and lets in natural light, thus reducing heating, cooling and fuel bills.
- Architects can work with your budget and help you select materials and contractors at fair prices. Using the drawings and specifications an architect provides, you can accurately receive construction bids which are based solely on your requirements. Furthermore, an architect can assemble and supervise the contracting team for you.

- Architects can help you choose cost effective materials and finishes. By selecting materials that are both durable and attractive, you will save money you could have spent on frequent maintenance and replacement costs. For example, architects keep abreast of advances in the roofing, masonry, flooring and painting industries, and they are familiar with the wide range of materials available.
- A building with a good design pays off. A well-designed house has much higher resale value. A well-designed store attracts more customers, and a well-designed workplace appeals to good employees and increases productivity.
- The architect can help reduce the stress you may face during the building process. Building is a long process that can be disorderly and disruptive. Architects work to reduce the disruption and look for ways to make the process run more smoothly.
- If your project requires the services of an engineer or other design services, such as a landscape architect, the architect can coordinate this team of experts for you. Architects can sort through complex building codes and find qualified allied design professionals for you, based on your project requirements. As part of your contractual agreement, architects can visit the construction site to verify the project is being built according to specifications.

The Selection Process

Architectural firms come in a variety of sizes and types. Architectural firms, typically, are small businesses. Two of every three North Carolina firms have four or fewer employees. Some larger firms may include in-house engineering, landscape architecture, planning, urban design and interior design services. As a result, each architectural firm brings a different combination of skills, expertise, interests and values to a project.

When selecting an architect you will inevitably face many new situations that will provoke numerous questions. The following are some of the more common inquiries.

- When should I bring an architect into the picture? The earlier the better. Architects can help you define your project. They can do site analyses and secure planning and zoning approvals.
- How do I find potentially suitable firms to contact? It is helpful to contact other owners who have built similar facilities to what you are planning to build. Ask them whom they interviewed and hired. Look at buildings you admire and appreciate, then find out who the designers were. Using the AIA North Carolina Directory, you can review the types of design services offered and past project lists.

■ Should I look at more than one firm? The option is yours. It makes sense to stay with an architect you have worked with in the past, and it is helpful to look at architects that have been recommended to you. If you don't already have a relationship with an architect you know and trust, it is best to interview between three to five firms. This will help you recognize the range of possibilities without being confused by a bombardment of options.

■ What information should I request from firms I may potentially hire? Ask prospective firms to show you examples of their work that have similar features to your project. Look for similarities in size and type, and review projects that have addressed similar issues such as function. Ask them to indicate how they will approach your project and who will work on it. Get a list of references you can contact.

■ What should be covered in the interview? In the interview, state what you want and need. The firm will present its services and experience. If the firm hasn't had the opportunity to discuss the project with you, don't expect a detailed design suggestion right then. During the interview, be frank. Tell the architect what you know and expect; however, be sure to ask for an explanation of anything you don't understand.

■ On what should I base my decision? Rely on your instincts; personal confidence in the architect is first priority. Look for a balance between technical competence, professional service and design ability. After you determine which firm is most qualified, negotiate a fair and equitable fee. If an agreement can't be reached, negotiate a fee with the next most qualified firm.

■ What do I do when I have selected an architect? Put in writing your terms of agreement regarding the scope of work, services, schedule, construction budget and architect's compensation. AIA North Carolina sells a variety of standard contract forms which are used industry-wide. For a list of the contract documents available, call (919) 833-6656.

Through a program of mandatory continuing education, the AIA architect naturally maintains a unique set of skills that enables him or her to solve problems and assist clients in realizing their objectives. Architects can transform undefined concepts into a design, through plans and specifications, and offer many intangibles including technical knowledge and aesthetic judgment.

An architect can guide your way through your construction journey and direct you toward solutions you may have never considered. Through your partnership with your architect, you will receive a building project that meets your needs, expresses your individuality and provides enjoyment for everyone who uses it.

Portions of this overview were adapted from two lengthier publications published by the American Institute of Architects, "A Beginner's Guide to Architectural Services" and "You and Your Architect." Copies of these publications may be ordered by calling AIA North Carolina at (919) 833-6656.

20 Questions to Ask Your Architect

1. What does the architect see as important issues or considerations in your project? What are the challenges of the project?
2. How will the architect approach your project?
3. How will the architect gather information about your needs, goals, etc.?
4. How will the architect establish priorities and make decisions?
5. Who from the architecture firm will you be dealing with directly? Is that the same person who will be designing the project? If not, who will be designing the project?
6. How interested is the architect in this project?
7. How busy is the architect?
8. What sets the architect apart from the rest?
9. How does the architect establish fees?
10. What should the architect expect the fee to be for this project?
11. What are the steps in the design process?
12. How does the architect organize the process?
13. What does the architect expect you to provide?
14. What is the architect's design philosophy?
15. What is the architect's experience and track record with cost estimating?
16. What will the architect show you along the way to explain the project? Will you see models, drawings, or sketches?
17. If the scope of the project changes later in the project, will there be additional fees? How will these fees be justified?
18. What services does the architect provide during construction?
19. How disruptive will construction be? How long does the architect expect it to take to complete your project?
20. Do you have a list of past clients that your firm has worked with?

American Institute Of Architects

The North Carolina Chapter of the American Institute of Architects is the recognized advocate for the architectural profession in this state.

With a membership of 1,675, AIA North Carolina includes nearly 80 percent of the state's architects. Membership has increased dramatically, from 215 in 1955 and 695 in 1975.

The advantage in membership lies in the breadth of service provided. AIA North Carolina publishes North Carolina Architecture, a magazine distributed to the state's architects, engineers, contractors, elected officials, civic leaders and decision-makers. AIA North Carolina also publishes a newsletter for its members, AIA North Carolina Architekt, and maintains a web site at www.aia-nc.org.

The Chapter staff, headquartered in Raleigh, organizes a number of meetings, highlighted by the AIA North Carolina Summer Design Conference, scheduled for July 30 — Aug. 1 at the Pinehurst Resort and Country Club. Continuing education is now a requirement of AIA membership. Seminars, lectures and workshops are provided through a variety of sources. Members may also receive credit through a program of self-directed study.

AIA North Carolina has become increasingly involved in public policy development and legislation. AIA North Carolina opinions and positions are actively sought by lawmakers when dealing with legislation affecting architecture, building codes, construction and planning.

AIA North Carolina members work and live in every corner of the state, practicing in firms ranging from one to 270 persons. The membership is divided into geographical sections, located in Asheville, Charlotte, Durham/Chapel Hill, Eastern North Carolina, Piedmont (Greensboro/High Point), Raleigh, Wilmington and Winston-Salem.

AIA North Carolina offers its members an opportunity to participate in a variety of committees dealing with topics such as historic preservation, continuing education, environmentally-sensitive design and government affairs.

The mission of AIA North Carolina is to serve its members by enhancing and promoting the profession of architecture.

History of AIA Tower

AIA Tower Vital Statistics

Built: 1887

Size: 85 feet tall

25 feet in diameter

3-foot-thick walls

Materials: The lower 30 feet are granite while the upper 55 feet are hand-made brick.

Celebrating 111 years as a landmark for downtown Raleigh, the AIA Tower serves as the headquarters for the North Carolina Chapter of the American Institute of Architects.

An interior renovation project is just the latest change in the face and function of this proud structure which is listed in the National Register of Historic Places and designated for preservation as a Raleigh Historic Site.

The Tower's courtyard offers a welcome respite from city sidewalks with its brick-paved design, shade trees, flowers and benches. Located within one-half block of the State Capitol building, the AIA Tower is a frequent stop for downtown Raleigh visitors who are fascinated by its enormous dimensions and unique design.

The Tower was built in 1887 by the Raleigh Water Works, a private business which had the franchise to supply Raleigh with water. The water source was Walnut Creek, south of Raleigh, from which the water was fed by wooden trough to a mud-bottom pond and then conveyed through metal pipe to the

The AIA Tower, located in downtown Raleigh

30-foot high iron tank atop the Tower.

In 1901, the Wake Water Works took over the property and operated the water supply until the property was purchased by the City of Raleigh in 1913. Soon after, the water supply became inadequate and the Tower was abandoned.

In the early 1930's, William Henley Deitrick, FAIA, learned that the Raleigh City Council was considering turning the property over to the WPA for demolition. Deitrick, realizing the value and potential of the property, purchased the Tower from the city.

Deitrick remodeled the front and back buildings to be suitable for architectural quarters. Several generations of Raleigh architects were trained here under Deitrick's tutelage.

On May 27, 1963, Deitrick, a former president of the North Carolina Chapter of The American Institute of Architects, deeded the property to the Chapter in return for private office space until his death in 1974.

AIA North Carolina Awards Program

The 1998 AIA North Carolina Design Awards will be presented the evening of August 1 during a special event at the Pinehurst Resort and Country Club.

Each year, a distinguished panel of independent judges selects the best design work submitted by AIA North Carolina members. Entries are judged for excellence in function, execution of a complex program in a distinguished manner and aesthetic and structural creativity.

The winning entries will receive widespread publicity and be featured in the 1999 AIA North Carolina Directory.

North Carolina Board Of Architecture

"It shall be unlawful for any individual, firm or corporation to practice or offer to practice architecture in this state....unless such person holds a current individual or corporate certificate of admission to practice architecture."

—Chapter 83A,
North Carolina General
Statutes

The North Carolina Board of Architecture, established by the General Assembly in 1915, is responsible for enforcement of the laws and regulations governing the practice of architecture in the state. A major task is to determine the qualifications of applicants who seek to take the registration examination which is registered nationally.

The Board is comprised of seven members appointed by the governor, five of whom are licensed architects appointed for five-year terms. Two of the members of the Board are not licensed architects and represent the interests of the public at large. The public members serve at the pleasure of the governor.

North Carolina requires registered architects to hold a degree in architecture from a college or university where the degree program has been approved by the Board, or professional education equivalents outlined and defined in the Board's Table of Equivalents for Education and Experience. The professional education qualification shall be a National Architectural Accrediting Board (NAAB) accredited professional degree in architecture.

Board members are: Alan T. Baldwin, AIA, president, Charlotte; G. Daniel Knight, Jr., AIA, Rocky Mount; Kevin G. Montgomery, AIA, Durham; Kiki Teague, public member, Winston-Salem;

Architects are licensed in North Carolina for the express purpose of safeguarding life, health and property. By virtue of their education, professional training and passage of the Architectural Registration Examination, architects are uniquely qualified to perform this vital function.

Jeffrey A. Huberman, FAIA, Charlotte; Norma DeCamp Burns, FAIA, Raleigh; Vinod Goel, public member, Raleigh.

Additional information on the Board of Architecture may be obtained by contacting:

NCARB

National Council of Architectural Registration Boards

The National Council of Architectural Registration Boards was established in 1920 to assist member boards in carrying out their duties, foster the enactment of uniform architectural laws, develop examinations and establish standards for certification requirements in education and training, to perfect its procedures for verifying the qualifications of applicants and determining their eligibility for certification and establish and maintain reciprocal registration between states having registration laws.

The NCARB is a non-profit corporation with all legally constituted boards of architecture in the United States as members, including the North Carolina Board of Architecture.

To be eligible for NCARB certification, architects must submit satisfactory evidence that they comply with the standard for education, training, examination and character and have been registered by a member board.

The NCARB will, upon request of an individual architect, secure, authenticate, and record factual data of the applicant's education, training, practice and character.

This record will be forwarded to any state board upon request of the applicant.

Certification shall be given to an applicant holding a council record verifying that the applicant has complied with the council's standards of education, training, practice and character; and that the applicant has passed an examination conforming to the council's standards of content, extent and length of time.

Certification by the NCARB is recommendation to all registration authorities that registration be granted to the holder without further examination. Most board members accept NCARB certification as conclusive evidence of an architect's eligibility of registration. It is, however, not a national registration.

Complete information on compiling a council record and obtaining council certification can be obtained from:

Off The DRAWING BOARD

Through an innovative "Canstruction" program, the AIA Piedmont Section collected 2.5 tons of food for distribution to High Point Urban Ministries and the Salvation Army.

Architecture Week

During the week of September 21-27, 1997, North Carolina architects hosted a variety of events to celebrate Architecture Week. The activities, intended to enhance public awareness about architecture and the profession, ranged from a downtown architectural tour in Winston-Salem to a Lego building competition for children in Durham. In Charlotte and Raleigh, architects in those cities hosted a different event each day of the week as they engaged the public in discussion on important issues such as mass transit and sustainable architecture.

In 1998, Architecture Week in North Carolina will be celebrated September 13-19.

Above: Volunteers from AIA Wilmington hosted a booth and met with the public at the Wilmington Home Expo.

Left: One of the winning entries in the AIA Charlotte birdhouse competition. Proceeds from an auction went to Habitat for Humanity.

History Book Nears Completion

In early 1998, a comprehensive book on the 85-year history of AIA North Carolina will be published and distributed to the membership.

Authored by Charlotte Brown and David

Jackson, the book is the result of several years of intensive work and research by a special task force including Leslie N. Boney, Jr., FAIA; Macon S. Smith, FAIA; Marvin R.A. Johnson, FAIA; and Betty Silver Howison, Hon. AIA.

Public Awareness

The Chapter's Public Awareness committee, chaired by Carl P. Myatt, AIA, made tremendous progress during 1997 in terms of educating the public about the value of architectural services.

A 16-page insert on the subject was published in the October issue of North Carolina magazine. In addition, a variety of articles about the profession were published in N.C. newspapers during 1997.

As part of the Public Awareness effort, AIA North Carolina architects presented several workshops on "Selecting An Architect" for members of the N.C. School Boards Association.

Urban Design Assistance Program

Under the direction of N.C. State professor Peter Batchelor, FAIA, the Urban Design Assistance Program has been established to provide design and planning expertise to North Carolina communities.

Since 1986, community design services have been provided to eight N.C. communities; most recently, the Town of Jamestown in November 1996.

In 1998, an Urban Design Assistance Team is scheduled to visit Thomasville. The program is a cooperative venture between AIA North Carolina and N.C. State University.

Two New Honorary Affiliates

AIA historian Tony Wrenn and Raleigh attorney Sam Johnson received Honorary Affiliate recognition by the Chapter during 1997.

Wrenn, a N.C. native, is the longtime archivist for the AIA in Washington, D.C., while Johnson has performed extraordinary service for more than a decade as the Chapter's legal counsel.

Engineering Graduate Research Center, N.C. State University

Odell Associates, Inc.
Charlotte

Location: Raleigh
Owner: North Carolina State University
General Contractor: Fowler Jones Beers Construction, Winston-Salem
Laboratory Design: Earl Walls Associates, La Jolla, CA
Plaza Artist: Jun Kuneko, Omaha, NE
Photography: Bryan Hoffman
Completion Date: April 1997

■ This complex is part of North Carolina State's 1,000-acre Centennial Campus, which was started in 1986 to create a university and corporate research and advanced technology community. The building, along with the future corporate building facing the plaza and housing across the green ravine, will make up the first campus "cluster."

The 112,000 sf Laboratory includes areas for advanced materials and microelectronics, analytical support, computer science, library, conference rooms and telecommunications. There is also a 26,000 sf Structures Lab and a 120,000 sf Parking Structure with five levels of below-grade parking to reduce the automobile impact and create a pedestrian scale.

The glass walls on the Structures and Lab buildings display the "business" of the College of Engineering's research.

JURY COMMENTS

■ "This project represents a nice modulation of a large-scale complex with an effective integration of different elements."

Durham County Justice Center Detention Facility

O'Brien/Atkins Associates, PA,
Research Triangle Park

Location: Durham

Owner: Durham County Government

Associate Architect: HDR, Alexandria, VA

General Contractor: Centex-Simpson Construction, Fairfax, VA

Civil Engineering: B&E Jackson & Associates, Atlanta

Structural Engineering: GKC Associates, PA, Durham

Food Service Consultant: Faassen & Associates, Charlotte

Photography: Rick Alexander & Associates, Charlotte

Completion Date: December 1995

■ Located in an area of downtown Durham that is slated for private development, this new medium/maximum security detention center was designed with the idea of encouraging private investment in the vicinity while fitting in as an integral part of the larger civic campus.

The 528-bed facility contains four indirect supervision units of 24 beds, nine direct supervision units of 48 beds and one 48-bed classification unit. Each unit has its own outdoor exercise area, multipurpose room and visiting area. Included in the facility are intake-release, food preparation, laundry, magistrate, district court and other facilities for a fully operating jail.

JURY COMMENTS

■ "Faced with a difficult assignment in an urban context, the architect responded with an appropriate solution. The exterior and interior maintain a continuity of expression."

SALICE America Offices And Distribution Center

ARCHITECTVS MCMLXXXVIII

Charlotte

Location: Charlotte

Owner: SALICE America, Inc.

General Contractor: Randolph Builders, Inc., Charlotte

Structural Engineering: Structures, Inc., Charlotte

Mechanical, Electrical & Plumbing Engineering: Talbot & Associates, Charlotte

Civil Engineering: Land Design, Charlotte

Photography: Tim Buchman, Charlotte

Completion Date: February 1995

■ This is the American headquarters for an Italian company that makes and distributes high-quality furniture hinges and assemblies.

The typical distribution warehouse is often not much more than the “back of the house” and takes on little architectural importance. This design strategically positions the often hidden functions of shipping and receiving as opposite but equal to the primary administrative offices, lobby and support spaces. A clear and open view of each area was of primary concern. The required separation for environmental control is nothing more than glass. To further minimize the separation, the formal stairs were integrated into the glass line to diminish the wall and emphasize the stair as the center of one large space.

JURY COMMENTS

■ "The architect has created a sophisticated display of the client's image. The interiors represent a fresh and inventive expression of technology."

Harris Teeter At Sage Hill

Little & Associates Architects
Charlotte

Location: Atlanta
Owner: Harris Teeter
General Contractor: R.J. Griffin, Atlanta
Mechanical Design: Clive Samuels & Associates, Princeton, NJ
Decor Contractor: VISCO, Charlotte
Civil Engineering: Paulson & Associates, Marietta, GA
Photography: Rick Alexander & Associates, Charlotte
Completion Date: November 1996

■ Harris Teeter Stores of Matthews, N.C., considered abandoning a prime piece of property it had purchased for an urban supermarket in Atlanta because of mounting concerns that the site would not be large enough to support a store with the square footage necessary to achieve average or better gross revenue. The architect worked with the grocer to develop its first two-level store — the only multilevel supermarket in the Atlanta market. The 54,000 sf store has achieved exceptional sales results and the designation by one Atlanta magazine as the city's best grocery store.

The store consists of a 40,000 sf main level and a 14,000 sf mezzanine. The upper floor contains several "destination" departments — a coffee bar, wine shop, cigar humidor and specialty foods section. Shoppers on that floor can look down into a brightly-lit market hall or up into a 35-foot-high steel barrel vault, the store's main architectural feature that emphasizes the expansiveness of the space.

JURY COMMENTS

■ "One gets the feeling of a European market through this public space extraordinaire. The graphics are strong and the renovation transforms the existing facility into a festive re-use."

Observation Park At Raleigh-Durham Airport

Cherry Huffman Architects, PA
Raleigh

Location: Raleigh-Durham International Airport
Owner: Raleigh-Durham Airport Authority
General Contractor: R&G Construction, Charlotte
Landscape Architects: Paton/Zucchini Associates, PA, Raleigh
Structural Engineering: Lysacht & Associates, Raleigh
Mechanical, Plumbing & Electrical Engineering: RMA Engineering
Photography: Michael Zirkle
Completion Date: April 1997

■ When Observation Park was first developed near the new runway several years ago, it consisted of a parking lot, some paved areas with picnic tables and minimal landscaping. When public response to the park far exceeded expectations, the Airport Authority decided some enhancements were necessary.

The new program includes an open-air platform covered by a wing-shaped canopy. Steel columns and beams, laterally braced with steel cables, contribute to the aeronautical character of the structure.

The platform was placed at the far southern end of the site so that vision of the runways would not be obstructed for the many people who watch the airfield from their cars in the parking lot. The plaza beside the platform includes historical information, aeronautical exhibits and play equipment for children.

JURY COMMENTS

■ "A visitor will instantly grasp the sensations of flight. The park is inventive, airy and very inviting."

Artists' Studio And Apartment

Frank Harmon Architect
Raleigh

Location: Rural Piedmont

Owner: Ron Rozzelle & Rosa Ragan

General Contractor: Ron Rozzelle, Saxapahaw

Structural Engineering: T.C. Howard, Raleigh

Photography: Bryan Hoffman

Completion Date: 1995

■ The clients, both artists, wanted a place to live and work. She restores carousels, likes bright light and company when she works, and listens to television audio over the radio. He is a painter, likes to work alone in northern light and listens to Bach. The architect designed two double-height studios, facing south for her and north for him, separated by a shared wood-working area. Their apartment is located above, with balconies over the studios and large windows facing a river. The large porch serves as an outdoor work area and loading dock.

Built on a rural hillside with economical materials, the studio has some of the simple grace of traditional farm buildings in the area. Exterior walls are made of plywood and studio windows are glazed with industrial plastic. The design was based on a simple unit system of four feet to cut down on wasted material.

JURY COMMENTS

■ "The architect made effective use of a sparse pallet of materials. The project is a playful blend of different uses."

Sprint/Mid-Atlantic Telecom Administrative Headquarters

O'Brien/Atkins Associates, PA,
Research Triangle Park

Location: Wake Forest

Owner: Sprint/Mid-Atlantic Telecom

General Contractor: Clancy & Theys Construction, Raleigh

Audio-Visual Consultant: MHT, Chapel Hill

Structural Engineering: Lasater-Hopkins, Raleigh

Food Service Consultant: Faassen & Associates, Charlotte

Civil Engineering: Barrett Kays & Associates, Raleigh

Photography: Rick Alexander & Associates, Charlotte

Completion Date: November 1992

■ Started as a headquarters for a North Carolina telecommunications utility, this project became a regional headquarters through a corporate merger. While projecting a solid and stable public image, the building embodies highly sophisticated and flexible technology to satisfy the industry's cutting-edge needs.

The facility straddles a knoll that divides the open fields at the front of the site from the wooded area at the rear of the site. The knoll establishes the base elevation for the three-story office wing. The visitor's entrance is one floor below the first office level, which provides a natural separation of functions while enabling workers to pass through the two-story lobby at an upper level to reach the cafeteria and other common facilities. A circulation spine separates the common and high-use functions such as conference areas, restrooms and stairways from the office groupings.

JURY COMMENTS

■ "We have a terrific solution here for this type of corporate building. There's good organization in the plan and a handsome interior."

INDIVIDUAL AWARDS

Kamphoefner Prize

Kenneth E. Hobgood, AIA
1997 Winner

Kenneth E. Hobgood, AIA, is the winner of the 1997 Kamphoefner Prize, the most prestigious architecture award in North Carolina.

Hobgood, principal of Kenneth E. Hobgood, Architect in Raleigh, has been directly involved with five projects that won AIA North Carolina design awards over the last 12 years. Three of those also earned AIA South Atlantic Region design awards.

Before establishing his own firm, Hobgood worked at an Atlanta-based firm and then spent several years at O'Brien/Atkins Associates, where he served as senior designer on the Glaxo Wellcome South Building (pictured right).

Henry L. Kamphoefner, the late dean and founder of the North Carolina State University School of Design, is honored through the presentation of the Kamphoefner Prize. Administered by the North Carolina Architectural Foundation, the $10,000 prize is given to a North Carolina architect for sustained contribution to the Modern Movement in architecture.

During his 25-year tenure as founder and dean of the N.C. State School of Design, the School rose to international prominence in architectural and design education. Kamphoefner died in 1990 at the age of 82.

The 1998 Prize will be presented Aug. 1 at Pinehurst.

Deitrick Service Medal

Danie A. Johnson, AIA
1997 Winner

Danie A. Johnson, AIA, is the recipient of the 1997 William Henley Deitrick Medal for Service. The Deitrick Medal is the highest honor bestowed by AIA North Carolina.

Johnson, principal of Danie A. Johnson, AIA/Architect in Asheville, was recognized for over a decade of tireless efforts on behalf of AIA North Carolina and in his community.

Johnson helped put AIA North Carolina on sound financial footing as the chapter treasurer in 1990 and marshalled the renovation of the AIA Tower during his term as chapter president in 1992. He now serves on the AIA National Board of Directors.

The Deitrick Medal is presented annually to an AIA North Carolina member who exhibits extraordinary service to the community, profession or AIA North Carolina. The Medal is named in honor of the late William Henley Deitrick, FAIA, a former president of AIA North Carolina. The AIA Tower, headquarters for AIA North Carolina, previously served as Deitrick's architectural studio and offices.

The 1998 medal will be presented on Aug. 1.

- 1987 S. Scott Ferebee Jr., FAIA, Charlotte

The Chancellor serves as presiding officer of the College of Fellows.

Two New Awards In 1998

The AIA North Carolina Board of Directors has established two new awards which will be presented annually at the AIA North Carolina Summer Design Conference, starting in 1998

AIA NORTH CAROLINA GOLD MEDAL

The Gold Medal is the highest honor presented by the Chapter to a member of AIA North Carolina. It is awarded by the Chapter Board of Directors to an individual in recognition of a distinguished career or extraordinary accomplishments as an architect. The award will be presented at the annual Summer Design Conference.

Eligibility

A current or deceased member of AIA North Carolina whom the Board believes qualified is eligible to receive the Gold Medal. No more than one such award shall be made in any year. Individuals who are current members of the Chapter Board or one year removed from the Board are ineligible for consideration.

Nominations

All nominations must be submitted in an AIA uniform binder, obtained by contacting the Chapter office.

Nominations may be made by or through Board members no later than April 1 to the AIA North Carolina office each year. The nominations shall conform with a prescribed format, as follows:

- A nomination letter from a Board member that summarizes the contributions made by the individual
- A brief biography of the nominee not to exceed four pages
- Miscellaneous material (clippings, articles, etc.) not to exceed three pages
- Letters of support, not to exceed five, from AIA North Carolina members; letters should be explicit in their recommendation and contain specific reasons for support

Selection Process

Each year, the Chapter president is responsible for appointing a three-person subcommittee of Board members to review the nominations. The subcommittee will present no more than three nominees to the Board for its consideration at the April Board of Directors meeting. A Gold Medalist must have the support of two-thirds of the Board members present at a regularly-scheduled meeting. The Board may use an elimination ballot to reduce the number of candidates to two.

AIA NORTH CAROLINA FIRM AWARD

The AIA North Carolina Firm Award shall be awarded to a North Carolina firm that has consistently produced quality architecture with a verifiable level of client satisfaction for a period of at least 10 years as an established presence in this state. This award is the highest honor the Chapter can bestow upon a firm. The award will be presented at the Summer Design Conference.

Eligibility

Any AIA North Carolina member, group of members, section or committee may nominate firms for consideration. Firms practicing under the leadership of either a single AIA North Carolina-member principal or several AIA North Carolina-member principals are eligible for the Architecture Firm Award. In addition, firms that have been reorganized and whose name has been changed or modified are also eligible, as long as the firm has been in operation in North Carolina for a period of at least 10 years. Although firms that are headquartered in other states or firms that perform the majority of their work in other states or countries are eligible, the firm's work and impact within the state of North Carolina shall be of primary consideration. A firm owned or managed by the Chapter president, president-elect or members of the selection committee shall not be eligible for consideration.

Nominations

All exhibits must be submitted no later than April 1 in a uniform AIA binder, obtained by contacting the Chapter office. Each submission should contain the following information:

- A nomination letter by the AIA member, group of members, component or committee summarizing the firm's contributions in terms of design excellence and client satisfaction
- A brief biography of all firm principals and a history of the firm
- A firm brochure (if available)
- Descriptive statements and photographs of early, middle and recent work of the firm
- A maximum of five signed letters by clients, attesting to the firm's excellence and/or high level of performance

Selection Process

Beginning in 1998, the Chapter president shall select a special five-person committee, chaired by the immediate past president. The committee should represent a geographic balance of the state and should not include current Board members, other than the immediate past president. No member of this committee should be a current member of the Deitrick committee. The committee shall meet during the month of April to review nominations and select a recipient. In future years, there will be three new committee members on an annual basis as the immediate past president rotates off and two committee members will rotate off to be replaced by the incoming Chapter president. There will be a rotation schedule for committee members. For the first year, two members will serve two-year terms and the other two will serve one-year terms. Firms owned by or that employ current committee members are ineligible for consideration.

AIA North Carolina Leadership

Each year, the membership of the North Carolina Chapter of the American Institute of Architects elects officers and a board of directors to oversee the organization's operations. Here are brief biographies of the officers, directors and other important leaders for AIA North Carolina.

Herbert P. McKim, FAIA
President

Herbert P. McKim, FAIA, is a principal with BMS Architects in Wilmington. He received his bachelor of architecture degree from N.C. State in 1950.

McKim has previously been a member of the N.C.S.U. Design

Foundation Board of Directors, N.C. Board of Architecture and N.C. Code Officials Qualifications Board. He has also served as the past president for the National Council of Architectural Registration Boards and AIA North Carolina's Eastern Section.

James H. Boniface, AIA
President-Elect

James H. Boniface, AIA, is executive vice president of FreemanWhite Architects, Inc., in Charlotte. Boniface received both his bachelor and master of architecture degrees from the University of Virginia. He served on the faculties of two schools of architecture and gained experience with several prominent design firms and as principal of his own firm before joining FreemanWhite in 1986. Boniface is a former co-chair of the National Intern Development Program Coordinating Committee. Since joining AIA North Carolina, he has served as chair of the Chapter's Political Action Committee (AIA-PAC) and as director of the Charlotte Section. Boniface has previously chaired the AIA North Carolina Government Affairs Committee.

Katherine Nielsen Russ, AIA
Treasurer

Katherine Nielsen Russ, AIA, is a principal in the firm of Boney Architects. Russ joined the firm in 1988 and was named Director of the Raleigh office in 1992. She graduated Summa Cum Laude from North Carolina State University, School of Design with a Bachelor of Architecture and a Bachelor of Environmental Design.

Russ is a member of AIA's Committee on Architecture for Education and also a member of the Council of Educational Facility Planners International. She has served as a director of AIA North Carolina, AIA Raleigh and co-chair of AIA North Carolina's Committee on Women and Minorities. She also chaired the 1996 South Atlantic Region AIA Design Awards.

Roy W. Johnson, AIA
Secretary
Charlotte Section President

Roy W. Johnson, AIA, is President and Chief Operating Officer of Odell Associates Inc. located in Charlotte. Johnson is a graduate of Pennsylvania State University with a Master of Science in Architectural Engineering and a Bachelor of Architecture.

Johnson is currently registered in nineteen states and is NCARB certified. He was 1996 Chairman for the AIA-PAC. He is also an active member of the CEC/AIA Organizational Peer Review Program of Practices and Procedures and is the Past President of the STAR Alliance. Along with his many professional affiliations, he also chairs the Holy Trinity Lutheran Church Support Board, is Director and Past President of the National Railway Historical Society and is a former Chairman for Opera Carolina.

William G. Monroe, III, AIA
Immediate Past-President

William G. Monroe, III, AIA, is president of WGM Design Inc. in Charlotte. His community activities include appointments to the Historic District Commission of Charlotte and the board of directors of Providence Day School. He is a past board member of the National Association of Industrial and Office Parks for the Charlotte region.

Monroe received his master and bachelor of arts degrees from N.C. State and was the recipient of the AIA School Medal and the Certificate of Merit from the Henry Adams Fund of the American Institute of Architects.

North Carolina Architectural Foundation

The NCAF provides scholarships to collegiate students in architecture and administers the Kamphoefner Prize.

The North Carolina Architectural Foundation promotes and sponsors architectural programs and education. The mission of NCAF is to actively encourage and support quality in the field of architecture and to educate the public about architecture.

The Foundation awards the Kamphoefner Prize of $10,000 to an architect in North Carolina who exhibits excellence in the Modern Movement of architecture. The Prize is funded through an endowment bequeathed by Henry and Mabel Kamphoefner.

The Foundation's mission has evolved to adapt to various needs. NCAF now supports both the N.C. State School of Design and UNC-Charlotte College of Architecture through the presentation of scholarships and book awards to worthy students.

A special task force has been created to study and recommend a future direction for the NCAF as the millenium approaches.

AIA Issues New Documents

In November 1997, the American Institute of Architects issued new versions of some of its most popular AIA Documents, including the B141 (Standard Form of Agreement Between the Owner and Architect) and the A201 (General Conditions of the Contract for Construction).

AIA Documents are the most widely used standard form contracts in the construction industry because:

- AIA Documents are fair

These are consensus documents that reflect advice from practicing architects, contractors, engineers, owners, surety bond producers, insurers and attorneys.

- AIA Documents reflect the law

AIA Documents are revised and updated to incorporate changes resulting from court ruling and interpretations, legal precedent and nuances.

- AIA Documents are flexible

AIA Documents can be easily modified to accommodate individual project demands.

AIA North Carolina is a Full Service Distributor of AIA Documents, providing friendly, next-day delivery on orders placed by 2 p.m. Fax your order to (919) 833-2015.

Light + Substance

a unique partnership of the art and science of illumination

Lighting Design Consulting Services

In the design of lighting systems, we must provide solutions to the myriad of tasks found in commercial, institutional, industrial and residential environments. However, just as importantly, lighting design can be used to increase attraction, enhance the feeling of spaciousness, stimulate sensations of intimacy and warmth, reinforce the impression of cheerfulness. Quality lighting design deals with both the quantitative and the psychological aspects of designing space. There is considerable evidence that such lighting design can contribute immeasurably to the quality of architectural space - and this contribution clearly goes beyond simplistic concepts of task visibility..

AIA Political Action Committee

Since its formation in 1986, the AIA North Carolina Political Action Committee (AIA-PAC) has become increasingly active and successful in the political arena.

The AIA-PAC was established to assist the architects of North Carolina in gaining access to state legislators for the purpose of establishing an effective forum on issues facing the profession. Its mission is to work to create an environment in the North Carolina General Assembly and Council of State which is conducive to accomplishing the goals of the architectural profession.

Three specific objectives guide the activities of the AIA-PAC. These are:

- To solicit contributions.
- To make contributions to candidates who will be influential in determining the future course and the practice of architecture in North Carolina.
- To generally educate or inform the membership of AIA North Carolina concerning legislative and political issues affecting the profession.

The AIA-PAC is organized and operated on a voluntary, non-partisan basis to preserve and promote the status of architecture through the pursuit of its objectives. All active members of AIA North Carolina who contribute to AIA-PAC are eligible for membership in the organization.

The organization is governed and supervised by a Board of Directors composed of 21 members of the AIA-PAC, with a minimum of one member from each section of AIA North Carolina. Each Director is appointed to a term of three years, with no Director being appointed to more than two consecutive terms.

Recognized as one of the most successful architect-PACs in the country, the AIA-PAC has achieved high success rates in terms of its contributions to winning candidates and its ability to influence legislation. It has played a prominent role in enhancing the image of AIA North Carolina among state legislators and in establishing architects as a respected source of information for legislators.

To maintain established levels of candidate contributions and ensure the continued effectiveness of AIA North Carolina's Government Affairs Programs, AIA-PAC needs increased financial support from members and friends of the profession.

The 1998 AIA-PAC chair is Paul Davis Boney, AIA, of Boney Architects in Wilmington.

The AIA-PAC assists North Carolina architects in gaining access to state legislators for the purpose of establishing an effective forum on issues facing the profession.

Code of Ethics and Professional Conduct

Members of The American Institute of Architects are dedicated to the highest standards of professionalism, integrity and competence. They apply to all professional activities, wherever they occur. They address responsibilities to the public, which the the profession serves and enriches; to the clients and users of architecture and in the building industries, who help to shape the built environment; and to the art and science of architecture, that continuum of knowledge and creation which is the heritage and legacy of the profession.

The Code is arranged in three tiers of statements: Canons, Ethical Standards and Rules of Conduct. The Canons are broad principles of conduct. The Ethical Standards are more specific goals toward which members should aspire in professional performance and behavior. The Rules of Conduct are mandatory, the violation of which is grounds for disciplinary action by the Institute.

For a copy of the Code or questions, please call 919-833-6656.

For a copy of the Code of Ethics, please call 919-833-6656.

Bylaws

Chartered in 1913, AIA North Carolina is legally registered and incorporated with the North Carolina Secretary of State as the North Carolina Chapter, The American Institute of Architects.

The Bylaws of AIA North Carolina serve as an agreement between the organization and its membership. The Bylaws were most recently revised July 26, 1997.

For a copy of the Bylaws or questions, please call 919-833-6656.

Architectural Education

Two universities in North Carolina offer programs accredited by the National Architectural Accrediting Board – North Carolina State University in Raleigh and the University of North Carolina at Charlotte. The N.C. State School of Design Celebrates its 50th Anniversary in April.

• N.C. STATE UNIVERSITY •

The Department of Architecture at N.C. STATE UNIVERSITY was established in 1948 as one of two original academic components in the School of Design. Under the guidance of founding dean Henry L. Kamphoefner, the School of Design experienced a long period of development, establishing a reputation for innovation.

The School is presently led by Dean Marvin J. Malecha, FAIA, who was appointed to the position in August 1994. Fatih Rifki, AIA, was appointed department head in 1997.

The architecture department has enlarged its mission and curricular offerings over the years to include programs leading to the following three degrees:

• Bachelor of Environmental Design in Architecture (BEDA)

A four-year pre-professional curriculum that serves as the foundation for the two advanced programs. The curriculum includes a balance of general studies (English, mathematics, science and humanities), design studio courses and architectural support courses (history, technology, methods and theory).

• Bachelor of Architecture (B. ARCH)

A one-year professional curriculum that builds on the four-year BEDA or other equivalent program.

• Master of Architecture (M. ARCH)

Three tracks lead to the professional M.ARCH degree: Track I is a two-year program for holders of the BEDA or equivalent four-year pre-professional degree; Track II is a three-semester second professional degree program for holders of the B. ARCH degree.; Track III accepts students with degrees in non-architectural fields into a four-year program.

Both the B. ARCH and M. ARCH are professional degrees accredited by the National Architectural Accrediting Board. The most recent accreditation action took place in 1995, extending accreditation of both programs for five years.

The School of Design annually admits 100 to 120 freshmen and transfer students to the common first-year "Design Fundamentals" program. Students begin their architectural studies in the second year. For information about undergraduate admissions standards and procedures, contact the School of Design, N.C. State University, Box 7701, Raleigh, NC 27695-7701.

Admissions to the B. ARCH and M. ARCH programs are by application to the Department of Architecture. For additional information, contact the Department of Architecture, School of Design, N.C. State University, Box 7701, Raleigh, NC 27695-7701.

• UNC CHARLOTTE •

The College of Architecture at UNC CHARLOTTE was founded in 1969 and graduated its first students with professional degrees in 1976, the same year Charles C. Hight, FAIA, was named dean. In July, 1994, the school received its fourth consecutive full term accreditation from the National Architectural Accrediting Board.

The curriculum provides a balance between theory and application, and general and professional education. The program is structured so a person may develop a double major or minor in another field such as engineering, earth science, business, computer or behavioral science. The curriculum is organized into two sections:

• The Foundation Program

In the first three years, students are enrolled in general education and architectural courses. The studios and seminars, which occur each semester, enable students to acquire the fundamentals of visual design, problem solving, conceptualization and environmental influences. The third year studios focus upon building designs which are site specific. In addition, student extend their knowledge of architectural history and technology while having the opportunity to pursue individual interests through architectural and general elective seminars.

• Advanced Program

In the fourth and fifth years, students select design studios and seminars in accordance with their individual study plan they developed at the end of their third year. In addition, to the design thesis, students have the opportunity to enroll in studios and seminars which focus on topics such as design theories, programming, architectural materials and technology, lighting design, acoustics, wood and metals design/making, community design, computer-aided design, advanced studies in architectural history, graphic explorations and other design issues.

The Bachelor of Arts is awarded at the end of the fourth year and the professional degree, Bachelor of Architecture, is awarded in the fifth year.

Many students in the Advanced Program choose one of the college's European studio options.

Students who do not desire to obtain the professional degree, may pursue a highly specialized or a general study program in the fourth year.

The College accepts transfer students for advanced standing from other NAAB schools.

More detailed information may be obtained by writing the College of Architecture, UNC Charlotte, Charlotte, NC 28223.

AIA Continuing Education Requirements For Membership

Continuing education is now a membership requirement for the American Institute of Architects. Developed to demonstrate AIA members' lifelong commitment to learning, the AIA Continuing Education System (CES) enhances knowledge, competency and competitiveness.

In summary, the Institute's plan includes the following:

- Members now must earn 36 Learning Units (LU) in order to maintain membership.
- The 36 LUs must include 8 contact hours in health/safety-related subject matter.

AIA members can participate in a variety of learning programs and activities through CES. Members receive LUs for each program in which they participate based on the length of the program or activity and its educational level, called quality level (QL). The following summarizes how QLs are determined.

• Quality Level 1 - Passive learning

Members earn 1 LU for each hour of involvement in an activity with a clearly defined professional purpose.

• Quality Level 2 - Interactive learning

Courses at this level offer significant interaction between the instructor (or learning resource) and student. Members earn 2 LUs for each hour of involvement.

• Quality Level 3 - Interactive learning with feedback

In addition to meeting the QL2 requirements, this course includes a method of receiving feedback on the material actually learned. Members earn 3 LUs for each hour of involvement.

How LUs Are Earned

- Members can attend seminars or programs sponsored by an AIA/CES registered provider to receive LUs. In this manner, the provider is responsible for reporting the attendance to the AIA/CES recording center.

- Members may participate in self-directed study, including reading books, watching videos or listening to audio cassettes on architectural topics. Members who earn LUs in this manner are responsible for reporting their participation. AIA North Carolina members may obtain AIA/CES Self Report forms by calling 800-617-FAXX and requesting item 3000.

Where AIA CES Records Are Kept

The CES recordkeeping is performed under contract by the University of Oklahoma, Continuing Education, AIA/CES, 1700 Asp Avenue, Room B4, Norman, OK 73072-6400. Call 202-626-7353 for questions or comments on AIA/CES records.

This recordkeeping center monitors LUs earned by AIA members and keeps track of registered providers. Transcripts regarding LUs earned will be issued annually to AIA members.

Is CES a Requirement for Licensure?

CES is not yet a requirement for licensure in North Carolina; however, the North Carolina Board of Architecture has proposed rules for mandatory continuing education. The rules, if approved, would go into effect in July 1998. Seven states, including Alabama, Florida, Tennessee and Louisiana, now have continuing education as part of architectural licensure.

Where To Find Seminars

The eight local sections of AIA North Carolina offer AIA/CES programs at their meetings. For an updated list of qualifying programs in the region, call 800-617-FAXX and request item 2000.

The AIA Continuing Education System (CES) was developed to demonstrate AIA members' lifelong commitment to learning and to enhance knowledge, competency and competitiveness.

AIA Documents Make Life Easier ...For Most Of Us.

One of the real benefits of using current AIA Documents is you can save time and money by eliminating the need to draft a completely new document for every transaction. Documents are court tested and are updated regularly to reflect changes in industry and construction practices, technology, insurance, and legal precedent. You can choose from more than 120 contracts and forms that help to clarify your rights and obligations and those of the client, contractor, and consultant. It's no wonder AIA Documents are accepted throughout the construction industry. They make life so much easier ... for most of us. Contact us for details.

AIA Fellows

The American Institute of Architects bestows the recognition of Fellowship for achievement in architecture on members who have contributed notably to the advancement of the profession of architecture. With the exception of the Gold Medal, fellowship is the highest honor the AIA can bestow on a member. It is conferred on members with at least 10 years of continuous membership who have made significant contributions to the aesthetic, scientific, and practical efficiency of the profession; to the standards of architectural education, training, and practice; to the building industry through leadership of the AIA and other related professional organizations; to the advancement of the living standards of people through their improved environment and to society through significant public service.

Founded in 1952, the College of Fellows includes approximately five percent of the total AIA membership. Those advanced to fellowship can use "FAIA" after their names in recognition of their contributions in design, education, research or public service.

Current members of AIA North Carolina who have been recognized for Fellowship are:

Richard K. Albyn, FAIA	John B. Hackler, FAIA	Herbert P. McKim, FAIA
John L. Atkins III, FAIA	J. Hyatt Hammond, FAIA	Michael Newman, FAIA

AIA Documents Make Life Easier ...For Most Of Us.

One of the real benefits of using current AIA Documents is you can save time and money by eliminating the need to draft a completely new document for every transaction. Documents are court tested and are updated regularly to reflect changes in industry and construction practices, technology, insurance, and legal precedent. You can choose from more than 120 contracts and forms that help to clarify your rights and obligations and those of the client, contractor, and consultant. It's no wonder AIA Documents are accepted throughout the construction industry. They make life so much easier ... for most of us. Contact us for details.

IF YOU'RE PLANNING EVEN A SMALL RENOVATION ...

... PLAN ON SAVING MONEY WITH AN ARCHITECT.

Whether you're adding a bedroom or building a new home, it pays to call an architect. It all starts with your first meeting. By listening carefully to your specific wants and needs, an architect can help you make the most of your space, speed up your renovation, and smooth out the hassles from start to finish.

Architects know how to keep a watchful eye on your budget throughout a project and can help you avoid costly, last-minute changes.

So if you're considering either renovating or building a new home, give us a call.

We can put you in touch with an AIA architect who'll interpret your needs.

And keep a ceiling on your budget.

IT PAYS TO CALL AN ARCHITECT.

Knowledge by Association

Know what knowledge is? It's information. Data. Experience. The fruits of research and investigation. It's the intellectual capital that moves America forward. And that's not all. In today's competitive, knowledge based-economy, knowledge has another important meaning. It means success.

What does it take to create a high performance workplace? What's the new data that drives planning and priority setting? How do we tap the power of the technology that is exploding around us?

America's associations have the answers. By linking individuals, businesses and industries and by pooling their intellectual and capital resources, associations are powerful creators of knowledge for the new millennium.

How are we creating knowledge by association in America today?

We're creating new applications for technology.

We're designing technologies that could reduce electricity consumption in America by 20 percent, and CO<sub>2</sub> emissions by more than a quarter. Developing assistive technologies for people with spinal cord injury and disease. Testing ethanol-powered engines for city busses to reduce pollution and promote renewable resources.

We're moving research to action.

Association-sponsored research unlocks new solutions for America's future. We're developing better laboratory testing procedures to combat AIDS around the world. Finding the best strategies for implementing the Americans with Disabilities Act. Polling police chiefs and sheriffs about crime prevention—and what works best.

We're linking people with information and answers.

We help America work smarter. We're linking human resource specialists around the world to enhance performance in the workplace. Creating networks for sharing health care information resources in communities. Bringing new findings in science and technology to practitioners nationwide.

Associations make sure that knowledge creation can continue to drive innovation, excellence and growth in America. Why? Because there's no separating what we know from what we are able to do.

Creating Knowledge.

Innovating.

Learning.

Ensuring Excellence.

Bringing People Together.
