American Institute of Architects

Founded in 1857, The American Institute of Architects is the recognized advocate for the architectural profession in the United States.

With a membership of nearly 70,000 architects, interns and students, the AIA actively promotes the highest standards of professional ethics and advances the professional development of its members through continuing education. Speaking with a unified voice, the AIA represents architects in governmental and regulatory decisions that impact professional practice and the quality of life.

The North Carolina Chapter of The American Institute of Architects (AIA North Carolina) was founded in 1913 and is the largest statewide AIA chapter in the U.S. with nearly 1,800 members. The membership of AIA North Carolina includes about three-quarters of the architects who live in this state.

AIA North Carolina members work and live in every corner of the state, practicing in firms ranging in size from one to 400 persons. The membership is divided into seven geographical sections, located in Asheville, Charlotte, Eastern North Carolina, Piedmont (Greensboro/High Point), Triangle, Wilmington and Winston-Salem. AIA North Carolina focuses its resources on the following five key areas:

Government Affairs

With its offices located in a historic building less than one block from the State Capitol, AIA North Carolina is well-positioned to represent architects' views in legislation and public policy development. AIA North Carolina opinions and positions are actively sought by lawmakers when dealing with legislation affecting construction, building codes and planning. Through a separate organization, AIA North Carolina maintains a well-funded political action committee ranked among the top 20 association and corporate PACs in the state.

Mission Statement

The American Institute of Architects is the voice of the architectural profession dedicated to:

- Serving its members
- Advancing their value
- Improving the quality of the built environment

Public Relations

Working through several volunteer committees and its local sections, AIA North Carolina actively pursues a concerted effort to help the public become more aware of architecture and the positive impact architects have on the built environment. The Chapter's annual Design Awards program is a prime opportunity to highlight to the public the finest work by N.C. architects. The governor of North Carolina traditionally declares a week each year as Architecture Week and the AIA local sections host a wide variety of activities intended to engage and stimulate the public. Architecture Week 2000 is scheduled for September 17-23.

Continuing Education

Continuing education is a requirement for licensure renewal and for ongoing membership in the AIA. AIA North Carolina will offer its members a total of 10 affordable and accessible day-long programs during 2000 dedicated to health-safety-welfare subject material. AIA members also have access to participate in 22 Professional Interest Areas which specifically target career and practice needs ranging from health care facilities to historic preservation.

The annual Summer Design Conference, scheduled for August 10-12 at the Westin Resort in Hilton Head Island, SC, provides architects a three-day opportunity for professional development and networking.

Member Services

Publications and information are among the most valuable services available to AIA members. Members receive subscriptions to national publications such as Architectural Record and AIArchitect, along with the AIA North Carolina Architect newsletter. Web sites are maintained at www.e-architect.com and www.aia-nc.org

Collateral Organizations

AIA North Carolina maintains and develops relationships with a host of organizations which impact the architectural profession including construction trade associations, state regulatory agencies, accredited schools of architecture and other licensed design professionals.

President's Message By Katherine N. Peele, AIA

Katherine N. Peele, AIA

As we turn the page on the 20th century, this is a most exciting yet challenging time to be an architect.

Continuing a legacy that extends far beyond two millennia, architects continue to be at the forefront of designing the places we live, work and worship. Our impact and value to our clients today, however, extends far beyond mere aesthetics. Our major focus now is on making these buildings operate more efficiently and helping our clients run their businesses, schools or health care facilities more effectively in a highly-competitive marketplace. It is truly a case of form following function.

In many cases, our clients are asking us to take greater control of their projects and, as a result, the last decade has witnessed a redefinition of the architectural profession. Architects are getting involved on the front end of project development and staying involved longer. In fact, our thinking has moved beyond individual construction projects and is now centered on building long-term client relationships, managing a facility through its entire lifecycle and providing our clients with an expanded menu of services.

In many cases, architectural firms now work with their clients on a wide array of issues such as site selection, regulatory approval, computer visualization, strategic planning, construction administration and facilities management.

The digital revolution has profoundly influenced the architectural profession. Initially, computer technology allowed architects to speed up the design process and provide clients a virtual image of what their buildings could look like. The emergence of the Internet has now made geographic boundaries almost irrelevant. North Carolina architectural firms are working with clients in Europe, Southeast Asia and the Middle East, along with most of the other 49 states.

Nevertheless, there are still plenty of challenges close to home. The North Carolina economy has expanded at a feverish clip for the last seven years with much of the growth focused along the I-85 corridor. Our state's growth, coupled with changing demographics, has spurred the need for and development of new schools, new retail centers, new facilities to handle long-term medical care and, in some cases, brand-new communities.

In this election year, much will be written and said about the subject of livable communities, also known in some circles as "smart growth". The American Institute of Architects, North Carolina Chapter intends to play a lead role in assisting our state and local governments to address this critical issue of responsible development. Two of our members, Jeffrey T. Davis, AIA, of Raleigh, and Darrel Williams, AIA, of Charlotte have been appointed to a Smart Growth legislative study commission.

Smart growth is just one of the legislative issues we intend to have a voice in during the year 2000 and beyond. Streamlining the state construction process, developing a financing mechanism for university and community college facility needs, and protecting the integrity and value of an architectural license are among our top priorities.

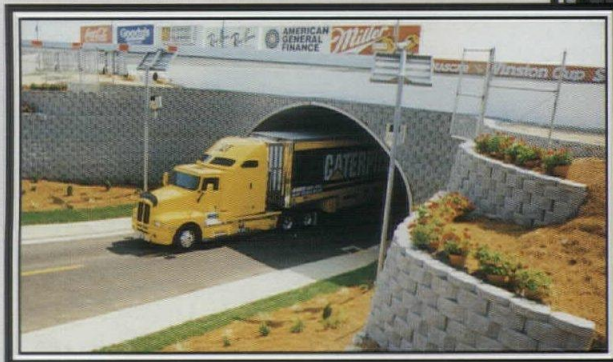

Maintaining a legislative presence for architects is just one of the many services we provide to the 1,790 men and women who belong to AIA North Carolina. Our nationally-recognized continuing education program helps our members meet their needs for licensure renewal while providing them the knowledge they need to succeed in this highly-competitive marketplace. Thanks to some dedicated volunteers, we have developed a variety of public relations tools to help illustrate the unique skills and talents provided by an architect. Because of our highly-effective Web site (www.aia-nc.org) and that of our national organization (www.aiaonline.com), we are able to share important information instantaneously with our members and clients.

Lastly, we are well-positioned as an organization to have ongoing dialogue with the educational institutions, regulatory agencies and allied associations that have such a profound impact on our profession and, ultimately, on the built environment.

Continuing Education Program Named Nation's Best

The 1999 Award for Excellence from the American Institute of Architects' Continuing Education System has been presented to AIA North Carolina. The North Carolina Chapter was honored during the January 2000 Grassroots program in Washington, DC for its highly-successful and innovative Continuing Education Academy. AIA North Carolina was the only AIA chapter in America to receive this prestigious honor.

During the 1999 calendar year, AIA North Carolina launched its Academy, providing 10 day-long continuing education programs at a variety of locations across the state. Each program offered a total of six hours of health-safety-welfare credit or half of the annual total required for North Carolina architects when they apply for licensure renewal.

The programs were specifically designed to be affordable, accessible and relevant to architectural licensees. During 1999, more than 1,200 architects participated in AIA North Carolina's continuing education programs. The programs delivered nearly 5,500 hours of continuing education credit.

As Director of Continuing Education, Steven D. Schuster, AIA, of Raleigh was responsible for developing the programming for the Academy seminars.

"Value of the Architect" Wins National Awards

AIA North Carolina has received a 1999 Gold Circle Award for its "Value of the Architect" videotape. The prestigious Gold Circle Awards are presented by the American Society of Association Executives (ASAE) and recognize excellence in non-profit communications.

The "Value of the Architect" is a nine-minute video that clearly describes the role and value of an architect in designing buildings.

The winning video was developed by a 14-person volunteer committee, chaired by Carl P. Myatt, AIA and Mark Sealy, AIA, that spent nearly three years working on the project. Myatt and Sealy have received a national AIA Public Affairs award for their leadership efforts on this project. The video is now being used in a variety of settings including civic clubs, classrooms and client meetings.

Copies of the video may be obtained by calling (919) 833-6656 or by visiting www.aia-nc.org

Rand, McMahan Receive Honors from N.C. Chapter

Two influential stalwarts of the North Carolina General Assembly, Senator Tony Rand of Fayetteville and Representative Ed McMahan of Charlotte, received presidential certificates from AIA North Carolina during the Chapter's 1999 Legislative Day.

The two lawmakers were honored for their effective support of the architectural profession. Rand is Senate Rules chairman and sponsored a successful rewrite of the architectural practice act during the 1997 General Assembly. McMahan is vice-chairman of Little & Associates Architects, the state's largest architectural firm.

Architects Lend Flood Assistance

More than 80 architects and their associates provided much-needed volunteer assistance to communities devastated by flooding from Hurricane Floyd.

AIA North Carolina orchestrated the volunteer effort for a six-week period with financial assistance from the AIA's national office.

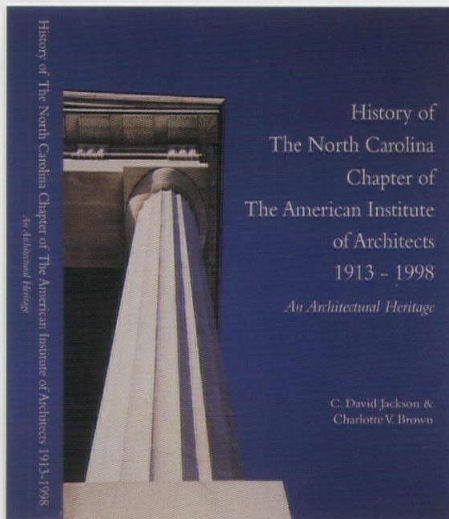

The volunteers offered their time and expertise in Pitt County, along with the towns of Nashville and Rocky Mount. Architect volunteers conducted damage assessments on flooded homes and businesses in concert with the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) requirements.

In 1995, AIA North Carolina successfully lobbied for Senate Bill 119 which provides architects and engineers qualified immunity when providing volunteer services during a declared emergency.

AIA North Carolina received a national AIA Government Affairs award for its volunteer flood assistance effort, receiving high-praise for its rapid deployment of members, volunteer outreach and press exposure.

Silver Howison, Hon. AIA, of Raleigh.

All 1,760 members of AIA North Carolina received a complimentary copy, as did a long list of North Carolina elected officials, legislators, school superintendents, corporate executives, university/community college presidents and libraries.

The history book has received a National AIA Public Affairs award. The awards jury called the book "a tremendous undertaking!...interesting, readable and compelling...job well done."

Copies of the book may be obtained for $40 by calling (919) 833-6656 or by visiting www.aia-nc.org.

Chapter History Book Wins Praise

Published in the summer of 1999, the "History of The North Carolina Chapter of The American Institute of Architects—1913-1998: An Architectural Heritage" is a handsome, 320-page book with 540 photographs. The book is co-authored by the late C. David Jackson and Charlotte Brown.

A four-person volunteer task force spent nearly four years researching the book. The task force included Leslie N. Boney, Jr., FAIA, of Wilmington; Macon S. Smith, FAIA, of Raleigh; Marvin R.A. Johnson, FAIA, of Raleigh; and Betty

Jim Boniface, AIA Charlotte Receive Special Recognition

1999 AIA North Carolina president James H. Boniface, AIA, of Charlotte received a national award from the AIA for his outstanding individual contribution to government affairs. AIA Charlotte received an honorable mention in public affairs for its successful Bottom Line Awards program and partnership with the Charlotte Business Journal.

Boniface was honored for his leadership and service in the political arena on behalf of the North Carolina architectural profession. As a volunteer leader, he was responsible for developing a new strategic direction for the Chapter's political action committee. This new initiative resulted in contributions of more than $30,000 in each of the last five years, ranking the North Carolina Architects' PAC among the top 20 association and corporate PACs in the state.

Boniface has also been appointed by North Carolina Senate President Pro Tem Marc Basnight to serve as the co-chair of the State Construction Review study committee. The study group is charged with finding ways to streamline the review process for state-funded construction projects.

Paul Boney Named Fellow of the Institute

Paul Davis Boney, FAIA, of Wilmington was the only North Carolinian and one of 97 architects nationwide who were elevated to the AIA College of Fellows in 1999.

Fellowship status is reserved for members who have made contributions of national significance to their profession. Boney, the CEO of Boney Architects with offices in Wilmington, Raleigh and Charlotte, was honored for his much-acclaimed expertise in the design of K-12 public educational facilities.

The Boney nomination read, in part: "He (Boney) is sought by the AIA, the White House, the U.S. Department of Education and governors for his wisdom and knowledge. Paul Boney has provided valuable service to the Institute by leading, organizing and facilitating national forums on public education."

Chapter Web Site

For the latest news and information about AIA North Carolina and the architectural profession, check out the new and improved Chapter Web site at www.aia-nc.org. The Web site home page includes a frequently-updated "news" section, along with a host of important information affecting architects. The Web site includes hyperlinks to related sites such as AIA Online, the North Carolina Board of Architecture and much more. Web site visitors may also register electronically for upcoming continuing education programs.

NCCBI Special Insert

For the third straight year, AIA North Carolina maintained a partnership with the North Carolina Citizens for Business and Industry. NCCBI published a 20-page special insert in its October issue of North Carolina magazine. The insert included winners of the 1999 Chapter Awards program, along with a cover story about the architectural profession. North Carolina magazine reaches a large number of North Carolina's business and political leaders. "It's a powerful vehicle for us to communicate our message to such a large number of clients, real or potential," said Kerry A. Kane, AIA, 2000 secretary of AIA North Carolina.

New Long Range Plan

A special 14-person task force, chaired by 2000 president Katherine N. Peele, AIA, spent several months in the summer of 1999, developing a new long range strategic plan for AIA North Carolina. The plan outlines seven basic priorities for the Chapter to focus on during the next five years, including increased influence in the legislative arena, providing high-quality continuing education programs and promoting an inclusive membership.

Harmon Dominates Design Awards

Raleigh architect Frank Harmon, FAIA, claimed top honors in the 1999 AIA North Carolina Design Awards competition. Harmon, a global leader in the movement for environmentally friendly architecture and an instructor at North Carolina State University, won an unprecedented total of three Honor Awards, AIA North Carolina's highest award for excellence in design.

It marked the first time in the 44-year history of the Design Award competition that one architect has won three awards in the highest category in the same year. Six firms have won three awards in the same year but never all in the Honor category.

Harmon's winning projects included the North Carolina Pottery Center in Seagrove, NC; a beach house atop a 5,000-year-old sand dune in Emerald Isle, NC; and a vacation home overlooking Scotland Cay in the Bahamas.

The Freelon Group of Research Triangle Park, headed by Philip G. Freelon, AIA, also was presented an Honor Award for its design of the Julius L. Chambers Biomedical/ Biotechnology Research Institute on the campus of North Carolina Central University in Durham.

Four firms received AIA North Carolina Merit Awards, including O'Brien/Atkins Associates, PA of Durham for the MCI WorldCom Administrative Complex in Cary. It was the seventh straight year that the Durham firm has won an AIA North Carolina Design Award—the longest winning streak in the history of the competition.

O'Brien/Atkins won a total of 12 design awards during the 1990s—including seven Honor and five Merit Awards—more than any other North Carolina firm. Frank Harmon, Architect is next with seven, including six Honor Awards.

Other Merit Award winners were: Fishero McGuire Krueger Architects, PA of Charlotte for renovations of the First Ward Place public housing project in Charlotte; Shuller Ferris Johnson + Lindstrom Architects of Fayetteville for the North Regional Branch Library in Fayetteville; and Pearce Brinkley Cease & Lee, PA of Raleigh for the RDU Center at Raleigh-Durham International Airport.

The winning designs were chosen from a field of 81 entries from AIA North Carolina member firms. The awards jury was chaired by Robert Ivy, FAIA, of New York City, editor in chief of Architectural Record. Also serving on the jury were Charles Linn, AIA, managing senior editor of Architectural Record; George Beylerian, founder and president of Material Connexion; and Max Protetch, director of The Protetch Gallery.

Jury chairman Ivy said of Harmon's hat trick, "We were quite surprised when we learned all three designs were done by the same firm. Each is done in a different idiom, and they appear dissimilar. It was only after we learned the architect's identity that we went back and saw the similarities, most notably in the signature exploration of the relationship between the internal and external environments."

"An excellent command of the International Style. Solid planes, glass and a wide expanse of decking create a strong relationship between the house and its site upon the dune."
 -Robert Ivy, FAIA, Editor-in-chief, Architectural Record

Gold Medal

J. Hyatt Hammond, FALA

"Hyatt has shown exceptional leadership in Piedmont North Carolina, maintained high standards of design in his firm and given endless hours to the betterment of his profession."

-Carl P. Myatt, AIA, Greensboro

Greensboro architect J. Hyatt Hammond, FAIA, is the 1999 recipient of the AIA North Carolina—F. Carter Williams Gold Medal, the highest honor given an individual architect by The American Institute of Architects, North Carolina Chapter.

AIA North Carolina awards the Gold Medal each year in recognition of a distinguished career in architecture or for extraordinary architectural achievements. The award is named in honor of F. Carter Williams, FAIA, a retired Raleigh architect. The Williams' family has established an endowment in support of the Gold Medal.

Hammond is the founder of J. Hyatt Hammond Associates, a Greensboro architectural firm that recently celebrated its 40th anniversary. In a career spanning nearly a half-century, Hammond has left a distinctive mark upon the North Carolina landscape. His architectural signature is found on dozens of schools, university and community college facilities, office buildings, churches and government offices.

The Hammond firm is perhaps best known for its work at the North Carolina Zoo in Asheboro. It designed the first five African exhibits, which remain the zoo's most popular attractions. The firm also prepared the original master plan and designed the infrastructure for the complex.

Other notable projects for the firm include the Bryan Enrichment Center in Greensboro, the Greensboro Public Library, the Lexington Furniture showrooms in Thomasville, and the Natuzzi Americas headquarters in High Point. Since its founding in 1957, the firm has won a total of six design awards from the North Carolina Chapter and also captured an Award of Merit from the AIA South Atlantic Region for the North Carolina State University Faculty Club.

As a former president of both AIA North Carolina and the state licensing board, Hammond was invested in the AIA College of Fellows in 1976. A graduate of NC State, Hammond and his wife Bonnie, founded J. Hyatt Hammond Associates in Asheboro in 1957. They opened a Greensboro office in 1962. After a major heart operation in 1985, Hammond moved the firm's headquarters to Greensboro, closed the Asheboro office and reorganized the firm. In 1995, Hammond turned over the operation of the firm to three senior associates and he works as a project architect.

Walter Robbs Callahan & Pierce Architects—the Winston-Salem architectural firm best known for helping to reshape its home town's skyline—is the recipient of the 1999 AIA North Carolina Outstanding Firm Award.

The Firm Award is presented each year to the North Carolina firm that has consistently produced quality architecture and achieved a high level of client satisfaction over a minimum of 10 years.

Since its founding in 1965, Walter Robbs Callahan & Pierce has produced an impressive body of quality design. It is one of only five North Carolina firms to win an AIA National Design Award, receiving that honor in 1984 for its restoration of the landmark R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Company headquarters in Downtown Winston-Salem. The Reynolds renovation also earned a national award from the Art Deco Society of New York City.

The firm has also left its mark all across North Carolina. Among its credits are the College of Textiles building on Centennial Campus at North Carolina State University in Raleigh; the Wilson Wing on Joyner Library at East Carolina University in Greenville; the North Carolina Public Education Building in Raleigh; and several projects on the Wake Forest University campus.

The firm's principals—C. Laurence Robbs, AIA; Rence Callahan, AIA; Clark Pierce, AIA; and founder Lloyd G. Walter, Jr., FAIA—are committed to the belief that architects have the opportunity and obligation to be a positive force in society. Walter announced his retirement from the firm in the fall of 1999.

“Joyner Library was an old building set in an old part of campus; it is now new, exciting and, nevertheless, fits right into its surroundings.”

Continuing Education Now Mandatory for Licensure and Membership

North Carolina architects must fulfill a program of continuing education each year in order to renew their licenses. Continuing education has been a membership requirement for the American Institute of Architects for several years now. The two requirements are slightly different but compatible.

Here's the bottom line: AIA architects in North Carolina should obtain a total of 18 hours of continuing education each year, 12 of those in health-safety-welfare subject matter. The architect will then meet both the licensure and AIA membership requirements.

State Licensure Requirements

Each year, a North Carolina architect must complete a verifiable program of 12 contact hours of continuing education. The contact hours must be in health-safety-welfare subject material. Contact hours may not be carried over from one calendar year to the next. HSW Programs provided by AIA registered providers will be accepted by the North Carolina Board of Architecture. The licensing board will also accept an AIA member's continuing education transcript as evidence of continuing education fulfillment.

AIA Requirements

Developed to demonstrate AIA members' lifelong commitment to learning, the AIA Continuing Education System (CES) enhances knowledge, competency and competitiveness. In summary, the Institute's plan includes the following:

- Members must have 18 hours of continuing education per year in order to maintain membership.
- The 18 hours must include 8 contact hours in health/safety-related subject matter.

AIA North Carolina Continuing Education Academy

AIA North Carolina has successfully launched an aggressive effort to provide its members affordable, accessible and relevant continuing education. The AIA North Carolina Continuing Education Academy is the winner of the 1999 AIA/CES Award for Excellence. AIA North Carolina was the only AIA chapter or component in America to win this prestigious award for excellence in continuing education programming and member service.

In 1999, the AIA North Carolina Continuing Education Academy program provided a total of 5,332 hours of HSW continuing education to a total of 1,233 architects in its first year of existence.

In 2000, AIA North Carolina plans to offer at least 12 day-long seminars at various locations around the state. Each day-long program will provide six hours of HSW credit or half of the annual requirement. The Summer Design Conference in Asheville, scheduled for August 10-12 at the Westin Resort in Hilton Head Island, SC, also provides an opportunity for members to fulfill their requirements in a compressed period of time.

Here's a list of scheduled Academy programs in 2000:

Friday, February 4, Charlotte
Friday, March 17, Triangle
Friday, April 28, Triad
Friday, May 12, Asheville
Thursday, June 15, Eastern NC
Friday, September 15, Triangle
Friday, September 29, Charlotte
Friday, October 13, Triad
Friday, November 17, Triangle
Friday, December 1, Charlotte

In addition, the seven local sections of AIA North Carolina typically offer AIA/CES programs at their meetings. Visit the AIA North Carolina web site at www.aia-nc.org/continuing\_education for an updated listing of continuing education programs in the Southeast.

Where AIA CES Records Are Kept

The CES record-keeping is performed under contract by the University of Oklahoma, Continuing Education, AIA/CES, 1700 Asp Avenue, Room B4, Norman, OK 73072-6400. Call 202-626-7353 for questions or comments on AIA/CES records.

This record-keeping center monitors contact hours earned by AIA members and keeps track of registered providers. Official transcripts will be issued annually to AIA members. AIA members may monitor their continuing education progress by visiting AIA Online at www.e-architect.com by using a member ID number, members may access an updated transcript of personal continuing education activities.

North Carolina Board of Architecture

The North Carolina Board of Architecture, established by the General Assembly in 1915, is responsible for enforcement of the laws and regulations governing the practice of architecture in the state. A major task is to determine the qualifications of applicants who seek to take the registration examination which is registered nationally.

The Board is comprised of seven members appointed by the Governor, five of whom are licensed architects appointed for five-year terms. Two of the members of the Board are not licensed architects and represent the interests of the public at large. The public members serve at the pleasure of the Governor.

North Carolina requires registered architects to hold a degree in architecture from a college or university where the degree program has been approved by the Board, or professional equivalents outlined and defined in the Board's Table of Equivalents for Education and Experience. The professional education qualification shall be a National Architectural Accrediting Board (NAAB) accredited professional degree in architecture.

Board members are Norma DeCamp Burns, FAIA, president, Raleigh; Jeffrey A. Huberman, FAIA, vice president, Charlotte; Kevin G. Montgomery, AIA, treasurer, Durham; G. Daniel Knight, Jr., AIA, secretary, Rocky Mount; Alan W.T. Baldwin, Jr, AIA, Charlotte; Vinod Goel, public member, Raleigh; and Kiki Teague, public member, Winston-Salem.

National Council of Architectural Registration Boards

The National Council of Architectural Registration Boards (NCARB) was established in 1920 to assist member boards in carrying out their duties, foster the enactment of uniform architectural laws, develop examinations and establish standards for certification requirements in education and training, to perfect its procedures for verifying the qualifications of applicants and determining their eligibility for certification, and establish and maintain reciprocal registration between states having registration laws.

The NCARB is a non-profit corporation with all legally constituted boards of architecture in the United States as members, including the North Carolina Board of Architecture. To be eligible for NCARB certification, architects must submit satisfactory evidence that they comply with the standard for education, training, examination and character and have been registered by a member board.

The NCARB will, upon request of an individual architect, secure, authenticate, and record factual data of the applicant's education, training, practice and character. This record will be forwarded to any state board upon request of the applicant.

Certification shall be given to an applicant holding a council record verifying that the applicant has complied with the council's standards of education, training, practice and character; and that the applicant has passed an examination conforming to the council's standards of content, extent and length of time.

Certification by the NCARB is recommendation to all registration authorities that registration be granted to the holder without further examination. Most licensing boards accept NCARB certification as conclusive evidence of an architect's eligibility of registration. It is, however, not a national registration.

Complete information on compiling a council record and obtaining council certification can be obtained from:

Bylaws

Chartered in 1913, AIA North Carolina is legally registered and incorporated with the North Carolina Secretary of State as the North Carolina Chapter, The American Institute of Architects. The Bylaws of AIA North Carolina serve as an agreement between the organization and its membership. The Bylaws were most recently revised on August 1, 1998. For a copy of the Bylaws or questions, please call (919) 833-6656.

Code of Ethics & Professional Conduct

Members of The American Institute of Architects are dedicated to the highest standards of professionalism, integrity and competence. They apply to all professional activities. They address responsibilities to the public, which the profession serves and enriches; to the clients and users of architecture and in the building industries, who help to shape the built environment; and to the art and science of architecture.

The Code is arranged in three tiers of statements: Canons, Ethical Standards and Rules of Conduct. The Canons are broad principles of conduct. The Ethical Standards are more specific goals toward which members should aspire in professional performance and behavior. The Rules of Conduct are mandatory, the violation of which is grounds for disciplinary action by the Institute.

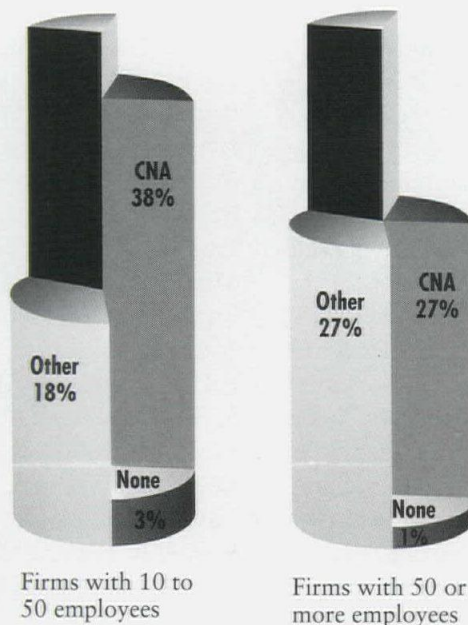

A copy of the Code of Ethics is available on AIA Online at www.e-architect.com/institute/codeethics.asp

AIA Fellows

The American Institute of Architects bestows the recognition of Fellowship for achievement in architecture on members who have contributed notably to the advancement of the profession of architecture. With the exception of the Gold Medal, fellowship is the highest honor the AIA can bestow on a member. It is conferred on members with at least 10 years of continuous membership who have made significant contributions to the aesthetic, scientific, and practical efficiency of the profession; to the standards of architectural education, training, and practice; to the building industry through leadership of the AIA and other related professional organizations; to the advancement of the living standards of people through their improved environment and to society through significant public service.

Founded in 1952, the College of Fellows includes approximately five percent of the total AIA membership. Those advanced to fellowship can use "FAIA" after their names in recognition of their contributions in design, education, research or public service.

AIA Political Action Committee

The AIA-PAC is one of the most successful architect PACs in America. During the 1997-98 election cycle, AIA-PAC raised more than $60,000 from North Carolina architects and made similar contributions to candidates for the North Carolina General Assembly. The North Carolina Forum for Research and Economic Enterprise (NC Free) ranks AIA-PAC among the top 20 corporate or association PACs in North Carolina.

The 2000 chairman of the AIA-PAC is:

Gary L. Hubler, AIA
Little & Associates Architects
5815 Westpark Drive
Charlotte, NC 28217-3562
(704) 561-3413

Gary Hubler, AIA

Recognized as one of the most successful architect PACs in the country, the AIA-PAC has achieved high success rates in terms of its contributions to winning candidates and its ability to influence legislation. It has played a prominent role in enhancing the image of AIA North Carolina among state legislators and in establishing architects as a respected source of information for legislators.

Legislative Success

Since its formation in 1986, the AIA North Carolina Political Action Committee (AIA-PAC) has become increasingly successful in the political arena and has been of major assistance to AIA North Carolina in advancing its legislative agenda.

A long string of legislative victories have been achieved by AIA North Carolina in the last decade including:

- Qualification-Based Selection for architects on public projects;
- Greater flexibility for single-prime contracting on public projects;
- Statutory strengthening of the Architectural Practice Act (G.S. 83A);
- Passage of a $1.8 billion statewide bond issue for school construction;
- Qualified immunity for architects as volunteers in declared emergencies; and
- Clarification of a seven-year statute of repose

AIA North Carolina has also been successful in defeating or altering legislation which could have had a negative effect on the architectural profession. In addition, AIA architects have been appointed by the Governor and legislative leaders to key positions on regulatory and advisory boards and commissions.

Mission of AIA-PAC

The AIA-PAC was established to assist the architects of North Carolina in gaining access to state legislators for the purpose of establishing an effective forum on issues facing the profession. Its mission is to work to create an environment in the North Carolina General Assembly and Council of State which is conducive to accomplishing the goals of the architectural profession.

Three specific objectives guide the activities of the AIA-PAC. These are:

- To solicit contributions;
- To make contributions to candidates who will be influential in determining the future course and the practice of architecture in North Carolina; and
- To generally educate or inform the membership of AIA North Carolina concerning legislative and political issues affecting the profession.

The AIA-PAC is organized and operated on a voluntary, non-partisan basis to preserve and promote the status of architecture through the pursuit of its objectives.

The organization is governed and supervised by a Board of Directors composed of 21 members of the AIA-PAC, with a minimum of one member from each section of AIA North Carolina. Each director is appointed to a term of three years, with no director being appointed to more than two consecutive terms.

To maintain established levels of candidate contributions and ensure the continued effectiveness of AIA North Carolina's Government Affairs Programs, AIA-PAC needs continued and increased financial support from members and friends of the profession. Records and information about AIA-PAC are maintained at the offices of AIA North Carolina.

Day in, day out. Morning, noon and night. Kitchens designed by Faassen & Associates have been busy at work for almost 30 years, all around the world. Although they may not have served 500,000,000, they've served quite a lot.

Faassen & Associates has designed kitchens for corporate headquarters, government facilities and prisons, educational facilities, health care facilities, convention centers and hotels. We're specialists in kitchen and laundry design and we understand what it takes to get a project done properly. With our expertise, the architect's cost will be less and the engineer's work will be simpler. We are independent from commercial ties, thus offer unbiased professional service. We complete your team, enhancing the quality of your delivered product.

Food facilities and laundries are large investments and clients deserve the best design service available. So, whether you need to serve up just a midnight snack or meatballs by the millions, contact Faassen & Associates now and let us help you with your next project.
