American Institute of Architects

Founded in 1857, The American Institute of Architects is the recognized advocate for the architectural profession in the United States.

With a membership of nearly 70,800 architects, interns and students, the AIA actively promotes the highest standards of professional ethics and advances the professional development of its members through continuing education. Speaking with a unified voice, the AIA represents architects in governmental and regulatory decisions that impact professional practice and the quality of life.

The North Carolina Chapter of The American Institute of Architects (AIA North Carolina) was founded in 1913 and is the largest statewide AIA chapter in the U.S. with over 1,900 members. The membership of AIA North Carolina includes about three-quarters of the architects who live in this state.

AIA North Carolina members work and live in every corner of the state, practicing in firms ranging in size from one to 400 persons. The membership is divided into seven geographical sections, located in Asheville, Charlotte, Eastern North Carolina, Piedmont (Greensboro/High Point), Triangle, Wilmington and Winston-Salem.

AIA North Carolina focuses its resources on five key areas, including:

GOVERNMENT AFFAIRS

With its offices located in a historic building less than one block from the State Capitol, AIA North Carolina is well-positioned to represent the view in legislation and public policy development. AIA North Carolina opinions and positions are actively sought by lawmakers when dealing with legislation affecting construction, building codes and planning. Through a separate organization, AIA North Carolina maintains a well-funded political action committee ranked among the top 40 association and corporate PACs in the state.

PUBLIC AWARENESS OF ARCHITECTURE AND THE PROFESSION

Working through several volunteer committees and its local sections, AIA North Carolina actively pursues a concerted effort to help the public become more aware of architecture and the positive impact architects have on the built environment. The Chapter's annual Design Awards program is a prime opportunity to highlight to the public the finest work by N.C. architects. The governor of North Carolina traditionally declares a week each year as Architecture Week and the AIA local sections host a wide variety of activities intended to engage and stimulate the public. Architecture Week in the year 2002 is scheduled for September 16-22.

CONTINUING EDUCATION AND PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Continuing education is a requirement for licensure renewal and for ongoing membership in the AIA. In 2002, North Carolina members will have a unique opportunity to fulfill much of their continuing education requirement at the AIA's National Convention in Charlotte, May 9-11. The chapter will also offer affordable and accessible programs during 2002 dedicated to health-safety-welfare subject material. AIA members can participate in 22 Professional Interest Areas, that specifically target career, and practice needs ranging from health care facilities to historic preservation. The annual Summer Design Conference, scheduled for August 22-24 at the Grove Park Inn, Asheville, NC provides architects a three-day opportunity for professional development and networking.

MEMBER SERVICES

Publications and information are among the most valuable services available to AIA members. Members receive subscriptions to national publications such as Architectural Record and AIArchitect, along with the AIA North Carolina Architect newsletter. Web sites are maintained at www.aia.org and www.aianc.org.

COLLATERAL ORGANIZATIONS

AIA North Carolina maintains and develops relationships with a host of organizations which impact the architectural profession including construction trade associations, state regulatory agencies, accredited schools of architecture and other licensed design professionals.

President's Message

BOBBY W. PATTERSON, AIA

Many things define a civilization. Art, music, literature and architecture are among the things that survive the moment and current times, leaving a legacy for and defining ourselves to future generations. It is a privilege to be part of a profession that plays a role in that legacy. It was interesting, recently, to begin preparing to teach a class in renaissance architecture to late elementary and early middle school children. That process involved conveying the essence of what architects do, what design is and how to begin creating space. It forces you to think in a new way, and that is good. I was reminded of one of Murphy's "laws": "Inside every large problem is a series of small problems struggling to get out." Murphy must have been an architect, for in this simple statement we find some of the essence of what we do.

Now, more than ever, those that we serve are looking to us as architects for guidance. Facility management, security, sustainability, smart growth, bottom line efficiency, financial planning, permit management, site selection and strategic planning are all issues that are becoming more and more prevalent in interviews and discussions with our clients. Additionally, what we are capable of doing is continually being expanded by the information technology available to us. One may argue whether computers have simplified our lives. However, the technology has expanded our capabilities in what we offer. Quite often, an architect is the first person a client asks for help with a situation and more frequently than ever our response is, "We can do that."

AIA North Carolina is now an association of nearly 2,000 talented members, representing a wide span of practice. Our members teach in universities and community colleges, serve the public in government agencies, work in firms from one to several hundred, in corporations, for contractors, construction managers and building material producers. During our sustained growth over the past several years, AIA North Carolina has become one of the largest components in the nation, one of the most respected and the recipient of several awards for programs and services.

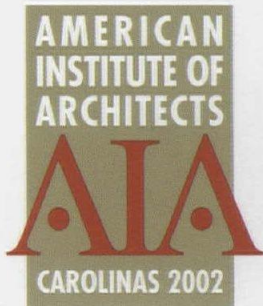

During this year of transition, David Crawford has joined us as Executive Director. With his 10-plus years of AIA component experience, David has brought a wealth of knowledge and initiative to AIA North Carolina. Many of you have worked over the years to build our political awareness and legislative involvement to the point that our elected leaders recognize architects as sources of information on a wide range of topics. David continues to support and enhance our position among the elected leaders of this state. An outgrowth of AIA North Carolina's involvement in the political process is that a growing number of our members are seeking and serving in elected and appointed offices. This service must be recognized as an outgrowth of our experience and commitment to enhancing the profession of architecture.

Our multi-talented chapter staff continues to deliver services to the membership that outpace any other comparably staffed national AIA component. We as a board are seeking ways to enhance and expand the services delivered to each member regardless of geographic location or character of relationship to the profession.

Without question, the most unique opportunity for AIA North Carolina in 2002 will be to serve as co-host, with AIA South Carolina, for the AIA National Convention in Charlotte. Each architect member and associate member is pre-registered to take advantage of the breadth and depth of all that an event of this magnitude has to offer. Imagine, showcasing the Carolinas to 15,000 or more of our colleagues from across the country and around the globe. Numerous opportunities await each member, from traditional convention activities to helping host our guests by volunteering for tours and other exciting events. The ability to host the National Convention is a testament to our growth and recognition as a region. Joining with AIA South Carolina as co-host will pay dividends as we work together toward a common goal.

As this year unfolds, challenge yourself to connect and to reach out. Seek ways to connect to your community through volunteer service on boards, charities, religious institutions, or another entity that could benefit from your training and experience. Connect to your profession by serving on a committee or assisting with the National Convention. Reach out to someone interested in architecture. This may be a child seeking a career, someone in another profession looking to change careers, a person that has always been curious about design and building, or a current student of architecture. It is my belief that your reward will be greater than the investment. The quality of architecture as a profession and the stature of AIA North Carolina will grow as a result.

It is my honor to be able to serve and represent the membership of AIA North Carolina. Together, much can be accomplished. Let's get started.

Design Design 2002 AIA National Convention

In 2002, the "Queen City" of Charlotte and the AIA North and South Carolina Chapters played host to the annual AIA national convention. Along with a wide variety of educational seminars and workshops, opportunities to network with architects from all over the nation and displays from more than 500 exhibitors, the convention offered several host chapter events that introduced the 15,000+ attendees to the Carolinas and the versatility of the region and culture. These host chapter events included:

TOURS

During the 2002 convention, more than 3,800 attendees were able to experience Charlotte and the Carolinas from all angles through an array of arranged tours. Convention goers stepped into the past at the Charlotte Museum of History, Old Salem and the Biltmore Estate. Exuberant fun tours were arranged to Discovery Place, Irwin Creek Recreation Center, Ericsson Stadium and Lowe's Motor Speedway. For cultural inspiration, guests visited The Mint Museum of Art and The Mint Museum of Craft + Design. Attendees could also rev up their engines at the BMW plant, tiptoe through the tulips at Charlotte's most beautiful gardens and shop, shop, shop at Seagrove Pottery. There truly was something for every interest and everyone!

5K FUN RUN/WALK

Uptown Charlotte was the place where convention attendees laced up their running shoes to participate in the annual 5K Fun Run/Walk. Prizes were awarded in a variety of categories, but the true reward was the great feeling participants carried with them through the streets of Charlotte that day, for a portion of the run/walk registration fees were donated to Habitat for Humanity.

THE AIA CAROLINAS GIFT STORE

Guests literally carried the Carolinas home with them in the form of goodies purchased at the AIA Carolinas gift store sponsored by Centex. Artwork, pottery, jewelry, baskets and books all proved to be great souvenirs of an exciting journey to the new south.

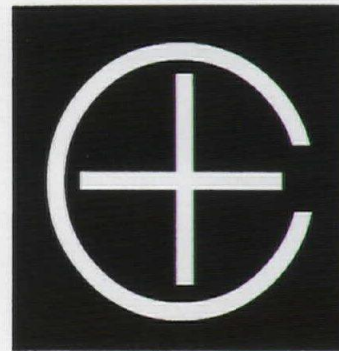

HOST CHAPTER PARTY - CAROLINAS EXPEDITION

The beaches, the mountains, the cities – all the Carolinas have to offer were presented to more than 1,600 visitors at the spectacular Host Chapter Party at Ericsson Stadium. The evening, sponsored by National Gypsum and Milliken, featured mountain bluegrass music and clogging; coastal delicacies and shag dancing lessons; and cool, city jazz and international cuisine – all under one roof.

EXHIBITS AND DISPLAYS

The best way to share Carolinas' rich architectural past, present and future was through exhibits. The Carolinas three accredited schools of architecture; Clemson University, North Carolina State University and University of North Carolina, Charlotte were featured in the Carolina's Architectural Education Impact Exhibit. Students from North Carolina State College of Design were able to showcase their talents in a custom-designed, three-dimensional display entitled The Nature of Architecture and University of North Carolina Charlotte design students welcomed visitors with their University Exhibit. Winners of AIA North and South Carolina design awards competition were honored in a Design Awards Exhibit showcasing the talent of local regional firms and architects. Architecture of the Carolinas allowed guests to experience the history of architecture from around the Carolinas without leaving downtown Charlotte.

Putting It All Together

Annual Awards Celebrate State's Architectural Diversity

The richness of architectural diversity was highlighted last year when The North Carolina Chapter of The American Institute of Architects selected six design projects for special recognition. The winning designs were selected from a field of 100 entries submitted by AIA members from across the state.

The architectural gems are as varied as an airport parking deck and butterfly museum exhibit—a blacksmith's shop and a church school—a business interior showroom and a wildlife refuge center. Though vastly differing in form and function, each project was deemed by a jury of four professionals to have met or exceeded benchmarks of good architecture.

Honor Awards, the highest recognition for excellence in design, went to the firms of Cannon Architects, Raleigh, Roger Clark, FAIA, consultant; Frank Harmon Architect, Raleigh; and Pearce Brinkley Cease + Lee, PA, Raleigh.

Merit Awards were presented to The Freelon Group, Inc., with Walker Parking Consultants, Research Triangle Park; Harmon; and O'Brien/Atkins Associates, PA, Research Triangle Park.

Frank Harmon Architect led this year's award-winning firms capturing two of the six prizes. Harmon has now won eight AIA North Carolina Design Awards in the past five years. An Honor Award went to his work on the Iron Studio at Penland (NC) School of Crafts. The Walter B. Jones Center for the Sounds at Pocosin Lakes National Wildlife Refuge, Columbia, NC, received a Merit Award.

Roger Clark, FAIA, of North Carolina State University, and Cannon Architects, took home an Honor Award for Our Lady of Lourdes School and Parish School Offices, Raleigh. Roger and Susan Cannon were last year's top award winners when they garnered two Honor Awards.

Pearce Brinkley Cease + Lee, PA, received the third Honor Award for Carolina Business Interiors Showroom, Research Triangle Park.

The Freelon Group, Inc., and Walker Parking Consultants accepted a Merit Award for the Raleigh-Durham International Airport parking deck. The Freelon Group also captured the AIA North Carolina 2001 Firm Award.

O'Brien/Atkins Associates PA, was the recipient of a Merit Award for the Magic Wings Butterfly Conservatory at Durham's Museum of Life and Science.

The 2001 Awards Jury reviewed all entries and made its selections during an April meeting at the office of Shook, a Charlotte design firm. Jury members were: Aaron Betsky, curator of architecture, design, and digital projects for the San Francisco Museum of Modern Art; Reed Kroloff, editor-in-chief of Architecture magazine; Mark Robbins, director of design at the National Endowment for the Arts; and Tucker Viemeister, director of research and development of the design firm Razorfish.

Carolina Business Interiors Showroom

Location: Research Triangle Park, NC

Completion Date: 2000

Materials: Carpet, carpet tiles, resilient tile, and ceramic tile. Painted drywall on metal stud walls. Custom maple millwork. Open ceilings with painted drywall and suspended acoustical tile.

Photography: © James West/J. West Productions

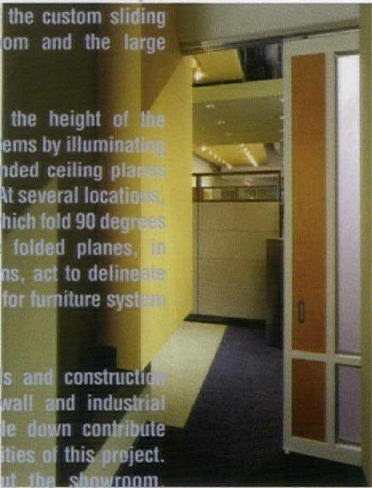

The project is located in a flex-space office in Research Triangle Park, North Carolina. The program for this 7,000 square foot interior fit-up consisted of a showroom, staff workspaces, kitchen/break room, one manager's office, a sample/work room and two conference spaces. The design challenge was to meet the clients request for a dynamic space in which to display office systems furniture while at the same time acknowledge a fairly limited construction budget.

The showroom, conference spaces and principal offices are located adjacent to the perimeter curtain wall. Staff work and support spaces are located more internalized to the plan. A key architectural feature, a thickened sculpted display wall, mediates between the showroom and the staff work space. This thickened wall contains a series of chair-sized display bays, backlit through a patterned acrylic panel. The same acrylic panels were used in fabrication of the custom sliding wall panels between the showroom and the large conference room.

The showroom design celebrates the height of the existing space and construction systems by illuminating the exposed ceiling cavity. Suspended ceiling planes "float" below the luminous cavity. At several locations, colored suspended ceiling planes, which fold 90 degrees to become wall features. These folded planes, in conjunction with bold carpet patterns, act to delineate special zones within the showroom for furniture system groupings.

This project uses simple materials and construction techniques. Brightly painted drywall and industrial fluorescent fixtures mounted upside down contribute greatly to the dynamic spatial qualities of this project. Track lighting is used throughout the showroom highlighting the furnishings on display.

Catholic School and Parish Office Building

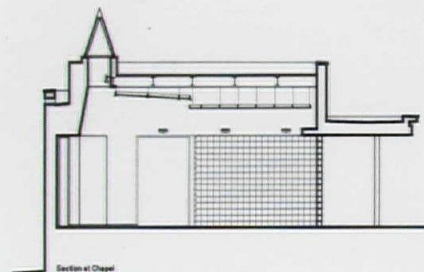

Location: Raleigh, NC

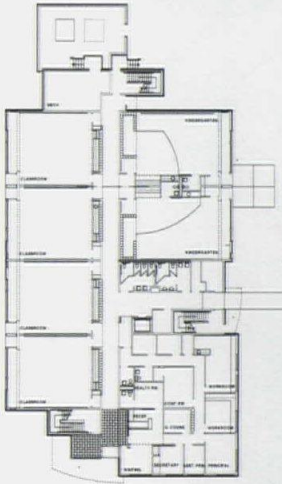

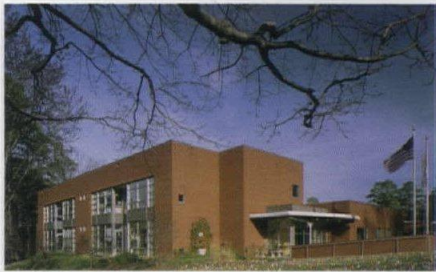

Completion Date: 1997

Materials: School - Brick and gray horizontal corrugated metal siding. Satin anodized aluminum and gray painted steel trim. Structural steel frame. Sprinkler system. Gas fired boiler and central chiller with remote air handling units to create zones.

Office Building - Brick with satin anodized aluminum and white painted trim. Glass block walls at chapel. Structural steel frame. Multi-zoned roof top unit for offices with a separate roof top unit for chapel. Gas fired heat and electrical cooling.

The new school building for this existing K-8 Catholic School includes classrooms for the kindergarten through fourth grade, art rooms and administrative office. The school has two classes at each grade level and the classrooms are paired internally which are expressed externally. The siting of the school addition establishes the southwest corner of the site and the southern edge to the campus creating a courtyard between itself and the original school building. A future media center and cafeteria are planned to be a two-story physical link to the existing 1950's red brick school, with part of this two-story future building to be above the one story administrative area of the school addition. The Parish Office Building houses offices for the priests and the administration of the parish. The principle space in this building is a perpetual adoration chapel that is in use twenty-four hours a day. This office building was sited to form a bookend with the Parish Hall that was completed in 1993, thus holding the church between them. These three buildings, along with a row of new trees, form an important new outdoor space that is geometrically two squares. The office building was constructed of red brick with satin aluminum frames and white painted trim to emulate the Parish Hall and the original school building. This palette of brick buildings helps to emphasize the white stucco church (completed in 1976) as the unique piece on the campus. A sentimentally and historically important stone shrine was relocated to form an outdoor chapel that is a visual extension of the new chapel that is a visual extension of the new chapel in the office building.

Frank Harmon Architect

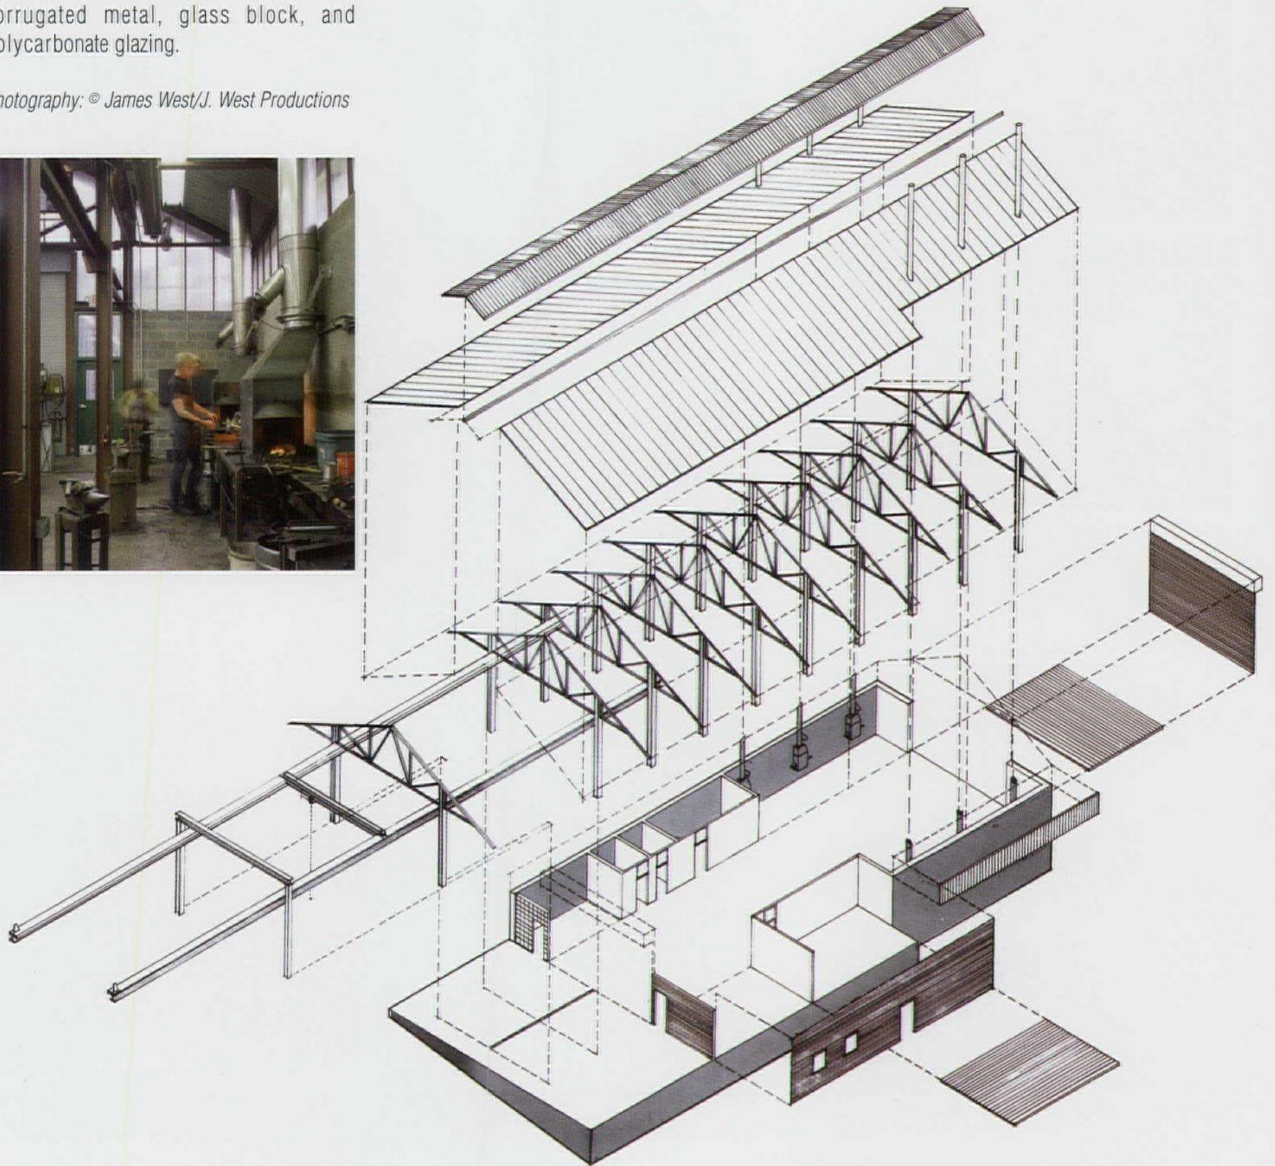

Blacksmith's Studio

Location: Penland, NC

Completion Date: 2000

Materials: Steel frame with concrete block, corrugated metal, glass block, and polycarbonate glazing.

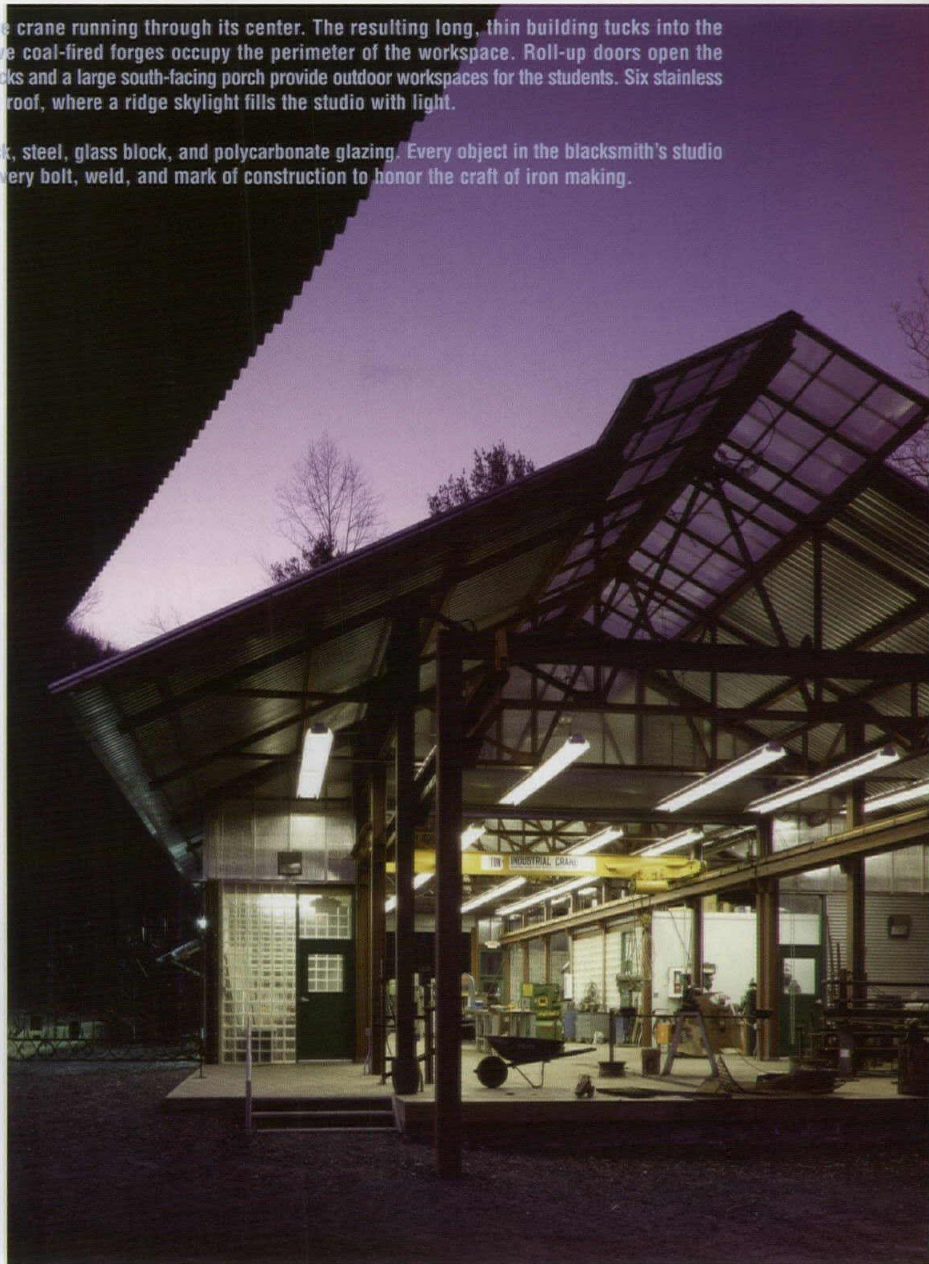

Photography: © James West/J. West Productions

The director of this Appalachian school of crafts asked us to design a blacksmiths' studio with as much light and space as possible within a budget of $480,000. Classes of twelve students use the building to craft pieces ranging from a delicate iron teaspoon to a steel sculpture weighing five tons. We were asked to create a building that clearly revealed how it was made, embodying the spirit of craft present in the school.

We designed a steel framed, open studio with a bridge crane running through its center. The resulting long, thin building tucks into the mountainside with minimum impact on the site. Twelve coal-fired forges occupy the perimeter of the workspace. Roll-up doors open the studio to the surrounding Roan and Black Mountains. Two decks and a large south-facing porch provide outdoor workspaces for the students. Six stainless steel flues vent forge smoke through the corrugated iron roof, where a ridge skylight fills the studio with light.

The materials used are simple and durable: concrete block, steel, glass block, and polycarbonate glazing. Every object in the blacksmith's studio shows the mark of its maker's hands. We left exposed every bolt, weld, and mark of construction to honor the craft of iron making.

RDU International Airport Parking Structure

Location: Raleigh-Durham International Airport, NC

Completion Date: 2000

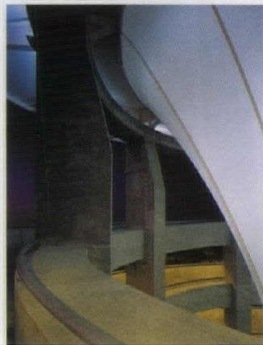

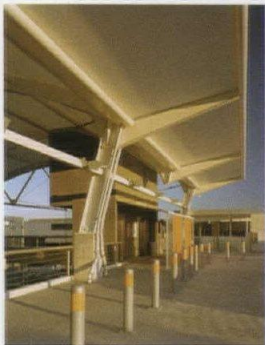

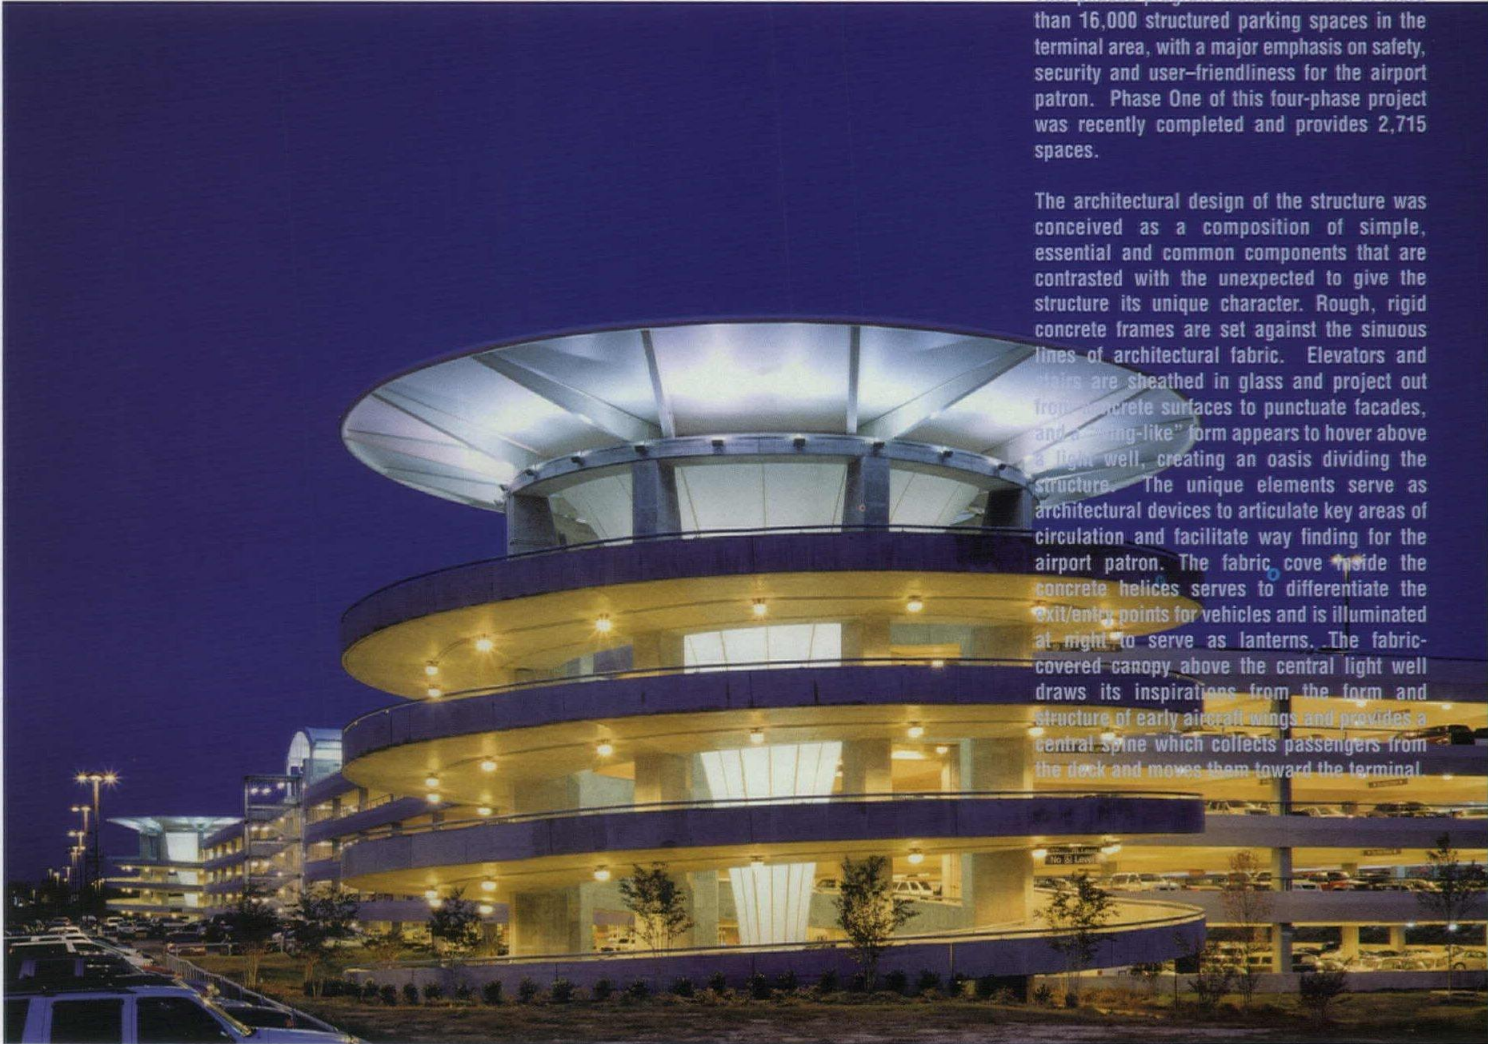

Materials: Bonded post-tensioned cast in place concrete structure. Architectural precast concrete panels with exposed aggregate. Steel tube and cable truss structure above lightwell and helix. Glass enclosed traction elevators. Architectural fabric membrane roofing system. Stainless steel cables and handrails.

Photography: © James West/J. West Productions

To keep pace with one of the fastest growing airports in the world, a multi-phased design and construction program was developed for the hourly and daily parking in the terminal area of Raleigh-Durham International Airport. This phased program includes a total of more than 16,000 structured parking spaces in the terminal area, with a major emphasis on safety, security and user-friendliness for the airport patron. Phase One of this four-phase project was recently completed and provides 2,715 spaces.

The architectural design of the structure was conceived as a composition of simple, essential and common components that are contrasted with the unexpected to give the structure its unique character. Rough, rigid concrete frames are set against the sinuous lines of architectural fabric. Elevators and stairs are sheathed in glass and project out from concrete surfaces to punctuate facades, and a "wing-like" form appears to hover above a light well, creating an oasis dividing the structure. The unique elements serve as architectural devices to articulate key areas of circulation and facilitate way finding for the airport patron. The fabric cove inside the concrete helices serves to differentiate the exit/entry points for vehicles and is illuminated at night to serve as lanterns. The fabric-covered canopy above the central light well draws its inspirations from the form and structure of early aircraft wings and provides a central spine which collects passengers from the deck and moves them toward the terminal.

Frank Harmon Architect

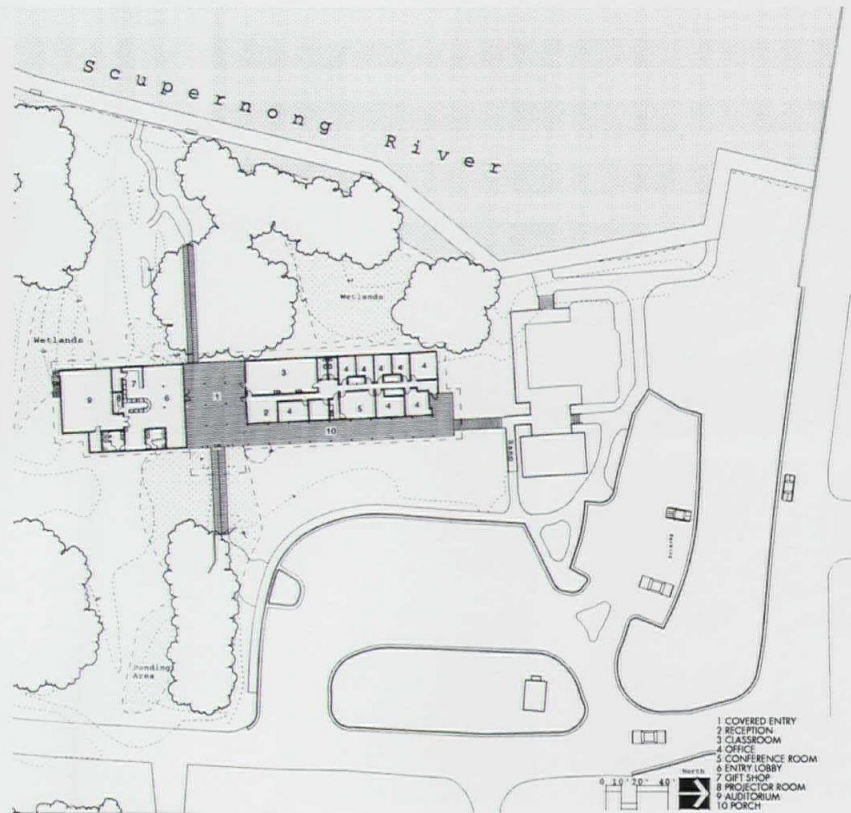

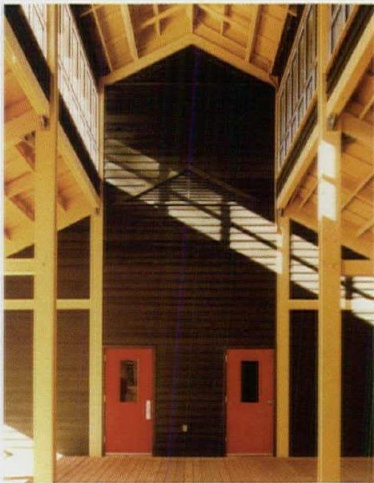

U.S. Fish and Wildlife Visitors' Center and Administrative Headquarters

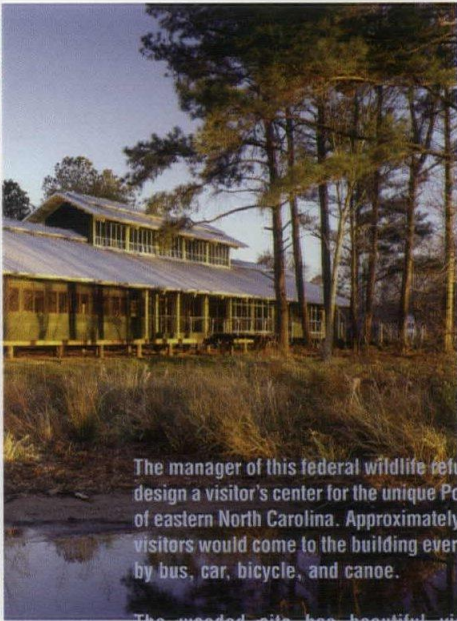

Location: Tyrrell County, NC

Completion Date: 2000

Materials: The foundation is wood piles averaging 30 feet long. For the building frame and enclosure, we used wood from local forest. The southern yellow pine frames are made from built-up 2x6's and 2x8's to avoid using scarce heavy timbers. The siding is rot resistant atlantic white cedar, used for generations to build boats in the region. Floors are recycled heart pine.

Photography: © James West/J. West Productions

The manager of this federal wildlife refuge asked us to design a visitor's center for the unique Pocosin wetlands of eastern North Carolina. Approximately sixty thousand visitors would come to the building every year, arriving by bus, car, bicycle, and canoe.

The wooded site has beautiful views over the Scuppernong River and a blackwater swamp to the west. We were asked to preserve several wetlands that dotted the site. The climate in Tyrrell County is hot and very muggy during summer, when most visitors arrive. Hurricanes are a threat, as are floods. The soil beneath the building is sand and peat.

We designed the visitors' center as a long, thin building embracing the blackwater swamp and separating the Scuppernong River from the noisy highway and parking areas. The building is set back seventy-five feet from the river to demonstrate a sustainable approach to building on the waterfront. We made a breezeway to form the entrance to the building and to the river. Visitors leave their cars after a long journey and feel the coolness and scent of the river as they enter the breezeway.

A large roof with generous overhangs provides shade from the hot sun, exhausting hot air through ridge vents and a monitor. Rain flows from the roof into the wetlands at the foot of the building, and is filtered through the wetlands before reaching the river. We lifted the building off the ground with timber piles, not only to avoid flooding, but also to allow cool air to circulate underneath.

The building is placed on the site without cutting trees or disturbing the natural wetlands.

Magic Wings Butterfly Conservatory

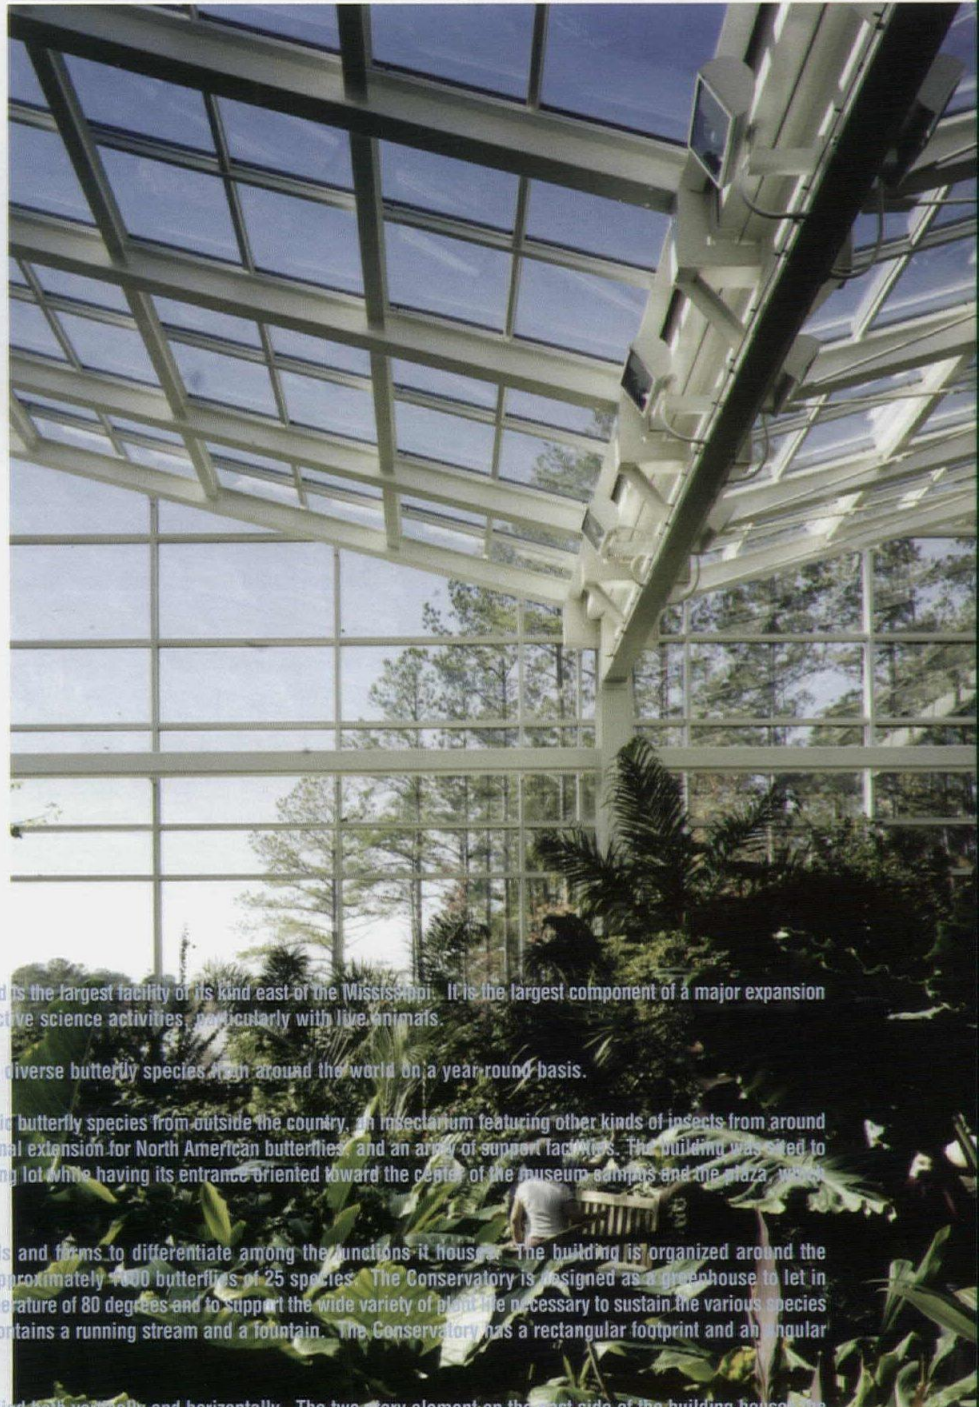

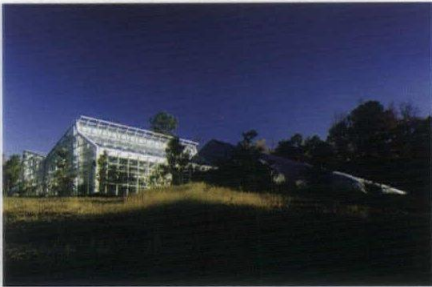

Location: Durham, NC

Completion Date: 1999

Materials: Steel frame construction with cast in place concrete shear walls. Aluminum curtain wall with insulated glazing. Laminated and sloped insulated glazing. Cedar siding on steel walls.

Photography: Rick Alexander

The Project is a 20,000 sf Butterfly House and Insectarium and is the largest facility of its kind east of the Mississippi. It is the largest component of a major expansion program at a science museum noted for innovative interactive science activities, particularly with live animals.

Client Objective: To create a facility capable of sustaining diverse butterfly species from around the world on a year-round basis.

The building consists of a 5000 sf conservatory housing exotic butterfly species from outside the country, an insectarium featuring other kinds of insects from around the world, a teaching laboratory for student groups, a seasonal extension for North American butterflies, and an area of support facilities. The building was sited to maximize its visibility from the museum entrance and parking lot while having its entrance oriented toward the center of the museum campus and the plaza, which forms the focus of the overall expansion program.

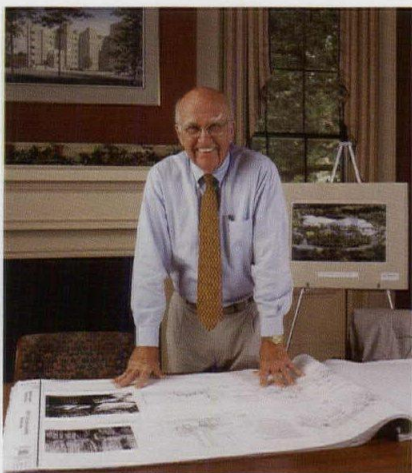

Formally, the building makes use of contrasting materials and forms to differentiate among the functions it houses. The building is organized around the Conservatory, a 30-ft high glass and aluminum home to approximately 400 butterflies of 25 species. The Conservatory is designed as a greenhouse to let in maximum sunlight while maintaining a constant indoor temperature of 80 degrees and to support the wide variety of plants necessary to sustain the various species of butterfly. In addition to the greenery, the Conservatory contains a running stream and a fountain. The Conservatory has a rectangular footprint and an angular section intended to suggest the open wings of a butterfly.

The Insectarium and support spaces are clad in cedar, applied both vertically and horizontally. The two-story element on the east side of the building houses the Insectarium and the teaching laboratory. This has a rectilinear elevation, but the east wall has a slight angular plan. A cast-in-place concrete wall runs the length of the building, from entry plaza to the seasonal house. This wall forms the east side of the conservatory and separates it from its support spaces.

The most important of the support spaces is the Emerging Room. U.S. Department of Agriculture regulations do not allow the museum to breed butterflies, so the stock must be continually replenished. The Emerging Room houses the pupae until they hatch, whereupon the butterflies are transferred to the conservatory. Connecting these areas is the "chrysalis window" which opens into the Conservatory from the Emerging Room. This window is designed to allow visitors to both observe the pupae as they hatch and to interact with staff working in the Emerging Room.

Herbert P. McKim, FAIA

Wilmington Architect Receives Highest Honors

A two-term mayor of Wrightsville Beach and architect for major additions and renovations at the state's three aquariums was awarded the highest honor the North Carolina Chapter of the American Institute of Architects accords its membership.

Herbert P. McKim, FAIA, president of BMS Architects, PC in Wilmington, is the 2001 recipient of the F. Carter Williams Gold Medal. The Gold Medal is awarded in recognition of a distinguished career or extraordinary accomplishments as an architect. The honor is named for the late Raleigh architect F. Carter Williams, FAIA. An endowment established by the Williams family in 1998 supports the Gold Medal award.

Born in Robersonville, McKim, 73, began his architectural firm as Ballard and McKim Architects in 1955 after he and Frank Ballard completed their internships with Leslie N. Boney Architects. BMS Architects has grown to be a 25-person firm practicing primarily in Eastern North Carolina.

McKim, a 1950 graduate of North Carolina State University, is best known for his design work in the fields of education and institutional projects. Chief among his noted works of the past 50 years are the William L. Kenan Laboratories, UNC-Chapel Hill; Cox and Dabney halls, North Carolina State University; Wahl Coates Elementary Lab School, East Carolina University; renovations and additions at North Carolina aquariums at Roanoke Island, Pine Knoll Shores and Fort Fisher; additions to St. James Parish in Wilmington and the N.C. Legislative Office Building in Raleigh; the award-winning Ogden and College Park elementary schools in Wilmington; and The Episcopal Camp Leach Conference Center.

"I have witnessed Herb's commitment to our profession and to good architecture for the past 41 years," said Robert Sawyer, who joined with McKim and Ballard in 1960 to form Ballard, McKim & Sawyer Architects. "I believe most architects with his record of service to their community and the profession would be retired. Herb McKim is definitely not however. I hope he will slow down soon, but I see no sign of it. I am proud of Herb's record of achievement," Sawyer added.

Active in AIA North Carolina since 1952, McKim served on the chapter's Board of Directors and was its president in 1998. He was invested in the AIA College of Fellows in 1989. In addition, the former Marine has been president of the North Carolina Board of Architecture.

The National Council of Architectural Registration Boards honored him in 1991 for 14 years of service to the organization as board member and president. While serving NCARB, he led the effort to change the design exam to a computerized test.

McKim has been a member of the accrediting team for schools of architecture at the University of Kentucky, Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Hampton University. He also served as a member of the search committee when Marvin J. Malecha, FAIA, was selected dean of the College of Design at North Carolina State University.

"His enthusiasm for architecture is as bright as any first year student," Dean Malecha said. "I have come to rely on his counsel and support. His eyes are firmly set on the future while bringing the legacy of modern architecture in North Carolina with him. He has built roads in the profession for others to travel," Malecha concluded.

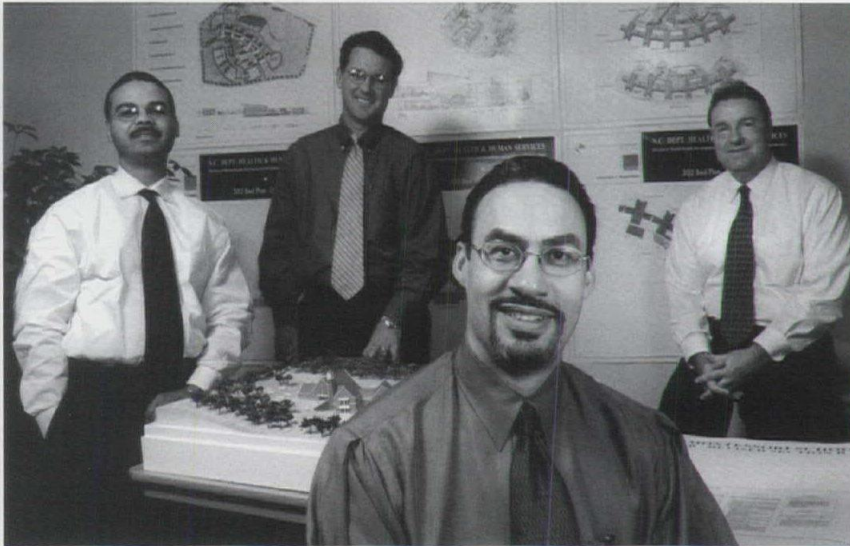

Reflecting on his profession, McKim says, "The architects' first responsibility is to use their creative and problem-solving skills to make sure their buildings serve the client's functional needs and deliver maximum value for their dollar. That's just as important as any aesthetic value the building may have, maybe even more so."

McKim's distinguished architectural career has not deterred his zeal for community service. A Sunday School teacher for 30 years at St. James Episcopal Church, McKim also has been Chamber of Commerce president, United Way president and campaign chairman, Wrightsville Beach mayor, Lower Cape Fear Council of Arts president, Wilmington Bi-Racial Committee co-chairman and NC Good Neighbor Council member.

The Freelon Group

Diversity of Work is Hallmark for Firm Award Winner

The Freelon Group, a 32-member architectural firm with offices in the Research Triangle Park and Charlotte, is the 2001 recipient of The North Carolina Chapter of The American Institute of Architects Firm Award. This honor is the highest presented to an architectural business by the state chapter.

The award is presented annually to a North Carolina firm that has consistently produced quality architecture with a verifiable level of client satisfaction for a period of at least 10 years as an established presence in the state.

The firm also received an AIA Merit Award last year for its work on the new 842,400 square foot parking deck at the Raleigh-Durham International Airport. The deck also has received the 2001 International Parking Association's Presidents Award and Merit Award for Aesthetics of Structure.

Diversity of project scale, type and scope is a trademark of the firm founded by Phil Freelon, AIA in 1990. Recent accomplishments include the Maryland Museum of African American History and Culture in Baltimore; the Lord Corporation world headquarters and training center in Cary; and the AIA North Carolina Honor Award winning Chambers Biomedical-Biotechnology Lab Building on the campus of NC Central University in Durham.

Other projects include renovation of Ovens Auditorium in Charlotte and with HOK Architects, the Durham Bulls Athletic Park in Durham. The firm is currently working on the feasibility study for a new African-American museum in Philadelphia.

Freelon, a graduate of North Carolina State University's School of Design, was project architect for the American Airlines Terminal at Raleigh-Durham Airport while associated with the firm of O'Brien/Atkins Associates. He earned the Master of Architecture degree from MIT and received the Loeb Fellowship from Harvard University Graduate School of Design.

"It was a logical next step for Phil to create his own firm, which he did with the same kind of commitment to quality so evident in his previous design work," said Claude E. McKinney, former dean of NCSU School of Design. "He identified and assembled the best talent to form The Freelon Group."

North Carolina Central University Chancellor Julius L. Chambers said, "That our university has repeatedly awarded contracts to The Freelon Group is a testament to our high regard for their service to our university and the excellence of their work. Their excellent work has exceeded our expectations and elevated the level of service we are accustomed to receiving."

Recognition comes steadily to The Freelon Group. Recent awards include: City of Raleigh Sir Walter Raleigh Honor Award for the Lake Johnson Boathouse, State of North Carolina Award for Service Excellence from the State Office of Construction, American Society of Landscape Architects North Carolina Merit Award for the Durham Master Plan and the Lord Corporate headquarters in Cary, Triangle Commercial Real Estate Champion Award for Best Development Team, Diamondview office building in Durham and the PPG Awards Best of Show Grand Prize for furniture design.

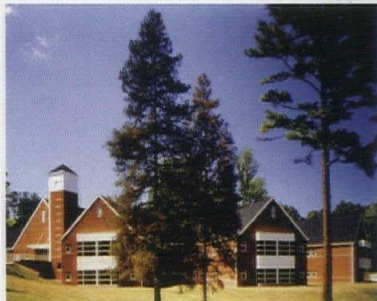

"The Freelon Group continuously strives to provide architectural services at the highest level," according to Marvin J. Malecha, FAIA, dean of North Carolina State University's College of Design. "Their approach to the design of buildings matches creativity with the exigencies of the needs of a client and the community," he added.

Two Architects Honored for their Contributions

Macon S. Smith, FAIA

The North Carolina Chapter of the American Institute of Architects recognized a retired Raleigh architect and a Charlotte architect for their contributions to the profession.

Macon S. Smith, FAIA, of Raleigh is the 2001 recipient of the William Henley Deitrick Medal for Service and Thomas B. Moore, AIA, principal of ARCHITECTVS MCMLXXXVIII, PLLC in Charlotte received the Kamphoefner Prize for excellence in the modern movement of architecture.

The Deitrick award is presented to a North Carolina architect who performs extraordinary service to the chapter, profession or to their community. Deitrick, a past president of AIA North Carolina, donated his offices at the historic Raleigh Water Tower to be used as the state chapter's headquarters upon his retirement in 1963.

Coincidentally, Smith was architect and construction manager for the renovation project that converted Deitrick's office to the AIA North Carolina offices. The facility, located at 115 W. Morgan St., in downtown Raleigh continues to serve as the chapter's offices.

Smith was presented the Deitrick Medal in recognition of the 52 years of service he has contributed to AIA North Carolina during which he was president in 1966 and served on more than 35 state, regional and national AIA committees.

During his presidency, Smith provided leadership to convince the University of North Carolina Board of Governors and the state legislature of the need for an additional school of architecture at UNC-Charlotte. He retired in 1995 and for the following three years was instrumental in the publication of an award-winning historical chronology of the AIA North Carolina chapter.

Much of Smith's professional career was spent as partner and vice-president in the Raleigh architectural firm of F. Carter Williams. Together the firm was involved in more than 600 projects including agencies of the North Carolina State Government, campuses at North Carolina State University, East Carolina University, University of North Carolina, Duke University, Meredith College and several commercial and residential projects.

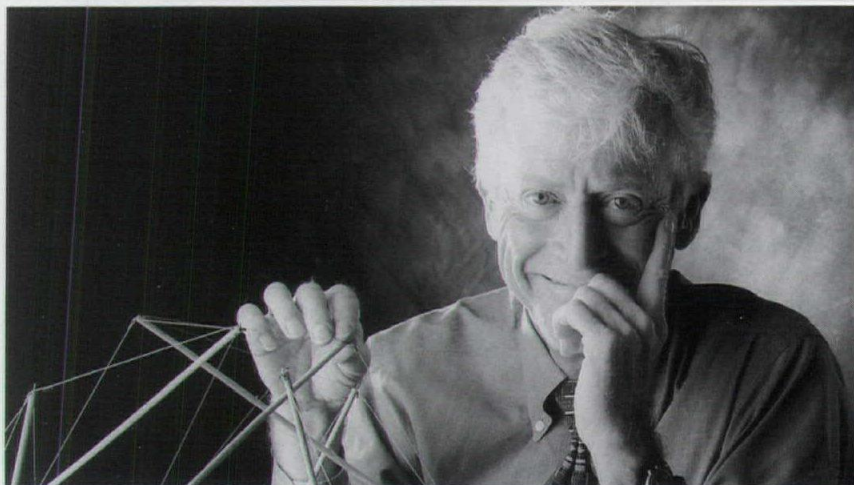

A former professor at the College of Architecture, University of North Carolina at Charlotte, 1976-1984, Thomas Moore, AIA holds both the bachelor and masters degrees in design and architecture from the University of Florida. His numerous achievements in architecture and education have been recognized with 17 honor and merit awards from the AIA's South Atlantic Region, State Chapter, and Charlotte Section.

Moore also holds the Federal Design Achievement Award from the National Endowment for the Arts for the Kings Mountain (NC) Post Office project. Additional honors have come from the City of Charlotte, the Illuminating Engineering Society of North America, Printers Industries of America, Printers Industries of the Carolinas, the United States Postal Service, and the Brick Association of North Carolina.

Prior to launching his own firm in 1988, Moore was associated with the Charlotte firms of Clark, Tribble, Harris & Li Architects, PA, 1983; McMurray, Abernathy & Poetzsch Architects PA, 1979-80; Omni Architecture, 1978; and Godwin Associates, Architects, 1975-76.

The Kamphoefner Prize is sustained through an endowment to the North Carolina Architectural Foundation bequeathed by Henry Kamphoefner, former dean and founder of the North Carolina State School of Design, and his wife, Mabel.

SOUTH ATLANTIC REGIONAL COUNCIL

The leadership of AIA North Carolina, along with representatives from AIA Georgia and AIA South Carolina, participates in the South Atlantic Regional Council (SARC). SARC enables the AIA components in the South Atlantic Region to share ideas and maintain liaison with national activities of the Institute.

South Atlantic Region directors serve rotating three-year terms with representation shared equally among the three states. SAR directors attend all Institute Board meetings and travel the three-state region to communicate and share information with AIA members. SARC convenes at least three times a year, and every three years hosts a regional convention; the most recent event was in September 2000 in Charleston, SC. The next SARC convention will be held in Savannah, GA in October 2003.

SAR has two representatives who serve on the Institute Board of Directors. In 2002, those individuals are:

AIA Code of Ethics and Professional Conduct

Members of The American Institute of Architects are dedicated to the highest standards of professionalism, integrity, and competence. This Code of Ethics and Professional Conduct states guidelines for the conduct of Members in fulfilling those obligations. The Code is arranged in three tiers of statements: Canons, Ethical Standards, and Rules of Conduct.

- Canons are broad principles of conduct.
- Ethical Standards (E.S.) are more specific goals toward which Members should aspire in professional performance and behavior.
- Rules of Conduct (Rule) are mandatory; violation of a rule is grounds for disciplinary action by the Institute. Rules of Conduct, in some instances, implement more than one Canon or Ethical Standard.

The Code applies to the professional activities of all classes of Members, wherever they occur. It addresses responsibilities to the public, which the profession serves and enriches; to the clients and users of architecture and in the building industries, who help to shape the built environment; and to the art and science of architecture, that continuum of knowledge and creation which is the heritage and legacy of the profession.

Statement in Compliance With the 1990 Consent Decree: The following practices are not, in themselves, unethical, unprofessional, or contrary to any policy of The American Institute of Architects or any of its components: (1) submitting, at any time, competitive bids or price quotations, including in circumstances where price is the sole or principal consideration in the selection of an architect; (2) providing discounts; or (3) providing free services.

Individual architects or architecture firms, acting alone and not on behalf of the Institute or any of its components, are free to decide for themselves whether or not to engage in any of these practices. The Consent Decree permits the Institute, its components, or Members to advocate legislative or other government policies or actions relating to these practices. Finally, architects should continue to consult with state laws or regulations governing the practice of architecture.

CANON I – General Obligations

Members should maintain and advance their knowledge of the art and science of architecture, respect the body of architectural accomplishment, contribute to its growth, thoughtfully consider the social and environmental impact of their professional activities, and exercise learned and uncompromised professional judgment.

E.S. 1.1 Knowledge and Skill: Members should strive to improve their professional knowledge and skill.

Rule 1.101 In practicing architecture, Members shall demonstrate a consistent pattern of reasonable care and competence, and shall apply the technical knowledge and skill which is ordinarily applied by architects of good standing practicing in the same locality.

E.S. 1.2 Standards of Excellence: Members should continually seek to raise the standards of aesthetic excellence, architectural education, research, training, and practice.

E.S. 1.3 Natural and Cultural Heritage: Members should respect and help conserve their natural and cultural heritage while striving to improve the environment and the quality of life within it.

E.S. 1.4 Human Rights: Members should uphold human rights in all their professional endeavors.

Rule 1.401 Members shall not discriminate in their professional activities on the basis of race, religion, gender, national origin, age, disability, or sexual orientation.

E.S. 1.5 Allied Arts & Industries: Members should promote allied arts and contribute to the knowledge and capability of the building industries as a whole.

CANON II – Obligations to the Public

Members should embrace the spirit and letter of the law governing their professional affairs and should promote and serve the public interest in their personal and professional activities.

E.S. 2.1 Conduct: Members should uphold the law in the conduct of their professional activities.

Rule 2.101 Members shall not, in the conduct of their professional practice, knowingly violate the law.

Rule 2.102 Members shall neither offer nor make any payment or gift to a public official with the intent of influencing the official's judgment in connection with an existing or prospective project in which the Members are interested.

Rule 2.103 Members serving in a public capacity shall not accept payments or gifts which are intended to influence their judgment.

Rule 2.104 Members shall not engage in conduct involving fraud or wanton disregard of the rights of others.

Rule 2.105 If, in the course of their work on a project, the Members become aware of a decision taken by their employer or client which violates any law or regulation and which will, in the Members' judgment, materially affect adversely the safety to the public of the finished project, the Members shall: (a) advise their employer or client against the decision; (b) refuse to consent to the decision; and (c) report the decision to the local building inspector or other public official charged with the enforcement of the applicable laws and regulations, unless the Members are able to cause the matter to be satisfactorily resolved by other means.

Rule 2.106 Members shall not counsel or assist a client in conduct that the architect knows, or reasonably should know, is fraudulent or illegal.

E.S. 2.2 Public Interest Services: Members should render public interest professional services and encourage their employees to render such services.

E.S. 2.3 Civic Responsibility: Members should be involved in civic activities as citizens and professionals, and should strive to improve public appreciation and understanding of architecture and the functions and responsibilities of architects.

Rule 2.301 Members making public statements on architectural issues shall disclose when they are being compensated for making such statements or when they have an economic interest in the issue.

CANON III – Obligations to the Client

Members should serve their clients competently and in a professional manner, and should exercise unprejudiced and unbiased judgment when performing all professional services.

E.S. 3.1 Competence: Members should serve their clients in a timely and competent manner.

Rule 3.101 In performing professional services, Members shall take into account applicable laws and regulations. Members may rely on the advice of other qualified persons as to the intent and meaning of such regulations.

Rule 3.102 Members shall undertake to perform professional services only when they, together with those whom they may engage as consultants, are qualified by education, training, or experience in the specific technical areas involved.

Rule 3.103 Members shall not materially alter the scope or objectives of a project without the client's consent.

E.S. 3.2 Conflict of Interest: Members should avoid conflicts of interest in their professional practices and fully disclose all unavoidable conflicts as they arise.

Rule 3.201 A Member shall not render professional services if the Member's professional judgment could be affected by responsibilities to another project or person, or by the Member's own interests, unless all those who rely on the Member's judgment consent after full disclosure.

Rule 3.202 When acting by agreement of the parties as the independent interpreter of building contract documents and the judge of contract performance, Members shall render decisions impartially.

E.S. 3.3 Candor and Truthfulness: Members should be candid and truthful in their professional communications and keep their clients reasonably informed about the clients' projects.

Rule 3.301 Members shall not intentionally or recklessly mislead existing or prospective clients about the results that can be achieved through the use of the Members' services, nor shall the Members state that they can achieve results by means that violate applicable law or this Code.

E.S. 3.4 Confidentiality: Members should safeguard the trust placed in them by their clients.

Rule 3.401 Members shall not knowingly disclose information that would adversely affect their client or that they have been asked to maintain in confidence, except as otherwise allowed or required by this Code or applicable law.

CANON IV – Obligations to the Profession

Members should uphold the integrity and dignity of the profession.

E.S. 4.1 Honesty and Fairness: Members should pursue their professional activities with honesty and fairness.

Rule 4.101 Members having substantial information which leads to a reasonable belief that another Member has committed a violation of this Code which raises a serious question as to that Member's honesty, trustworthiness, or fitness as a Member, shall file a complaint with the National Ethics Council.

Rule 4.102 Members shall not sign or seal drawings, specifications, reports, or other professional work for which they do not have responsible control.

Rule 4.103 Members speaking in their professional capacity shall not knowingly make false statements of material fact.

E.S. 4.2 Dignity and Integrity: Members should strive, through their actions, to promote the dignity and integrity of the profession, and to ensure that their representatives and employees conform their conduct to this Code.

Rule 4.201 Members shall not make misleading, deceptive, or false statements or claims about their professional qualifications, experience, or performance and shall accurately state the scope and nature of their responsibilities in connection with work for which they are claiming credit.

Rule 4.202 Members shall make reasonable efforts to ensure that those over whom they have supervisory authority conform their conduct to this Code.

CANON V – Obligations to Colleagues

Members should respect the rights and acknowledge the pro-fessional aspirations and contributions of their colleagues.

E.S. 5.1 Professional Environment: Members should provide their associates and employees with a suitable working environment, compensate them fairly, and facilitate their professional development.

E.S. 5.2 Professional Recognition: Members should build their professional reputation on the merits of their own service and performance and should recognize and give credit to others for the professional work they have performed.

Rule 5.201 Members shall recognize and respect the professional contributions of their employees, employers, professional colleagues, and business associates.

Rule 5.202 Members leaving a firm shall not, without the permission of their employer or partner, take designs, drawings, data, reports, notes, or other materials relating to the firm's work, whether or not performed by the Member.

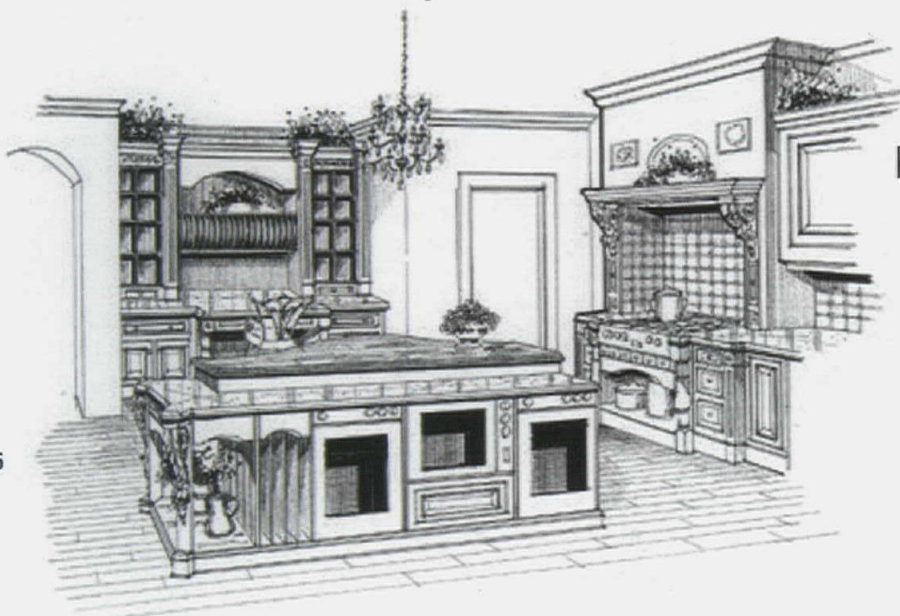

Rule 5.203 A Member shall not unreasonably withhold permission from a departing employee or partner to take copies of designs, drawings, data, reports, notes, or other materials relating to work performed by the employee or partner that are not confidential.

Continuing Education Now Mandatory for Licensure and Membership

N.C. architects must fulfill a program of continuing education each year in order to renew their licenses. Continuing education has been a membership requirement for the American Institute of Architects for several years now. The two requirements are slightly different but compatible.

Here's the bottom line: AIA architects in North Carolina should obtain a total of 18 hours of continuing education each year, 12 of those in health-safety-welfare subject matter. The architect will then meet both the licensure and AIA membership requirements.

State Licensure Requirements

Each year, a N.C. architect must complete a verifiable program of 12 contact hours of continuing education. The contact hours must be in health-safety-welfare subject material. Contact hours may not be carried over from one calendar year to the next. HSW Programs provided by AIA registered providers will be accepted by the N.C. Board of Architecture. The licensing board will also accept an AIA member's continuing education transcript as evidence of continuing education fulfillment.

AIA Requirements

Developed to demonstrate AIA members' lifelong commitment to learning, the AIA Continuing Education System (CES) enhances knowledge, competency and competitiveness. In summary, the Institute's plan includes the following:

- Members must have 18 hours of continuing education per year in order to maintain membership.
- The 18 hours must include eight contact hours in health/safety-related subject matter.

AIA North Carolina Continuing Education Academy

AIA North Carolina has successfully launched an aggressive effort to provide its members affordable, accessible and relevant continuing education. The AIA North Carolina Continuing Education Academy is the winner of the 1999 AIA/CES Award for Excellence. AIA North Carolina was the only AIA chapter or component in America to win this prestigious award for excellence in continuing education programming and member service.

In 2002, AIA North Carolina plans to offer seminars at various locations around the state. Some of the programs will provide six hours of HSW credit while others will be shorter, concentrated seminars on specific topics. The Summer Design Conference in Asheville, scheduled for August 22 - 24, 2002 at the Grove Park Inn, Asheville, NC, also provides an opportunity for members to fulfill their requirements in a compressed period of time.

Visit the AIA North Carolina Web site at www.aianc.org/education for an updated listing of continuing education programs in the Southeast. In addition, the seven local sections of AIA North Carolina typically offer AIA/CES programs at their meetings.

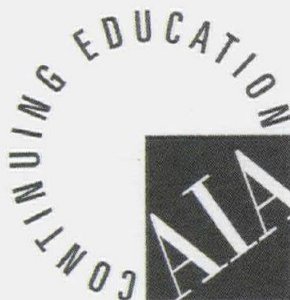

Where AIA CES Records Are Kept

The CES record-keeping is performed under contract by the University of Oklahoma, Continuing Education, AIA/CES, 1700 Asp Avenue, Room B4, Norman, OK 73072-6400. Call 202-626-7353 for questions or comments on AIA/CES records.

This record-keeping center monitors contact hours earned by AIA members and keeps track of registered providers. Official transcripts will be issued annually to AIA members.

AIA members may monitor their continuing education progress by visiting AIA Online at www.aia.org. By using a member ID number, members may access an updated transcript of personal continuing education activities.

North Carolina Board of Architecture

The North Carolina Board of Architecture, established by the General Assembly in 1915, is responsible for enforcement of the laws and regulations governing the practice of architecture in the state. A major task is to determine the qualifications of applicants who seek licensure in this state.

The Board is comprised of seven members appointed by the Governor, five of whom are licensed architects appointed for five-year terms. Two of the members of the Board are not licensed architects and represent the interests of the public at large. The public members serve at the pleasure of the Governor.

In order to qualify for a license to practice architecture in North Carolina, an applicant must meet the following minimum requirements:

- 1) An accredited professional degree in architecture
- 2) Three year internship
- 3) Pass all divisions of the ARE (Architectural Registration Examination)

The current board members are Jeffrey A. Huberman, FAIA, president, Charlotte; Kevin G. Montgomery, AIA, vice president, Durham; G. Daniel Knight, Jr., AIA, treasurer, Rocky Mount; Alan W.T. Baldwin, Jr., AIA, Charlotte; Norma DeCamp Burns, FAIA, Raleigh; Kiki Teague, public member, Winston-Salem; and Charles N. (Nick) Garrett, Jr., public member, Wilmington.

National Council of Architectural Registration Boards 2002

The National Council of Architectural Registration Boards (NCARB) was established in 1920 to assist member boards in carrying out their duties, foster the enactment of uniform architectural laws, develop examinations and establish standards for certification requirements in education and training, to perfect its procedures for verifying the qualifications of applicants and determining their eligibility for certification and establish and maintain reciprocal registration between states having registration laws.

The NCARB is a non-profit corporation with all legally constituted boards of architecture in the United States as members, including the North Carolina Board of Architecture. To be eligible for NCARB certification, architects must submit satisfactory evidence that they comply with the standard for education, training, examination and character and have been registered by a member board.

The NCARB will, upon request of an individual architect, secure, authenticate, and record factual data of the applicant's education, training, practice and character. This record will be forwarded to any state board upon request of the applicant.

Certification shall be given to an applicant holding a council record verifying that the applicant has complied with the council's standards of education, training, practice and character; and that the applicant has passed an examination conforming to the council's standards of content, extent and length of time.

Certification by the NCARB is recommendation to all registration authorities that registration be granted to the holder without further examination. Most board members accept NCARB certification as conclusive evidence of an architect's eligibility of registration. It is, however, not a national registration.

Complete information on compiling a council record and obtaining council certification can be obtained from:

Bylaws

Chartered in 1913, AIA North Carolina is legally registered and incorporated with the North Carolina Secretary of State as the North Carolina Chapter, The American Institute of Architects. The Bylaws of AIA North Carolina serve as an agreement between the organization and its membership. The Bylaws were most recently revised August 1, 1998. For a copy of the Bylaws or questions, please call (919) 833-6656.

Code of Ethics & Professional Conduct

Members of The American Institute of Architects are dedicated to the highest standards of professionalism, integrity and competence. They apply to all professional activities, wherever they occur. They address responsibilities to the public, which the profession serves and enriches; to the clients and users of architecture and in the building industries, who help to shape the built environment; and to the art and science of architecture, that continuum of knowledge and creation which is the heritage and legacy of the profession.

The Code is arranged in three tiers of statements: Canons, Ethical Standards and Rules of Conduct. The Canons are broad principles of conduct. The Ethical Standards are more specific goals toward which members should aspire in professional performance and behavior. The Rules of Conduct are mandatory, the violation of which is grounds for disciplinary action by the Institute.

A copy of the Code of Ethics is available on pages 98 and 99 of this directory or online at www.aia.org/institute/code.asp

AIA Fellows

The AIA-PAC is one of the most successful architect PACs in America. During the 1999-2000 election cycle, AIA-PAC raised more than $70,000 from N.C. architects and made similar contributions to candidates for the N.C. General Assembly. The N.C. Forum for Research and Economic Enterprise (NC Free) ranks AIA-PAC among the top 20 corporate or association PACs in North Carolina.

Recognized as one of the most successful architect PACs in the country, the AIA-PAC has achieved high success rates in terms of its contributions to winning candidates and its ability to influence legislation. It has played a prominent role in enhancing the image of AIA North Carolina among state legislators and in establishing architects as a respected source of information for legislators.

LEGISLATIVE SUCCESS

Since its formation in 1986, the AIA North Carolina Political Action Committee (AIA-PAC) has become increasingly successful in the political arena and has been of major assistance to AIA North Carolina in advancing its legislative agenda.

A long string of legislative victories have been achieved by AIA North Carolina in the last decade including:

- Qualification-Based Selection for architects on public projects
- Greater flexibility for single-prime contracting on public projects
- Statutory strengthening of the Architectural Practice Act (G.S. 83A)
- Passage of a $1.8 billion statewide bond issue for school construction
- Qualified immunity for architects as volunteers in declared emergencies
- Clarification of a seven-year statute of repose
- Securing the single prime contracting option on government projects

AIA North Carolina has also been successful in defeating or altering legislation which could have had a negative effect on the architectural profession. In addition, AIA architects have been appointed by the Governor and legislative leaders to key positions on regulatory and advisory boards and commissions.

MISSION OF AIA-PAC

The AIA-PAC was established to assist the architects of North Carolina in gaining access to state legislators for the purpose of establishing an effective forum on issues facing the profession. Its mission is to work to create an environment in the North Carolina General Assembly and Council of State which is conducive to accomplishing the goals of the architectural profession.

Three specific objectives guide the activities of the AIA-PAC. These are:

- To solicit contributions.
- To make contributions to candidates who will be influential in determining the future course and the practice of architecture in North Carolina.
- To generally educate or inform the membership of AIA North Carolina concerning legislative and political issues affecting the profession.

The AIA-PAC is organized and operated on a voluntary, non-partisan basis to preserve and promote the status of architecture through the pursuit of its objectives. The organization is governed and supervised by a Board of Directors composed of 21 members of the AIA-PAC, with a minimum of one member from each section of AIA North Carolina. Each Director is appointed to a term of three years, with no Director being appointed to more than two consecutive terms.

To maintain established levels of candidate contributions and ensure the continued effectiveness of AIA North Carolina's Government Affairs Programs, AIA-PAC needs continued and increased financial support from members and friends of the profession. Records and information about AIA-PAC are maintained at the offices of AIA North Carolina.

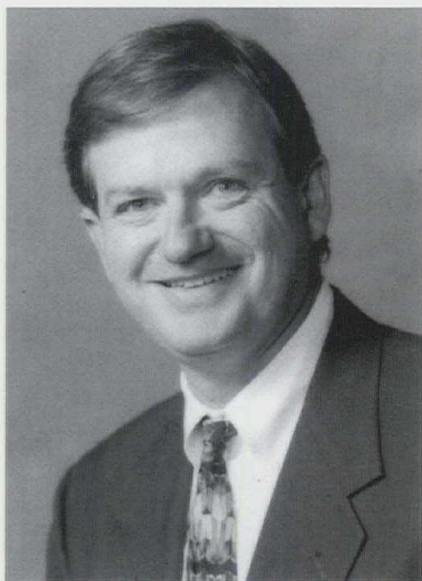

North Carolina Architectural Foundation

The North Carolina Architectural Foundation (NCAF) promotes and sponsors architectural programs and education. The mission of NCAF is to actively encourage and support quality in the field of architecture and educate the public about architecture.

The president of the N.C. Architectural Foundation in 2002 is:

William G. Monroe, III, AIA

KAMPHOEFNER PRIZE

The Foundation awards the Kamphoefner Prize of $10,000 to an AIA North Carolina member who exhibits excellence in the Modern Movement of architecture. The Prize is funded through an endowment bequeathed by Henry and Mabel Kamphoefner. Henry Kamphoefner was the founder and original dean of the N.C. State School of Design. N.C. STATE UNIVERSITY

The Department of Architecture at N.C. State University was established in 1948 as one of two original academic components in the School of Design. The School of Design experienced a long period of development, establishing a reputation for innovation. In the fall of 2000, the department was given school status and the school was granted college status.

The College is presently led by Dean Marvin J. Malecha, FAIA, who was appointed to the position in August 1994. Fatih Rifki, Associate AIA, was appointed department head in 1997, his title is now Director of Architecture. The School of Architecture has grown its mission and curricular offerings over the years to include programs leading to the following three degrees:

Bachelor of Environmental Design in Architecture (BEDA)

A four-year pre-professional curriculum that serves as the foundation for the two advanced programs. The curriculum includes a balance of general studies (English, mathematics, science and humanities), design studio courses and architectural support courses (history, technology, methods and theory).

Bachelor of Architecture (B. ARCH)

A one-year professional curriculum that builds on the four-year BEDA or other equivalent program.

Master of Architecture (M. ARCH)

Three tracks lead to the professional M. ARCH degree: Track I is a two-year program for holders of the BEDA or equivalent four-year pre-professional degree; Track II is a three-semester second professional degree program for holders of the B. ARCH degree; Track III accepts students with degrees in non-architectural fields into a three and one half year program.

Both the B. ARCH and M. ARCH are professional degrees accredited by the National Architectural Accrediting Board. The most recent accreditation action took place in 2000 extending accreditation of both programs for five years. The College of Design annually admits 120 freshmen and transfer students. Following an interdisciplinary fall semester, students begin their architectural studies in the spring semester of the first year. For information about the undergraduate admissions standards and procedures, contact the College of Design, N.C. State University, Box 7701, Raleigh, NC 27695-7701.

Admissions to the B. ARCH and M. ARCH programs are by application to the School of Architecture. For additional information, contact the School of Architecture, College of Design, N.C. State University, Box 7701, Raleigh, NC 27695-7701.

UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA - CHARLOTTE

The College of Architecture at UNC Charlotte graduated its first students with professional degrees in 1976, the same year Charles C. Hight, FAIA, was named dean. In 1999, the school received its fifth consecutive full term accreditation from the National Architectural Accreditation Board. The curriculum provides a balance between theory and application, and general and professional education. Students may develop a double major or minor in another field such as engineering, business, computer or behavioral science. The curriculum is organized into:

The Core Program

In the first three years of the undergraduate program, students are enrolled in general education and architectural courses. In studios and seminars, which occur each semester, students acquire the fundamentals of visual design, problem solving, conceptualization and environmental influences. The third year studios focus upon building designs that are site specific. In addition, students extend their knowledge of architectural history and technology while having the opportunity to pursue individual interests through architectural and general elective seminars.

Advanced Program

In the fourth and fifth years, students select design studios and seminars in accordance with their individual study plan they developed in their third year. In addition, to the design thesis or comprehensive projects, students enroll in studios and seminars which focus on topics such as design theories, programming, architectural materials and technology, lighting design, acoustics, wood and metals design/making, community design, computer-aided design, advanced studies in architectural history, graphic explorations and other design issues. The Bachelor of Arts is awarded at the end of the fourth year and the professional degree, Bachelor of Architecture, is awarded in the fifth year.

Graduate Programs

A student with an undergraduate, non-architecture degree may enroll in a three-year plus one summer professional Master of Architecture program. A student with an undergraduate degree in architectural studies may enroll in a two-year professional Master of Architecture program. The final year provides an opportunity for specially-focus design exploration and research.

In collaboration with the Department of Geography and Earth Science, the College of Architecture also offers a Master of Arts in Community Planning.

In addition, the College maintains the Charlotte Community Design Studio in the Center City area of Charlotte. The College's International Studies programs include summer studies in Italy, Spain and study opportunities in London, Mexico, Finland, and Germany.

The College has an extensive visiting/part-time faculty designer program that includes numerous student-study field trips and special exhibitions of art, architecture and design. The College accepts transfer students for advanced standing from other NAAB schools. More detailed information may be obtained by writing the College of Architecture, UNC Charlotte, Charlotte, NC 28223.
