THE PRESIDENT REPORTS

by Clay Taylor, III, AIA
President, NCAIA

Notes from all around . . . Thanks for allowing me to be your president this year. It has certainly been anything but boring. For instance: we broke in a new Executive Director (or she broke us in); we negotiated a great improvement in our health insurance plan and refunded money to its subscribers; we successfully negotiated in the legislature to provide some needed relief from unjust statute requirements; a working public relations committee was formed and immediately launched into an active position, and . . . many other benefits for us all.

Please be alerted that we may be very active again in this year's legislative matters. We have an excellent lobbyist in Lillian. She and the legislative committee will need your individual assistance from time to time this spring.

It used to be that an architect could set up shop with pencil, paper, drafting board and parallel. Cheap. Now the capital outlay for computers, software, libraries, etc. can be quite disconcerting for new firms.

AIA has many good resources for many subjects for which you may be interested. Have you considered getting their library catalogue?

Best wishes for the New Year.

1985 DOCUMENT PRICE INCREASE

Effective January 1, 1985 there will be a 4.8% document price increase. The increase in price is to cover paper and other material costs related to document production. Please include this price increase in any of your orders place after December 31, 1984. New price lists will be mailed in January. Please remember that orders less than $25.00 must be accompanied with payment.

NCAIA MEMBER PROFILE

NCAIA surveyed its members a year ago to assist the conventions committee in planning more interesting programs. Members provided us with invaluable suggestions and information in this area, but we also were able to put together a profile of architects in NC. Below is the NCAIA data compared with a national AIA survey which was also conducted in 1983.

BLUE CROSS/BLUE SHIELD UPDATE

Your Blue Cross/Blue Shield coverage has been amended for persons between the ages of 65 and 70. Any participants reaching age 65 (and still actively working) will now be able to choose whether they want to retain full benefits of the NCAIA sponsored plan, or whether they wish to have Medicare as their primary coverage coupled with a Blue Cross Medicare Supplement. All participants age 70 and over or age 65 and retired must switch to Medicare as primary coverage. Necessary information will be sent by Blue Cross when these events happen in the future. Any active participants between 65 and 70 who are now on the Medicare Supplement coverage and who wish to change back to full plan coverage should call Jane Johnson at NCAIA Headquarters and necessary information will be sent.

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR'S ANNUAL REPORT

by Lillian Woo

1984 has proven to be a year of many challenges, changes, and positive results for NCAIA.

According to the priorities set by the NCAIA Board of Directors for 1984, the Tower staff undertook the following initiatives and activities:

Public Relations

- * Initiated idea of presentations to target client groups.

- * Used contacts with N C School Boards Association to arrange NCAIA presentation at their eight district meeting during the fall of 1984.

- * Assisted Public Relations Committee in developing presentation.

- * Coordinated presentations with N C School Boards Association.

- * Arranged with N C Arts Council to provide co-sponsorship and presenters at three cultural facilities development workshops held in February and March 1984.

- * Arranged to co-sponsor Main Street reception at State Capitol in September 1984.

- * Arranged to co-sponsor N C Historic Preservation Foundation workshop, N C Historic Preservation Foundation dinner at the Governor's Mansion and to have NCAIA representatives attend these functions.

- * Represented NCAIA at many meetings with industrial leaders, university officials, government officials.

- * Rearrangement of Tower office provides not only a better and more efficient work space but a better public image and appearance to visitors, clients, and members.

Health Insurance

- * Suggested at November 1983 board meeting that NCAIA negotiate with Blue Cross/Blue Shield for an administrative fee payable to NCAIA.

- * Undertook responsibility for selecting an insurance consultant to assess the existing NCAIA health plan.

- * Selected Howard Hanson, at no cost to NCAIA, to serve as consultant.

- * Changes recommended to and adopted by NCAIA include: 11% rate reduction, improved coverage, cost containment features.

- * Howard Hanson now serves as NCAIA agent to assist members with their health insurance.

- * Marketed new policy to NCAIA members. Enrolled more than 200 new participants.

- * New policy considered the most economical and best coverage of any group policy in North Carolina at present.

- * Successfully negotiated with BC/BS for administrative fee for NCAIA. Income will be $12,000 for the first year.

- * Successfully negotiated return of excess in stabilization fund.

- * Suggested to NCAIA Board of Directors that part of the refund be sent to BC/BS participants as a dividend. Amount sent to members in November 1984 was about $50,000. Amount retained by NCAIA will be about $10,000.

- * This revenue from BC/BS of $22,000 also constitutes a New Source Of Income, one of the priority items for 1984.

New Sources of Income

- * Insurance administrative fee and return of excess in stabilization fund.

- * New lease with tenants. Completed necessary repairs.

Tower

- * Coordinated work on Tower with contractor.

Document Sales

- * Suggested prepayment for small orders. This new plan has resulted in increased revenue from document sales. Document income in 1984 will exceed the budget figure.

Conventions

* Initiated new arrangements with exhibitors and sponsors. Result:

$21,000 net for 1984 winter convention

$17,000 + net for SARC convention

* Using contacts, arranged for speakers at SARC-keynote, and workshop.

* Both exhibitors and members have been very complimentary of the program, format, and arrangements at NCAIA conventions this year.

Dues

* New bookkeeping procedures and records have resulted in increased income from dues. Revenue is $7,000 over the budgeted income.

Office Management

* New bookkeeping procedures
* New office equipment which has increased efficiency and productivity.

* Instituted cost saving measures in operations and conventions.

* First NCAIA audit in many years.

Financial Management

* To date, additional income produced in 1984.

	Over 1984 budget
Dues	$ 7,540.00
Conventions	22,000.00
Other	4,157.07
Insurance	22,000.00
Total
New Income	$55,697.07

* Many line item expenses will probably be less than the 1984 budget. Among them are:

Office Supplies

Postage

Computer expense

Executive Director expense

Consultant

It has been a good year for NCAIA. Working together, all of us can accomplish even more in 1985.
