IAMAIA LV SPOTLIGHT
SYLVIA KIM, AIA

I AM A MEMBER OF AIA BECAUSE..... for as much as we can do as individual architects to lead and serve our profession, our clients and community, we can do that much more together. My first exposure to the AIA was in NY and as a young intern, it was empowering to see architects of firms large and small, at various points in their careers, come together to share ideas and their concerns. Being a member of the AIA expands our ability to further the profession; grow new young designers and architects; and impact our communities, not just locally, but globally.

Sylvia Kim, AIA, LEED AP is Principal of JMA Architecture Studios. A native of New York City and graduate of Pratt Institute, Sylvia came to Las Vegas in 1999 and joined JMA in 2005. She has over 20 years of experience in providing architecture to the community and is a Registered Architect in Nevada and twelve additional states. JMA Architecture Studios serves the region as a nationally recognized design firm specializing in Public, Commercial, Hospitality and Healthcare facilities. As Principal, Sylvia provides overall leadership and delivery of major projects within the four studios. She is an active member of American Institute of Architects, US Green Building Council and NAIOP Southern Nevada Chapter.

1. What is the most important thing you’ve learned? It’s okay to make a mistake. Although it is never fun when it happens, the fear of getting something wrong should never hold us back from being bold and decisive, dampen our enthusiasm, or make us second guess our convictions. The lessons learned from mistakes I have made are the ones that have helped me grow the most over the years, both personally and professionally.

2. What is your favorite piece of architecture? Why? This is a difficult question to answer, because my answer has changed over the years and I suspect will continue to change. However if I had to pick just one, I would pick the Chrysler Building in New York. The Art Deco spire has been an iconic element of the NYC’s skyline for years and the craft in the building is something that I hope is not completely lost today.

3. Where will you be in 20 years? In twenty years, continue practicing architecture, traveling, learning and maybe teaching. Maybe.

4. What person, living or dead, would you most like to have dinner with? My mother. She was a woman of quiet strength, vocal loyalty and private generosity. She had an insatiable thirst to learn and try new things. There was much I learned from her, but I have so much more to learn from her.
Psst! Hey, buddy, have I got a deal for you. As the President of this great organization you have here, I am willing (for a limited time only) to make you an incredible offer! I am going to offer you my coveted position here with AIA Las Vegas. Well, actually I am willing to offer up all of the positions on the board, either this year or next.

Though we have a number of terrific individuals serving on the board to represent the members, fresh perspectives and new energy are imperative to allow our organization to grow, adapt, and reach its potential. And, there are several positions opening on the board, one of which is certain to be a match for your skills.

Nominations for service on the 2015 Board of Directors are now being taken and this is one of the most important contributions a member can make. AIA Las Vegas has a “working” Board that has the responsibility for the financial health of the Chapter as well as actively working on behalf of our members to advance the profession and guide the future of the chapter.

Nominations are being accepted for the following positions on the board:
- President-elect (Nominee must have served at least one year on the Board of Directors)
- Secretary
- One Director position
- Emerging Professionals Director, and
- Allied Member Director

Each of these positions is for two years of service.

Architects, perhaps more than any other profession, are best equipped to lead their communities. AIA members are afforded unlimited opportunities through their AIA affiliation to participate as leaders, and we are proud to have leaders here in the Valley serving at the local, State, Regional, and even National levels. If you are committed to elevating the profession, expanding and improving the Chapter and building a more sustainable and livable community …. Your Chapter needs you. In accordance with our strategic plan the Chapter is committed to taking a more active and visible role in our community’s future. There is great work to be done and we must rely on our greatest resource – AIA Members – to lead the way.

If you or someone you know would like to be nominated for one of these positions, please contact me at mark@ryanpatents.com or Randy Lavigne at rlavigne@aianevada.org

The AIA Las Vegas Unbuilt Design Awards program is especially designed to celebrate imagination, ingenuity, resourcefulness and vision where the projects are not required to conform to the realities of constructed work. The program consists of three categories:

Theoretical Projects – work that is done as an exercise in design or simply for the pleasure of creating.
Academic Projects – work that is done as a part of a studio or for academic credit in a class program.
Unbuilt Projects – this is work that has been commissioned but not built and may never be built.

This year’s submittals were juried by three architect members of AIA Wyoming:
Dan Stalker, AIA – Dan Stalker Architect – Sheridan, WY.
Kenneth Tobin, AIA, Tobin & Associates - Cheyenne, WY.
Randy Hein, AIA, Hein / Bond - Casper, WY.

2014 AIA Las Vegas High School Design Awards

This very important program recognizes and rewards young design talent from the drafting and art classes of Clark County High Schools. At the beginning of the Fall semester each year, a “design challenge” is issued to the students in area high schools. They work on their projects under the supervision of their instructors and AIA Advisors to each school. In the Spring, their work is juried, and the best work for each school is recognized and rewarded at the “AIA LV High School Design Awards” program.

Lukas Sullivan from Advanced Technologies Academy was given an Honorable Mention for his work.

Steve Oranchak and Rose Coe, teachers from Northwest Career & Technical Academy, accepts a Best of School Award on behalf of Hai Le.

David Norman from Las Vegas High School was given a Merit Award for his work.

Christian Orme from Advanced Technologies Academy was given an Honor Award for his work.

David Norman accepts his Best of School Award with Sabrina Woodruff, his teacher from Las Vegas High School.

STEPPING THRU ACCESSIBILITY – Seminar Series
Featured Speaker - Janis Kent, AIA CASp

Ms. Kent’s presentations will be focused on the ADA and Accessibility requirements in Nevada and California. Janis Kent, is a Certified Access Specialist (CASp), and a licensed California Architect with over 30 years of experience. She is the Founding President of the Certified Access Specialist Institute (CASI) which has been developed to provide a focal point on accessibility information.

8:00AM – Noon -Stepping thru Existing Buildings
An overview of Accessibility considerations for existing buildings whether or not alterations or construction is planned. This includes a review of requirements per 2010 ADA Standards for Barrier Removal for Places of Public Accommodation (Commercial Facilities) as well as Program Accommodation for Public Entities (State & Local Government).

1:00PM – 3:00PM -Stepping thru Accessible Businesses
An overview of ‘readily achievable barrier removal’ that needs to be implemented even if no construction has been done will be discussed. Review the differences between today’s requirements for building codes and the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA). Review the common items of non-compliance that open up risk, and items the business or building owner needs to deal with from an ongoing facility management viewpoint will be discussed.

3:00PM – 5:00PM - Stepping thru Accessible Environments As We Age
A general overview of what elements in our environment whether at work, play or home that can be included now for us to easily age in place later. Learn about different design considerations whether color, light or accessibility parameters that can be addressed within our built environment to not only allow us to age in place but to also allow others to visit us whether they have issues concerning accessibility or aging.

REGISTER TODAY FOR THE FIRST PROGRAM IN THE NATION THAT TEACHES architects, engineers, contractors, facility managers, interior designers and all others in the design and construction industries, specific ways to reduce carbon emissions and meet the energy efficiency goals of the Architecture 2030 Challenge. The AIA+2030 Professional Series provides real tools..., Not just theory. These tools have been shown to make a direct impact and the more design professionals are trained to do this work: the closer we are to reducing the impact of climate change. These ten, 4-hour sessions offer strategies to reach 60% reduction in fossil fuel greenhouse gas emissions, giving design professionals the knowledge and leverage to create next-generation, super-efficient buildings – and providing firms with the skills that will set them apart in the marketplace.

JESS PEREZ, ARCHITECT

1935 - 2014

It is with much sadness that we report the passing of Jess Perez, on Saturday, April 19th, from complications as a result of diverticulitis.

Jess joined the American Institute of Architects in California in 1976 and became a member of the AIA Las Vegas chapter in 1992. His firm JPA Architects was established in Henderson, Nevada in 1995 and provided home design and planning services in addition to architectural services for many of the Clark County School District projects. Jess was a well loved and respected member of the architectural community and will be missed by the many friends and associates who had the pleasure of knowing and working with him.

A memorial service will be held at the American Legion Post 40, located on Van Wagenen in Henderson from 12:00PM to 3:00PM on Thursday, May 8th, 2014. In lieu of flowers, donations are being made to Laurie Perez through the Wells Fargo Bank, at Horizon Ridge/Horizon Drive in Henderson, Nevada, acct# 9717764501.

The business of architecture is done with resources and tools. It has probably always been that way but now they are both mostly electronic. Gone are the days when the sign of a truly modern firm was a large library of print resources and a legion of technical graphics personnel (draft-persons) to document design ideas. Does anyone remember Sweet’s catalogues?

The best part of printed product media was the representatives, who made the rounds of offices with product samples, little prizes for meeting with them, and even sales lunches. Product manufacturers soon realized that since most office staffs were male it was effective to hire gorgeous women as representatives. The staff attendance was dramatically better. Good lunches, snacks and prizes helped but sex appeal was best. However, it did not always warm the heart of the firm’s Principal to see eight of his staff clustered in the conference room for an hour with a sales rep.

Drafting and sketching were essential skills. They were truly artistic abilities of the hand. Some were better than others but the ability to hand letter the Encyclopedia Britannica in a couple of hours was a valuable asset for any office. Now they just have to be able to type or copy and paste. Style is a matter of using the office standard fonts. This is not all bad and the legibility of construction documents has increased. Of course errors and conflicting information can easily be read too. Error check function can only correct mis-spellings.

Drafting plans and details by hand is an ancient tradition. The Egyptians used papyrus and ink. So did Michelangelo and his contemporaries. It is remarkable that it only changed around 1980 and took ten years or so to become common for CAD created documents. Now hand drafting is a lost art. Gone too are electric erasers, plastic templates, pencil pointers, sepia paste-in copies (can you remember sepias?), and standard office drawing sheets. Original drawings were truly original and had to be carefully filed and preserved. There is no longer any need for drawers of drawings. Coffee spills and ink blots on drawings are no longer a problem - except for coffee spills on a keyboard.

We now have electronic files for everything but there are a new set of problems that come with that as we all know. Filing and file retrieval can be problematic. Corrupted files and server failures are the new plagues that sometimes occur. Ever have a file deleted in error or, just as bad, disappear into the ether? Detail cut and paste is very productive but can give new life to errors in the original or cause conflicts in new project applications. Server failures can paralyze entire offices even more than hot sales reps. did.

The modern offices today are blessed with Building Information Modeling; a miracle for project design coordination. Of course it takes twelve years living like a Monk to learn it well and is best suited to projects over ten million dollars.
THE 2014 AIA NEVADA EXCELLENCE IN DESIGN &
