Too Small for CAD??

According to Civil Engineering Magazine:

"...Anyone who has used a computer for engineering work is well aware that it can triple the productivity and capability of one engineer. Therefore, even the smallest office can justify spending more than $20,000."

Civil Engineering, October 1984, p. 48.

MULTIPLE CHOICE . . .
SINGLE SOURCE

Visual impact and structural integrity make Unistrut® space-frames a remarkably versatile design medium. This potential is enhanced by allowing architects to select from two distinctly different systems. We have no need to compromise your design goals. We simply provide the right system to meet them.

Our Moduspan® system offers the most cost-effective solution for moderate-span roofs, canopies, interior grids and similar planar structures. For long-span roofs, domes, curved structures and other exotic configurations, our Mero® system is often the answer.

When it comes to space-frames, come to the leader - Unistrut Building Systems. No one has more experience. No one offers more choice. No one offers more help in planning, in design, in fabrication, in construction. All from a single source.

Contact us for literature and technical data. Call (804) 222-6832, also 1-800-533-6687 (In Virginia), or write Architectural Industrial Products Company, Inc., P.O. Box 7697, 5745 Charles City Circle, Richmond, VA 23231-4598.

Last winter this cozy playroom was just a cold back porch.

Binning's made it easy.

Eight Binning's sliding glass doors was all it took. This is just one of the many ways architects, contractors and homeowners are using Binning's products to create exciting remodeling and renovation projects.

° Binning's makes full lines of double-pane sliding glass doors, thermalized windows, regular replacement windows, and vinyl replacement windows. And today Binning's products are being used to add new beauty, new light and new ideas to home improvement projects everywhere.

Backed by The National Gypsum Company and years of experience, you can trust Binning's products to install easily, look great and last longer. Because Binning's makes them right.

ASPHALT IS ON TOP!

On top of 94% of our nation's highways!

It's no wonder that hot-mix asphalt is the number one choice of pavement designers and builders. Simply stated, it's stronger, safer and more economical to construct and maintain, and is 100% recyclable.

Smooth, joint-free asphalt results in superior riding qualities—not only in terms of comfort, but energy-wise as well.

Longer-lasting asphalt increases visibility of traffic markings, reduces glare, quickens the melting of ice and snow.

When repairs are needed around utility cuts and installations they can be accomplished quickly and economically without special expensive equipment.

To learn more about the advantages of asphalt, please call or write

Historic Garden Week Makes a Statement in the Spring

by
Charlotte Taylor Massie

The homes open for Historic Garden Week April 20 through April 28 reflect contrasting styles of architecture and offer a variety of tastes in furniture and accessories. This year's selections in 36 areas of the state promise something of interest to the architect, horticulturist, connoisseur of antiques and artworks, and to the landscape architect. In the more than 200 homes, owners are eager to share traditional features and contemporary innovations with garden week visitors. Some of the homes on the tours do not match but somehow prove compatible with the traditional facades of nearby neighbors.

When Planetree was built in 1981 in Goochland County, it was designed to be efficient to operate and maintain. The forms of the house were developed within a broad rural vernacular, including a silo-like stair tower with light well. The pool and terrace are an integral part of the total composition. In contrast to Planetree, Chastain was built in 1789-93 in Amelia County and moved to Goochland County in 1969. The house was dismantled and rebuilt and all of the paneling, mantels, floors, doors, windows, and locks are original. An interesting feature of Chastain is the hidden greenhouse.

The Archibald Blair House in Williamsburg is believed to have been built in the mid-18th century. The neat porch with its Doric columns and pediment dates from the early 19th century but when it was restored it was retained because of its architectural appeal. Just a short distance from the restored area of Williamsburg, is a contemporary and spacious house at 33 Ensigne Spence in the Kingsmill on the James area. All the conveniences for modern living are incorporated in the design.

The Sentry Box in Fredericksburg was built by George Weedon, Revolutionary War general, who served with Washington in New Jersey and Pennsylvania and endured the rugged winter at Valley Forge. Now restored to its 18th century splendor, Sentry Box stands on a high bank above the Rappahannock River. A different style of architecture is represented at the Passenger Station of the R.F.&P. Railroad which was built in 1910 to replace an earlier building. When rail service between Richmond and Washington began in 1836, people were amazed the first train attained a speed of ten miles per hour. It had been only six years since the first successful demonstration of the steam engine in England. Visitors will have an opportunity to visit and have lunch in this interesting station.

The Hanover Tour will include two homes built in different periods and of different styles. The two-story clapboard house at 319 South James Street in Ashland's tree-shaded Historic District is a charming example of a turn-of-the-century country home. Contemporary Hollyfield fits into its natural surroundings and features stained grey redwood, large and irregular panes of glass and a passive solar system.

The architecture of the homes on the Gloucester Tour spans three centuries. Roaring Springs, an 18th century farmhouse, is typical of the informal old Virginia homestead. Lisburne, though, a handsome Federal style farmhouse, dates from about 1810 and Cradle Point was built in the first quarter of the present century.

A stroll along the streets of Olde Towne in Alexandria is a step back into another century. The house at 407 Duke Street is one of Alexandria's best examples of the Second Empire mode in architecture as applied to American town living. Ornamented almost to the point of opulence, it stands out among its more somber historic neighbors. The house at 203 South Fairfax Street was listed in the earliest land books of Alexandria as a lot with a wooden house on it. Built in 1775, it retains its original character.

The Garden Club of Virginia publishes a Historic Garden Week Guidebook giving detailed information on all the homes and gardens open for this springtime event. It is available at the Historic Garden Week Headquarters, 12 East Franklin Street, Richmond, 23226. If requested by mail, The Garden Club of Virginia would appreciate a remittance of $1 toward the cost of the postage.

GIVE TO THE AMERICAN CANCER SOCIETY.

This space contributed as a public service.

These Americans took time off their jobs to serve their country.

Washington. Lincoln. Teddy Roosevelt. Citizen soldiers are more than just a part of our country's history. They are our country's history. For over three centuries they've been leaving their homes and jobs to defend America.

They still do today. They're the members of the Guard and Reserve. Their readiness is vital to our defense.

Be fair to them when their time comes to go on duty. Don't penalize them when promotions and raises are due. Our country's future still depends upon our citizen soldiers. They depend upon you. To find out how you can support today's Guard and Reserve write Employer Support, Arlington, VA 22209. Or call 800-336-4590.
