

Today's News - Tuesday, April 23, 2002

Our feature article applauding the winners of the Congress for the New Urbanism's second annual Charter Awards is now the lead story on our home page. In case you didn't check out the new calendar look, it has a number of new competition deadlines, conferences, and events. (An intriguing competition called "Paradox," sponsored by Architects, Designers and Planners for Social Responsibility (ADPSR), has a May 14th deadline.) We've also added links on the home page to feature article and ANN news archives, so if you'd like to review (or might have missed) anything that expires from the home page, everything is now easily accessible.
