At Ground Zero: Huxtable says public interest - not profit motive - must determine what happens at the World Trade Center site. -- Culture and commerce on collision course? -- Concerns about WTC environmental impact report. -- Finding a role for historic buildings downtown before they're lost. -- Rebuilding public housing in Toronto. -- Insensitive restoration of Islamic sites in Kosovo (good intentions gone wrong?). -- St. Basil's Cathedral threatened by military marches and rock concerts. -- Don't lay off -- lend! -- Glasgow loses preservation champion to Cambridge. - Move over malls…we prefer "lifestyle centers." -- Public markets ripe for urban placemaking. -- Jazzy streetlamps jazz up downtown Manhattan. -- Gehry at Columbia preaches "abstinence in the bawdy house of form, temperance to the theory-drunk, patience at a school where the professional model is the shooting star: streak, flash, burn out." -- Bubble houses in our future? -- Young architect wins MoMA prize. -- Gaudi café wins high praise (the food is good, too).

To subscribe to the free daily newsletter click here.