

Today's News - October 7, 2003

Historic and environmental preservation brings a deteriorated San Francisco treasure back to life. – Managing sprawl and urban growth from New York and L.A. to Minneapolis-St. Paul and the Thames Gateway. – Several salutes to Chandigarh: Corbu's "city of the future" in India turns 50. – The arts give Detroit a big boost, led by a sparkling concert hall. – New building at one university misses the mark, while two other campus projects show promise. – Legal battle over stadium design seems just a bit confusing. – Are restorers wrecking Wren's cathedral? – An architect wins the battle to landmark his 1970's house. – New Lever House restaurant is "one bizarre space" (but the food is good).
