We lose a master who left his mark on social history as well as its skyline. — The "greening" of General Electric is "the most dramatic example yet of a green revolution that is quietly transforming global business." — Call for entries for socially responsible housing competition. — Waterfront dreams in Miami (with hopes they don't turn into nightmares). — Towns are beginning to put their feet down on Bigfoot bash-and-build McMansions. — Retail revolution in India has teething problems (air conditioning, not shopping, a big draw). — We're happy to report that the Los Angeles Times has lifted its pay-to-view policy and we can all once again enjoy Hawthorne's wit and wisdom: Wynn Las Vegas themed "midrise office tower in Houston, circa 1983;" and Koolhaas's "severely hip concert hall" in Portugal. — Grand Rapids museum design gets "tweaked" (and not by the original architect). — Another (mostly) rousing thumbs-up for Walker Art Center addition. — A U.K. sculpture park takes on national importance "almost by stealth," — The 2nd International Architecture Biennale Rotterdam will take on water; gathers over one hundred models of water cities. — A deftly designed WW II architecture show at the Chicago Art Institute "captures energy of the era." — International winners who design and protect the landscape.

To subscribe to the free daily newsletter click here

Obituary: Vernon DeMars, 97: an architect and UC Berkeley professor who left his mark on the Bay Area's social history as well as its skyline. By John King - San Francisco Chronicle

Editorial: Corporate Green: The greening of General Electric...would double its research spending on cleaner technologies to $1.5 billion annually...the most dramatic example yet of a green revolution that is quietly transforming global business. - Washington Post

Call for Entries: First John M. Clancy Award for Socially Responsible Housing; deadline: June 13 - Boston Society of Architects/AIA

Waterfront dreams: With four areas being replanned, we can restore, preserve and celebrate the coastal environment...It's the landscape that ultimately defines and differentiates us. Rome to Rio. By Beth Dunlop -- Hargreaves & Associates; Cooper Robertson & Partners; WRT; EDSA - Miami Herald

McMansions or Bash-and-Builds, Bigfoots: Call them what you will, more and more towns have had enough of oversize houses. - New York Times

India's malls pull in people who aren't buying: ...retail revolution, which began with the arrival of the first shopping mall less than six years ago, is having teething troubles. - International Herald Tribune

A glitch in the glitz: The price tag is over the top, but Wynn Las Vegas' exterior isn't...The theme is midrise office tower in Houston, circa 1983. By Christopher Hawthorne -- Jerde Partnership; DeRuyter Butler Cesar Pelli; Ehrenkrantz Eckstut & Kuhnebergman; Walls & Associates - Los Angeles Times

A severely hip concert hall: Rem Koolhaas can be bold and exciting in his disregard for the norm. But in Portugal he may have gotten boxed in. By Christopher Hawthorne -- Office for Metropolitan Architecture/OMA; Renz van Luxemburg - Los Angeles Times

Grand Rapids Art Museum gets new architects; opening date pushed back: ...original work by London-based architects Munkenberg and Marshall...tweaked by the Los Angeles-based firm Workshop Hakomori Yantrasast. - Grand Rapids Press

Town in country: the new galleries at the Yorkshire Sculpture Park...Almost by stealth, it has become a nationally important contemporary art gallery. By Hugh Pearman -- Feilden Clegg Bradley [images] - HughPearman.com (UK)

The Flood: 2nd International Architecture Biennale Rotterdam, May 26 - June 26: will spotlight the relation between water and architecture...Adriaan Geuze/West 8 is curator. - Biennale Rotterdam

Exhibition Review: "1945: Creativity and Crisis: Chicago Architecture and Design of the World War II Era": a perfect-pitch exhibition design by Stanley Tigerman...deftly captures both the austerity and the energy of the decade. By Blair Kamin -- Wright; Mies van der Rohe; Goldberg; Goff; Ferriss; etc. - Chicago Tribune

Build Business: Client Loyalty – What You Don't Know Could Hurt You. By Stephanie Craft, CPSM

-- Inauguration: Gehry Partners: MARTa Herford, Herford, Germany; Photos: Thomas Mayer
-- Construction start: UN Studio: Lelystad Theater, Lelystad, The Netherlands

Note: Pages will open in a new browser window. External news links are not endorsed by ArchNewsNow.com. Free registration may be required on some sites. Some pages may expire after a few days.