
Today's News - June 23, 2005

Amendment to New South Wales, Australia's planning code is a "a Lemony Snickett version of A.A. Milne...in which Pooh sticks it to the Heffalump." – Planning for San Francisco's waterfront requires regulators and residents to work together. – Judge rules SCI-Arc didn't dot all the "t"s and cross the "i"s in bid to buy home. – Recycled school designs and architects held accountable in effort to keep building schools in New Jersey. – Plans for tallest building in London go for approval. – Design unveiled for King Tut's new home in the Egyptian desert (designed by Irishmen). – London's Jubilee Gardens to have a Dutch accent. – Design workshops for prisoners to "visualise a "creative prison." – Registration deadline draws near for performing arts center in Western Australia. – A cliff house fit for a remake of "Vertigo." – Hot Firm 2005 list released.

To subscribe to the free daily newsletter click here

New planning code: trust us, we're the experts: ...just when the whole planning thing becomes critical for Sydney, and people start to engage fully with the issues, the Government moves to delete said people - along with old buildings and bandicoots - from the process. By Elizabeth Farrelly- Sydney Morning Herald

A private yet public union on the waterfront: The best results will occur when regulators and residents work together to make good things happen, not just simply fear what bad things could come. By John King- San Francisco Chronicle

Architecture School Loses Bid to Buy Its Home: A judge rules SCI-Arc does not have a binding contract to purchase the former Santa Fe freight depot that it now leases in downtown L.A.- Los Angeles Times

School designs will be recycled to cut cost: With cash running out, state agency also tightens the penalties for errors by architects- The Star-Ledger \(New Jersey\)

[1,008ft tower planned for City: London's ever-changing skyline is set to be transformed again. Plans for the tallest building yet have been submitted... -- Kohn Pedersen Fox \(KPF\) \[image\]- This is London \(UK\)](#)

[Design for New Egyptian Museum Unveiled: ...government's ambitious \$500 million project...will house King Tut's mummy and treasures along with thousands of other artifacts... \(AP\) -- Heneghan.Peng Architects \[image\]- SF Gate](#)

[Jubilee Gardens: West 8 selected by public for 'world class' park on the South Bank \[images\]- London SE1](#)

Prisoners to design own jail: Alsop will run a series of workshops...Participants will be encouraged to visualise a "creative prison" that emphasises rehabilitation rather than punishment and security.- Guardian \(UK\)

Call for Entries: CentreStage: competition for Western Australia's state-of-the-art performance venue; registration deadline: June 30; submission deadline: August 5- Department of Culture and the Arts, Government of Western Australia

On the cliffs of Dover: How a small house overlooking the Pacific became an object of attention...clinging to the edge of a cliff...jutting out over the ocean with a 70-metre drop below. -- Durbach Block- Sydney Morning Herald

[The Zweig Letter Hot Firm 2005 List: the 100 fastest-growing U.S. architecture, engineering, and environmental consulting firms. \[free registration\]- ZweigWhite](#)

June '05 Build Business: Presentations Wanted: Alive, Not Dead. By Carol Doscher

Antoine Predock: Community Performing Arts & Learning Center, Pima Community College, Green Valley, Arizona

Note: Pages will open in a new browser window.
External news links are not endorsed by ArchNewsNow.com.
Free registration may be required on some sites.
Some pages may expire after a few days.

Yesterday's News

© 2005 ArchNewsNow.com