
Where are the Olympic building plans heading? There is a growing scepticism in this country about architecture for the public...it is still far from clear who exactly is going to design the stadium, or if, indeed, it will look anything like the propaganda. By Deyan Sudjic – Foreign Office Architects; Allies and Morrison; EDAW; Zaha Hadid - Observer (UK)

An Architect With Plans for a New Gulf Coast: He's the man architecture critics love to hate: Andrés Duany, charismatic prophet of the New Urbanism... -- Duany Plater-Zyberk & Company; Reed Kroloff; Peter A. Calthorpe – New York Times

Pinnacle could be top slots design: The more you stare at the softly lit renderings of four casinos proposed for Philadelphia's Delaware waterfront, the more the designs start to run together...If anyone should be able to help...slots parlors break out of their nondescript boxes, it's Jerde. By Inga Saffron – Philadelphia Inquirer

Glossing over the problem with prefab? Not everyone agrees that this phenomenon is a also good thing for architecture...Two cautions stand out...cost [and] fit of structure to landscape. By John Bentley Mays -- Graham Smith/Altius Architecture - Globe and Mail (Canada)

The Manhattanville Project: The dispute over Renzo Piano’s piazza encapsulates a larger conflict Columbia University is now having with its neighbors to the north...One man's urban improvement, it seems, is another man's urban debacle. - New York Times Magazine

Not a single condo in sight: Hearst headquarters and 7 World Trade Center symbolize an older idea of skyscraper as a place of commerce. They are two of the best-looking dinosaurs you'll ever see. By Christopher Hawthorne – Norman Foster/Foster and Partners; David Childs/Skidmore, Owings & Merrill - Los Angeles Times

NY tower an inspiration to think green: Skyscrapers are nothing new in this city, but the Hearst Tower is something quite different...as an icon, a landmark...feels awkward, almost ungainly. Its best features are inside... By Christopher Hume -- Foster and Partners; Adamson Associates - Toronto Star

Miami Is All About Its Celebrity Architects: Just when it seemed that the traditional Miami aesthetic had made a national comeback...a new chapter has opened for this city's architecture. The Big Architects are in town... -- Enrique Norten; Frank Gehry; Herzog & de Meuron; Cesar Pelli; Richard Meier; Bernard Tschumi; Duany Plater-Zyberk; Arquitectonica; Chad Oppenheim [images] - New York Times

Target's Target: DC USA: Big-box retail fills a gap as a Harlem-based developer and the public sector collude... -- Bower Lewis Thrower Architects [images] - The Slatin Report

At the New JetBlue Terminal, Passengers May Pirouette to Gate 3: The architect David Rockwell and the choreographer Jerry Mitchell collaborate to streamline the airport experience. -- Gensler [audio slide show] - New York Times

Arts-center plan takes a bow: Advocates envision a $376 million sprawling downtown Orlando complex with 3 performance halls. -- Barton Myers Associates - Orlando Sentinel (Florida)

Lines light space: An early peek at the new home at the Museum of Contemporary Art/ Denver. a 26,000-square-foot building with a clean and, in many ways, unassuming exterior geometry. By Kyle MacMillan -- David Adjaye [image] - Denver Post

Israel Museum gets biggest overhaul in its 40-year history -- Alfred Mansfeld; Dora Gad; Armand Bartos/Frederick Kiesler; Isamu Noguchi (1965); James Carpenter; Efrat-Kowalsky Architects; Lerman Architects - The Art Newspaper spaces plotted to keep audiences riveted on the stage, not the venues' lines. -- John Sergio Fisher & Associates (JSFA) [images] - Los Angeles Times

How Millennium Park created a unique nexus of culture, our meeting place, our focal point for the arts, in ways that perhaps even its planners hadn't anticipated. -- Gehry; Plensa; Kapoor [images] - Chicago Tribune

So Tall: International High-Rise Prize 2006 Goes to Barcelona’s Torre Agbar by Jean Nouvel -- Commendations to: Calatrava; Delugan Meissl Architects; mecanoo architects; and Riken Yamamoto & Field Shop [images] - ArchNewsNow

© 2006 ArchNewsNow.com