Today's News - Friday, May 18, 2007

A sad day: we lose two champions of historic preservation. – It’s Melbourne vs. Sydney in big-picture city planning where culture shines. – Dallas opts for (mostly) starchitects for museum shortlist. – Nobel’s not-so-glowing take on ICA (and some speculation on why starchitects’ buildings seem to always get good reviews). – Copenhagen waterfront taking lessons from Amsterdam. – High hopes for Philadelphia’s “hidden” riverfront. – Saffron x 2: New Urbanists land in Philly, and Rybczynski’s new book “casts an unsentimental eye on New Urbanism and shows how market forces conspire against its admirable, progressive goals.” – Condos next to chicken coops: new communities developing on/around working farms. – Brown’s eco-towns won’t be all that green. – Faimly’s take on the “mine’s greener than yours is” rumble. – A Virginia county ponders requiring big-box stores to be better neighbors. – Body gives a thumbs-up to Vancouver’s hybrid condos. – Hospitals in India taking healing architecture seriously. – Prize-winning house is a lesson for Edinburgh’s planning committee. – Stellar projects win IALD International Lighting Design Awards. – Young architects win big in AIA Wisconsin Design Awards.

To subscribe to the free daily newsletter click here

Obituary: Giorgio Cavagneri, Urban Preservationist, 95: ...helped start and define the city’s preservation movement... Jefferson Market Library in Greenwich Village... generally regarded as the first real instance of successful historic preservation in New York City. - New York Times

Obituary: Denis Kuhn, 65, Restored New York Landmarks...Not all projects look to the past. – Ehnkrantz Eckstut & Kuhn Architects – New York Times

Culture shines in city rivalries: The Victorian Government and the City of Melbourne are increasingly being seen as setting the creative benchmark, sparking Sydney’s envy as Melbourne reaps 20 years of big-picture city planning that has encouraged innovative architecture. — Richard Florida; Elizabeth Farrelly - Brisbane Times (Australia)

Finalists announced: Winner to design Museum of Science and History. By David Dillon – Thom Mayne/Morphosis; Shigeru Ban; Polshek Partnership; Snohetta; Ralph Appelbaum – Dallas Morning News

Die Another Day: The cycle of codependence between critics and stars does a disservice to both public and profession alike. Here we go again: A celebrated firm completes a long anticipated project...the building is not perfect. Architecture is hard — they’ll do better next time. Right? By Philip Nobel – Diller Soffidio + Renfro - Metropolis Magazine

Transplant Recipient: Copenhagen’s waterfront gets new life with a planning infusion from Amsterdam. By David Sokol – Szondi Soeters; Jørgen Bach/Aktema; Force4 [images] – Metropolis Magazine

For the People: Restoring Philadelphia’s ‘Hidden’ Schuykill: “Other cities are celebrating their riverfronts, and that’s what we’re trying to do now.” -- Joseph Syrnick - Bloomberg News

Architects visit their foes’ citadel: New Urbanists...have arrived in Philadelphia for the annual Congress for the New Urbanism...have storted the great citadel of Modernism: the PSFS Building... By Inga Saffron – George Howe/William Lescaze (1932); Duany, Plerter-Cyberk - Philadelphia Inquirer

Town in country - battling sprawl: “Last Harvest: How a Cornfield Became New Daleville” by Witold Rybczynski...casts an unsentimental eye on New Urbanism and shows how market forces conspire against its admirable, progressive goals. By Inga Saffron [slide show] - Philadelphia Inquirer

For Sale: Condo With Chicken Coop: Catering to Americans’ desire to live “green,” developers around the country are creating communities on or adjoining farms...not necessarily in the boondocks. Some are in suburbs or near cities. [slide show] - Wall Street Journal

Brown’s ‘eco new town’ will fail green test; Northstowe to be ‘nowhere near’ zero carbon.- Building (UK)

Quest for green, yet engaging, public building: ...the fact this “mine’s greener than yours is” rumble is happening is a good sign...Sydney is crying for a comparable gesture: tangible proof that buildings can be seriously green and seriously engaging. By Elizabeth Farrelly – Richard Francis-Jones - Sydney Morning Herald

Fairfax County Ponders Restrictions on Big-Box Stores: ...looking at making big-box stores build up instead of out, fit better into existing neighborhoods and leave less of a blemish on the environment – and the eye. - Washington Post

An over-the-top restoration: Condo hybrids Vancouver’s latest housing innovation ...bold contemporary condos discretely placed on top of restored historic buildings. By Trevor Boddie – Gair Williamson [images] - Globe and Mail (Canada)

Healing Architecture: More and more hospitals in India are realising the importance of healing architecture...The Three Ns...nature (green plants), natural light and natural air... - HOSMAC; RRP Architects; Edifice [images] - Express Healthcare Management
House that council rejected twice by the city's planning board has won a major design award: "I think this serves as a lesson to them and it shows that we [architects] do know what we're doing." -- Richard Murphy [image] The Scotsman (UK)

24th Annual IALD International Lighting Design Award Winners Represent Best of Global Design Community: 20 Winners from 6 Countries [images, links] International Association of Lighting Designers (IALD)

Eminent design: A small, youthful team of architects from Milwaukee has won two of the top three 2007 Design Awards from AIA Wisconsin... By Whitney Gould -- Johnsen Schmaling Architects; AG Architecture; HGA; KEE Architecture; Zimmerman Architectural Studios; Potter Lawson; Kubala Washatko; Kahler Slater [slide show] Milwaukee Journal Sentinel

Under Construction: Zaha Hadid Architects: Cagliari Contemporary Arts Centre, Cagliari, Italy

Note: Pages will open in a new browser window. External news links are not endorsed by ArchNewsNow.com. Free registration may be required on some sites. Some pages may expire after a few days.

Yesterday's News

© 2007 ArchNewsNow.com