Today’s News - Thursday, January 3, 2008

Can LEED get beyond its faulty check-list mentality? — Russell lauds young architects and non-profits leading the way to renewal in New Orleans. — Good design beginning to take hold in affordable housing. — Ounousoff is concerned by Niemeyer's tinkering with his own masterpieces. — Tel Aviv's growing appreciation of its historic buildings. — A growing movement to preserve Lutyens' New Delhi. — Maggie's Centres as "Britain's best patron of new architecture." — Coming soon: "tower of tomorrow" that will do "everything a tree can do except replicate." — Leeds in line to get Europe's tallest residential tower. — Gazprom tower plans continue to rile. — Only a year late: Auckland Art Gallery wins second battle over modern addition (the fight may not be over). — Gardner finds "geek chic" on Bond Street, and a new bank building that perplexes. — Bernstein rediscovers a "heroine of Chicago architecture." — A review of last year's top planning line to get Europe's tallest residential tower. — Gazprom tower plans continue to rile. — Only a year late: Auckland Art Gallery wins second battle over modern addition (the fight may not be over). — Gardner finds "geek chic" on Bond Street, and a new bank building that perplexes. — Bernstein rediscovers a "heroine of Chicago architecture." — A review of last year's top planning

Rediscovering a Heroine of Chicago Architecture: If women are underrepresented in the architecture profession in 2008, a century ago they were hardly represented at all.

huge appreciation of its historic buildings. — A growing movement to preserve Lutyens' New Delhi. — Maggie's Centres as "Britain's best patron of new architecture." — Coming soon: "tower of tomorrow" that will do "everything a tree can do except replicate." — Leeds in line to get Europe's tallest residential tower. — Gazprom tower plans continue to rile. — Only a year late: Auckland Art Gallery wins second battle over modern addition (the fight may not be over). — Gardner finds "geek chic" on Bond Street, and a new bank building that perplexes. — Bernstein rediscovers a "heroine of Chicago architecture." — A review of last year's top planning

Amnesty Plan for Relics of the Raj: Although the works of Edwin Lutyens in New Delhi come a new appreciation for the city's historic buildings. By Esther Hecht — Eli Alfa; Yaski Sivan Architects; Pei Cobb Freed; Dov Herschkowitz (1920s); Judah Magidovich (1920s); Danieleh Smits-Possek; Richard Meier; Preston Scott Cohen; Massimiliano Fuksas, Architectural Record

Tel Aviv Develops Its Past Into the Future: ...with the proliferation of skyscrapers has come a new appreciation for the city's historic buildings. By Esther Hecht — Eli Alfa; Yaski Sivan Architects; Pei Cobb Freed; Dov Herschkowitz (1920s); Judah Magidovich (1920s); Danieleh Smits-Possek; Richard Meier; Preston Scott Cohen; Massimiliano Fuksas, Architectural Record

Even if His Own Work Isn't Broken, a Brazilian Architect Fixes It: ...the greatest threat to Oscar Niemeyer's remarkable legacy may not be the developer's bulldozer or insensitive city planners, but Niemeyer himself. He is under pressure to rescue his vision from looming destruction. [images]— New York Times

Architects Bring High Design To Affordable Housing: The interest in design comes as affordable housing is increasingly being mixed in among middle class and even luxury homes. — Helmut Jahn; Pugh + Scarpa; Michael Maltzan; Polihek Partnership; Runberg Architecture Group; Della Valle Bernheimer; Michael Willis Architects; Ward + Blake Architects [images]— Wall Street Journal

Even if His Own Work Isn't Broken, a Brazilian Architect Fixes It: ...the greatest threat to Oscar Niemeyer's remarkable legacy may not be the developer's bulldozer or insensitive city planners, but Niemeyer himself. He is under pressure to rescue his vision from looming destruction. [images]— New York Times

Maggie's Cancer Caring Centres: Places of peace and inspiration: A cancer charity has become Britain's best patron of new architecture. By Ellis Woodman — Maggie Keswick Jencks; Charles Jencks; Richard Murphy; Frank Gehry; Zaha Hadid; Richard Rogers; MacCormac Jamieson Prichard; Kisho Kurokawa; Pieter Gough: Wilkinson Eyre; Foreign Office Architects (FOA) — Telegraph (UK)

'Tower of tomorrow' to be unveiled at World Future Energy Summit: ...a skyscraper that can do "everything a tree can do except replicate". ... — William McDonough - 24dash.com (UK)

Leeds gets Europe's tallest residential tower: Ian Simpson-designed Lumiere twin towers will rival Manchester's Beetham Towers [images] — Building (UK)

Gazprom Tower Threatens to Deface St. Petersburg: ...the last place where a giant example of standard commercial architecture should be allowed to dominate what is a site of rare refinement and beauty. By Colin Amery — ROMM — Bloomberg News

Auckland Art Gallery wins second battle: Work can begin on the $86.4 million revamp...after the Environment Court approved plans to lower the roof line on a modern addition. — Archimedia; Francis-Jones Morehen Thorp (FJMT) — New Zealand Herald

Can LEED get beyond its faulty check-list mentality? — Russell lauds young architects and non-profits leading the way to renewal in New Orleans. — Good design beginning to take hold in affordable housing. — Ounousoff is concerned by Niemeyer's tinkering with his own masterpieces. — Tel Aviv's growing appreciation of its historic buildings. — A growing movement to preserve Lutyens' New Delhi. — Maggie's Centres as "Britain's best patron of new architecture." — Coming soon: "tower of tomorrow" that will do "everything a tree can do except replicate." — Leeds in line to get Europe's tallest residential tower. — Gazprom tower plans continue to rile. — Only a year late: Auckland Art Gallery wins second battle over modern addition (the fight may not be over). — Gardner finds "geek chic" on Bond Street, and a new bank building that perplexes. — Bernstein rediscovers a "heroine of Chicago architecture." — A review of last year's top planning
Top Planning Issues of 2007: the trends and issues that defined the year in urban planning [links, podcast]- PLANetizen

Highlights of 2008: Architecture and design: The year has much in store for lovers of design and architecture, from the re-launch of a motoring classic to a salute to one of the greatest designers of all time, Le Corbusier... By Jonathan Glancey- Guardian (UK)

Book review: "Architecture of the Absurd", by John Silber: Today's star architects are accused of placing form far ahead of function... In a book devoted to architectural indulgence, Silber sets a standard for arrogance far exceeding that of his subjects. By Mark Lamster- Los Angeles Times

Call for entries: The Back-of-the-Envelope Bush Library Design Contest (U.S. residents only); deadline: February 1- The Chronicle of Higher Education

Call for entries: Annual DWR Champagne Chair Contest: Create an original miniature chair using only the foil, label, cage and cork from no more than two Champagne bottles; deadline: January 7- Design Within Reach

Yesterday's News
© 2008 ArchNewsNow.com