WORDS THAT BUILD Tip #19: Choose words and phrases that depict your architecture as a mysterious promise, as well as a known product. By Norman Weinstein - ArchNewsNow

I.M. Pei wins RIBA Royal Gold Medal: ...one of the industry's most prestigious prizes...given in recognition of an architect's lifetime work and is personally approved by the Queen [images]: The Architects' Journal (UK)

New Barnes design is ...that good: As that most eccentric of art museums...prepares to move...two essential questions worth asking...What's lost? What's gained?...design...can't be evaluated on the usual terms...also must succeed as an exoneration of the foundation's alleged crimes against the memory of its founder...What's astonishing is just how far the design...goes toward fulfilling that mission impossible. By Inga Saffron -- Tod Williams Billie Tsien; Laurie C. Olin [images, video]: Philadelphia Inquirer

Robert Venturi slams proposed Barnes Foundation move: ...focuses on the artistic damage [he] believes will be caused by the move: "The current building in Merion was designed specifically for the Barnes collection by Paul Cret...The building and site design are an integral part of the collection, and vice versa. Separating them vastly diminishes the value and purpose of both." [links]: Los Angeles Times

Offbeat Barnes, Gardner Museums Face Decay, Change: We need museums that don't toe the art-world party line, but idiosyncrasy can go too far. I fear neither the Gardner's addition nor the Barnes's new home will free them of the unenviable dilemma of trying to save the collections while remaining true to their founders' vision. By James S. Russell -- Tod Williams Billie Tsien; Renzo Piano: Bloomberg News

Make It Float: Among the 13 house designs proposed last year for Brad Pitt's Make It Right project in New Orleans...The FLOAT House...is currently waiting for a resident...expected to earn it LEED Platinum -- Mayne/Morphosis [images]: Metropolis Magazine

Koolhaas Glasgow Maggie's Centre wins planning: ...for a new £2.1 million cancer care centre -- Office of Metropolitan Architecture (OMA) [images]: BDX/Building Design (UK)

Zinc-clad outsider finds place on Mills College campus: this isn't just a shift in styles. It's a bid for attention. Good luck in this setting. But give the...Lokey Graduate School of Business building credit for something else. It is contemporary architecture shaped by environmental concerns, and it feels as comfortable as an old shoe. By John King -- Bohlin Cywinski Jackson [images]: San Francisco Chronicle

NYC Should Have Even Smaller Apartments: A reimagining of people's space needs could point a way out of the affordable housing shortage...current housing rules stifle innovative design, restrict the construction of new affordable housing, and exacerbate the city's never-ending housing shortage --- practically making overcrowding the unofficial housing policy. -- Citizens Housing and Planning Council (CHPC)- City Limits (NYC)

MIT research says 'enact policies now' to limit risk of climate catastrophe: ...even moderate carbon-reduction policies can substantially lower the risk of future climate change...failing to take prompt action could result in extreme changes that could become much more difficult, if not impossible, to control. Gehry Discusses Green Designs, Alston: ...was quick to indicate that he has no plans to jump on any sustainable architecture bandwagon. "Don't just run off with every fad—the green thing is very important, but some of us have been thinking of it for a while..." - The Harvard Crimson

Weisman Art Museum's expansion begins: Frank Gehry designed the additions to his 1993 University of Minnesota landmark -- HGA Architects [images]: Minneapolis Star Tribune

Who's To Blame for Faulty Foster Tower? Despite the recession, CityCenter continues to rise on the Las Vegas Strip...One project that certainly has not turned out as planned is the 400-room Harmon Hotel tower...The problems have escalated into finger-pointing between project parties... -- Foster + Partners [images]: Architectural Record
Foster's new routemaster not big enough - say RAC and Labour: Plans to scrap bendy buses and introduce new routemasters - to be designed by Foster + Partners and Aston Martin - have come under fire... [images]- The Architects' Journal (UK)
