The Sunshine Room

It's wherever you put an Armstrong vinyl floor.

Any room becomes a sunshine room when the floor is Armstrong Vinyl Corlon®. Deep-glow colors in sparkling, easy-to-clean vinyl create a bright, cheerful mood that makes you feel sunny all day.

This gleaming country kitchen has a new kind of Armstrong floor that adds still another welcome dimension...cushioned comfort.

It's Cushioned Coronelle

Below the hefty, vinyl wear surface is a foamed vinyl backing called Cushioncord®.

Because this backing "gives" under pressure, Cushioned Coronelle is quieter, warmer, more comfortable to walk on. And the Cushioncord is not affected by moisture, so the floor can be installed almost anywhere, even in a basement.

Best of all, Cushioned Coronelle is available in two stunningly realistic designs: the graceful Palerma styling shown here and a natural-looking brick.

To be sure of a trouble-free installation, buy Cushioned Coronelle from a store that has been certified by Armstrong to install this exclusive, new flooring. To find the one nearest you, call this number, toll-free: (800) 243-6000. (In Connecticut, call (800) 942-0655.) Ask for the name of the retailer who sells Cushioned Coronelle.

If you'd like more facts about Cushioned Coronelle, plus a picture-packed booklet showing our other fine floors, write Armstrong, 7008 Maple Ave., Lancaster, Pa. 17604.

Keeps permanent-press clothes from wrinkling if you're not home the minute they're dry. Tumbles them without heat every 5 minutes for 2 1/2 hours.

Dry rack
A blessing when you have to dry things you can't tumble. Like teddy bears and sneakers.

Load-A-Door
Now you can unload without dropping clean clothes on the floor.

Sears service
It's fast and competent. And it's available anywhere in the United States.

Easy-care lint system
A light tells you when screen needs cleaning. Helps you keep dryer at peak efficiency.

Read how you too can get into this exciting money-making field for women ired of monotony? Meager income? You can change your whole life by learning how to become a successful interior decorator.

Decorating is a profession that is made to order for women. It is just the place where you can put your natural love of beauty to practical use.

The women pictured on this page are only a few of the many who have recognized this opportunity and who are now on the happy road to success in the decorating field.

Just as they did, you can train with La Salle for the same kind of career—in your spare time at home. You can qualify for a great choice of positions leading to fine salaries—or plan to go into a profitable business of your own.

A tremendously expanded field

Decorators are now used to beautify homes, hotels, business offices, building lobbies, clubs and institutions. That’s why the profession has grown so enormously.

Your work as a decorator is varied and interesting. It frequently takes you and your clients into plush showrooms and exclusive shops filled with treasures. You move in a world of fashion, creativity and ever-new challenge.

Designing and furnishing even a single room can earn a decorator hundreds of dollars; larger assignments much more. Many women do extremely well in just part-time work; their own homes often serve as showcases for prospective clients.

What the La Salle course teaches you

The La Salle course in Interior Decorating has been prepared to give you comprehensive preparation for this exciting modern career. Lessons come to you by mail; they are as enjoyable as the professional work itself. Much of the study material included is unusual in a course of this kind. For instance, you get an attractive, simple-to-operate slide projector with color slides that show interiors as big as life on your wall. You also get professional sketching equipment, coloring materials, stencils that make it easy for you to draw room plans and furniture arrangements, and much more.

Step by step, you are shown how to develop your creative ability. You are taught the principles of color and design, trained in the selection and use of furniture, fabrics, accessories, lighting. You learn how to achieve beautiful settings for any kind of room. Even before you have finished the course you will be able to apply your new knowledge to glorifying your own home.

At each step you are given practical assignments which are then carefully reviewed by your instructors and returned to you. You are well prepared for your work as a professional decorator.

If you want real silver, you have to polish it.

Yes, polishing silver can be something of a nuisance. So can watering a plant every day to keep it growing. Or tending a log to keep a fire crackling.

Or ironing a hand-embroidered pure cotton sheet.

But have you ever slipped into a bed made with percale sheets so smooth you could almost glide on them? Have you ever caught the scent of them when they're freshly ironed? Or run your hand over the raised embroidery and thought how it looks almost like Wedgwood?

Or opened the linen closet door just to enjoy seeing them there all tied up with green and pink and white ribbons?

Then you're the reason we're still making Supercale.

Just as we always have since your great great grandmother chose her trousseau linens.

We're still choosing the cotton just as carefully as we did in 1846. All pure natural cotton. And only the longest, most lustrous, flawless strands of it.

We're still combing and combing it until it feels almost like silk. Still weaving it so close and firm and strong that Supercale sheets are still being handed down from mother to daughter.

Yes, a Wamsutta Supercale sheet is an out and out luxury.

But it is one third of your life. Spend it dreaming in Wamsutta Supercale.

A DECORATOR SPEAKS HIS MIND

To top off a beautiful room, you need the right ceiling.

BY WILLIAM BALDWIN

I often wonder why even my most sophisticated clients—those who plan a room's colors, fabrics, furniture, and objects down to the last ashtray—almost always fail to look up. There was a time when the ceiling was the glory of a room. Think of those beautiful old ceilings in Italy and Spain, arched, sculpted, painted with stars. Or the great English Adam ceilings of the late eighteenth century, elaborately plastered and painted—ceilings so wonderful that carpeting was often woven to match. Today, with some striking exceptions, the ceiling is largely ignored.

It amazes me that in New York, the tall city with the short rooms, where people ought to be concerned with raising the roof, so many merely give the ceiling a lick of white paint and let it go at that. Unless the walls are stark white, too, white paint is guaranteed to bring that ceiling down all over your shoulders. If you want to lift the ceiling, you should paint it darker than the walls—anywhere from one tone darker to almost black. Then it will recede like a clear sky at midnight and be more dramatic. Many rooms in Latin countries where plaster-white walls prevail, have ceilings of sky blue or sea green. Not only does the color heighten the room, it also makes the room incredibly cool looking, and helps get rid of that old villain, glare.

Even a room with dark walls can have a dark ceiling if there are enough windows all around to give good crosslight. With only one exposure, though, a dark ceiling can be fatal. A friend of mine once painted his living room, with its single row of windows, a dark, shiny brown—ceiling and all. At night, it was magic. The ceiling disappeared right into the New York skyline, and the whole room sparkled. But during the day, you would open the door and see absolutely nothing but black, with glare at the far end. It was like living in the Holland Tunnel. My friend repainted his ceiling within a month. It is now a buff color, and that makes all the difference in the world. When a ceiling must be pale, even a few drops of the wall color in the ceiling white keeps the ceiling a comfortable distance away. To raise a light ceiling even more, install a narrow cornice molding painted to match the walls. In small rooms like entrance halls or dressing-room passageways where you don't stay very long, a delightful ceiling raiser is mirror. But I would never mirror the ceiling in a room where you linger very long—it's quite unnerving to glance up and see yourself standing on your head.

And here are a few of them. A table that reveals its extra legs only when expanded so its simple lines remain simple. (It grows to seat from four to twelve also.) Two-door chests that exactly duplicate Oriental originals—right down to their handsome brass lock shields. And chairs with caned backs and soft cushions that invite relaxed dining.

There are some rooms, believe it or not, whose ceilings are too high. Generally, the smaller the room, the lower the ceiling should be, to avoid the feeling that you're sitting in the bottom of a well. You can lower the ceiling physically by building a whole new one. One corridor I know has one wall of built-in cabinets, the other of paintings and drawings. The ceiling is unbleached muslin stretched on a frame. And above it, diffused by the muslin's irregular weave, is a row of lights directed at the pictures. That ceiling is functional, attractive, and gives the hall much better proportion. You can also lower the ceiling visually. The simplest way is to paint the cornice molding to match the ceiling, or install the molding a little way down the wall and paint everything from there up in the ceiling color.

Beams in ceilings were once considered such terrible eyesores that they were painted out at once, but they can be great assets. If you have plastered beams, you can wallpaper them or decorate them with stenciling. I've even gone so far as to paint the bottom of the beam pale blue, the sides green, and over each color, thin lines of scarlet. On the other hand, if the beams are only around the edges of a room, I recommend painting them the same color as the wall. They make a kind of frame for the furniture and look built in rather than stuck on. If you have wood beams, you can darken them, lighten them, wax them, paint them, or make them look old and rustic. And who says the panels between beams must be a single color, or even painted at all? One ceiling I know in Peru has wood beams and between them, a herringbone pattern of terra-cotta brick. Another ceiling is hung between pale beams with silver paper, glazed with amber to a bronzed, nonshiny glow.

It is imagination that makes a ceiling, like anything else, something glorious. Recently I worked on one in Florida, a tray-shaped wood ceiling that rose from wall height to 20 feet, with exposed beams crisscrossing one another in marvelous patterns. We glazed the whole thing with clear transparent colors—deep blue and green for the beams, paler shades for the panels between. The result is striking: subtle color plus that beautiful wood grain. In another house I worked on, the bedroom ceiling is dominated by a huge circular skylight. I worried for a while that the couple might be disturbed by the early morning light streaming through, but to my great relief, they love it. Theirs is a living ceiling, thrilling as a thunderstorm, and as romantic as a starlit night.

We'd rather you buy another brand of piano than no piano at all.

We think everybody ought to have music in his soul. It could make quite a difference. Oh, we don't claim it would save the world or feed the hungry masses. But it could make a lot more pleasant in the face of all the problems we have to live with. And it's available to anyone who'll try.

We don't expect everyone to become a concert artist. But we do believe that everyone can learn to make music.

Especially on a piano. That's the best place to begin. It's the foundation instrument, embodying all the theory, all the beauty of music. Our piano. Anybody's piano.

BY LOUISE ADE ROGER

AMERICAN EMPIRE SOFA

I inherited this sofa from relatives who in turn had inherited it from their father, born in 1766. It has a brass inlay in the rosewood back strip. When the sofa was first restored, we found the claw feet had a Chinese stain. Can you possibly tell me more about the piece and determine its date?

J.B.L.—Pasadena, Calif.

Your sofa, designed in the Grecian manner, is in the American Empire style, dating around the 1820s. With its graceful lines and bold carving, it represents the finest quality of workmanship of that era. The sofa was probably made by a New York cabinetmaker.

My great grandmother bought these plates when the English home of the Empress Eugénie was vacated. Were they made for Napoleon III as I've been led to believe? I've included the design on the side and center of each plate. One stamp on the back says "E. Leveille, 74 Bt. Haussmann, Paris"; another, "B. W. M. & Co., Romeo."

R.C.—Stowe, Vt.

The Staffordshire potters Brown, Westhead, Moore & Co., who made your plates, worked at Cauldon Place, Hanley, 1862-1904. They registered the pattern "Romeo" at the London Patent Office, January 23, 1868. Leveille was the Parisian shop where the plates were purchased, which makes it unlikely that they were made specifically for Napoleon III. They might have been owned by him, but to prove that would take considerable research—possibly a hunt through old bills and inventories.

In our small library, we have limited resources, and we're trying to identify this bronze turtle, hand-carved with a hole in the center top.

W.C., librarian—Cairo, Ga.

Your turtle is a Chinese water dropper, a very important part of the calligrapher's equipment, as he had to drop the water on the ink stone to make ink. It looks like a rather nice one, probably eighteenth century.

SOME NOTES ON

GOOD LOOKS & GOOD HEALTH

BY REBECCA WARFIELD

THE WASHINGTON BEAUTY SCENE...

SOME ENDEARING PLACES

Washington is a city where visitors tend to feel extremely well with themselves. Attractive. Unfurled. Infused with the charisma of the Capital. For one thing we own the place (New York belongs to Them whoever They are, San Francisco belongs to Them, even Perth Amboy is Theirs but Washington is just simply Ours), and this gives a becoming, proprietary air to the way everybody walks, particularly on the broad sidewalks down near the seats of power.

Here is the Alabaster City side of Washington, white with marble that seems to be washed invisibly, daily, live with the incessant movement of fountains, heroic with Jefferson and Lincoln, green-green-green for many months with old, heavy trees and miles and miles of grass. Cropping most casually anywhere here—a quick call-up of the birth of this nation. As an example, there was a moment lately when the custodian of the house that belonged to Stephen (My Country Right or Wrong) Decatur stood in the beautiful Federal doorway and looked down to the White House across Lafayette Square. "This whole park," she explained, "was supposed to be part of that site, but Mr. Jefferson thought that that much grounds for a Presidential residence might be a little pretentious. So he decided against it."

This instinct—on a national scale—for the exact proportions of good manners is still part of the sensitivity of this city. Washington may not be all the way with Lord Chesterfield when he wrote "Everything is Best at Capitals, the best masters, the best companions, the best manners," but apart from the follies and vanities of politics, it does behave in a dependably easy, human way. For instance, a visitor wandering near the White House and seized with a longing to polish up her looks, might ordinarily hesitate to seek out the Best Place in Washington. Just a few blocks up Connecticut Avenue she can find a place where there is a particular kind of Washington excellence and absolutely no put on or put down...

THE PLACE OF THE LITTLE RED DOOR

Many pretty Government girls, quite a few Diplomatic ladies, most of the people who invent and reinvent the social scene and Mrs. Nixon—who has a tiny, tranquil pale pink room reserved for her—just naturally gravitate to Elizabeth Arden's. This long, low white place is actually two houses rambling together and Miss Mildred Gouthrie, who has been directing it for years, admits "It's a funny old building." But obviously no new, impersonal, steel and glass structure could ever reproduce this irreplaceable atmosphere—Continued on page 22

The Place You might keep on walking down Connecticut Avenue until it becomes imperceptibly and puzzlingly all at once—Seventeenth Street.

In Washington, even more than in other parts (possibly because there's always the threat of a news camera popping out of nowhere), getting and keeping a figure is truly the gut issue. Conversations circle the twin problems of diet and exercise and who's lost weight now (everyone mentions Mrs. Mesta's new figure).

Now one place that subscribes to all schools of exercise thought is the Watergate Health Spa, down near the river. Winding underground in the big Watergate Hotel this place is a cool, efficient, contemporary Baths of Caracalla. There's a magnificent large economy sized pool, sauna rooms, steam baths, a whirlpool massage bath, booths for body massage, rooms for supervised exercise, a sort of fun house room with every kind of mechanical exerciser dreamed of by the mad scientist, a sleep and rest and Yoga meditation area, an outdoor deck for sunning, and, leaving no exercise stone unturned, Yoga classes. There has been, particularly among students, a gradually increasing interest in this...

Random thoughts on Moving to Washington from a Senator's wife

By Lorraine S. Cooper

Editor's note: As the wife of the Senator from Kentucky, Mrs. John Sherman Cooper has lived in Washington, during the months when Congress has been in session, for over fifteen years. Before that, she was a diplomatic hostess in India while her husband was U.S. Ambassador there.

Washington is unlike any other place in this country. It is not a state, it is not a county, it is simply a government town, and power in government is its concern. In other cities the president of a bank or a success story in any field is the yardstick of achievement. That achievement is often measured by money. Here the people who live on government salaries are comparatively poorer, and their success is measured by their political power in their states and in the capital.

In no other city do you meet such a mixture of people. I imagine the I.Q. here is higher than in any other place in the country. There are many knaves but few fools.

Washington is friendly because people in politics and government know the importance and rewards of good manners—but also very impersonal. As there is a huge turnover with every new administration, people are glad to see you come and often utterly unaware of your departure. Newcomers to Washington must make their own way. For anyone moving into this odd limbo, here are a few suggestions.

If possible, try to live in Washington itself. The big advantage of being in town is mobility. During your first year here, you may be invited to join a number of different groups. My advice is to join everything. Later you can decide what is most interesting to you.

Never underestimate the importance of protocol. All government people have a certain rank, and recognizing this helps you throughout every difficult social situation. You do not have to worry about how to seat a dinner. You simply call the Protocol Division of the State Department. No one can be annoyed by where he is placed as that is where he belongs.

The Social List, known to all as the Green Book, by Carolyn Hagner Shaw, lists every government official and member of Congress and states the official precedence starting with the President and going down to the ordinary citizen. Everyone who has lived here knows this, and the only people who will tell you it is silly are those who do not have any rank at all. Believe them not.

An incorrectly placed government official will hopefully be polite enough not to mention your faux pas, but he won't forget it.

Administrations come and go, but the continuity in Washington is preserved by the Supreme Court, Senate, House of Representatives and governmental departments. Of course, the whole town is not made up of transients. The "cliff dwellers" have lived here since Washington was founded, and their lives are comparable to those in any other city of the United States. They too have had a native-son President—George Washington.

Political Washington has ironically been called a town made up of successful men and the women they married when they were young. Do not be deceived. The cement of Washington's political and social life is the wives of these successful men.

It isn't clothes that count here, it's power, brains, and ability. And a wife can use these talents at home just as her husband can at work. This is why you hear so much about Washington entertaining, which is usually a continuation of government concerns. For example, when a foreign minister arrives in Washington, his embassy will arrange a dinner with the U.S. officials who are his counterpart.

That is also why you hear so much about Washington food. The French Embassy is especially noted for its cuisine. Madame Lucet, wife of the Ambassador, sent me the menu for the dinner that the President and Madame Pompidou gave in honor of the President and Mrs. Nixon at the Embassy.

For American cuisine, I consider the dinners (for from four to twenty-four guests) given by Alice Roosevelt Longworth the best. Her menu rarely changes: Crab meat soup, Filet of beef or saddle of lamb and Vegetables, Tiny hot biscuits, Salad and cheese, Vanilla mousse served with Vermont maple syrup.

You read a great deal about entertaining for large numbers in Washington, but often the most valued invitations are to small dinners where policy is made when, alas, the ladies leave the room. These usually consist of from eight to twelve guests and vary from seated to buffet to a combination of the two, with help provided by waiters who come out for the night from the catering establishments. Every hostess arranges her dinner in the way easiest for her household.

The minute the first azalea comes into blossom, spring fever hits the town, and until the winter frost, many parties are held out of doors as there are so many large and small gardens in Washington. Our postage stamp of a garden becomes large and small gardens in Washington. Every hostess arranges her dinner in the way easiest for her household.

The minute the first azalea comes into blossom, spring fever hits the town, and until the winter frost, many parties are held out of doors as there are so many large and small gardens in Washington. Our postage stamp of a garden becomes another living-dining room where we can serve breakfast, lunch, or dinner.

William Walton in his book The Evidence of Washington quoted me as saying something I believe is true: "Washington is like those Chinese boxes that contain another box and then another and another. Each one you open is, you're sure, the last one, but then you find there's still something else, something more inside. You can feel it. I've lived there many years, and I still keep opening new boxes. I begin to wonder if I'll ever open the final one—or if there is one."
This is an original Vera design for Burlington. You can frame it. You can hang it. You can sleep on it.

Pleasant dreams
A man of unlimited words, Art Buchwald always has a phrase for everybody—war watchers, revolutionaries, happy householders—most of which turn up in his world-wide syndicated newspaper columns. Having learned from inside sources that he also had an uncommonly efficient home-maintenance system, House & Garden interviewed him at his house in the Wesley Heights section of Washington, D.C.—a meticulously kept, French-inspired house surrounded by a manicured lawn and spotless swimming pool. Seated on a silk sofa in his comfortable living room, Mr. Buchwald divulged his carefully researched method.

What inspired you to work out your home-maintenance system? “I have this philosophy that there are millions of people who were born to do physical work and a few who were born not to. I consider myself one of the fortunate ones born not to. Shortly after my marriage, I discovered that my wife was born to labor, and I encouraged this. In fact, I began to train her to do things around the house—repairing, gardening, all the heavy work. I’m not cruel about this. I think it’s made a better woman of her.”

You mean domestic labor is character building? “That’s it. I consider it character building and people are constantly congratulating me on what a fine character my wife has. They do not realize that it comes from my careful training. Incidentally, I was in the Marine Corps, and that’s where I got this ability to train people.”

Do you give her much guidance? “I’m always here on a consultancy basis, and that’s very helpful to her. I think she’s grateful. I’ve also helped her get started in many new fields—cleaning the swimming pool, for example. I showed her what valve she had to turn on and off.”

Have you helped her in any other outdoor projects? “I think that behind every woman cutting the grass, there should be a man urging her on. Now one thing we do in this family is to play touch football, and that’s why I want her to keep the lawn manicured. She doesn’t play in the games. She’s just in charge of the grounds. She has to supply the beer and food and stuff. And she does it quite well. But I think it’s sort of nice to say to your wife—instead of ‘would you cut the lawn?’—‘would you cut the playing field?’”

It sounds like more fun. “Right. The trick is never make your wife think that it’s work. You can’t be too obvious about what you’re doing. You have to use great subdety. You might call out from an upstairs window ‘It looks beautiful, Mother’ or ‘My God, you got all the grass by the tree. I never thought you’d get it.’”

You urge her on with encouragement and praise? “That’s what wives really want—encouragement and praise. The greatest mistake most men make is not taking a few minutes now and then to admire their wives’ work. There’s no reason why you can’t stop during the commercial of a TV golf game and give her some encouragement. Many men act like plantation owners—the women think they’re slaves, which becomes a problem.”

What about the Women’s Liberation movement? “If there is going to be a Women’s Liberation movement, I think it should start in the garden. I can’t think of any better way for women to work off this desire for freedom than with crab grass and lawn mowers. I’m very sympathetic with women who want their place in the sun—particularly when the sun is shining on my property. I think if the Women’s Lib is going to work, the women are going to have to learn to do these things. I’m giving my wife very good training. She knows how to repair a lawn mower, how to drive, and how to replace...”

Nothing lasts forever. But a KitchenAid dishwasher comes close.

Many people trade in their cars every 3 years, and give up the ghosts on their television sets.

While a KitchenAid dishwasher just keeps running. It doesn't need a 10,000 mile check-up, or a new tube.

It gives years of dependable service with few service headaches, if any.

It works so well and lasts so long because it's made by a company with more experience in making dishwashers than anyone else.

We've been making home dishwashers for 20 years, and commercial dishwashers for more than 80 years.

And even though we've been making dishwashers for a long time, we still test every dishwasher that comes out of our factory. Which is your assurance that a KitchenAid dishwasher will stand the test of time.

But don't just take it from us. Ask someone who owns a KitchenAid dishwasher. And a car. And a tv set.

If you still believe in good old-fashioned quality in this impermanent world of ours, see your KitchenAid dealer. He's listed in the Yellow Pages. For free literature, write KitchenAid Dishwashers, Dept. ODA-8, The Hobart Manufacturing Company, Troy, Ohio 45373.
the parts in a washing machine. What else is there to Women's Liberation? Oh, there are some spoilsports who say I'm exploiting my wife, but actually I'm training her to be brave. She has some time off and icebox privileges."

Does she ever complain? "Yes, there are occasions, I must admit, when my wife goes a little bit berserk and says 'All I'm doing around here is runnning a hotel!' But I can spot these moments about forty-eight hours before they come, and then I might recommend a trip to New York to buy some grass seed or a new power saw she has set her heart on.
I have bought her a toolbox on occasion. That's the kind of thing I encourage in my wife—creativity."

What about little things around the house, like decorating? "About decorating I always have two words to say to her: 'How much?' But I find she and the decorator both lie to me. She knows I'm wise to the decorator, so she has sort of stopped asking my advice. See those fabric samples over there in the chair—they've been there for about six months. As a matter of fact that might be a clever decorating system—just to get samples and throw them on the chairs as if you're about to redecorate.
A good tip for people who can't afford to redecorate."

What happens if you're going to entertain? Do you ever help with parties? "Yes, I'll give you a perfect example of how we operate. We have a very big Easter party for about 175 people.
I'm the Easter bunny. We split the duties. My wife gets the food, she gets the help, she gets the caterer, she sets up the tables, puts up the decorations, gets the eggs dyed, and I rent the bunny suit. So that's where we do the sharing. That's togetherness."

Does she come as an Easter bunny too? "No, she does the labor and I'm the bunny. But that's show business."

Do you have any advice for Mr. Nixon? "No, I don't. Until you bring it up I forgot that the Nixons live in Washington. Yes, they do live here.
Well, you know there's a twenty minute attention span in this country on any subject. It used to be called beautification, now it's called ecology. I think Lady Bird did a good job of getting the ball rolling."

Would you send your wife out to work on something like that? "No, we have enough ecology to do right around here. Conservation starts at home, and if you can keep the grass growing and the trees blooming and the paint from cracking, you've done your job."

So on the whole, you feel your system is a success? "Look at this: We've been married eighteen years and this thing is working. Whatever I'm doing, I'm doing right. It gives me time to become better acquainted with things that are much more important. What it really boils down to is who's going to paint that fence. I think that's what it's all about. That's what marriage is all about. Who is going to paint that fence?"
Nearly lost forever—this rare sculpture by Degas

Beautifully recast in Foundry-Stone, yours as a gift with membership

... and no obligation to buy anything now or ever.

Because Degas worked in wax or clay and never bothered to cast his sculpture in bronze, much of it crumbled during his lifetime and was lost forever. Luckily, Danse d’Espagne survived and a small number of bronzes were cast a few years after the artist's death in 1917. Now, from one of the original bronzes, part of the collection of The Sculpture Collectors Limited, a Foundry-Stone casting has been made of this masterpiece of form and captured emotion. This work is not available except with membership in Sculpture Collectors. It is not for sale, and no more will be cast after these few years.

But Danse d’Espagne can now be yours as a gift—with an entirely new kind of membership that never obligates you but privileges you to acquire fine works by outstanding living artists, at prices far below those commanded by dealers and galleries.

You become an art collector and patron of fine works by contemporary masters. In much the same way the Medicis collected their Michelangelos and Raphaels, your membership admits you to a community of patrons of contemporary sculptors and makes you an immediate beneficiary of their talents.

All commissions are awarded by the Curator, guided by a distinguished Board of Advisors consisting of art historians, critics, collectors, and appraisers. Their selections are based upon both artistic merit and value.

Specially commissioned works for members only

Each work is individually signed, then hand-cast in Foundry-Stone—a newly developed polyester miracle that permits a wide variety of textures, colors and finishes. Each piece will be cast in an edition sufficient to meet the needs of membership and will not be offered for sale by us outside the membership. However, members may resell to other collectors with no restrictions of any kind.

As a member, you will have the opportunity—but never the obligation—to add fine multiple sculpture to your collection.

No obligation to buy anything—ever

Each quarterly offering will feature three exclusive, signed works by artists such as Dali, as well as other outstanding European and American sculptors—among them, Dehner, Denhof, Ente, Glimsky, Hartwig, Minaux—all important artists whose works have been appreciating in value. Yet, their prices to you are as low as $25 and never more than $45.

Each work will arrive accompanied by a certificate of authenticity, a biography of the artist, and an appreciation of the work. Each piece is handsomely mounted on a stone base designed to present it most effectively.

Any questions? Please call 1-800-225-5300. To join, simply mail the postpaid card. You never need send any money now; your $10 lifetime membership dues makes you a lifetime member of Sculpture Collectors. Immediately upon joining you receive a replica of Degas' graceful Danse d'Espagne as a gift. And membership brings you still another benefit: a complimentary subscription to The Foundry Mark, an authoritative sculpture journal, illustrated in full color, and designed for people who are knowledgeable about art, but not necessarily expert.

Your membership begins with a gift—and can lead to a lifetime of pleasure and profit collecting art. To enjoy the adventure of owning handsome works by contemporary masters, simply mail the postpaid card. You need not send any money now; we'll bill you for your $10 lifetime membership dues.

This summer in Washington, D.C....Mrs. Thomas Allen is directing a hundred volunteers who are helping with “In the Swim,” the cool-off project the Reverend Mr. and Mrs. Allen started three years ago to bus ghetto children for the day to private or country club swimming pools. Among pool owners who have signed up for this season: the John Hechindays, the Edward P. Morgans, the Philip Gayelins....Mrs. Paul Ignatius, Mrs. Richard Helms, and Mrs. Russell Train are hard at it checking research....Mrs. Eleanor Israel and over-packaging, pesticides, and soft drink containers. For April—Concern, Inc. Its aim: to guide women all over the country who want to do something to alleviate the environmental crisis. Eco-Tips covers detergents, plastic containers, over-packaging, pesticides, and soft drink containers. For more information write Concern, Inc., 2100 M Street, N. W., Washington, D. C. 20037....Mrs. Eleanor Israel and Mrs. Dudley Owen are calling on newly arrived diplomatic families (who keep moving to the city all year at the rate of nearly fifty a month), offering them a trio of practical pamphlets—The Kitchen, Your Home in Washington, Schools in the Washington Area—put out by THIS. Initials stand for The Hospitality & Information Service echelon) with facts they need to know to cope with the gritty of living and raising children in the U.S. capital. Current sponsors, headed by Mrs. Dean Rusk, include all Cabinet wives and wives of top D.C. officials....Mrs. Dean Rusk, while making ready to move away from Washington to Athens, Ga. (where the former Secretary of State will be University of Georgia’s Samuel H. Sibley Professor of International Law), has been actively involved in planning a repeat of this year’s new feature of the American Field Service’s student program: bringing foreign high school students to live with families within the city and attend urban schools....One day a week, Mrs. Edward P. Morgan is making rounds of the maternity ward of D.C. General Hospital talking to new mothers about various methods of birth control, making arrangements for each to be given detailed advice when she returns for her six-week check-up. Working as a volunteer for Planned Parenthood-World Population, Mrs. Morgan, in the fall, goes on the national board....Mrs. Henry Strong is overseeing upwards of thirty helpers following up on the hundred calls a day that come into the City Hall Complaint Center, Washington’s local branch of “Call for Action.” “Now that the children are grown, we just take off a week here, a week there,” says Mrs. Strong; “it makes for a fractured summer but a happy one.” By pleasant coincidence, her co-chairman, Mrs. Madison Jones is planning to be in town—and ready to take over—during exactly the period when the Strongs will be away....Mrs. Gilbert Hahn, Jr., and Mrs. Robert H. Finch are talking over plans for a reprise of the “Clothing for Children” project they organized last year. Having discovered that over 10,000 children who should be going to school were not because they had no clothes, the two government wives “mobilized the troops;” lined up local police stations as deposit centers, collected children’s clothes from all over town, distributed them to eighty-five of the city’s elementary schools. They also raised $15,000 in cash, which they spent on shoes, buying them virtually at wholesale. “It took three months of slugging,” said Mrs. Hahn, “but we were helped enormously by Station WTOP, the CBS outlet here—they ran radio and TV spots for us every day for a month. This situation—ghetto children without clothes—must exist in every big city in the country. I wish more people would do more about it.”
Rooms they love to live in

Somewhere in almost every house there is a room so personal, or so beautiful, or both, that it is loved with almost the affection one would give to a human being. This is as true in Washington as it is anywhere else, and in the rooms here and on the following pages, you will find the stamp of three life styles, three ways of creating aliveness with inanimate objects. Since favorite rooms become so for an infinity of reasons, the first of our trio is almost autobiographical in that everything in it is a memento of travel, of living abroad, of a long slow accumulation of possessions that could no more be parted with than old friends. In the second, the owner indulges two passions: collecting porcelains and objets d'art, most of them Chinese, all very old, and arranging them side by side with modern paintings in a juxtaposition that is as harmonious as it is unexpected. The lady of the third house shuttles between two favorite rooms—one a garden-room annex of the other—as her mood impels her, exchanging soft luscious color, the sensuous silkiness of fabric, and the beautiful glow of paintings for hot color, simple furniture, and a little forest of greenery. To ask why these women love their rooms is to ask a mother why she loves her child. For each has created something all her own and no one else's.

THE DAVID K. E. BRUCES

We use our living room for everything. It's filled with things we've collected from everywhere we've lived.

"We added this room to the house—it's 24 by 35 feet—before we left for London, but we didn't do the decorating until we got back last year," explains Mrs. Bruce, referring to the family's eight years in Great Britain while her husband was U. S. Ambassador there. "To me it seems very different from our living room in London, but our friends say it has the same feeling—very personal and lived in. Of course, we have some of the same things here. The painting over this sofa [where she is sitting, right] is one of a set of four seventeenth-century Dutch panels that we got in Paris. Those white and gold chairs? I love them, too. They're English Regency. We found them in a little country antique shop in England—already covered in that wonderful gold silk."
Another of the Dutch panels, opposite page, hangs in the Bruces’ living room over a settee of extraordinary shape, covered with seventeenth-century Dutch trompe l’oeil needlepoint. In another corner, below, a Chinese paper screen and a table covered with eighteenth-century Mid-Eastern fabric, perhaps Circassian.
Many of the objects in their Washington living room have moved around as much as the Bruces: He was U. S. Ambassador to France in the early fifties and to West Germany in the late fifties as well as to Great Britain in the sixties. “My favorite thing in the whole room,” says Mrs. Bruce, “is that painted wooden panel over the curved-back sofa [above]. We got that while we were in London. It’s Louis Quatorze—a French warship with ropes modeled in gesso—and the frame is of the same period. The sofa came from London, too. And the fringe on the curtains. Actually, they were made when the room was built—they’re part Thai silk, part taffeta. But the walls were white. When I came home last year, I tried every color I could think of with the lime curtains and finally decided on this watermelon. We found the mantel [opposite page] in Charleston, S. C.—it had come out of an old house there. The painting is Flemish. That long rug? It’s Bessarabian. Aren’t the designs naïve? They look even odder the closer you get to them.”
A single hand of my creation and manipulation. I see. Dr. Honey studed to be a doctor. Snaped only because "my day" looks well.

Rooms They Love To Live In
Clutter, if you organize it, is a nice state to live in.
"You wouldn’t believe it," says Mrs. Mellon Byers, "but this house is forty years old and, in the sense of lack of light, a shady customer. Somehow, sunshine had to come from somewhere, hence the yellow living room, which, thanks to Sister Parrish [Mrs. Henry Parrish II of Parrish-Hadley, Inc.] looks young and bright and makes me feel the same way. [Mrs. Byers is all of twenty-eight.] The yellow is really laid on—glazed yellow walls that they combed with a curry comb, I think, to get the striated finish; a yellow background for the furniture fabric, and yellow faille curtains. They’re faced on the window side with powder blue, so pretty when you’re out in the garden room and nice for the neighbors. The blue and white rug steps up the freshness—or will, until the dogs send it to the cleaners. There are four of them, three Pekes and a sort of Labrador, and they rule the roost. They also like the furniture, which is very comfortable—about all I ask of furniture. Paintings I love, and I ask a great deal of them. That’s a Pissarro over the mantel, and there’s a Bonnard at the other end of the room, a Redon in the library, and a Fantin-Latour in the dining room. In a way, they’re my Chippendale and Hepplewhite." (Continued)
The garden room is my ivory tower.

A terrace that “was nothing much but hot” Mrs. Byers replaced with a glassed-in garden room (see it again on our cover) “where I practically live. It’s very cool, and the dogs love to stretch out on the floor. Or on me. This is Adam, who is very loving and very wise. The floor tiles came from Portugal, and I wish a Portuguese had come with them to lay them. Very difficult. And this is one of my favorite fabrics. I wanted something really wild and finally found it. Sister Parrish was a little startled, but she said as long as the colors were repeated in the living room in a gentle way, it would work. People are fond of this room, and we lunch out here a lot. I like formal dinners, but only for twelve. When you have exactly twelve dining chairs, that settles that. For more people, we do a buffet, and eat where we like. My idea of fun is a really relaxed Sunday lunch with a quiche or something grilled in the garden, salad, and strawberries that have spent the night in a bowl of wine. So easy, and somehow, so refreshing. I like candles and glitter and a lot of flowers, but on a hot, lazy weekend, almost nothing can touch a real hair-down, feet-up lunch out here.”

_towering garden room_, built on the 14-foot-wide strip of land between the 1810 Georgetown house of Mr. and Mrs. Rowland Evans, Jr., and the house next door, gives the syndicated columnist and his family a place to be "outdoors" the year round under glass. There is a fresh kind of beauty and many ideas to bring home from the water, flowers, trees, and rocks at Expo '70. Here, for example are four of the nine fountains designed by sculptor Isamu Noguchi for the Pond of Dreams. Two are elevated cubes of perforated metal that jet water down and outward. Two are called Golden Mushrooms: As one rises from the water, the other—in a kind of aquatic counterpoint—descends to wait its turn to rise again.

Water runs through Expo '70 like music. A rill called the South Brook, rippling through a bed of polished stones to drop in a waterfall into Water Spider's Pond. Outdoor cobbled stones at the Algerian Pavilion, also laid indoors to meet a paving of glazed tile. A giant bin outside the Ricoh Pavilion, filled with rocks decoratively colored blue and green. A sculpture garden, of great pieces of wood set in a shallow pond, the Canadian Pavilion. A little man-made mountain, part of the Polish Columbian Pavilion, bathed with two waterfalls. The Glass Cafe, a restaurant of glass cages hung on a mirrored wall in Expoland, amusement park. Each cage wears a cascade spouting from its roof, giving guests the feeling of dining under a waterfall. A garden of various levels of limpid water, at the Indonesian Pavilion. Giant mushroom lights, with beds of enormous yellow pansies in the garden of the French Pavilion. A stylized steel tree, jeweled with reflecting spheres. This, the Swiss Pavilion, is called the Pedestrian Stream.
WATER GARDENS

Water flows in a rippling stream around the Sanyo Pavilion, 1, where it is fed by a waterfall gushing over a wall. A fluorescent sphere, 2, the German Pavilion is set in a garden of spring flowers planted in tiers. Pyramidal steps inside the Canadian Pavilion, 3, are planted on one side with flowers, descend to quiet pools in which tree-topped island gardens seem to float. In the terraced gardens of the German Pavilion, 4, a bed of calceolarias framed in latticework baskets. Cool water rushes down a wall over lighted arches, 5, at the Indian Pavilion. Snow white planters of bright flowers, 6, set in a pool of water in front of the Takara Beautilion which was designed by Noriaki Kurokawa. Built of steel units, the Beautilion has the fantasy of an intricate metal sculpture, heroically scaled.

Curtains, moiré upholstered chairs, flowered table skirt, and bedspreads by Bloomcraft, through their complete-in-six-weeks decorating service. Finishing touches . . . an English chrome and glass coffee table, green leaf and fluted white dinner plates, gilded flatware and milk-white goblets—all available at Bloomingdale’s.

READY-TO-USE DECORATING

Giving any room a fresh, exuberant new look can be easier than you think these days. The strategy is to tap the super ready-made furnishings either in stock or simple to order in many stores across the country. Then put your choices together in strong new ways—for example, stretching flowers by the yard across a corner, concealing a couch that can swing from the ceiling, raising up room dividers to work as skylights. In short, let imagination lead the way to a freewheeling style of decorating that is very much your own.

The very personal garden of Dorothy Hirshon

AN OLD-FASHIONED COUNTRY GARDEN

From spring to late summer, Mrs. Hirshon's garden yields “masses of flowers for the house” — daffodils planted to look like wild flowers down a grassy slope, lilies in pots from an airy shed, opposite page, top, organically grown roses and dahlias. Hers is also a garden of rustic bridge, opposite page, bottom and dreaming ponds.
"I like to grow flowers with colors and shapes happiest for my house."

A lush place of long perspectives and charming nooks, Mrs. Hirshon's garden is surprisingly strict in its planning and cultivation. It is an organic garden. "I rely on ladybugs and natural sprays of pyrethrum and sulphur and have for years." Flower colors are limited to white, mauve, and purples. An interior designer, she thinks they are best for her house, "though I love all flowers, even the often despised gladiolus, which I find indispensable." Indoors and out, her flowers thrive. Ever-perishable phlox lasts a week in bouquets, possibly because she always carries tall cans of water with her to the cutting garden. Lest cutting near the house leave a picked-over garden, she makes a point of using pot plants and ivy in the area adjoining the house. Impatiens in pots and tuberous begonias in a basket hang from a well head brighten the terrace, 1. A shed with fiberglass roof and bamboo awning, 2, has a tile sink for cutting and potting. Mrs. Hirshon often arranges dahlias, zinnias, and roses for her library, 3, or the terrace to whose parasol is an apple tree, 4. The patio, 5, is cooled by English ivy and porcelain vine (turquoise-berried A. pelopis, heterophylla amurensis), with a swizzle of elephant ears. Lilies are a summer favorite arranged in small bouquets for the dining table, 6, in pots around a fountain, 7, or massed under a Childe Hassam painting.
Official Washington Ideas for entertaining

THE WHITE HOUSE, fringed by magnolias, above, is Washington's hub. A live-in museum, very much a home, it changes with the tenure of each president. During the past ten years, it has also reflected a rebirth of interest in Americana. The mansion's public rooms have become more historical, its private rooms more personal, more familial. A little library, left, has been restored in the style of the early nineteenth century with rich cream paint, Charles Bird King's famous Indian paintings, and superb Duncan Phyfe furniture. In the State Dining Room, right, Mrs. Nixon has revived the E-shaped table. For Prime Minister Wilson, she used the latest Castleton dinner service commissioned for the White House.

BLAIR HOUSE
The nation's official guesthouse is slowly reaching perfection. Each time a room is refurbished, its decoration, as a rule, is a gift—or an amalgam of gifts. The Margaret Truman suite, occupied by the President's daughter when the White House was remodeled twenty years ago, was recently redecorated—a gift from Mrs. Arthur Gardner. The two rooms, left and above, were given a coat of sunshine with pale yellow paint, a pretty background for flowered chintz spiced with apricot accents. In another bedroom for distinguished guests, right, is an extraordinary needlepoint rug. The work of a group of women from Pennsylvania, Ohio, and Michigan, the rug is an Audubon's dream of flora and fauna native to the woodlands of these states.

Each embassy in Washington brings to it a different bit of the world. Although the exteriors of the buildings are sometimes impersonal, the interiors are enormously individual. Antiques, paintings, and the crafts of the ambassadors’ countries become transatlantic roots that create settings for endless parties. At the BRITISH EMBASSY, above right, afternoon tea is a daily rite for Mrs. Freeman, wife of the Ambassador, and daughter Lucy. But at night, the drawing room is used for large predinner gatherings. The silver and white room with its touches of scarlet, and an adjacent hall, above left, with its deep-blue, statue-filled niches and shrimp pink chairs could easily exist in an English Stately Home. In the VENEZUELAN EMBASSY, below left, white wicker furniture and a forest of greenery and flowers bring an aura of the tropics to Massachusetts Avenue. In this window-wrapped room, the Ambassador and Señora Sosa-Rodríguez introduce their guests to rare orchids, exotic ferns, and South American coffee. At the KUWAIT EMBASSY, in the Omayyad Room, below right, the Ambassador and Mrs. Al-Ghoussein offer their brand of coffee—Arabian. Carved and painted walls and ceiling, Damascene silk, inlaid furniture, Kuwaiti chests, and rare opaline are woven together into a mysterious but beautiful lushness.
Notes for the hostess

BY MARY MOON HEMINGWAY

Nothing so stimulates the appetite as eating by the water, on the water, near the water. On a boat, it’s fun to spoof those Lucullan banquets so dear to the hearts of ocean-going chefs by bringing aboard a mini-feast that requires no further preparation. Fill one properly cooled freezer chest with cold stuffed crab trimmed with hard-cooked egg, dill, and capers. In a large plastic bag inside another chest, carry your salad—endive, artichoke hearts, hearts of palm, and fresh spinach—to be tossed in a bowl at mealtime. For openers, why not hearts of celery, stuffed with caviar, sour cream, and cream cheese, plus sliced raw mushrooms and thin rounds of zucchini to be dipped in seasoned salt. Cool the champagne (what else?) by trailing it behind in a net buffered with foam rubber. For the finale, miniature éclairs and a variety of melon balls (Spanish, honeydew, casaba, cantaloupe, watermelon) freshened with mint.

By the side of a stream, what more appropriate fare than trout? You can get good ones now in tins. They’re easy to carry in a picnic basket and particularly delectable served with a mustard sauce. Along with the little fish, lots and lots of watercress salad, small buttered hard rolls, and Camembert. This time cool your white wine in the running brook. For a sweet, why not apple turnovers or fruit tarts?

On the beach aim for a happy medium between the clambake and the sand-seasoned hot dog. In the Northwest, we used to enjoy digging a small pit, laying it with hot coals on which to bake a salmon (any big moist fish will do), covering the fish with seaweed and foil, topping it with sand, bringing it forth at its succulent peak. With this, we liked boiled new potatoes and corn on the cob, cooked right on the spot. If you are not fish minded, try lamb steaks marinated with mint and garlic and grilled over the fire. Surprising accompaniment, surprisingly good: cold boiled new potatoes and corn on the cob, cooked right on the spot.

A leisurely breakfast by the pool—sheer bliss. Fresh peach juice made in a blender, sweetened with honey, and iced. Then prosciutto with melon or fresh figs, if you can get them, oatmeal bread-and-butter sandwiches, pots and pots of coffee, lots and lots of sun.

Opposite page: The ballroom of “Foxridge,” interior designer Richard L. Ridge’s ante-bellum house in Middleburg, Va., is arranged for a dinner for twenty-four guests who will serve themselves in the dining room, dine here, dance later. From party to party, Mr. Ridge switches the color and pattern of the tablecloths (he keeps four sets) but always sticks to Swedish crystal and Italian pottery plates. “If someone drops one, I haven’t lost an heirloom.”

Menus and Recipes from Washington Parties

Washington is a city of great party-going, party-giving. As the capital, it is a fusion of people from all over the world, hosts and hostesses who for the most part entertain at home. Most of those we spoke to prefer dinners for ten or more and buffet parties for a great crowd. In summer, parties are more informal, with many hostesses doing the cooking themselves.

WINE: BERNAKASTEL HESLING 1966

House & Garden, August 19—
Spinach Cheese Rolls

1 medium onion, finely chopped
1/4 cup olive oil
10-ounce package frozen chopped spinach, defrosted and well drained
1/2 pound feta cheese
6 ounces pot cheese
3 eggs, well beaten
1/4 cup bread crumbs
10 sheets ready made phyllo or strudel pastry
1/2 cup melted butter

Saute the onion in olive oil for 5 minutes.
Add the spinach and simmer until most of the moisture has evaporated. Crumble the feta cheese and combine with the pot cheese. Add the eggs and mix well. Toss bread crumbs with spinach mixture, then mix in the cheese.

Cut each phyllo sheet in quarters. Lay one piece on a damp towel, and cover the others with a damp cloth. Work quickly so dough doesn’t dry out. Brush each sheet with melted butter. Place 1 tablespoon of filling along narrow end 1 inch from edge. Fold the inch margin over the filling, and fold long sides in. Brush again with butter and roll completely. Place rolls on cookie sheets, brush tops with butter, and bake in a 425° oven for 20 minutes or until lightly browned. Serve warm. Makes 40 pieces.

Sunday Night Supper for Six

Mrs. Hahn, whose husband is chairman of the City Council of the District of Columbia, loves suppers in the kitchen. This recipe for Spinach Gateau comes from a friend, Mrs. Sander Vanocur, wife of the TV newsman. Sander Vanocur, wife of the TV newsman.

Mrs. Timothy W. Stanley

Weekend Supper for Six

Mrs. Timothy W. Stanley likes to entertain at dinner for twelve in formal European style. Her luncheon parties are less formal—for six to eight guests—and she loves to cook for those, herself.

Sorel Verdi

2 packages frozen chopped spinach
1 pound ricotta cheese
1 egg
2 egg yolks
Pinch of nutmeg
Salt, freshly ground black pepper
1/2 cup freshly grated Parmesan cheese
4 tablespoons melted butter

Cook spinach according to package directions, but do not overcook. Drain and cool. Squeeze out all moisture by hand. Drain the ricotta and place in a mixing bowl with the spinach, egg and yolks, nutmeg, and salt and pepper to taste. Mix well and chill in refrigerator. Half an hour before serving, bring a large kettle of salted water to a boil. Dust your hands with flour and form the spinach mixture into small balls the size and shape of a walnut or just a bit larger. Drop the dumplings into the boiling water a few at a time. When they rise to the surface (after about 3 or 4 minutes) remove them with a slotted spoon and place on a heated serving platter. When all are cooked, sprinkle with grated Parmesan, pour the melted butter over them, and serve immediately. Serves 6.

DINNER FOR TWELVE

Mrs. Archibald B. Roosevelt, Jr., whose husband is a grandson of President Theodore Roosevelt, thinks "your entertaining is dictated by your house. You adapt a party to set off the house—they set off each other. I have never liked the intimate dinner for eight to ten. I prefer dinners for sixteen to twenty—conversation is better."

MRS. FRANK G. WISNER
DINNER FOR EIGHT

Mrs. Frank G. Wisner, who entertains at dinners for twelve to sixteen, seats her guests at one large table plus one or two smaller ones. Together with her cook, she considers this one of her nicest menus.

TRUITES FARCIES

8 1/2 pound brook trout
Salt, freshly ground black pepper
2 cups fish stock or clam juice
2 cups dry white wine

FOR THE STUFFING:
8 tablespoons sweet butter
1 tablespoon chopped shallots
1/4 pound mushrooms, chopped
1 cup freshly made white bread crumbs
2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley

FOR THE SAUCE:
1 tablespoon flour
8 tablespoons sweet butter

FOR THE GARNISH:
2 dozen button mushroom caps
1 tablespoon sweet butter
Chopped parsley

Arrange the trout in a pan about 2 1/2 inches deep, season to taste with salt and pepper, cover with fish stock and white wine, and bake in a 400° oven for 15 minutes. Remove to a platter and bone by carefully lifting out the backbone. Keep trout warm. Strain and reduce the stock by half, and set aside.

Meanwhile, make the stuffing. Heat 1 tablespoon of the butter in a heavy frying pan and sauté the shallots until tender. Add the mushrooms and cook until almost dry, about 5 minutes. Add the bread crumbs and chopped parsley, season with salt and pepper, and cook slowly for about 3 minutes, stirring constantly. Add remaining butter, cool, and use to stuff trout.

To make the sauce, mix the flour and 1 tablespoon of butter together and stir into the reserved fish stock, cooking over low heat until thickened. Adjust seasoning and stir in the remaining butter. Keep warm.

Heat butter in heavy skillet and sauté the mushroom caps until lightly browned. Pour the sauce over the trout and garnish with the mushroom caps and chopped parsley. Serves 8.

CRISP CHINESE-STYLE DUCK

2-4-5 pound ducklings
1/2 cup soy sauce
2 tablespoons ground ginger
1/2 cup honey
1/2 cup dry sherry
1 clove garlic, coarsely chopped

FOR THE SAUCE:
1/2 cup red currant jelly
1/2 cup strained orange juice
1/4 cup red wine
1 teaspoon arrowroot or cornstarch

Pull out and discard any loose fat from around the neck and cavity of the birds. Wash and pat dry inside and out. Prick skin all over to release fat. Mix 3 tablespoons of the soy sauce with 1 tablespoon of the ginger and brush over ducklings, inside and out. Leave at room temperature for 30 minutes for flavors to penetrate.

Preheat oven to 325°. Place the ducklings on roasting pan rack, cook 1 hour.

Meanwhile combine the remaining soy sauce and ginger with the honey, sherry, and garlic, mix well, and simmer, stirring occasionally, for 10 minutes. Prick surface of ducklings all over a second time to ensure a crisp skin. Remove and discard garlic from soy sauce mixture, then brush all over the ducklings. Continue cooking, brushing the skin with this mixture every 15 minutes until the ducklings are glazed and the juices run clear when the flesh is pierced, about 1 more hour.

For well done, cook 15 minutes more.

Heat the currant jelly, orange juice, and wine in a saucepan, add the arrowroot or cornstarch mixed with 1 tablespoon of cold water, and cook until the sauce is slightly thickened. Serve warm. Serves 6 to 8.

THOUGHTS AND THINGS FOR ENTERTAINING

SUMMER PARTY IDEAS

FROM A COUNTRY RESTAURANT

Definitely no rural innocent when it comes to good food, The Farmer's Daughter in Orland Park, Ill., outside Chicago, is a restaurant where each dish is presented with charming pastoral style. Seen here are some of the original serving ideas created by the owner, Kandy Henely, and perfectly adaptable for summer parties on the patio or at the poolside. From her forthcoming cook book, Mrs. Henely suggests a delicious dessert, Irish Whiskey Pie, given below, for a supper buffet.

Amber-colored Rhine wine goblets cosset an ambrosial dessert, zabayon con fresones, a specialty of the chef, Dietrich Schroeder. Ice cream is served imaginatively in flower-pots (Why not plant a real flower for each guest?).

Irish Whiskey Pie

1 tablespoon and 1/2 teaspoon gelatin
1 1/2 cups water
1/4 cup sugar
2 egg whites
1/2 cups heavy cream
1/2 cup sliced almonds
2 squares unsweetened chocolate
2 tablespoons Irish whiskey
9-inch baked pie shell

4 egg yolks

Toasted sliced almonds

Dissolve gelatin in cold water. Melt over double boiler until hot and clear. Mix a pinch of salt, milk, chocolate, egg yolks, and 1/2 cup and 2 tablespoons sugar. Cook until chocolate and sugar are dissolved. Put in bowl. Add gelatin mixture. Chill over crushed ice until syrupy. Beat egg whites until stiff, adding 2 tablespoons sugar gradually. Fold in chocolate mixture, then 1/4 cup cream whipped. Add nuts and whiskey. Fold until smooth. Pour into 9-inch baked pie shell. Top with remaining cream whipped and toasted sliced almonds. Serves 8.

Another unusual dessert idea for a picturesque party finale—the grape tree. Sculptured from nothing more than a piece of driftwood and festooned with clusters of fruit. Scissors and finger bowls are on hand.

A milk can makes a great outdoor wine-cooler. If you haven't an old one, Saks Fifth Avenue has a copper edition.

You might build a whole party around two ideas from The Farmer's Daughter—the sausage tree cart, Arbol de Chorizos, and the mobile cheese board. Both roll around conveniently indoors or outdoors for guests to serve themselves. Sausage, served with crusty bread, sliced onto wooden paddles. The cheese, aboard a wheel-about butcher's block, goes with halos of crisp, Swedish Kings-Bread.

ideas that help nature enrich the soil around them—ideas that make war on the thousands of insects that attack them—ideas that offset smog, pollution and other hazards with which people unintentionally hurt the health of their trees.

Like so many things in our changing world, shade trees in our cities and suburbs are becoming more and more dependent on scientific research and care for survival. For more than sixty years the Bartlett Tree Research Laboratories have continuously been developing ideas from the experimental to the production stage, providing Bartlett fieldmen with the solutions to individual shade tree problems and the latest in tree care techniques.

You get complete professional service that extends far beyond local knowledge when you put your trees in the hands of a Bartlett Tree Expert. He is a technician skilled in expert diagnosis and trained to apply the techniques developed by our research scientists to regional conditions. That's why it will pay you the next time a tree problem arises to consult your local Bartlett Tree Expert.

Boeing’s jumbo jet, the 747, has brought new ease to long distance flights, not so much through speed (although it does shave a few minutes off flight time), as with new seating and space in the seats, which are 2 inches wider, softer, more cupped to rest your head, and have a footrest to stretch your legs. Space in the aisles for transcontinental pacing. There’s even a specially designed space for shaving (mirrors and outlets throughout the plane). And although the luggage allowance is the standard sixty-six pounds for first class, forty-four pounds for economy, Japan Air Lines allows you to carry more of it into the cabin. Above your seat is a snap-shut stowaway compartment for a full flight bag or a small attaché case, and below the seat is a dedicated space for a soft duffel. There is also a place in the cabin where you can hang small garments on coat racks.

First airline off the ground with a 747 was Pan Am. Now nine others are flying them. Each fleet has the flavor of its home country, plus its own special comforts, gadgets, and services since Boeing designed the interiors to each airline’s specifications. BOAC has a “baby bar” with two banks of bottle warmers. TWA reserves a special area for smokers. Alitalia offers a super executive chair designed by Sergio Lenci: the whole unit flips back for reclining, has fingertip controls for lights, music, movies. Air France offers a library of detective novels in French, English, and Spanish.

The interiors of Japan Air Lines’ 747s, just put into service in time for the last two weeks of Japan’s Expo ’70, were inspired by traditional Japanese garden design. Designed by Isamu Kenmochi, each of the four passenger sections has its own garden atmosphere, its own predominant color and motif—wisteria, wild orange, pine, or marigold. The mural decorations, the stewardesses’ kimonos, the china, the menus, even the plane’s boarding passes, all carry out the garden’s color and motif. When you come aboard, you can relax in slippers and a happi coat designed by Japan’s famous fashion designer, Hanae Mori, and practice using the tiny Japanese fan you’ll find in your seat pocket. You can wander upstairs to the lounge designed as a “Teahouse in the Sky” and sip green tea or a cocktail.

First class, you can order a classic Japanese appetizer—sushi (rice with raw fish or vegetables and seaweed), or sashimi (marinated raw fish), or grilled with ginger and soy sauce, then go on to beef teriyaki, or grilled fish, or nabe (braised vegetables). Warm sake will come in a little carafe set on its own lacquer coaster. After dinner you can watch a movie, or a filmed lesson in basic Japanese; listen to a special Japanese hit parade—Ryuuko. Or just pour over the maps of the world you’ll find in your seat pocket.

Until mid-September the airline’s “Garden Jets” will whirl crowds to take in the Expo’s Water Gardens, page 58—after that to enjoy such excitement as Japan’s spectacular autumn with its brilliant foliage: The Autumn Festival with its ancient Shinto ceremonies is held in October at the ancient Toshogu Shrine at Nikko. In November, in the Shinjuku Gyoen (Garden) in Tokyo, there is a spectacular Chrysanthemum Show where the blooms from several-hundred-year-old bushes are as much as 15 inches in diameter. Japan Air Lines’ Garden Jets fly daily from Honolulu to Tokyo four times a week from Los Angeles, stopping in Honolulu.
since there is nothing like the power of an idea whose time is about to come. Giselle Fitch, a young American who was born in Hong Kong and studied Yoga in India, is a persuasive teacher, easily able to convince anyone yearning to be fascinated by some form of nonboring exercise. The Watergate has a club membership program and weekly and daily arrangements. The telephone number is (202) 327-7055.

THE BOAT

That's a Place to Eat

Nearby, a restaurant floats at the end of a pier, the Gang Plank, the most irresistibly alluring place possible. One deck—all glassed in—at water level lets you eat with the river lapping at your elbow and all the busy little boat life going on around. There aren't any particular items that watch weight because the whole menu—chiefly steaks and fish—does that anyway (including the lobster, which they say is flown down from Maine on the Gang Plank plane). The Gang Plank stays open until midnight, is handy for supper after, and very close to, the Arena Theatre. The telephone number is (202) 554-5000.

THE BIG, LITTLE HAIR PLACE

Today when people think of the Top, the In, they almost invariably think big—i.e., the most swinging, the most successful hair place in Washington is in a tiny little Victorian house on Wisconsin Avenue, Georgetown's main drag. It is called Jean Paul et Norbert and a small swinging sign says "Art et Coiffures." You come into a biig chaotic square room hung with a string of little paintings: Jean Paul, himself an artist, says "I didn't paint them but I chose them." Everyone seems to be democratically sitting out in the open under the dryers, and in certain Washington circles there was some debate "Jackie used to sit out here in the Room with everybody," "No she didn't, she was always tucked some place upstairs or downstairs." In any case, there isn't any downstairs anymore but a charmingly furnished blue and white tole ghost room. Jean Paul says "I had this done for myself, but I had to abandon it because I couldn't control things from down here." And that's perhaps the secret of the whole successful operation. Jean Paul, who is a Frenchman ("I only have French working here"), is a perfectionist and keeps his artist's eye on absolutely everything that goes on. Everything has gone so swimmingly that he owns a superior French restaurant, La Provencale nearby at 1616 Wisconsin Avenue and a Men's Boutique almost next door. Shampoo and set here is $9.50. The telephone number is (202) 965-1646.

THE SUSPENSEFUL PLACE TO DINE

One of the newer and certainly one of the most astonishing places to eat is not far away in Georgetown—La Niçoise. This rather conventional-looking restaurant offers French food served à point and has a clientele with a great deal of éclat. But for some arcane reason, at dinner, the waiters swoop up to your table on roller skates. (No one knows whether they train the waiters to skate or skaters to wait.) Will two skating waiters collide? Will your order reach its destination safely? And if not, at what point between the kitchen and

SHE NEEDS YOUR LOVE

Little Mie-Wen in Formosa already knows many things... the gnawing of hunger... the shivering of fear... the misery of being unwanted.

But she has never known love. Her mother died when she was born. Her father was poor—and didn't want a girl child. So Mie-Wen has spent her baby years without the affection and security every child craves.

Your love can give Mie-Wen, and children just as needy, the privileges you would wish for your own child.

Through Christian Children's Fund you can sponsor one of these youngsters. We use the word sponsor to symbolize the bond of love that exists between you and the child.

The cost? Only $12 a month. Your love is demonstrated in a practical way because your money helps with nourishing meals... medical care... warm clothing... education... understanding housemothers...

And in return you will receive your child's personal history, photograph, plus a description of the orphanage where your child lives. You can write and send packages.

Your child will know who you are and will answer your letters. Correspondence is translated at our overseas offices.

(If you want your child to have a special gift—a pair of shoes, a warm jacket, a fuzzy-feather—you can send your check to our office, and the entire amount will be forwarded, along with your instructions.)

Will you help? Requests come from orphans everywhere. And they are urgenent. Children wrapping rags on their feet, school books years out of date, milk supplies exhausted, babies abandoned by unwed mothers.

Since 1938, thousands of American sponsors have found this to be an intimate person-to-person way of sharing their blessings with youngsters around the world.

Little Mie-Wen and children like her need your love—won't you help Today?

Sponsors urgently needed this month for children in: India, Brazil, Taiwan (Formosa) and Hong Kong. (Or let us select a child for you from our emergency list.)

THE 1970 DANISH CHRISTMAS PLATE

The Christmas Rose and the Cat
Author: Kai Lange

Each plate $10.00 U.S. Postage & handling included.

SORRY, we do not sell precious year plates, only the current year.

GARDENER'S NOTES
BY JAMES FANNING

"AS THE POET'S HEART LEAPED UP when he beheld a host of golden daffodils, so mine throbbed when I beheld a row of meticulously cultivated cauliflower flowers." Angelo M. Pellegrini, in The Food Lover's Garden (Knopf, 86.95) is not kidding. His delight in gardening is gustatory as well as visual. He also enjoys actually digging the soil, cultivating the plants, and harvesting their produce. Mr. Pellegrini is a teacher of English, but his writing is as lively as the climate and cookery of Italy where he was born. In addition to the complete roster of plants grown for food in his Oregon garden, his book includes a real estate agent (villain) and two eager ladies who vie for the author's favor by cooking lip-smacking dishes that use the produce of his garden patch. Not just a how-to-do-it book, this also tells how to use it and most of all, how to enjoy it.

EVEN SUCH WORKDAY ITEMS AS PLANTSTAKES don't have to be workaday in looks. Stakes made in Cameroon of tough bamboo and carved hardwood, above, are striking enough to stand alone as well as give support to delphiniums, tomatoes, or whatever else may need their aid. The price ($6 each) may seem a bit steep, but they last for years and will be first-rate conversation pieces for all that time. From The Egg and The Eye, 581 4 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles, Cal., 90036.

AUGUST IS THE GOURMET'S MONTH for sweet corn. When the water boils it's time to pick the corn, so goes the old saying. And that is only a slight exaggeration. Plain fact of the matter is that corn begins to toughen and lose flavor the instant it leaves the parent stalk, so the shorter the time between garden and table the better. One way to shorten the time is to hurry the shucking process by chopping off tops and bottoms of the ears with a sharp knife or kitchen shears, after which a simple twist of the thumb peels off the remaining husks. To shorten the cooking, boil enough salted water to cover completely the number of ears you have picked, dump in the ears, cover tightly and leave the heat on high. When the water boils again, turn off the heat immediately, let the kettle sit for five minutes, and serve.

EXOTIC IS THE WORD that comes to mind when you think about hibiscus. The broad-petaled, lusciously colored flowers represent, as perhaps nothing else can, the lushness of growth and flowering we expect to find in warm climates. So it's a little surprising to find two kinds of hibiscus that are as tough and hardy as oak trees and lilacs, yet have flowering habits as spectacular as their tropical kin. The rose-mallow, Hibiscus moscheutos, right, rates as an herbaceous perennial, since it dies back to the ground every winter. But by late summer, the new stalks are 3 or 4 feet high and opening, day after day, butter-plate-sized flowers of cameo pink, brilliant red, or gleaming white. A moisture lover, the rose-mallow grows best and shows to its best advantage at the edge of a pool or stream. Rose of Sharon, Hibiscus syriacus, is the other hardy hibiscus, in this case a bigbush shrub. The original, old-fashioned species had flowers of an unattractive muddy magenta, but the new hybrids come in colors ranging from clear pink through red and white to a lovely red-centered sky blue. Unlike the rose-mallow, Rose of Sharon does not like wet feet. In late spring, if the shrub still looks bare and leafless weeks after nearby plants are in full leaf, don't give it up for dead, just wait. It's a late starter and will have made up for lost time—and more—by late August.

Perfume

Eleanor Shoemaker, the sensitive Astrologer, who links up the signs of the Zodiac with their appropriate perfumes, wanted to reassure the Leos who see rather unpromising signs for the present... everything's coming up roses with the first of the year. About that time, she feels that a glorious seven year cycle will start for Leos (July 23 through August 22) that will mean good things romantically, in a business way, and most particularly travel. (Mrs. Shoemaker who is always strong on cycles sees business caught in one now and says, “I've been getting my clients out of the market for a year and a half.”) The Leo heroes and heroines behave in a lordly way, love dash and splendor, adulation, and luxury. And Mrs. Shoemaker sees a Leo woman having several perfumes of different moods with only an underlying emotional thread to tie them together. She thinks that Joy with all those roses and that drowning deepness would be a Leo scent (roses, especially red roses, are strongly connected with the sign), also Caron's Fleur de Rocaille where there are roses, too. When Mrs. Shoemaker sniffed Stradivarius, she said, “Ah, this would go right to the back of the head where the Leos live and speak to them.” She also thinks that Nuit de Noel—because it is what she calls a “personality perfume”—would do a lot for Leo women. All of these would make nice presents. Leo needs presents and often deserves them because as Mrs. Shoemaker says, “Leo is very loyal,” and then she laughed and added, “that’s not to be confused with always faithful.”
