News this Week:

- Scott Ogden and TMH in the coastal publication Lumina.
- Wanna help? TMH needs two research volunteers for our Masters archive. Requires about 12 hours over 4 weeks, all online, on your own schedule. Please call George at 919.740.8407.
- The folks at Frank Harmon Architect love the AIA North Carolina building they designed so much -- they are moving in, starting August 1, 2012.
- The A/V Geeks have over 24,000 old 16mm educational films rescued from landfills, dumpsters, closets, school libraries and provide an entertaining yet insightful glimpse into our past. With your support, more than 1000 films (over 240 hours of content) from the A/V Geeks collection can be accessible over the internet. For every \$500 raised they digitize one mile of film (nearly 2.5 hours of material)! Campaign ends August 31st!

Correction: The Caswell Odyssey talk by architect Jay Fulkerson and owners Charlie Miller, William Miller, and Elisabeth Vermilye will be at 2pm August 5 (not the 29th) at 412 Caswell Road in Chapel Hill. This Modernist house was a goner; the roof had fallen in, the wind was literally whistling through the rooms. Hear the architect and owners tell the story from demolition condition to fully developed restoration - and how they used green concepts to bring it to life.
