ARCHITECTURE YOU LOVE

Architect Ellen Cassilly worked in Paris with Christian DePortzamar and Arata Isotaki in Tokyo before coming to North Carolina. After bringing exciting projects together for other design firms, such as the NC Museum of Art Ampitheatre, she started Ellen Cassilly Architect in 1999. She is featured in Mike Welton's book, Drawing From Practice, and co-teaches the architectural design/build studio at NC State University's College of Design. With her husband Frank Konhaus, they gave birth to a spectacular house / museum / gallery called Cassilhaus, a combination of their names, now celebrating its 10th anniversary. Cassilhaus, photo above, is part art gallery, part artist quarters, part peaceful Modernist house in the woods. USModernist Radio is sponsored by Angela Roehl, your special real estate agent for Modernist houses. Listen via

Thanks to Executive Producer Monique Lombardelli (a past guest on US Modernist Radio) for sharing her exciting architecture documentary: People in Glass Houses: The Legacy of Joseph Eichler Special Edition, the first documentary to explore the unique phenomenon that Modernist developer Joseph Eichler created in the late 50's and 60's. With over 11,000 homes built in California, Eichler stands as one of the true revolutionary postwar builders to change the counterculture of what we now know and embrace today as modern living. Free to watch. Enjoy!

A 3-day architectural workshop
May 18-20, 2018
to re-imagine 81.2 acres in Raleigh, NC

DAY 1
Opening Lectures
CAM Raleigh . 5:30-8pm

An evening of inspiring talks from five New York planners, architects and landscape architects responsible for monumental urban design projects across the globe. These talks are open to the public and are designed to inspire those who live, work, and play in Raleigh, to be bold and forward-thinking in the development of this growing metropolis.

open to the public

DAY 2
Design Workshop
Citrix . 8:30am-6:30pm

A day-long architectural workshop with teams of architects from North Carolina, exploring future possibilities for the sites where Central Prison and The Governor Morehead School are located, on 81.2 acres north of Dix Park. Consideration will be given to Raleigh's economy, connectivity, and design - for the good of its people and its environment.

design professionals

DAY 3
Ideas Presentation
NCSU Burns Auditorium
12:30-3:30pm

A presentation and discussion of workshop results, including team visions for the sites and connections to neighboring properties and beyond. Invited guests will include the design community, civic officials, developers, property owners and the public - especially young professionals making Raleigh their home. The goal is for resulting conversations to continue after the presentations.
