News and Events

New in the USModernist Library: Mission 66 was a 1950's United States National Park Service program intended to dramatically expand Park Service visitor services by 1966 for the 50th anniversary of the Park Service. While Mission 66 involved infrastructure projects such as roads, utilities and employee housing, the most visible components were interpretive facilities and visitor centers, many of which were designed by prominent modern architects. Architectural historian Christine Madrid French created a website around 1997 to document and preserve these buildings which includes her decade-long fight to save Richard Neutra's Cyclorama. She donated the site to the USModernist Library last month.

ELLEN CASSIDY
ARCHITECT

New on USModernist Radio: California architect John Lautner, who died in 1994, was a genius of architecture who inspired generations of fans. His houses are among the most famous ever built - because you've seen them in movies: the Chemosphere House (Body Double), the Garcia House (Lethal Weapon), Sheats Goldstein House, photo above (The Big Lebowski and many others), and the Elrod House

Is your business (food, art, architecture, construction, furniture, fixtures) looking for customers who love good design? Up to 200 people attend our monthly design parties. The next one could be at your office or studio - or at a client location showing off your work. Email Rebekah Laney, rebekah@ncmodernist.org.

(Diamonds are Forever) are just four of his many thrilling buildings. Today's guests are two of Lautner's closest associates, people who knew him best over decades; his partner and right hand, architect of the stunning Arango House in Acapulco, Helena Arahuete, and Modernist master builder Robin Poirier.

Saturday, December 15, 11am. Larry Scarpa, architect of CAM in downtown Raleigh, comes back to town from Los Angeles for a talk and book signing.

ModHomes Architecture Movie Series, Double Feature, Tuesday, January 8, 7pm, at the Alamo Drafthouse, Raleigh. Glenn Murcutt: A Spirit of Place explores the life and art of Australia's most famous living architect. Murcutt's extraordinary international reputation rests on international awards (including the prestigious Pritzker Prize) putting Australian architecture on the world map. And yet, by choice, he has never built outside his own country.

But first, it's Rendered Small, the story of the private collection of American folk art buildings that have been meticulously curated and displayed by Steven Burke & Randy Campbell in Hillsborough, North Carolina. Stay for Q&A after the movie with collectors Steven & Randy plus producers Marsha Gordon and Louis Cherry.
