OLD-HOUSE INTERIORS
CLASSIC AMERICAN STYLE

bungalow basics
how to get started decorating know-how

SECRETs OF BUYING FURNITURE
10+ PICTURE-HANGING TIPS
BEST KITCHEN FLOOR OPTIONS
MAKE YOUR MISSION STATEMENT.

Handcrafted furniture, lovingly made in the USA for over 100 years—to last for generations. For the dealer nearest you, or for a catalog, visit stickley.com  •  L. & J.G. Stickley  •  Stickley Drive, Manlius, NY 13104
Editor's Welcome

Furnishings

Profile
She designs hardware that’s jewelry for the house.

Open House
Gothic castle in New York.

Don’t Miss
Upcoming exhibits and events.

Kitchens & Baths
An elegant white kitchen.

Inside Books
Atomic Ranch interiors.

I Just Bought
... a bungalow!

Other Voices
When the bridge closed.

Designer Focus
Picking a kitchen floor.

Find It Here
Resources from articles.

Old-House ABC
Quarter-sawn to Rusticated.

VISITS

California Casita
Learning the history of this Spanish Revival bungalow deepened appreciation.

BY SARAH HILBERT

40 Inspirations
Cues from the sunwashed casita.

FLW’s Suntop
Bewitched by an innovative 1939 dwelling, a couple takes on its restoration.

BY BRIAN D. COLEMAN

PERIOD ACCENTS

Start with a Vignette
Ways to ease into a furniture scheme.

BY PATRICIA POORE

HISTORY GARDENS

Antiques & Small Delights
Simple trellises, tiny surprises, and antiques ornament a New Hampshire garden.

BY TOVAH MARTIN

DECORATING KNOW-HOW

Proper Picture Hanging
If you own a period house, you may not want to just bang a nail into the drywall.

BY BRIAN D. COLEMAN

ON THE COVER: A period-perfect treatment in a 1916 Seattle bungalow. Photograph by William Wright.
Beautiful one-of-a-kind sinks crafted daily in Perkasie, PA, USA.

www.BCSSoapstone.com
sales@bcsoapstone.com
215-249-8181
English Magazines

The big bookstore Borders had closed, alas, and the closest international newsstand with it. I mentioned this to our editor Mary Ellen Polson, who lives in Manhattan, and a week later a box arrived filled with shelter magazines published in England and sold in New York.

In the U.S., House & Garden is just a memory, but Conde Nast’s U.K. edition remains a British eye on international homes. (A full-page ad for Morris & Co. carries the tag line “19th century modern.”). Hearst’s House Beautiful, too, has an English version. My second favorite in the batch is The English Home (“celebrating the essence of English style”). In her opening letter, the editor reveals that she has just closed on a property, her “first listed home and the first with 16th-century beams.” This magazine has a rural flavor, more pheasants and florals, a visit to a Georgian rectory.

My favorite, naturally, is Period Living (“Britain’s Best-Selling Period Homes Magazine”). What do I like about these armchair trips? The houses are, for the most part, simpler and more eccentric than those shown in American shelter publications. (Not too eccentric, and not in a bad way. But maybe if I lived in England I would find them quite standard.) Kitchens, especially, are a relief—they do not look like showroom displays.

I like the grayed pastels in bedrooms, and also the way the beds are made up—not so “decorator” as over here—no layering, just the white duvet drawn up to white-slipped pillows. Yet they are also more furnished, with tailored bedskirts and a half-tester or drape-and-valance treatment at the head: cosy, they would say. Ceilings are lower; the Jacobean furniture is real; fireplaces have carbon stains. Flowers are artfully disarranged, as if the Mrs. had gone to her wildflower meadow with both arms open. The television—small, not a flat-screen—has not been stashed away by the stylist. I don’t feel intimidated in these rooms. I just know that someone friendly and middle-aged, untouched by Botox, is about to offer me a Pimm’s and tonic.

Patricia Poore
ppoores@homebuyerpubs.com
As we all wonder about our future and what is in store for us, we would like to add to that wonder by supplying to your project a wonderful solution that will last through generations.

We are America’s oldest and most experienced Soapstone fabricators and have, for the past 152 years, supplied your neighbors and friends with quality and value.

Please call upon our experience and don’t wonder why you waited to set your dreams alive, for generations.

Vermont Soapstone
Since 1856
800.284.5404
www.vermontsoapstone.com

The most authentic and beautiful carpets in the Arts & Crafts tradition come from our looms to your floor.

Call us for a dealer in your area
800.333.1801
WWW.PERSIANCARPET.COM

The Ginkgo PC-21B

The Ginkgo PC-21A
Ugly Heaters?

Upgrade to OverBoards!

OverBoards are high-quality classic upgrades for radiant baseboards. Foundry-crafted of solid cast aluminum, OverBoards install easily over your existing baseboards, and complement your home's classic architectural details.

Call 1-877-466-8372 or visit us at www.Go-OverBoard.com

Come home to Hitchcock.

The Hitchcock Chair Co., Ltd.
13 Riverton Road, Riverton, Connecticut 860-379-4226
www.hitchcockchair.com

American Restoration Tile
Manufacturer of Custom Historical Tile

1" Hexagon - 3/4" Square
Subway Tiles
Basketweave - Spiral
All Other Historical Sizes

WWW.RESTORATIONTILE.COM
(501) 455.1000

DeOr Pottery
608.274.5511
www.DoorPottery.com

Timeless Art...

From our hands to your home.

View our full line of pottery at:
www.DoorPottery.com
For one of a kind and small limited editions visit our Etsy shop:
www.DoorPottery.etsy.com
Bench Made Beauty

The Middleton chair in blue and white Shrewsbury printed fabric is part of a new line of bench-made upholstered furniture from fabric and wallpaper maker Thibaut Design, founded in 1886. Chairs, sofas, sectionals, ottomans, benches, and headboards are to the trade only. From Thibaut Fine Furniture, (888) 663-1988, thibautdesign.com

Twentieth Century Viennese

From a Vienna Secessionist antiques specialist, the Petitot table lamp in brass with a glass rods shade is part of a revival lighting collection. The lamp measures 15¼" high x 18" high. Available in brass, antique, and nickel finishes, it sells for $3,707. From Szalon Antiques, (310) 657-0089, szalonantiques.com

Marvel of a Range

Newly introduced, the Total Control range cooker comes in 11 colors, including pistachio. Components include boiling and simmering plates and separate roasting, baking, and slow-cook ovens. The range measures 35½" high x 38¼" wide x 27¾" deep. It retails for $14,950. From AGA Marvel, (800) 223-3900, agamarvel.com
Spanish Folly

Dubbed Corona Plumosa, this assertive little cabinet is a riff on the 1927 "Spanish Renaissance" dining set manufactured by Showers Brothers of Indiana for Sears. Handmade using traditional joinery and locally sourced salvaged red oak, burly silver maple, and black walnut, it sells for $6,054. From NR Hiller Design, (812) 825-5872, nrhillerdesign.com

Colonial Revival Dining

The Geneva double pedestal table from the new Finger Lakes collection is shown with Bradford arm and side chairs and the Naples buffet. The table sells for $7,485. Chairs are $1,011 to $1,149 as shown. The buffet is $6,999. All from Stickley, (855) 881-4066, stickley.com

Prairie Tabletop

Bursar's Window table linens are inspired by the skylight in the office of the Darwin Martin house, designed by Frank Lloyd Wright in 1905. The machine-washable, polyester/cotton-blend runner ($72.95) measures 13" x 76". Matching 13" x 17" placemats are $15.95. From Rennie & Rose, (413) 743-2648, rennieandrose.com

Fine Dining

Mackintosh

One of several new Arts & Crafts collections from this company, Rennie Rose flatware recalls the designs of Scottish architect Charles Rennie Mackintosh. Made using the lost-wax casting method, the stainless steel pieces have a three-dimensional quality. A five-piece place setting retails for $115. From Graham Andrews, (877) 775-3042, grahamandrewsflatware.com

American Classic

Lead-free pewter reproductions of porringer, covered tankards, beakers, and chalices are based on a large collection of original and vintage molds. Prices range from $42 for porringer to $160 for a quart mug. From ASL Pewter Foundry, (866) 373-9837, aspewter.com
Sylvan Brandt, LLC
Resawn & Antique Flooring

Please call or visit our website for a free brochure or sample

756 Rothsville Road • Lititz, PA 17543
717-626-4520 • www.sylvanbrandt.com
Eco-Friendly Since 1960

Climate SEAL

"Preserving America’s Historic Properties and Their Windows!"

- Magnetic interior storm window for maximum efficiency and easy removal!
- Helps maintain the integrity and improves the efficiency of your existing windows.
- 40-60% improved thermal efficiency.
- Rapid payback through energy cost savings.
- Elimination of drafts and condensation.
- 50-80% sound reduction from the exterior.
- Filters harmful ultra-violet light to protect against sun damage and fading.
- Custom colors, shapes and designs are the standard.
- Extensive dealer & installer network available or DIY approved.

877-773-7379
sales@climateseal.com • www.climateseal.com

HAND CRAFTED
100 YEARS AGO

RESTORED
FOR TODAY

Climate Seal

TURN OF THE CENTURY LIGHTING
ESTABLISHED 1976

Restoring antique lighting is our passion, our expertise and our specialty. Visit our online showroom to view the finest selection of unique and distinctive antique lighting in North America. From Victorian to Art Deco and Industrial, we have an outstanding array of chandeliers, wall sconces, table lamps floor lamps and exceptional antiques.

FREE SHIPPING
1.888.527.1825
WWW.TOCL.CA
PROMOTIONAL OFFER
CALL TOLL FREE
SHOW ONLINE

HAND CRAFTED
100 YEARS AGO

RESTORED
FOR TODAY
Engineered Heart Pine
An engineered version of reclaimed Legacy Select antique heart pine has a 5¼" face width. The flooring matches solid wood in terms of wear-layer thickness and average length. Made with low-VOC glues, it’s priced at $8.29 per square foot. From Goodwin Heart Pine Co., (800) 336-3118, heartpine.com

Salvaged from the Attic
The surface of this reclaimed flooring is left untouched. Measuring ¾" thick, boards are 6" to 14" wide and up to 14' long. Random-width flooring sells for $8 to $13 per square foot (the higher price for flooring up to 14" wide). From Sylvan Brandt, (717) 626-4520, sylvanbrandt.com

Birch Bright
Birch offers a unique grain pattern that showcases blond outer edges and warm amber centers. Available as either solid wood or engineered flooring, boards average 7' to 8' long. Prices range from $11 to $18 per square foot, depending on width and grade. From Carlisle Wide Plank Floors, (800) 595-9663, wideplankflooring.com

Five on the Floor

Floor with Provenance
A new floor of reclaimed and remilled antique pine offers the richness of age, complete with a history of the dismantled structure it came from (on request). Pricing varies, depending on width ranges. From Chestnut Specialists, (860) 283-4209, chestnutspec.com

Organic Effects
Reclaimed Mushroom Wood is repurposed from mushroom bedding bins, usually made of cypress or hemlock. The FSC-certified flooring varies in width from 6" to 8" and comes in lengths up to 16' long. The deep-grained wood retails for $8 to $10 per square foot. From The Hudson Co., (845) 848-3040, hudson-co.com Handcrafted Solid Wood Doors That Add Beauty & Value to Your Home!

Screen & Storm ~ 3 Season Porches
Entry Units ~ Interior ~ Dutch
French ~ Louver & More

Catalog: (800) 787-2001
www.VintageDoors.com

Bay Windows Are Made for Shutters

Authentic Design • Free Measure Guide • Free Brochure

Show Off Your Windows with Low Maintenance High Quality Custom Fabricated Louvered Shutters Delivered to Your Door Ready to Install in 4 to 6 Weeks. Call for Details and Cost.

The world’s finest serpentine stone

Our Vermont quarried serpentine stone is often referred to as “marble.” While it has the warmth and look of marble, it is actually harder and less porous than many types of granite, making it an excellent choice for your project.
After 20 years as a manager in retail apparel, KATHY DUSTMAN was ready for a change. An old family friend, Daniel Baughman, suggested she develop a new line of items that could be produced by his fine art foundry. She knew quality and marketing, and he would supply the skilled labor and production facility. "I knew I could sell anything as long I was proud of the product," Kathy says.

Dustman considered jewelry, then hit upon the idea of hardware that looked like jewelry. She reasoned that the Wisconsin foundry, which produces finely detailed cast metalwork, could combine jewelry-like detailing on functional pulls, knobs, and hinges.

She was right. Since launching with 12 designs in 1996, NOTTING HILL DECORATIVE HARDWARE has expanded its offerings to more than 200 patterns, most designed collaboratively with Baughman and his artisans. Many draw on period motifs in Art Deco, Celtic, Prairie School, Art Nouveau, Rococo, and Eastlake styles.

Most Notting Hill designs are the result of manufacture by methods no longer typical of production hardware, like spin casting and hand-finishing. In spin casting, hot molten pewter is poured into a disc-shaped mold, which is spun on a central axis. The molten pewter is forced into crevices on the periphery, resulting in hardware with exceptionally fine detail and relief. Finishes are exceptional, too, and include 24-karat gold, semi-precious stones, pearls, crystals, enameling, and hand-painting.

Among Notting Hill's most successful sellers is the King's Road Collection. Named for fashionable districts in London like Portobello Road and Kensington, these breathtaking, high-relief pieces are sculpted with scallops, leaves, and flourishes.

Dustman recently introduced two designs for appliance pulls to coordinate with them: "Designers have a hard time finding these."

Another of her favorites is the Kitchen ID series, pulls with room for a word or phrase. She knows that no other hardware company is making a line of hardware that customers can engrave.

While the foundry where her hardware is made employs 100 people, Notting Hill itself is small—just three part-timers and herself. Being small makes for better customer service, Dustman believes. Designs are sold online and through showrooms (about 500 throughout North America).

Five of Notting Hill's 12 original designs are still in production, as are 'McKenna's Rose' and 'Delaney's Rose,' pieces named for her daughters, who are now college-age. "They are my babies," Kathy says. Notting Hill Decorative Hardware, (262) 248-8890, nottinghill-usa.com

The newly introduced 'Renaissance' set resembles Victorian jewelry.

Flower of Hope

Notting Hill's Kathy Dustman was in her car when she heard a Chicago Public Radio interview with Kenneth Elisapana about hunger and displacement in the South Sudan. "The story was so compelling," says Kathy, who describes herself as a person of faith who is not particularly political. Hoping to offer help in some tangible way, she met with Elisapana, the story's source and the director of South Sudan Voices of Hope (southsudanhope.org). In response, she created "Hope Blossom," pewter knobs and pulls based on the peanut plant, a main source of food in the region. Seventy-five percent of profits from sales benefit relief efforts.

"People have been very positive about [Hope Blossom]," Dustman says. "The more I promote it, the more positive feedback we get."

'Hope Blossom' proceeds benefit South Sudan Voices of Hope.
Antique Floors of Distinction

Always in Style

Arts & Crafts Hardware and Lighting
www.HOAH.biz

Introducing “Clematis Frieze” from our new Talbert Collection!

View the entire collection and order samples at www.bradbury.com.

Subway Ceramics is dedicated to preserving our uniquely American tile heritage with our authentic collection of reproduction subway tile, trim, mouldings, floor mosaics and ceramic accessories.

Order Samples Online
WWW.HERITAGETILE.COM
Designed as a country villa in 1838 by Alexander Jackson Davis, Lyndhurst was enlarged by the same architect in 1864–65. The second dining room of 1865 reflects A.J. Davis's later, Victorian Gothic style; Davis also designed the manorial dining suite after English Gothic Revivalist A.W.N. Pugin.

The second dining room of 1865 reflects A.J. Davis's later, Victorian Gothic style; Davis also designed the manorial dining suite after English Gothic Revivalist A.W.N. Pugin.

Verloinking the Hudson River at Tarrytown, New York, Lyndhurst is one of America's finest Gothic Revival mansions. The Alexander Jackson Davis-designed masterpiece began life as a country villa “in the pointed style” in 1838. Named Knoll by its first owner, former New York City Mayor William Paulding, the limestone house was dubbed “Paulding's Folly” by the locals, no doubt because of its fanciful turrets and asymmetrical outline, which were novelties in the post-Greek Revival era. Davis doubled the size of the mansion in 1864–65 for its second owner, New York merchant George Merritt, who christened it “Lyndenhurst” after the linden trees planted on the estate. The new north wing included the mansion’s imposing four-story tower, a porte-cochère, dining room, servants’ quarters, and additional bedrooms.

In 1880, railroad baron Jay Gould bought the property, with many of its furnishings, as a summer retreat. Gould also simplified the name to Lyndhurst. The 67-acre estate remained in the Gould family until 1961, when Gould’s daughter Anna, a French duchess by marriage, donated it to the National Trust for Historic Preservation, which manages it today.

Compared to other 19th-century mansions along this stretch of the Hudson, the interior of Lyndhurst is unique. Rooms tend to be strongly Gothic in character, with small, sharply arched windows and fantastically peaked, vaulted, and ornamented ceilings. The effect is dark yet highly romantic, which might explain why the house was chosen as the site of two early films based on the soap opera Dark Shadows in the early 1970s.

The grounds remain an outstanding example of 19th-century landscape design. Elements include sweeping lawns accented with specimen trees and shrubs, a curving entrance drive revealing “surprise” views, and the nation’s first steel-framed conservatory. The grounds are open daily; the house is open for guided tours (hourly) Friday–Sunday. Lyndhurst, 635 South Broadway, Tarrytown, NY, (914) 631-4481, lyndhurst.org

Above: Added as part of the 1860s renovation, the furniture in the north guest bedroom reflects the taste of Gould’s daughter Anna, Duchess of Talleyrand-Perigord. Left: The vestibule was the original carriage porch for the 1838 house; furniture here dates to around 1870.
HUNDREDS OF DESIGN IDEAS FOR YOUR OLD HOUSE!

OLDHOUSE online
We know old houses

OldHouseOnline.com
Sign up for our design newsletter!
DON'T MISS

Wright in Iowa

The last standing hotel designed by Frank Lloyd Wright will play host to a new conference on the architect’s Midwestern work on October 10–14. “Frank Lloyd Wright and Midwest Modern” takes place in Mason City, Iowa, home of the recently restored Historic Park Inn Hotel and City National Bank (1909–1911).

The Mason City area boasts fine Prairie School architecture, including Wright’s Stockman House (1908) and buildings by Walter Burley Griffin, Marion Mahony, William Drummond, and Francis Barry Byrne. Registrants who make a nominal donation will be eligible for a drawing to reserve one of the coveted Historic Park Inn Hotel rooms for the event. Frank Lloyd Wright Building Conservancy, (312) 663-5500, savewright.org

- TWIN CITIES ARTS & CRAFTS SHOW, Sept. 22–23, Minnesota State Fairgrounds, St. Paul, MN. The largest event in the Midwest dedicated to American Arts & Crafts furniture and accessories. (651) 695-1902, eastwoodgallery.com

- CRAFTSMAN WEEKEND, Oct. 19–21, Pasadena, CA. This packed event includes receptions and tours of some of Pasadena’s most breathtaking Arts & Crafts houses; drive-yourself and walking tours of architecturally significant homes and neighborhoods; lectures; and the latest artisanal offerings at the Arts & Crafts Show and Sale. Pasadena Heritage, (626) 441-6333, pasadenaheritage.org

- RENOVATION WORKSHOP, Oct. 21–26, Waitsfield, VT. One-week hands-on course addresses the unique challenges of renovating or adding on to an existing house. Bring measured drawings and photos of planned projects. $800. Yestermorrow Design/Build School, (888) 496-5541, yestermorrow.org

  LEFT: A card by illustrator Cindy Lindgren, one of the exhibitors at the Twin Cities Arts & Crafts Show.

- ARCHITECTURAL PHOTOGRAPHY EXHIBIT, through Oct. 31, Taliesin East, Spring Green, WI. Work by photographer James Caulfield includes many Wright masterpieces. Taliesin Preservation, (877) 588-7900, taliesinpreservation.org

COURTESY CEDAR ROCK, IOWA DEPT. OF NATURAL RESOURCES
TRUSTWORTH STUDI'S WALLPAPER

THE IOLAN THE CEA VOYSEY
WIDTH 21 INCHES | 7 D'ELAINE 39 FT
WWW.TRUSTWORTH.COM | 598-746-1847

METALCEILINGEXPRESS.COM
Tin Ceiling Tiles | Nail-up | Drop-in | Snap-Grid | Backsplash | Crown Moldings

Authentic Tin Ceiling Tiles | Factory Direct
32 Patterns | Hand Faux Finished Tiles
Fast Deliveries | Top Quality

1650 12th St East | Palmetto, FL 34221
941.723.2288

charlesprogers.com

CHARLES P. ROGERS & COMPANY, 1876
IRON, BRASS, LEATHER & WOOD BEDS.
MATTRESSES, LINEN & COTTON BEDDING.
ENTIRE COLLECTION & SALE PRICES ONLINE AT: www.charlesprogers.com • 1-866-445-5966

UNLEASH YOUR INNER CHEF!
Discover the possibilities at www.frenchranges.com and design your dream range today.
1.800.570.2433
how we caught
MY FANCY
Clever space planning and long-coveted design details make for an elegantly simple kitchen in a Colonial Revival house.

BY CATHERINE LUNDIE | PHOTOGRAPHS BY GRIDLEY + GRAVES

THE KITCHEN IN OUR comfortable-yet-modest 1910 Colonial Revival had been, I'd guess, through a minimum of two renovations, leaving me with a dark, awkward floor plan and big-box-store cabinets. Although the phrase “gut job” usually makes my hackles rise, there was nothing left here to court regret.

I cook every day—my kitchen had to be functional. Yet I was reluctant to add on to the house with a disproportionate room that would distort the floor plan. Actually, the solution was simple. To create an ample workspace on one end, we borrowed a 3' strip from the adjacent dining room. The kitchen now takes a slight jog that adds a bit of quirky old-house charm.

Practical issues solved, I turned to the fun stuff. Out came all of my marked back issues of Old-House Inte-
LEFT: A bracketed shelf holds lusterware; towel pattern is Mackintosh's 'Loch Aire Voile.' ABOVE: Hand-painted art tiles are from Pratt and Larson. BELOW: Amber glass knobs warm the buffet. OPPOSITE: A reworked plan put the range opposite the sink, creating an efficient galley setup.

FOR RESOURCES, SEE P. 67.
FAR LEFT: The buffet was built by cabinetmaker Jeff Loux as a piece of furniture, then attached to the wall. LEFT: The author wanted shallow cupboards on either side of the stove to create an old-fashioned cooking alcove; resting on the countertop, cupboards also hide small appliances. BOTTOM: Opposite the galley kitchen, a small corner acts as additional prep space.

BEFORE: The cramped, remodeled kitchen (above) was awkward with limited counter space and a former pantry removed from the kitchen.

AFTER: By borrowing 3' from the dining room, the author made room for a spacious galley-style work area, a secondary prep and serving space, and a new half bath.
mid-century ranch? Do you build up, or add "details"? Do you keep the laminate and linoleum kitchen—even restore one that got remodeled?

Wait until you see these eight great examples of ranches renewed. All retain their integrity, possible only under preservation-minded owners—but they've been tweaked, too. A few got better when their excited inhabitants simply added the right colors and furniture. The houses shown run from minimalist to family style, budget-conscious to architect-redesigned. Chosen by Atomic Ranch magazine editors Michelle Gringeri-Brown and Jim Brown, the houses all have a friendly vibe.

The writing is crisp and fun: learn to recognize granny ranches, to use "thrift" as a verb, and why prefab is like Marxism ("no matter how many times [it] fails, people still believe in the concept"). Hey, baby boomers, take another look: the ranch house is better in hindsight.

REVIEWED BY PATRICIA PORE

ABOVE: In the Tulsa house kitchen, dogbone chairs surround a 1949 Heywood-Wakefield wishbone table. The coral dishware is vintage Russel Wright ‘American Modern.’ LEFT: Recently added to the rear of a 1958 Eichler-designed house in San Mateo, the new bedroom suite was inspired by Frank Lloyd Wright along with Eichler’s experimental steel-framed house.

ATOMIC RANCH MIDCENTURY INTERIORS
You may also enjoy the following books

0500. FURNITURE FOR ALL AROUND THE HOUSE
The nineteen projects found within the pages of this book have been specially selected for novice woodworkers. You will find detailed step-by-step instructions and photos, complete working drawings, and cut lists.
Retail $21.95 / SALE $15.35

0305. HOME HOW-TO HANDBOOK TRIM
Read this book before calling a professional. With the guidance offered by the author, you'll be able to do a lot of the work yourself, whether adding crown molding, window casings, or wainscoting.
Retail $9.95 / SALE $7.00

To order visit HomeBooksAndMore.com or call 800.850.7279.
Offer ends September 30, 2012 • OH1012
THE WORD “BUNGALOW” may seem today like a synonym for “cottage,” but in its heyday it was prized both for its exotic, Anglo-Indian associations and for its artistic naturalism. Early in the 20th century, the bungalow had close ties to the Arts & Crafts movement. That affinity has been even stronger in recent years, as thousands of bungalows were snatched up to be interpreted in a manner often beyond the tastes and budgets of the original owners. • The bungalow showed up in the U.S. in the 1880s, but it was its development in Southern California that paved the way for its new role as a year-round house. BY PATRICIA POORE

1890–1930

An “artistic bungalow” (modeled on an actual planbook model). Ground-hugging, the bungalow provides cozy shelter; a pergola porch blends indoors and out. Exaggerated structure—brackets, battered piers, and belt courses—is the only ornamentation.

the HALLMARKS

• ONE OR ONE AND A HALF STORIES Larger houses may have a bungalow-era look, but the definition of a bungalow is one story, albeit often with a half-story above.
• LOW, GROUND-HUGGING Most bungalows are low and spreading—with porches, sun porches, pergolas, and patios tying them to the outdoors.
• INDIGENOUS MATERIALS An artistic use of river rock, clinker brick, quarried stone, shingles, and stucco is common.
• EMPHASIS ON STRUCTURE Look for exaggeration in columns, eaves brackets, and rafters. Inside, find ceiling beams, chunky window trim, and wide paneled doors.
• ARTISTIC NATURALISM The Arts & Crafts bungalow follows an informal aesthetic; it is a type without strong allusions to formal European or classical precedents.
• EXOTIC INFLUENCES Appearing in builders’ houses as well as in books and magazines: stick ornament in the manner of Swiss Chalets; Spanish or Moorish arches and tilework; and orientalism, especially Japanese.
Bungalows came from India, sort of—variations of the word existed for hundreds of years before any bungalows showed up in England or the U.S. "Bungaloues," temporary and quickly erected shelters, were houses for Englishmen built by native labor in India: long, low buildings with wide verandas and deeply overhanging eaves. Around 1870, builders of newly fashionable English seacoast vacation houses referred to them as "bungalows," giving them an exotic, rough-and-ready image.

But it was in California that the bungalow boom began. The climate was perfect for a rambling "natural" house with porches and patios. Los Angeles and upscale Pasadena, a resort town in the 1890s, were growing fast. An essential part of mass suburbanization was "an innovative, small, single-family, simple but artistic dwelling; inexpensive, easily built, yet at the same time attractive to the new middle-class buyer." The California bungalow (a term used by 1905) was soon a well-defined new style. Architects Greene and Greene in California called their millionaires’ chalets “bungalows.” Gustav Stickley sang their praises in his magazine The Craftsman. Dozens of plan books between 1909 and 1925 promoted “artistic bungalows.”

Home ownership was becoming a realizable American dream for an exploding middle class. A need existed for small and simple house that would look good even if plainly built and furnished.

As early as 1908, the word with cachet was being used for small houses that had only the vaguest bungalow allusions. Ironically, the 1920s was the boom period for bungalow building even as its decline began. Instead of "simple, rustic, natural, charming," the glut was beginning to change the connotation of the word to "cheap, small, and vulgar."

After World War II, the word was revived to mean a vacation shack by the seashore or lake—not so far from its first use in England in the 19th century. Since the 1980s, the American bungalow has come back stronger than ever as part of the Arts & Crafts Revival.
bungalow INTERIORS

THE TYPICAL BUNGALOW interior, at least as it was presented in the house books of the period, is easy to recognize. Basically, the bungalow interior was a Craftsman interior.

In a departure from Victorian decoration, bungalow writers frowned on the display of wealth. Rather than buying objects of obvious or ascribed value, the homeowner was told to look for simplicity and craftsmanship. The finest examples of Arts & Crafts handiwork found a place in the bungalow—but so did rustic furniture.

Walls were often wood-paneled to chair-rail or plate-rail height. Burlap in soft earth tones was suggested for the wall area above, or used between wainscot battens. Landscape friezes and abstract stenciling above a plate rail were pictured. Dulled, grayed shades and earth tones, even pastels, were preferred to strong colors. Plaster with sand in the finish coat was suggested. Woodwork could be golden oak or oak brown-stained to simulate old English woodwork, or stained dull black or bronze green. Painted softwood was also becoming popular, especially for bedrooms, with white enamel common before 1910 and stronger color gaining popularity during the '20s.

Books recommended

You'll find so many books about the American Arts & Crafts movement and bungalows! For the editor's list of favorites, go to artsandcraftshomes.com/books.
It became almost an obsession with bungalow builders to see how many amenities could be crammed into the least amount of space. By 1920, the bungalow had more space-saving built-ins than a yacht: Murphy wall beds, ironing boards in cupboards, built-in mailboxes, telephone nooks.

Oak woodwork demanded oak furniture, supplemented with reed, rattan, wicker, or willow. Mahogany pieces were thought best against a backdrop of woodwork painted off-white. A large table with a reading lamp was the centerpiece of the living room in the days before TV.

Clutter was out—"clutter" being a relative term. Pottery, Indian baskets, oriental wares, vases, and Arts & Crafts hangings satisfied the collector instinct. More affluent households might display Rookwood pottery, small Tiffany pieces, hammered copper bowls, and items from Liberty and Co. A watercolor landscape or two, executed by the amateur painter of the family, was the ultimate Arts & Crafts expression for the home.
Our handcrafted custom lighting is unsurpassed in quality and creativity. With over 100 unique designs and 12 exclusive finishes to choose from, we carry one of the finest selections of contemporary and traditional lighting in North America. All of our custom lighting is crafted out of solid brass in our workshops. Visit our online catalogue to learn more.
Bridge Closed, a Summer of Quiet

By Judy Chaves, North Ferrisburgh, Vermont

Construction on our local bridge closed the main road last summer to all but locals. The Hollow, as this stretch of 40-some old houses is known, was isolated for eight weeks: no commuters, no trucks, no Saturday-night revelers flinging empties out of car windows.

The quiet was startling. We could hear the birds singing every morning. My husband and I ate breakfast with the door open. I taught in my music studio as fresh air, not the rumble of truck engines, wafted through the windows. We all noticed a newfound sense of safety. Knowing the person behind the wheel of every vehicle was an unexpected pleasure—we started waving to each other, and having impromptu conversations. Children came outside to play.

Excited about what was happening, residents organized the first-ever Hollow Block Party, and our emails read like a version of the children's tale "Stone Soup." (Does anyone have a grill to bring? I do! We'll bring burgers. I've got a friend who's in a dance band.) Somebody made nametags that showed a photo of the wearer's house, so we finally matched up people to their Queen Anne or Greek Revival. After barbecue and potluck, live music and dancing, laughter could be heard long into the night, coming from the most centrally located front porch.

Then the summer ended, the bridge reopened, and the traffic came back. It has been hard not to feel a loss as we shut our doors and windows, and returned to darting across the road. The removal of traffic had revealed to us what was here—what has been here, in fact, since The Hollow was settled in the early 1800s: a village.

In its heyday, the Hollow boasted mills, several blacksmiths, an opera house, churches, and a schoolhouse. The mills are gone; the opera house became apartments; the schoolhouse is closed. Intriguing hints remain of former times, but the infrastructure is gone. What we found though, is that the heart of the village remains. We inhabitants of the old houses have a lot in common, and when we get together, we have an awfully good time.

What did it take? A safe, quiet road, something we now want to reclaim. The question is how—a question being asked in communities all over the world. How can we manage 21st-century traffic so it doesn't interfere with the not-at-all-outdated need for people to interact with neighbors? In Berkeley, a study found that when traffic is slowed, pedestrian activity and interaction increase. A British study showed that lowering the speed limit by only 6 MPH in a 20 to 35 MPH zone can reduce noise by 40 percent! When traffic is either restricted or removed from streets, and a safe space created for walkers, the neighborhood comes alive. This has been true with New York City's Summer Streets program, the Paris Plages, and Bogotá's Ciclovia.

Short of blowing up the bridge (not that we haven't considered it), we need to calm traffic: lower the speed limit, add visual indicators to alert drivers. We might apply for grants to install a sidewalk, and convince our road foreman to close the road periodically. These are not easy sells. We're dealing with tight budgets, more so with the rampant Almighty Car mentality that sees a road only as a way to move motorized vehicles as fast as possible.

The people of The Hollow are as ready as anyone to wage the fight. After all, the mindset and skills we need to reclaim the community are the same ones we used to restore our old houses. We won't write off as merely old-fashioned such deeply held values as quality in workmanship and quiet in the morning. We know what it is to stand up against the “inevitability of progress.” We're old-house people, and we will firmly hold our ground.
The must-have resource for period-inspired homes!

Find everything for your old-house project—hardware, lighting, plumbing, decor, floor and wall treatments, and more. Browse for ideas, find inspiration, and search suppliers.

Order today at DesignCenterSourcebook.com or call 1-800-850-7279. $17.99 (includes shipping)

Wood for your home. Our Specialty.

reclaimed oak flooring

A.E. Sampson & Son

www.aesampsonandson.com
800-769-6196
Warren, Maine
USA
HISTORIC HOME SHOW
The resource for Restoring, Renovating and Preserving our Nation's Architectural Heritage

The event for anyone who wants to know how to create, decorate, learn, preserve, restore, renovate and display our Nation’s Architectural History. This show is an invaluable tool for both professionals and homeowners!

THE NATION’S PREMIER OLD-House EVENT!

Historic Home Show of Northern Virginia
Dulles Expo Center, Chantilly, VA
October 26-28, 2012

Showcasing the best in historical architecture and craftsmanship, the Historic Home Show offers experienced restoration and preservation specialists, products & services, such as:

- Furniture restoration
- Architectural salvage
- Floor and wall coverings
- Millwork and moldings
- Windows, porches

Plus...attend free workshops, demonstrations and meet distinguished artisans!

For more information visit HistoricHomeShows.com or call 800.782.1253 for more information.
CALIFORNIA CASITA
A Spanish Revival bungalow restored with an eye toward its history, and a splendid Arts & Crafts collection to fill it. (page 34)

FLW'S SUNTOP
A generation after his Prairie houses, Wright designed this innovative dwelling type. (page 42)

PROPER PICTURE HANGING
Bang a nail into the drywall? Maybe not, if yours is a period house. Here's a rundown of picture-hanging conventions from 1840–1940. (page 54)

GARDEN OF SMALL DELIGHTS
A special garden in New England shows how antiques and “smalls” can be used for ornament and to surprise. (page 50)

START WITH A VIGNETTE
Furnishing a whole room, let alone a whole house, can be daunting. Here are ways to ease in. (page 46)
Learning about the roots of a Revival bungalow and the provenance of a home.

A jasmine-covered arch separates the patio from the interior courtyard, which is partly paved with colored cement to create an outdoor dining room. The light fixture is original.
Our Spanish Revival bungalow can't really claim a fancy architectural pedigree, but it does have "provenance." We have learned the story of how it came to be, a story steeped in Southern California's penchant for marrying real-estate speculation to Spanish-style architecture. We also learned that previous owners of the 1933 house acted as good stewards.

Our house sits in the shadow of the San Gabriel Mountains on land carved out, beginning in the 1870s, from Rancho San Pasqual, a substantial tract that formed the northeastern corner of Pasadena and Altadena. Neighbors agree that our corner casita, the very last to be built in this development, has the most interesting details of TOP: The dining room is also known as the California Room because everything here is from the state, back in the day. Wrought-iron curtain rods are probably original. ABOVE: The owners have added native California plants. The willow tree fell during the windstorm of November 2011, but was righted by an arborist and secured with tension lines.

FAMILIES PAST

Pasadena real-estate developer Vincent Savory purchased land for a cul-de-sac when Rancho San Pasqual was parceled into lots. He built his first house, next door to what would later be ours, in 1928. By 1933, 10 more had followed. Savory embraced the era's wildly popular and romantic Spanish Revival style: His small, single-story homes feature red-tile roofs, stucco façades, recessed windows, and courtyard gardens.

From research in city archives, we learned that our house's first owner was a draftsman—perhaps involved with design of the development. Second owner Ernest Clare Bower was Vincent Savory's brother-in-law and an investor, and a well-known mathematician and astronomer credited with computing the orbit of Pluto. In the mid-1940s, Bower won the deed in a contentious divorce settlement from Savory's sister Lena. He moved his second wife, Lois, and two children into the home, and the Bower family owned it for nearly 40 years. Now we imagine Bower sitting in our living room, with its view toward the Mount Wilson Observatory, theorizing about the planets. —S.H.

ABOVE: The living room retains its rustic hewn beams and pegged mahogany floor. Between a Stickley Bros. Cube Chair (left) and a Stickley Bros. oversized armchair sits a California tile-top table. Pottery on the mantel includes pieces by Bauer, Pacific, and Rookwood.

FAR LEFT: The industrial metal cabinet, a flea-market find, holds a colorful collection of vintage travel brochures displayed in an old gas-station caddy that held road maps.

LEFT: A Heintz Art Metal Shop pinecone lamp sits atop a Stickley Bros. bookcase.
any house on the block.

For reasons unknown, this house has knockout Spanish and Art Deco details, including pegged mahogany flooring throughout, built-in bookcases with inset tiles, recessed niches, a stucco fireplace with tile mantel and hearth, exposed beams, numerous French doors, original light fixtures, and two garden courtyards. A fully tiled, Art Deco-style bathroom with a “shark fin” shower is arguably the home’s pièce de résistance. [See OHI May/June 2012 “Casita Bath,” or go to oldhouseonline.com/a-bright-art-deco-bathroom.]

The owner who immediately preceded us was an excellent caretaker; a visionary and artist, she restored the house and added details that embrace the feeling of Old California. The updated yet period-style kitchen is to her credit. She commissioned the cabinets based on an original cabinet door. The vintage O’Keefe & Merritt stove, built-in breakfast nook, and painted checkerboard floor underlie modern countertops and appliances.

The previous owner painstakingly outlined archways and door frames and added painted embellishment to the hallway ceiling, beautifully evoking decorative elements of California missions. Inspired by the spiral design of an original light fixture in the entry hall, she commissioned a scrolled wrought-iron front door and matching courtyard gates. She added a fountain, flowering vines, and bench-style seating in the interior court, creating a private retreat that our family uses every day, year-round.
ABOVE: The kitchen got a period-inspired remodeling in 2005, with cabinet "feet" based on an original door found in the garage. A checkerboard was painted on original subflooring. The arch that separated the nook from the kitchen was removed in the 1960s. TOP LEFT: The painted ceiling in the hall, added by the previous owner, is based on decoration in California missions. The fixture is original. CENTER LEFT: Vintage kitchenware of the 1930s and '40s fills shelves. BOTTOM LEFT: The courtyard features a period-appropriate fountain added by the previous owner. Jasmine vines, jacaranda trees, and palms provide a foreground for views of the San Gabriel Mountains.

Our contribution has been to fill the house with a 20-year collection of Arts & Crafts-period and Spanish Revival furnishings. The architecture is a perfect backdrop to our plein air paintings, colorful California pottery, and vintage housewares. The cozy dining room has become the California Room, decorated with California-themed art, a Monterey mirror, and a whimsical state map tablecloth of the 1940s. The antique sideboard, table, and set of six chairs were made by Imperial, a contemporary of Monterey Furniture. Outside, we installed the terracotta-color walkways and patio (in which we embedded vintage tiles).

We already had a long (rewarding, exhausting) history of restoration behind us. We were delighted to find a house that was essentially "done," granting us the time to throw open the French doors, sit in the courtyard breeze, and simply marvel that such a special house had survived intact.+

LEFT: A 1950s O'Keefe & Merritt stove anchors the kitchen, which pairs tile in a Southwestern border motif with black Caesarstone countertops. ABOVE: A Stickley Bros. table holds an Old Mission Kopper Kraft desk lamp and a rare copper desk set by Forest Craft Guild. The reproduction train poster advertises "America's Vacation Land." BELOW: Green-banded "Kleen" Kitchen Ware was produced by Sadler in England from the mid-1930s until 1950.
Take cues from:

A Spanish Revival bungalow decorated with vintage Arts & Crafts, Deco, and California pieces

"I'm not crazy about the dining-room fixture [left], which isn't original," says the owner. She's searching for an antique, but others may prefer a gutsy new fixture, like the 1920s-style Spanish Revival 'Rancho Chandelier' in black iron and mica, from Mica Lamp Co.: micalamps.com

Similar to the old cuerda seca tiles inset in a desk, these are 'Albecete' tile in the Peacock colorway, and 'Madrid' and 'San Sebastian' tiles in the Mediterranean colorway, all from Fireclay Tile: fireclaytile.com

Art Deco-style Fiesta Dinnerware, made by the Homer Laughlin Co., came back into production in 1986; this is the latest color, 'Flamingo': through dealers nationwide, hlchina.com

The kitchen floor in the casita is painted in a checkerboard, recalling a popular linoleum treatment. This is 'Checkpoint 9' resilient tile flooring from Mannington: mannington.com
SUNWASHED COLOR  In the Pasadena casita, dark beams and dark floors are set against whitewashed stucco. The counterpoint is Mediterranean color: turquoise pots, azure-blue paint on doors, hot hues and the jewel tones of Spanish and Indian textiles.

"Vacationland" textiles were popular in the '40s and are still collectible. These hand-embroidered pillows (all 50 states available, along with National Parks and resorts) are new, from catstudio: catstudio.com

The house features a collection of vintage desk accessories by the Forest Craft Guild and Carence Crafters. This handsome Arts & Crafts copper desk set is from Old California Lighting Co.: oldcalifornia.com

Essential to "red tile style," Spanish and Mission barrel-shape clay roof tile has been made through the centuries by Ludowici: ludowici.com

New, modern-functioning ranges from the retro Northstar line come in 11 period-perfect colors, from Elmira Stove Works: elmirastoveworks.com
SUNTOP
F.L.W. near Philadelphia
Bewitched by Frank Lloyd Wright’s innovative (and livable!) vision for a middle-class dwelling, a couple takes on its restoration.

BY BRIAN D. COLEMAN | PHOTOGRAPHS BY EDWARD ADDEO

FULLY A GENERATION after he rose to prominence with his Prairie School houses, architect Frank Lloyd Wright was at the peak of his success. In 1939, he designed a project in Ardmore, a tree-lined suburb of Philadelphia. Like his Usonian houses, the project was an innovative design for middle-class homeowners—in this case, a quadrant of four homes joined in a pinwheel and asymmetrically sited so that no unit looked directly at another. Wright named it Suntop for its profusion of outdoor decks.

Wright stacked the units vertically. They are surprisingly spacious, each about 1,400 square feet. He used glass, brick, and concrete along with wood: cypress on the exterior, mahogany trim inside, and Philadelphia pine for the tongue-and-groove ceilings. Conceived as an affordable solution to the suburbs’ increasing density in single-family dwellings, Suntop was revolutionary. In fact, a series of similar quadrants were to be built across the country, but World War II, high construction costs, and (eventually) protests by more traditional neighbors conspired to make this the only example ever realized.

By the time Tommy and Marla Kane saw Suntop in 1999, time had taken its toll. The leaking flat roofs and decks had not weathered well; the Kanes joked that their own unit should be renamed “Bailing Water.” (Each private dwelling is quite independent; other units, too, have been or are being renovated without disrupting the whole.) Previous owners had not maintained this home. The radiant heat under Wright’s signature concrete floors no longer operated; both bathrooms needed replacement; the original electrical system was, of course, outmoded.

ABOVE: A drawing from Wright’s office shows the asymmetrical quadrant plan of Suntop; the design has proven enduring and functional for more than 60 years.

But Wright’s vision was still evident: two-story glass windows allowed light to stream inside; a vertical, open floor plan gave the modest-size interiors depth and volume. Wright’s genius showed in the built-in banquets, bookshelves, and storage cabinets. Mahogany and pine gave the home intimacy and warmth even on the snowiest winter night.

When Tommy Kane began interviewing contractors, it seemed that none of them understood Wright or the house. He and Marla became their own general contractors. They found professionals to handle the larger jobs—framing and millwork, concrete demolition and pouring. But they did the finish work themselves, devoting weekends and holidays to cleaning, sanding, and varnishing the interior woodwork, to repainting the concrete floors Wright’s “Cherokee Red,” to restoring the kitchen and renovating the bathrooms.

Tommy became an expert...
backhoe operator and landscaped the yard himself from professionally drawn plans that created a series of terraces with a gurgling brick pool and waterfall. Wright had designed the upstairs kitchen with an open plan so that the servantless 1940s homemaker could multitask: cook dinner for guests while leaning over the open balcony to join the conversation below, not to mention keep an eye on the children taking a bath in the adjacent bathroom.

Tommy and Marla were careful to preserve the cork flooring, mahogany cabinets, and the ceiling fixture—a curious set of cantilevered panes of glass that requires several sets of steady hands to change a light bulb. They replaced broken stone countertops with Corian and a stainless-steel backsplash, and they updated the appliances.

The couple combed local antique shops and became regulars at Rago auctions, hunting down furnishings appropriate for the modern house. These include an iconic Hans Wegner blue sofa, a pair of curvilinear orange side chairs designed for Bergdorf Goodman in the 1950s, a mid-century Jens Risom leather lounge chair, and several exuberant Art Deco table lamps. Tommy and Marla Kane have restored their dwelling at Suntop to what they think Wright meant it to be: a comfortable, livable family home.

TOP: A dining banquette is built into the kitchen balcony. The light fixture is original. RIGHT: Owners Tommy and Marla Kane.
FURNISHING A WHOLE ROOM, LET ALONE A WHOLE HOUSE, CAN BE DAUNTING. HERE'S HOW TO EASE IN.

BY PATRICIA POORE

YOU HAVE TO START SOMEWHERE! To get your feet wet, try thinking in vignettes. Vignettes are those “tight shots” you see in magazines—not the whole room, but rather a little grouping that works. It might be an easy chair, table, and lamp all tucked into a corner, or tall plants placed on either side of a wicker settle on a long wall. (The idea enlarges on the “art unit” of Victorian times, a carefully composed and artistic arrangement of furniture and objects.)

Though it sounds risky to furnish one area without considering the rest of the room, this approach can work quite well. Some spaces are just easier to “see” furnished than others. You already may have a good sense of what would look right at the stair landing, or between your bed and the window—even if furnishing the room as a whole is daunting. You also may have a favorite piece that has to go where it will fit, so put it there and con-

Start with a vignette
Start with a thematic piece... something antique, unique, or handmade that you simply must have. Use it to guide the rest of your furnishings, or as a counterpoint. Shown here: A contemporary take on the Windsor chair makes a statement about design evolution, and doubles as sculpture. A tall room screen is a dramatic way to block a corner or create a room within a room; its style begins to define the scheme. The warm, arresting sideboard with Old English details might set a storyboard mood. Another signature piece: a classic chest of drawers, dramatic in black paint and folk decoration. You could see it as the start of a traditional country room—or, alternately, as a compatible reference to Americana in a room with chrome and black leather.

Because it's one-of-a-kind and carries its own history, the thematic piece of furniture is often an antique. Mix in antiques to avoid the boring, matched-set look of some contemporary interiors.

When you move forward with the vignette, three things happen:

1. With limited expense, you’ve furnished one area to completion.
2. What you’ve chosen sets a style and mood to direct the rest of the furnishing.
3. You limit and define the size and placement of other pieces in the room, by process of elimination. Here are some other ideas for room-starter vignettes: a table in the hall (with it, consider a lamp, a tabletop collection, and hung artwork); built-ins or scaled furniture to fit in a window bay; a well-lit reading corner; seating near the fireplace; a large signature piece on the only unbroken wall; a grouping to play up existing symmetry (as between doors or flanking windows, or around a staircase).

You may not want a museum room, but furnishing in sync with the date and design vocabulary of the house is a shortcut to non-faddish rooms that "look right." Your house is giving you clues, so take them.

Seek out specialty suppliers that do reproduction, traditional, or adapted styles. You can, over time, acquire a few antiques to set the period mood. To fill in and assure sturdy comfort, rely on good reproductions or period-interpretive designs.

Good furniture is not cheap—a reason to avoid mistakes. The more you furnish with classic, adaptable pieces, the fewer oddball items you'll get stuck with. By oddball, I don't mean unusual favorites or family heirlooms, but rather the sofa you OPPOSITE: At the front of the property, a herringbone brick path connects garden and house. CLOCKWISE FROM RIGHT: At the front door, an old concrete urn elevates fall pumpkins. Autumn-blooming sedum glows against rustic pickets. A weathered cement frog is a hidden surprise. Terracotta pigs and cement containers await sale. In a shady corner, the geese are protected by their shed and a fanciful picket fence.
She knew exactly what she would plant: "Start with bleeding hearts," she tells people who want an old-fashioned garden. She moved on to other evocative perennials; bee balm headed her list, and peonies, astilbes, phlox, lady's mantle, and daylilies play major roles. Vines of all descriptions are another secret to romance in the garden.

Meanwhile, Anne collected antiques to use inside and out. When her youngest of four children was no longer a baby, and after Garrett (a contractor specializing in custom work) had single-handedly restored the old house, Anne embarked on a career as an antiques dealer. Just minutes after she had hung a sign, her first customer pulled into the yard. The Sugarplum gained momentum immediately.

Anne went to auctions with such regularity, the auctioneer became a confidant. When he mentioned she should go to England, she gave it a try, buying a watering can "straight out of Peter Rabbit" that led to her specializing in garden antiques. At first, she brought back "smalls" in suitcases, such as hand tools and terracotta thumb pots. Next she was using trunks, and finally shipping crates.

Over here, no one had seen anything quite like what Anne Rowe was offering: antique tools that work better than modern ones, tiny hand-thrown pots, watering cans, trowels, lantern cloches. Of course, a few distinctive antiques in her inventory will never leave Wilmot, unless Anne moves and they go with her.

Anne says it was Vita Sackville-West's garden at Sissinghurst Castle that gave her the confidence to design her own landscape. "I came away with a sense that this was something I could do," she recalls. Her personal style combines the use of antiques, smart space planning, and adventurous plant selection, all to echo the era of the house. Garrett helped her realize her vision, building the birdhouses, trellises, and fencing. Anne believes there's a fine line between tasteful and over-the-top, so she is selective about what chosen favorites go into the garden.

The result has a delicious, bygone flavor that captivates visitors—but the garden is essentially simple and sublime. "I want you to be invited in, Anne says, "and when you're here, to feel as if you're part of the landscape." Anne says the garden speaks to her because "it's me; it's my mistakes." Others, though, gravitate outdoors as well, lingering in the garden, which feels like rooms added to the house.
LEFT: Balusters to serve as plinths, benches, and bits of salvage await purchase as garden ornaments. BELOW: St. Francis in terracotta animates a green bower. BOTTOM: Simple trellises and arbors shoulder vines in the New Hampshire garden.

how to use GARDEN ANTIQUES

DO try antique tools when you garden, which often work better than modern counterparts. Use a dibber to plant a seedling!

DON'T use vintage cloches (bell covers) on outdoor plants. When full sun falls on the glass, the living plant may be baked.

DO plant vintage terracotta containers with flowers, but handle them carefully. Elevate them above the ground; bring them inside over the winter.

DON'T repurpose antiques as containers if they’re too small for the root system or if they have no drainage holes. Steer clear of plants with “muscle roots,” like divias and asparagus ferns, as these might split the seams of an antique container.

DO take care, with wooden antiques, to preserve the wood from weather. Objects left in the elements should be dispensable or easily replaced.

DON'T leave valuable or favorite antiques outdoors unless they’re protected from the elements.

DO go to yard sales and flea markets to pick up odds and ends for the garden. Orchard ladders, tool handles, and old iron gates can support vines. A couple of old screen doors, hinged together, creates a focal point that can also support a vine.

DON'T ever place old scythes or sharp tools where people (especially children) might be tempted to play with them.

DO tuck small antique objects into “secret” places in the garden, a hidden treasure to be discovered.

DON'T go overboard with too many single objects; think in “garden rooms” with the occasional surprise.

—Anne Rowe
Bang a nail into the drywall? Maybe not, if yours is a period house. Here's a rundown of picture-hanging conventions from 1840-1940.

BY BRIAN D. COLEMAN

Portraits and tapestries may have hung on the walls of castles, but for most householders, "picture hanging" became popular during the Victorian period of the 19th century. The newly affluent, and even the middle classes, demonstrated their buying power and good taste by covering the walls with paintings and other works of framed art—not to mention mirrors, shelves, plates, and so on.

Around the 1840s, picture rails or picture molding became common. The idea had been around since the 15th century: hanging pictures from a moveable hook that can hold substantial weight and that doesn't mar the wall surface. The modern picture rail was simply a horizontal molding of wood or composition material, often decorative, mounted high on the wall.

Picture rails were mounted in one of three positions. In formal rooms, the rail was mounted ³⁄₄" to ½" (for the hooks) beneath crown and cove moldings. A simpler treatment had the rail tacked to the wall at about the height of window and door heads—which left a frieze area between the rail and the ceiling. During much of the Victorian era, the frieze would get decorative embellishment. A more streamlined approach came along with the lowered ceiling heights and minimal moldings of the 1920s and '30s. Now the picture rail was mounted just a half-inch or so from the ceiling. The old brass hooks no longer fit, but hooks with a rolled profile and wires were used. The gap was often lost in subsequent ceiling repairs—or even caulked over—making the molding useless.

Today you can buy hooks with different thicknesses and shapes, so test one for fit before buying multiples. A hook not made of cast brass may be re-bent or modified to fit.

The Proper HANGING of Pictures
Heavy items should hang from two hooks to distribute the weight.

Picture cord, picture wire, or chain may be used to hang the artwork from the hook. Picture cord is a colorful twisted cording on wire; it passes through eyelets (screw eyes) or D-rings mounted on the back of the frame. The wire is tied together at the top, creating a triangle. A medallion or a tassel or both (with a hook built into its back) fancies up the hanging treatment. It was the vogue in some years to make the crisscrossing cords themselves into a decorative treatment.

Art hung near eye level was kept flat against the wall by attaching the cord or wire high on the back of the frame. Art hung high on the wall, as in a gallery treatment or over a high wainscot, had the cord attached lower so that the piece would tilt forward for easier viewing. (Too low and the painting will flip over! Use eyelet pairs low and also at mid-frame or higher, if necessary.) Most picture cords support about 60 pounds individually. If the item is heavier, you might use heavy-gauge wire or fine-gauge chain. Victorian-era picture hanging—with stacked art, multiple

LEFT TO RIGHT: A pleasing and changeable arrangement of fine art hangs from plain hooks and wire. In the Victorian dining room, the picture rail is mounted below a papered frieze; note the button and tassel covering the hook. A simpler hanging treatment is appropriate in an early 20th-century Foursquare, where the rail is beneath a coved ceiling.
In secondary rooms, particularly kitchens and baths, pictures are generally nailed into the wall. The advice to center your art at 57" from the floor ("eye level") is an excellent starting point. Eye level is, however, lower in a dining room, where everyone is seated, than in a hallway. In period houses, other factors weigh in: ceiling height and odd proportions, height of wainscots and plate rails, and conventions of the era.

- Keep in mind that most people hang pictures too high. Forget where the ceiling is—consider the viewer.
- In most cases, do create a center point across walls with the center of each frame the same distance from the floor.
- In gallery-type hanging, with multiple framed pieces hung over one another, consider hanging the upper-wall pieces to lean downward away from the wall for better viewing. Lower art can be flat to the wall.
- Create an arrangement on the floor before committing to hanging. Create a craft-paper template (the same size and shape) of each framed piece, and tack the paper in place to rearrange for a pleasing composition.

By the 1940s the picture rail was passé, and the invisible wall hook standard. Today you might consider picture rails and hooks against wallpaper and in public rooms, along with modern hangers in halls, bathrooms, even bedrooms.

Thanks to Jon Eaton at House of Antique Hardware for his assistance with this article.

General Tips

- The advice to center your art at 57" from the floor ("eye level") is an excellent starting point. Eye level is, however, lower in a dining room, where everyone is seated, than in a hallway. In period houses, other factors weigh in: ceiling height and odd proportions, height of wainscots and plate rails, and conventions of the era.
- Keep in mind that most people hang pictures too high. Forget where the ceiling is—consider the viewer.
- In most cases, do create a center point across walls with the center of each frame the same distance from the floor.
- In gallery-type hanging, with multiple framed pieces hung over one another, consider hanging the upper-wall pieces to lean downward away from the wall for better viewing. Lower art can be flat to the wall.
- Create an arrangement on the floor before committing to hanging. Create a craft-paper template (the same size and shape) of each framed piece, and tack the paper in place to rearrange for a pleasing composition.

- Framed mirrors were often used alongside or to balance framed art.
- Create vignettes by hanging art close to the table or sofa. Don't leave distracting swatches of wall between furniture and artwork. Aim for just 3" to 6".
- Bigger pictures (or a related grouping) are generally better than small pieces orphaned on a wall.
- In the 19th century, special paintings often rested on easels.
- Many decorators advise framing all art in a room the same way, or sticking to one wood species or matte color. While that does ensure that chaos will not ensue, it might ruin the "evolved over time" old-house sensibility.
- In framing and hanging, emphasizing the horizontal generates calm and widens a narrow room.
- Emphasizing the vertical adds height to a room.
- Victorian arrangements famously mixed frame shapes: ovals for portraits, circles for silhouettes, wide and vertical together.

—Patricia Poore
Generally, small-gauge wire or chain was the hanger of choice after cords and tassels fell out of favor.

From the 1840s until the early 20th century, decorative picture nails were a popular, simple way to hang objects on the wall. Although most houses had picture rails in main rooms, it wasn't possible to hang cordings from a hook on a rail in all cases; think of stairwells. A nail in the wall was too plain, though, thus the decorative cover.

Typically, a picture nail consisted of a sturdy iron nail or screw with a removable, decorative cover that slips over the nail head. The cover (rosette, button, medallion) might be made of colored pattern glass or silvery mercury glass, gilded stamped brass, even an intaglio or cameo.

The cover would be taken off for installation of the nail. Nails came in several sizes for different frame weights. Items were hung from them by cord or wire. The decorative nail cover served as a sparkling or elegant accent.

Picture nails are very pretty, but keep in mind that they leave rather large holes. You'll definitely want to pre-drill a small hole before installing the nail or screw to minimize plaster damage.

PICTURE NAILS

SOURCES
- SWAN PICTURE HANGERS (530) 865-4109 swanpicturehangers.com All the paraphernalia for historical picture hanging in Romantic, Late Victorian, Craftsman, and contemporary styles. Picture nails with many cover styles, medallions, French gallery rods, tassels, hooks, tiebacks, more.
- HOUSE OF ANTIQUE HARDWARE (888) 223-2545, hoah.biz Picture rail molding for Victorian, Craftsman, and Colonial Revival homes; twisted cord; picture rail hooks in many styles, sizes, and finishes.
- BELLA ROSA DESIGNS (920) 621-3310, bellarosadesigns.com Victorian and French-style picture hanging: buttons, cords, tassels, hooks. CLASSIC ACCENTS (800) 245-7742 classicaccents.net Brass hooks, kits, cord, and tassels.
- UNITED MFRS. SUPPLIES, INC. (800) 645-7260, unitedmfrscatalog.com Large supplier to the framing industry, with online catalogs and ordering. A place to look if you have unusual framing or picture-hanging hardware needs.
Kitchen Flooring

The most enduring materials for kitchen floors should hold up for decades, some even from one century to the next. Excellent choices include resilients like linoleum, cork, and vinyl composition tile, as well as classic wood, stone, and ceramic tile.

BY MARY ELLEN POLSON

1 ‘Exelon’ VCT feature tile and strip in black and chalk, $1 and up per square foot, from Armstrong
2 Reclaimed white oak with warm honey to caramel tones, dense and varying grain patterns, about $9.45 per square foot, from Pioneer Millworks
3 ‘Dwell Patterns’ Half Hex mix; made to order, face mounted, in up to three colors, $41 to $48 per square foot, from Heath Ceramics
4 ‘Marmoleum Click’ 12” x 36” planks (Volcanic Ash) and 12” squares (Caribbean), $6–$8 per square foot, from Forbo Flooring Systems
5 ‘Ashfield Schist’ genuine stone in alternating planks of Quicksilver and Galaxy in various widths (3” to 18”) and lengths up to 48”; $19 per square foot, from Ashfield Stone
6 Cork colored field and border tiles ($7.60 to $7.90 per square foot) and accent tiles ($8.35 to $8.50 per square foot), from Globus Cork resilient flooring
- ARMSTRONG armstrong.com Maffiorette with NATURCote (linoleum), vinyl composition tile (VCT), BioBased tile • EXPANKO RESILIENT FLOORING (800) 345-6202, expanko.com Cork, rubber, terrazzo • FORBO (866) MARMOLEUM, forboflooring na.com Marmoleum linoleum in panels and squares • GLOBUS CORK (718) 742-7264, corkfloor.com Cork tiles up to 24" square; floating cork floors • JOHNSONITE (800) 661-2162, johnsonite.com Lino, VCT, rubber wood flooring

A.E. SAMPSON & SON (800) 769-6196, aesampsonandson.com Eastern white pine, maple, cherry, birch, ash • CARLSON'S BARNWOOD CO. (309) 522-5550, carlsons barnwood.com Reclaimed pine, oak, other hardwoods • CHESTNUT SPECIALISTS (860) 283-4209, chestnutspec.com Antique remilled plank (chestnut, oak, pine) • CRAFTSMAN LUMBER (978) 448-5621, craftsman lumber.com Pine, oak, recycled heart pine • GOODWIN HEART PINE COMPANY (800) 336-3118, heartpine.com Reclaimed pine, cypress • PIONEER MILLWORKS (800) 951-9663, pioneermillworks.com Reclaimed wood flooring • SYLVAN BRANDT (717) 626-4520, sylvanbrandt.com Antique and resawn pine, chestnut, oak floor tile

AMERICAN RESTORATION TILE (501) 455-1000, restorationtile.com Historic patterned floor tile (hex, daisy, pennyround, basketweave) • HEATH CERAMICS (415) 332-3732, heathceramics.com Modernist floor tiles • TILE SOURCE (843) 681-4034, tile-source.com Encaustics and geometrics

stone floors
ASHFIELD STONE (413) 628-4773, ashfield stone.com Schist stone unique to the Berkshires • SHELDON SLATE PRODUCTS (207) 997-3615, sheldonslate.com Slate floor tile • VERMONT SOAPSTONE (800) 284-5404, vermontsoapstone.com Soapstone floor tiles • VERMONT VERDE ANTIQUE (802) 767-4421, vтверde.com Green serpentine stone
American Restoration Tile
American Restoration Tile is a custom ceramic tile manufacturing company. We specialize in reproducing the tiles of the past to facilitate restoration of historically significant buildings and residences. Visit our website for more information.
(501) 455-1000 restorationtile.com

Americana
(800) 269-5697 shutterblinds.com

Bucks County Soapstone
Soapstone is a simple contributor to its environment never dominating the scene. This slant front hand-built sink is accessorized with our recessed and runnels combination drainboard.
(215) 249-8181 BCSoapstone.com

Chelsea Decorative Metal Co.
Pressed tin for backsplashes, walls and ceilings. Art deco to Victorian styles that come in 3", 6", 12" and 24" repeat patterns. New copper and hand painted finishes available.
(713) 721-9200 tinman.com

Classic Rock Face Block
American company still producing Rock Face Concrete Blocks for new construction or repairs to foundations or house walls ca. 1895-1930. Cast from original molds, block options include: standard Classic at 8x8x16 inches; Panel Blocks at 8x8x16, and at 8x8x24 block.
(727) 480-6768 classicrockfaceblock.com

Climate Seal
For nearly 30 years the Climate Seal™ storm window system has built a reputation for being the most effective and versatile storm window system on the market.
(877) 773-7379 climateseal.com

Crestview Doors
Timeless classics from the 20's and beyond. Crestview Doors has the right design for your house, too. Dealers in more than 20 cities nationwide.
(866) 454-6302 crestviewdoors.com

Crown Point Cabinetry
Crown Point Cabinetry handcrafts the finest quality custom cabinetry for your entire home. Period styles include Shaker, Arts & Crafts, Early American, Victorian, Transitional and Contemporary. Available direct nationwide.
(800) 999-4994 crown-point.com

Door Pottery
Beautifully handcrafted Arts & Crafts style pottery created in a small studio by artists Scott Draves, Nicky Ross, and John Tiller. Door's collection includes one-of-a-kind, limited edition and many unique designs.
(608) 274-5511 doorpottery.com
Heritage Tile
Heritage Tile is dedicated to preserving our uniquely American tile heritage with our collection of historically authentic subway tile and made-to-order mosaics.
(888) 387-3280
heritagetile.com
Circle 030 on Free Information Card

Historic Housefitters Co.
Handmade 18th century period lighting in black copper, copper, brass or tin. Handforged reproduction iron floor lamps, kitchen racks, thumblatches, mortise locks, strap and HL hinges and much more. All made by American craftsmen.
(800) 247-4111
historichousefitters.com
Circle 029 on Free Information Card

The Hitchcock Chair Co., Ltd.
In the tradition of America’s most famous chairmaker, The Hitchcock Chair Company is once again creating our famous Hitchcock chairs and unique furniture in solid maple and cherry. Proudly made in the U.S.A.
(800) 247-4171
historichousefitters.com
Circle 029 on Free Information Card

House of Antique Hardware
Brighten your home with glass cabinet knobs in 16 fun and fresh colors. Shop our online catalog for thousands of fine hardware reproductions, as well as the best in period lighting.
(888) 223-2545
HOAH.biz
Circle 017 on Free Information Card

Lacanche French Ranges
Choose from 20 artisan-crafted models, 18 premium colors, four trim finishes, and multiple range top and oven configurations. Design your dream range today.
(800) 570-2433
frenchranges.com
Circle 018 on Free Information Card

MetalCeilingExpress
Metalceilingexpress, custom manufacturer of tin ceiling tiles. American made tin ceiling tiles in 35 patterns with more than 40 colors to choose from.
(941) 723-2288
metalceilingexpress.com
Circle 019 on Free Information Card

Notting Hill Decorative Hardware
Victorian Jewel and Jeweled Lily hardware is set with semi-precious stones. Variety of finish and stone options. Period-inspired artisan hardware is hand-cast at our fine arts foundry. Made in U.S.A.
(262) 248-8890
nottinghill-usa.com
Circle 021 on Free Information Card

Mica Lamp Company
Votive chandelier overbuilt in heavy cast and forged iron construction. Made with distressed hammer marked finish that is burned blacksmith-style. Mica mineral votive lens colors available in almond (shown) and orange. Available in 6-candle, 26-inch diameter (shown) and 9-candle, 32-inch diameter.
(818) 241-7227
micalamps.com
Circle 020 on Free Information Card

OverBoards
OverBoards offers heavy-duty, solid extruded aluminum covers for baseboard heat units. They’re made to complement your home’s classic architectural details.
(508) 339-4500
go-overboard.com
Circle 003 on Free Information Card
The Period Arts Fan Company
The Period Arts Fan Company was founded to develop authentic ceiling fans true to the late nineteenth and early twentieth-century architectural, interior and product design movements.
(888) 588-5267 periodarts.com

Primrose Distributing/Old Century Colors
Keep the charm alive and recapture the glow of the past with the quality and selection of the present. These colors are selected for the restoration of historic architecture, furniture and craft projects.
(800) 222-3092 oldcenturycolors.com

Turn of the Century Lighting
Our comprehensive online catalog includes more than 1,000 restored antique and hand crafted reproduction lighting fixtures. Offered is an unmatched selection of unique and unusual ceiling, wall, table and floor lamps in 11 exclusive and superior finishes. We provide excellent customer service and ship worldwide.
(888) 527-1825 tocl.ca

Vermont Soapstone
Since the 1850s, Vermont Soapstone has been crafting the finest architectural soapstone fixtures and home accents. Durable and timeless, soapstone never stains, non-porous and won't retain bacteria from meat and fish. Custom sinks and counter tops. Installation available.
(802) 263-5404 vermontsoapstone.com

Vermont Verde Antique
The world's finest serpentine; beautiful, durable and long lasting quality for all of your kitchen, bath and flooring needs.
(802) 767-4421 vtverde.com

Warren Chair Works
Designers and crafters of fine 18th century reproductions and contemporary American made furniture. Each piece is hand made in Warren, Rhode Island. Contemporary table and bow back chairs shown in walnut with maple wood. Also available in cherry with Maple wood.
(401) 247-0426 warrenchairworks.com

W.F. Norman Corporation
Founded in 1898, W. F. Norman Corp. has the nation's most complete collection of quality, hand pressed ceilings, cornices, moldings, and ornaments. Call today for our catalog or view our products online!
(800) 641-4038 wfnorman.com

Sheldon Slate Products
(207) 997-3615 sheldonslate.com

Wooden Radiator Cabinet Company
The Perfect Cover-Up!
The Wooden Radiator Cabinet Company provides the finest custom-built cabinets in the country, turning eyesores into elegant and functional furniture. We offer durable, elegant and affordable radiator and baseboard covers, PTAC, fan coil covers and bookcases from classic to contemporary. Just push them in place for an elegant cabinet or window seat.
(800) 817-9110 woodenradiatorkabinet.com
FLOORS add character to a house. Whether you opt for wood, stone, or resilient, these companies offer some of the best flooring options for your period home. When you contact any of these fine companies, please tell them you found them in Old-House Interiors. To see even more period products, visit: oldhouseonline.com

A.E. Sampson & Son Ltd.
The Sampsons have specialized in solid wood flooring, paneling and stair parts for three decades. We offer well-managed, mature growth, antique and reclaimed woods. Floors are milled in Maine by trusted family craftsmen, a good fit for green building. A broad selection of species, grades, widths and lengths are available.
(800) 769-6196
aesampsonandson.com

Carlson’s Barnwood Company
Reclaimed antique flooring in oak, pine, and other species. Barnwood planks and beams.
(800) 734-5824
carlsonsbarnwood.com

Goodwin Heart Pine Company
Designed by nature, carefully recovered and expertly refined, River Recovered® Heart Pine and Cypress have been waiting up to 200 years to grace the space in your home or office.
(800) 336-3118
heartpine.com

Chestnut Specialists
Antique remilled plank flooring of chestnut, oak, or pine, and hand hewn antique posts and beams. All flooring wood is hand selected, kiln dried, then remilled to customer specifications.
(860) 283-4209
chestnutspec.com

Craftsman Lumber
Providing custom-milled, wide-plank flooring, paneling, and wainscoting to architects, contractors and homeowners since 1974. Eastern white pine up to 26".
(978) 448-5621
craftsmannumber.com

Sylvan Brandt
We’ve been supplying antique flooring since 1960. Our flooring is either reclaimed from old houses or is sawn from vintage beams, and captures the natural beauty and patina from wood that may have been demolished.
(717) 626-4520
sylvanbrandt.com

Tile Source
Tile Source specializes in Victorian geometric and encaustic floor tile, traditional and contemporary English wall tiles perfect for town or country living.
(843) 681-4034
tile-source.com

Velvit Oil
An interior wood finish that stains, seals, protects, and beautifies all in one coat. Apply to furniture, paneling, antiques, floors, doors, woodwork, picture frames, cutting boards and gun stocks. Easy to repair if surface is damaged.
(920) 722-8355
velvitproducts.com

Circle 002 on Free Information Card
Circle 007 on Free Information Card
Circle 013 on Free Information Card
Circle 016 on Free Information Card
Circle 031 on Free Information Card
Circle 032 on Free Information Card
Circle 034 on Free Information Card
FREE OLD-HOUSE PRODUCT INFORMATION

Many of the companies appearing in this index offer free information about the products and services seen in the pages of Old-House Interiors. It’s the perfect way to begin or refine your research and there’s no limit to the amount of free information you can order!

Simply check a category box on the attached card to receive free information about all products in that category, or circle the number that corresponds to the specific companies you are looking to receive free information from.

3 EASY WAYS to receive FREE product information from Old-House Interiors advertisers:

ONLINE Fill out the online request form at www.OldHouseOnline.com/ohi

MAIL Circle the corresponding numbers on the card and mail it today!

FAX Fax your completed card to 800-571-7730

---

2012 Traditional Artisan Show
Page 59 | Circle No. 001

A.E. Sampson & Son Ltd.
Pages 31, 63 | Circle No. 002

AK Exteriors
Page 59

Alameda Shade Shop
Page 66 | Circle No. 004

American Restoration Tile
Pages 6, 60 | Circle No. 005

Americana
Pages 11, 60

Andersen Ceramics
Page 59

Ann Wallace
Page 57 | Circle No. 006

Bradbury & Bradbury Art Wallpapers
Page 13

Bucks County Soapstone
Pages 3, 60

Carlson’s Barnwood Company
Page 63 | Circle No. 007

Charles P. Rogers & Company
Page 17 | Circle No. 008

Charleston Hardware Company
Page 66 | Circle No. 009

Chelsea Decorative Metal Co.
Pages 60, 65 | Circle No. 010

Chestnut Specialists
Pages 13, 63

Classic Rock Face Block
Pages 60, 65 | Circle No. 011

Climate Seal
Pages 9, 60 | Circle No. 012

Craftsman Lumber Company
Pages 63, 67 | Circle No. 013

Crestview Doors
Pages 57, 60 | Circle No. 014

Crown Point Cabinetry
Pages 60, Back Cover

Door Pottery
Pages 6, 60 | Circle No. 015

Goodwin Heart Pine Company
Pages 29, 63 | Circle No. 016

Gorilla Glue Company
Page 65

Heritage Tile
Pages 13, 61 | Circle No. 030

Historic Housefitters Co.
Page 61

The Hitchcock Chair Co., Ltd.
Pages 6, 61 | Circle No. 029

House of Antique Hardware
Pages 13, 61 | Circle No. 017

Lacanche
Pages 17, 61 | Circle No. 018

MetalCeilingExpress.com
Pages 17, 61 | Circle No. 019

Mica Lamp Co.
Pages 16, 61 | Circle No. 020

Notting Hill Decorative Hardware
Pages 59, 61 | Circle No. 021

Old Village Paint
Page 31 | Circle No. 022

OverBoards
Pages 6, 61 | Circle No. 003

The Period Arts Fan Company
Pages 2, 62 | Circle No. 023

The Persian Carpet
Page 5 | Circle No. 024

Primrose Distributing/ Olde Century Colors
Pages 62, 66 | Circle No. 025

Radiant Wraps
Page 65

The Reggio Register Company
Page 11 | Circle No. 026

Rejuvenation
Page Inside Back Cover

Sheldon Slate Products
Pages 31, 62 | Circle No. 027

Shuttercraft
Page 67 | Circle No. 028

Stickley
Page Inside Front Cover

Subway Ceramics
Pages 13, 61 | Circle No. 030

Sylvan Brandt
Pages 9, 63 | Circle No. 031

Tile Source
Page 63 | Circle No. 032

Timeless Kitchen Design
Page 29

Trustworth Studios Wallpaper
Page 17 | Circle No. 033

Turn of the Century Lighting
Pages 9, 29, 62

Velvit Oil
Page 63 | Circle No. 034

Vermont Soapstone
Pages 5, 62 | Circle No. 035

Vermont Verde Antique
Pages 11, 62 | Circle No. 036

Vintage Doors
Page 11 | Circle No. 037

Vintage Tub
Page 67 | Circle No. 038

W. F. Norman Corporation
Pages 62, 66 | Circle No. 039

Warren Chair Works
Page 62

Wooden Radiator Cabinet Company
Pages 62, 67 | Circle No. 040

---

DECODING THE OLD-HOUSE UNIVERSE

Whenever you see a QR Code (above), use your smart phone or tablet device to scan it for more information on that topic. Some codes launch websites while others launch videos. Either way, we hope these little codes enhance your reading experience in a big way.
Manufacturers of Historic Concrete Block Restoration - Repair - New Construction
For Questions or Distributor Info
Contact Us
(727) 480-6768
www.gorillataough.com
1-800-866-3458
© 2017 Gorilla胶粘剂
classicrockfaceblock.com
Visit our website to receive an Estimate. We ship to the US and Canada
CLASSICROCKFACEBLOCK.COM

Digital Editions Now Available For Your Tablet!
Available on iPad®, Kindle Fire, NOOK Tablet®, NOOK Color®, and on select Android™ tablets via NOOK®.
View all of our digital titles at oldhouseonline.com/digital Includes Old-House Journals, Arts & Crafts Homes, The Old-House Guide, and more!
iPad® is a trademark of Apple Inc., registered in the U.S. and other countries.
Kindle Fire, Amazon, and the Amazon Kindle are trademarks of Amazon.com, Inc. or its affiliates.

New Anti-Clog Cap
Gorilla Tough. Every Time.
Made in USA

Architectural slip-on covers for installed baseboard heating units
The Nation's Most Complete Collection

The W.F. Norman Corporation offers quality, hand stamped sheet metal and a vast selection of ornate patterns. Our original 1898 product line features 140 ceiling patterns and over 1,300 ornaments! We offer custom stamping and sheet metal fabrication.

Visit our website at wfnorman.com to see products online or send $3 for our catalog to W.F. Norman Corp., P.O. Box 323, Nevada, MO 64772.

W.F. Norman Corporation
(800) 641-4038 | info@wfnorman.com

An indispensable source of information on planning, restoring and decorating your old house!

Order today at OldHouseBookstore.com or call 800.850.7279 and use code OHG for free shipping and handling.

Keep the charm alive and recapture the glow of the past with the quality and selection of the present. These rich colors are thoughtfully selected for the careful restoration of historical architecture, furniture and projects.

54020 Andrews Ave. | New Carlisle, IN 46552 | 800.222.3092
Elmira, Ontario | Canada N3B 2C7 | 866.789.7087
OLDECENTURYCOLORS.COM
NEW!
Product of the Week at:
oldhouseonline.com

Beautiful Quality Wood Shutters for your Home
Interior & Exterior Styles
Any size - Any color
Visit shuttercraft.com
Call (203) 245-2608
Shuttercraft, Inc. - Madison, CT
Free Brochures/Prices/Quotes Family Owned - Made In USA

find it here

Other articles in this issue have sources and websites listed within their pages.

Kitchen Fancy pp. 18-21
CABINETS Jeff's Workshop, Morrisville, PA (215) 736-2258
HARDWARE Historic Houseparts (585) 325-2329, historichouseparts.com
LIGHTING 'McCoy' pendant with scalloped shade by Rejuvenation (888) 401-1900, rejuvenation.com
TILE field tiles W78 and W80; decos Vintage Illustration 'Chives', 'Corn,' and 'Mushroom' in a custom colorway, all Pratt & Larson Ceramics (503) 231-9464, prattandlarson.com
FLOORING Johnsonite Harmonium xf® (linoleum) johnsonite.com
PAINT walls, 'London Stone'; trim and cabinets, 'Slipper Satin'; all Farrow & Ball farrow-ball.com
SINKS bar sink Blanco #440247 blancoamerica.com
TEA TOWELS All Tea Towels all-tea-towels.co.uk

Craftsman Lumber Company
FINELY MILLED SINCE 1974

FLOORING PANELING WAINSCOTING
WIDE BOARDS FOR FINE WORK
Whether you're an architect, a builder or a humble homeowner, we offer a fine selection of wide pine, native hardwoods and reclaimed antique woods custom milled for your historic restoration, renovation or new building projects.

PINE TO 30" WIDE OAK TO 18" WIDE

CRAFTSMAN LUMBER COMPANY
130 MAIN ST
GROTON, MA 01450
978.448.5621
978.448.2754
CRAFTSMANLUMBER.COM
method whereby a log is split into four quarters and then cut radially; this achieves maximum grain figuring and stability of the lumber. Medullary rays form the prominent, attractive flecks in that quarter-sawn oak prized during the Arts & Crafts movement.

Queen Anne A reference to two very different periods! In furniture, Queen Anne describes an English Baroque style, featuring the cabriole leg, ca. 1702–1714. Regarding architecture, the English Queen Anne movement was a 19th century return to the picturesque, vernacular building styles nostalgically connected to the time of “Good Queen Anne” (dates above). The idea migrated to America after 1875; Queen Anne houses here are flamboyantly Victorian and usually of wood, tall and asymmetrical (often with oriel, towers and turrets, multi-light windows, and fanciful porches).

Quoin A corner treatment ("coin" is corner in French), originally in masonry, for the purpose of reinforcement; also refers to such a treatment used decoratively (as with applied wood) in classically derived buildings.

Recamier A long chair (chaise longue), usually upholstered and in an 18th-century French style. Named for Paris society lady Mme. Recamier, whose 1800 portrait by Jacques-Louis David depicts her reclining on one.

Regency In British architecture, buildings dating to the late Georgian period (ca. 1810–1830), during which time George IV was Prince Regent before his accession to the throne. We call this the Federal period here. Regency also refers to an elegant furniture and interior style of the time.

Rohousse An embossing technique whereby malleable metal is ornamented by punching and hammering from the reverse side, usually in combination with chasing on the front to refine the low-relief design.

Rococo Once a slightly derogatory term and now accepted as a period style (for architecture, furnishings, interiors, literature, and art) that began in early 18th-century France and is associated with Louis XV. Rather over-the-top—curvaceous, florid, ornate, and witty—it falls between the Baroque and Neoclassical styles. Probably from “rocaille” (stone, and also a decorative form) and “coquille” (shell).

Rosette A circular, petal-like ornament in any material; a synonym for any such ceiling medallion.

Rusticated Bold, rough-surfaced masonry blocks in a façade (or their imitation in wood). Not to be confused with rusticators—city folk gone to their rural retreats.

1 Ceiling Rosette 2 Recamier 3 Decorative Quoins 4 Rococo Style Chair 5 Queen Anne Style

Old-House Interiors (USPS 013-584) [ISSN 1079-1941] is published bimonthly by Home Buyer Publications and Active Interest Media Inc. The known office of publication is located at 475 Sansome Street, Suite 550, San Francisco, CA 94111. The editorial office is located at 4125 Lafayette Center Drive, Suite 100, Chantilly, VA 20151; 703-222-9411; 800-826-3993; fax: 703-222-3299. Periodicals postage paid at San Francisco, CA, and additional offices. Volume XCVIII, Number 9. Postmaster: Send address changes to Old-House Interiors, P.O. Box 42035, Palm Coast, FL 32142-0235. For subscription questions or address changes, call 800-462-0211 (US only). Subscription rates: US $29.95 per year; Canada $37.95 per year; other countries $43.95 per year. © Copyright 2012 by Cruz Bay Publishing, Inc., El Segundo, CA. This publication may not be reproduced, either in whole or part, in any form without written permission from the publisher. Printing by RR Donnelley, Strasburg, VA, USA.
Rejuvenation is built on a passionate love affair with history, architecture, and bringing back the best lighting and house parts ever made. We obsess over the details of period authenticity and great design like no one else.

Visit rejuvenation.com or call 888.401.1900
Custom. Period.

Furniture that fits. True custom cabinetry.
The perfect fit for your period home.
Available direct, nationwide.

800-999-4994 • www.crown-point.com
MAKE YOUR MISSION STATEMENT.

Handcrafted furniture, lovingly made in the USA for over 100 years—to last for generations.

For the dealer nearest you or a catalog, visit stickley.com • L & J.G. Stickley, Inc. •Manlius, NY 13104 • 315.682.5500 Beautiful one-of-a-kind sinks crafted daily in Perkasie, PA, USA.

www.BCSSoapstone.com
sales@bcsoapstone.com
215-249-8181
Heating and Air That Fits In Anywhere

Our revolutionary flexible small ducts weave through the smallest spaces—ceilings, walls, even floors—so there is no need for costly, messy renovation. Once installed, you'll hardly notice The UNICO System. All you'll know is that your home is perfectly comfortable—warm in winter, cool in summer, quiet all year round. Since The UNICO System doesn't compromise the architecture of your house, you'll always feel right at home.

www.unicosystem.com
800.610.5387

The Unico System
Green Series
HVAC for older homes
Editor's Welcome

Furnishings

Profile/Open House
A millworks success story.

Don't Miss

Kitchens & Baths
An Edwardian nod.

Decorating Know-How
Landscape lighting options.

I Just Bought
...a Mansard house.

Places to Go
Revival in Pittsburgh.

Buying Furniture
For the porch and patio.

Find It Here
More resources.

Ad Index

Old-House ABC
Architectural body parts.

ON THE COVER: The great room in a Pacific cabin has its original board-and-batten walls. Photograph by William Wright.

VISITS

40 Cabin on Horsehead Bay
On the Pacific Northwest shoreline, a rustic cabin is remodeled as a year-round home by the great-grandson of its builder.
BY BRIAN D. COLEMAN

48 Unpredictable Events
Singer Marti Brom was already a collector with a passion for the 1940s and '50s when circumstances led her to this untouched ranch house in Portland, Oregon.
BY DONNA PIZZI

55 Inspired by a 1948 original

DESIGN FOCUS

56 Metal at the Entry
From entry set to mailbox or slot, doorbell and knocker to house numbers and hinges, trim out the front door in style.
BY MARY ELLEN POLSON

HISTORY GARDENS

58 Gardens at an Old Farm
Stone Acres in Connecticut has a quarter of a mile of boxwood hedges and 17 rose arbors—the legacy of one family.
BY TOVAH MARTIN

oldhouseinteriors.com

AUGUST 2013
TORREY ARCHITECTURE

Celebrating thirty years of creating and transforming places for living

David W. Torrey, AIA
75 Kneeland Street  Boston, MA 02111  617-548-1636 david@torreyarchitecture.com www.torreyarchitecture.com

ALLIED WINDOW, Inc.

“Invisible” Storm Windows®

Allied Window has a strong commitment to high quality custom storm windows & the capability to meet the needs of any home or other building with single glass

Interior & Exterior Windows
Custom Colors, Custom Screens & Special Shapes
Historic, Residential & Commercial Buildings Energy Savings—Approximately 50%
Sound Reduction—Up to 50%

11111 Canal Road, Cincinnati, Ohio 45241 www.alliedwindow.com • 800.445.5411 • fax: 513.559.1883
Baby's going to college

Talk about deadlines. My baby was due on January 10th. We’d just rolled into 1995, and I was launching a new magazine, this one. The first issue went to the printer on January 5th, leaving me dazed until Peter finally arrived on January 18th. Now, wouldn’t you know, he’s grown up already, off to college in September.

I remember how it felt to be a new mom (scary) and also how it felt to dive into period design (scary): I’d been more into the nitty-gritty guts of renovation at Old-House Journal. I’m an old pro now, with a staggeringly arcane period-design vocabulary. But I still gravitate toward the “before” pictures; I still prefer houses layered in personal history to those primped by a decorator. I think back to my favorites among all those I’ve published . . . I have so many! Lilla Hyttå, the home of Swedish painter Carl Larsson and his textile-artist wife, Karin, evokes the most emotion. My story title for that one was “The poetry of every day.” I choked up writing the article: “The house is real but an artist’s dream as well. Surely the children didn’t grow up and move away, or become old and die. There is too much life here.” (What a goober, huh?)

I’ve been proud to produce a magazine that has often been eccentric in its picks. I’ve been delighted to share the creativity of period design—such a rich bag of tricks! The best part: You can page through issues spanning 19 years of publication and be inspired anew, because the work is timeless, not trendy. Search “old-house interiors” at books.google.com and see what I mean.

Patricia Poore
ppoore@homebuyerpubs.com
MODERN BUNGALOW
Furniture, Lighting, Rugs & Accents for Today's Handcrafted Home.
2594 South Colorado Blvd. • Denver, CO 80222
303-300-3332 • www.ModernBungalow.com

Victorian Style Hardware & Lighting
www.HOAH.biz

HOUSE OF ANTIQUE HARDWARE

Go Beyond Granite

“Soapstone is all we do. Trust us for an expert installation and guaranteed results. Give me a call.”
Glenn Bowman, Owner

Vermont Soapstone Co.
Since 1856
Get started at VermontSoapstone.com 800-284-5404

SOAPSTONE • CUSTOM DESIGN • FABRICATION • INSTALLATION • SATISFACTION
Rafter Crossing

Build a pergola to your specs with architectural details such as lintels, dentil work, and projecting rafter tails in two grades of Western red cedar. Pricing for a 10' x 10' free-standing garden room begins at about $5,900. From Baldwin Pergolas, (800) 344-5103, baldwinpergolas.com

Six-Sided Lamp

Jim Webb's stoneware lamps are hand-built using the slab construction technique. Each is incised with decorative reliefs, fired twice, and signed and numbered. The 20"-high six-sided lamp has a hand-trimmed 19" mica shade. It sells for $1,250. From Studio 233, (609) 466-2064, studio-233.com

Wallpaper Willow

A fresh take on a classic and historical motif, Willow is printed in VOC-free inks on FSC-certified paper. Colors are customizable. The full repeat requires both A and B panels; a complete two-roll set is $270. From The Detroit Wallpaper Co., (877) 544-1054, detroitwallpaper.com
Make Mine a Double

Why settle for one screen door when two make an entrance? A pair in the Old Fashion style in African mahogany with a center astragal and copper screening is $1,363, exclusive of hardware. Storm inserts are also available. From Yesteryear's Vintage Doors, (800) 787-2001, vintagedoors.com

Imperfect Beauty

Complete an exterior window restoration with Old Style Window Glass, with its trademark wavy appearance. Sheets are available in sizes up to 36" x 52", and insulated glass and UV protection are options. A box of five 30" x 40" sheets costs $340 to $384. From AGW Glass, (410) 366-0300, agwglass.com

Doors, Windows & More

Architectural Screening

Custom-build a screen door in any architectural style with interchangeable insets, trim frames, and screen/glass panels. The price for a similar painted door (upper and lower architectural inserts, trim frames, screen/glass panels, hinges, with a dummy handle) is about $875. From Vixen Hill, (800) 423-2766, vixenhill.com

Portal for a Castle

The custom-designed arched plank door in rustic alder is trimmed with blacksmith-made hammered leaf strap hinges, operable speakeasy grille, and the Ashley entry set. As shown, it's about $5,500. From Real Carriage Door Co., (800) 694-5977, realcarriagedoors.com
Vintage Dogs
The lag-mounted Vintage Grape "shutter dogs" (which hold shutters open) are made of black powder-coated cast iron. Lag mounting allows complete flexibility in mounting location, whether the surface is wood, brick, or stone. A 5" pair is $33. From Timberlane, (800) 250-2221, timberlane.com

Shades of the Past
The new Denim awning fabrics in nostalgic stripes and flecked solids are summer-perfect. Water- and UV-resistant colors include (top to bottom): Crest Denim, Tresco Indigo, Crest Ash, Motive Denim, and Smoke. For a local awning fabricator, contact Sunbrella, (336) 221-2211, sunbrella.com

Mahogany Lookalike
The Canyon Ridge Collection Limited Edition Series garage door is constructed of insulated steel trimmed with mahogany cladding and overlays for the look of real wood. With optional decorative handles and spear strap hinges, the installed price for one carriage-house-style door is $4,550. From Clopay, (800) 225-6729, clopaydoor.com

Gingerbread Corners
Well-suited to a home built in 1871, the Charleston double screen doors are hand-built in mahogany. Details include fretwork corner brackets and spindled middle rails. With a T-mold astragal, they’re $2,271. Add $155 per door for glass. From Touchstone Woodworks, (330) 297-1313, touchstonewoodworks.com

For Tropical Climes
Bahama shutters are not only rated to withstand hurricane force storms, but also feature a camelback locking system and meet stricter Florida building codes. Prices begin at $500 per shutter; storm-rated versions are more. From Atlantic Premium Shutters, (866) 288-2726, atlanticpremiumshutters.com
Flowing and Organic

With a shape patterned after the flow of water itself, the Mystic Organic under-mount sink in 16-gauge copper measures 28" long x 12½" wide x 4½" deep. Equipped with sound-deadening pads, it retails for $2,574 in the antique hammered finish. From Elkay, (877) 293-5529, elkayusa.com

Farmhouse Fireclay

This farmhouse-style, apron-front sink has an offset drain placement to free up under-counter space. The fireclay bowl measures 29¼" long x 18" wide x 10" deep. Available in white or bisque, it retails for $1,500. From Nantucket Sinks, (646) 216-8532, nantucketsinks.com

The Kitchen Sink

Silver Survivor

A 1912 L. Wolff German-silver pantry sink with original drainboards, legs, and stoppers is a rare find. The nickel-plated copper sink measures 90½" long x 26" deep x 32" high. Basins are 24" x 16". The original legs have been replated in nickel. The antique sink sells for $14,500. From Bathroom Machineries, (800) 255-4426, deabath.com

I'll Take Manhattan

Perfect as a bar, pantry, or prep sink, the crisply linear Manhattan sink is made of hand-hammered 16-gauge recycled copper. It measures 15" wide x 17" long x 7" deep and uses a 3½" drain. In the antique finish, it’s $1,288. From Native Trails, (800) 786-0862, nativetrails.net

Worn But New

The bow/slant-front soapstone sink has unique scooping on the apron that gives it the appearance of great age. It’s available in sizes from 27" to 42" wide. A 30"-wide sink measuring 10" deep with radiused interior corners sells for $2,150. From Bucks County Soapstone, (215) 249-8181, buckscountysoapstone.com
Yesterday Meets Today At Restoration.com

The Collection
- Door Hardware
- Hinges
- Screen Hardware
- Cabinet & Furniture
- Window Hardware
- Hooks
- Electrical Hardware
- Exclusive Items
- Custom Reproductions

Save $5 with Promo Code OH013

NATURE'S FINEST GENUINE SLATE

PRODUCERS OF SLATE FLOOR TILE, FLAGGING, STRUCTURAL SLATE AND ROOFING, MONUMENTS AND SLATE SINKS

Family-owned business with four generations of experience

Monson, Maine 207.997.3615 | Middle Granville, New York 518.642.1280

SheldonSlate.com
PROFILE

An obsession with historical millwork might seem like an odd path to success, but Brent Hull has turned it into one. He dates his fascination with period moldings and millwork to a two-year program in preservation carpentry at the prestigious North Bennet Street School in Boston. When Hull first heard about it after college, he was intrigued at the idea of becoming a true craftsman. “That was really appealing to me,” he says. “I remember writing in my journal that I didn’t want to be a jack of all trades and a master of none.”

Since starting his millworks business in his brother’s garage in 1993, it and its sister company, Hull Homes, have restored or completely rebuilt dozens of historic courthouses, schools, and depots in Texas, and restored and built homes in historical styles. Brent’s company is the exclusive licensee for the architectural interiors of Winterthur in Wilmington, Delaware. Hull has written two books on historical millwork and interior design and is a sought-after speaker. In 2012, the North Bennet Street School honored him with its Distinguished Alumni Award.

The courthouse restoration work not only launched his business, but also kept it going during lean times. Faced with re-creating missing millwork from these late 19th- and early 20th-century buildings, Hull began to collect old millwork catalogs. They were essential not only for replicating moldings, but also for dating them. He turned his newfound knowledge into an instant classic for woodworkers and preservationists when Historic Millwork was published in 2003.

His second book, Traditional American Rooms, resulted after Winterthur invited his firm to document rooms at the 175-room estate, and to enter into a licensee agreement to re-create them in other settings.

A new venture, the Brent Hull Signature Collection, is a set of period-inspired, handmade and -carved accessories he designed based on neoclassical architecture.

THE BRENT HULL COMPANIES. (817) 332-1495, brenthullcompanies.com

OPEN HOUSE

Still gracious at 105, the Gamble House in Pasadena is the ne plus ultra of the Ultimate Bungalows designed by brothers Charles Sumner and Henry Mather Greene. Built as a retirement retreat for David and Mary Gamble of the Procter & Gamble Company in 1908, the National Landmark is opulent yet livable in a quintessential California way.

Much of the graceful, Japanese-inspired interior woodwork and furniture was made by brothers Peter and John Hall, Swedish immigrants and superb craftsmen who had worked on such previous Greene & Greene homes as the Blacker House. The tree-of-life motif rugs in the living room are the only ones known to have been designed by Charles Greene.

Upstairs, bedroom furnishings are not overtly decorative, but the subtlety is deceptive. A chiffonier made by the Hall workshop, for example, is constructed of walnut, oak, and ebony with inlays of lapis lazuli, turquoise, and malachite. Despite their modesty, the rooms are true retreats: There are three sleeping porches.

Gamble House is the only one by Greene & Greene regularly open for tours (Thursday–Sunday, with special tours by appointment). Gamble House, 4 Westmoreland Pl., Pasadena, CA, (626) 793-3334, gamblehouse.org
Our newest wallpaper collection featuring leafy vinework bordered by flowers... hand-printed in a palette of sage, soft blue, cream, russet and shimmering gold.

Samples available at www.bradbury.com or call 707.746.1900
DON'T MISS

Bungalows Inside and Out
Three talks that explore Arts & Crafts, furniture, architecture, and paint colors are planned for a single afternoon, September 14, in Seattle. First up, Arts & Crafts collector W. Michael McCracken (author of The Manufacture of Arts & Crafts Furniture by Gustav Stickley) will lecture on how the Stickley firm worked, based on his research of company business records housed in the Winterthur library. He discusses what “handmade” meant in the early 1900s and how Stickley’s designs evolved to reduce the cost of production; how he modified his finishes; the process of fuming; and coloring, coating, and more.

He’ll be followed by architectural historian Colin Barr, who will speak on E.E. Green, a bungalow architect who worked primarily in Washington and British Columbia. The lecture will include a show of choice examples of the architect’s work in the Pacific Northwest.

In the concluding talk, Barbara Pierce and C.J. Hurley will present practical information on the importance of understanding architecture and the proper placement of color for exterior painting.

All talks will take place from 1–4 p.m. at the Good Shepherd Center. The cost for three lectures and refreshments is $45, with discounts for Historic Seattle members. (206) 622-6952, historicseattle.org

Michael McCracken, author of The Manufacture of Arts & Crafts Furniture by Gustav Stickley, will speak in Seattle.

- “SYLVESTER MANOR: LAND, FOOD, AND POWER ON A NEW YORK PLANTATION,” through July 15, Bobst Library, New York University, 70 Washington Square South, New York, NY. An exhibition of documents from the long history of a Georgian plantation house that once covered all of Shelter Island. (212) 998-2500, nyu.edu/library/bobst/research/fales. Visits to the manor house on Shelter Island by arrangement: (631) 748-0626, sylvestermanor.org

- KUTZTOWN FOLK FESTIVAL, June 29–July 7, Kutztown, PA. The oldest folk life festival in America is a celebration of Pennsylvania Dutch culture. (888) 674-6136, kutztownfestival.com

- BRIMFIELD ANTIQUE SHOW, July 9–14, Brimfield, MA. It’s a picker’s paradise as thousands of antique dealers stretch along Route 20 in America’s best-known outdoor show. Arrive early. brimfieldshow.com

- A NEW LOOK AT NEW ENGLAND ICONS, July 11, Gov. John Langdon House, Portsmouth, NH. Bruce Irving, former producer of This Old House and author of New England Icons, will offer a fresh take on the familiar features that define the New England landscape. (603) 436-3205, historicnewengland.org

- BEHIND THE SCENES: HARD HAT TOUR, July 13, Roseland Cottage, Woodstock, CT. Tour features an up-close look at the new roof replacement project, plus a chance to explore attics, cellars, back stairways, and servants’ quarters. (860) 928-4074, historicnewengland.org

- WINTERS HOUSE TOUR, July 27, Bellevue, WA. Tour of the 1920s Spanish Colonial Revival home of Frederick and Cecilia Winters. Co-sponsored by the Eastern Heritage Center and Historic Seattle, (206) 622-6952, historicseattle.org

- “THE PROGRESSIVE PENCIL: GEORGE ELMSLIE’S PRAIRIE SCHOOL DESIGNS,” through Aug. 26, Minneapolis Institute of Art, Minneapolis, MN. Exhibition features rarely seen studies for architecture firms Purcell, Feick, and Elmslie (1910–13) and Purcell and Elmslie (1913–21), including sketches for the Purcell–Cuts House, which celebrates its 100th anniversary this year. (888) 642-2787, arts Mia.org

- CENTER FOR ART & EDUCATION OPENING, Aug. 18, Shelburne Museum, Shelburne, VT. The new center makes it possible for the museum to offer an expanded range of exhibitions and new programming, and to operate year-round. (802) 988-3346, shelburnemuseum.org

Edward Hopper’s “House by the Railroad” (1928) inspired the Bates house in the Alfred Hitchcock film Psycho (1960).
Our Subway Mosaics collection features historic and made-to-order unglazed porcelain, marble, and Victorian geometric mosaics, to restore the distinctive charm of tilework in the period home.

Preserving Our Tile Heritage

Order Samples Online

www.heritagetile.com

---

We are proud to offer you over 40 years of excellence in the Wrought Iron and Decorative Iron Market place. Custom made products and fabrication is our specialty.

We have no minimum orders. You can call us toll free 1-866-464-4766 or order online and receive free shipping, check online for details.

Custom Ornamental Iron Works has an extensive large inventory. Our leading edge is that we WILL have the product in stock for your home finishing needs.

Call us today or visit us online at www.customironworks.com
OVER THE YEARS, architect John Malick and his wife, Sue, have seen their house evolve. With an empty nest, they decided to absorb two former bedrooms into a larger kitchen—without changing the footprint. The 50-year-old house sat on a narrow lot in Piedmont, California; buying the adjacent lot allowed them to plan outdoor space at the rear. Now the breakfast room opens to a lawn and garden. The new kitchen is generous—over 10' x 16', and filled with light.

In renovating the house, Malick leaned toward an eclectic British Edwardian style, and the kitchen is in the same vein. The work of C.F.A. Voysey and other designers of the period inspired moldings and the gently arched openings. The layout, which is balanced but not strictly symmetrical, is organized around a central island. The green-painted cabinets and stile-and-rail paneling that covers wall surfaces...
Custom Details. Period Accuracy.

Heartwood
Fine Windows and Doors
1794 Lyell Avenue • Rochester, NY 14606 • 800-321-8199
WWW.HeartwoodWindowsandDoors.com

Curtains & Roller Shades
Old fashioned window treatments stenciled or plain, in many colors & fabrics. Styles for Arts & Crafts, Victorian & 18th Century homes & early industrial. New fabrics & designs. Please view our large textile collection & our new free downloads and booklets on line.
Ann Wallace • 215-614-1757 • www.annwallace.com

Victorian Lighting Works
P.O. Box 469
251 S. Pennsylvania Ave
Centre Hall, PA 16828
814-364-9577
VLWORKS.COM

We Make History
2029 Magazine Street
New Orleans, LA 70130
WWW.DERBYPOTTERY.COM
Refrigerator, farm sink, and range form the work triangle, while the large center island functions as a prep area. The island holds a small sink, two dishwasher drawers, and an under-counter microwave oven.
plays against the lawn and hedges seen through windows on three sides of the room.

“I get a lot of inquiries about the paint color,” Malick says. “The green was custom-mixed on site; its depth makes it highly responsive to light.” In neutral light, he says, it’s a subtle mint color; indoor lighting warms it. The room is further brightened by light reflected off the Calacatta marble used for countertops, steps, and stove hood. Underfoot, concrete floor tiles cast from an antique arabesque pattern add movement.

Each window is framed by casework that extends to the countertop. Recessed down lights are concealed behind arches, both over the sink and highlighting clerestory windows above cabinets. In a shallow nook just outside the busy work triangle, a built-in desk overlooks the garden, flanked by shelves for cookbooks. A large opening next to the desk connects the kitchen to the breakfast and family room.
Landscape lighting starts at the front door, and extends to garden paths, garage, and driveway.

Lighting for PORCH & PATIO

THE FRONT ENTRY is the focal point for a collected suite that extends to the porch, garage, walks, paths, driveway, and back door. Period-style choices run from authentic colonial tin and seed-glass lanterns to mid-century modern sconces in aluminum and frosted glass. You don’t necessarily have to choose fixtures from the same suite, but each selection should be related to the others in terms of overall style, metals, and finishes.

THE DOOR A pendant or pair of sconces at the front door should be the grandest fixtures on the façade. A common mistake, many experts say, is choosing fixtures that are too small. Sconces should be roughly 20 to 25 percent of the door

RIGHT: Utilitarian outdoor fixtures look appropriate almost anywhere: this is Rejuvenation’s ‘Carson.’

TOP LEFT: Post lamps were popular for centuries (‘Philadelphia’ from Scofield).

TOP RIGHT: Low bell lights add atmosphere and safety to terraced steps.
Hang Rejuvenation's 'Morris' either as an over-the-door pendant, or as wall brackets on either side of the entry (photo, far right).

The 'La Traviata' sconce from Aldo Bernardi works well solo or in a series. Patterned on an 18th-century lantern from Historic Deerfield, the 'New England Sconce' from Scofield Lighting is scaled for a smaller entry.

ABOVE: The 'La Traviata' sconce from Aldo Bernardi works well solo or in a series. CENTER: Patterned on an 18th-century lantern from Historic Deerfield, the 'New England Sconce' from Scofield Lighting is scaled for a smaller entry.

height (up to 24" for an 8' door). If you've chosen just a single dramatic sconce, mount it on the same side as the doorknob and lock for visibility and safety. Mount lights slightly above average eye height, between 5'6" and 6' above the threshold.

Single overhead or pendant lights work especially well for tall or double doors under a covered entry. With a statement pendant, go bigger—up to 30 percent of the door height or a little more. For a grand 12'-high door, that means choosing a pendant 42" to 48" high, and perhaps as much in diameter, especially if the entry is double. Consider a back door light slightly smaller in scale but in the same style as the front.

Sconces on either side of glass or French doors keeps them from looking like empty mirrors at night.

DECK & PATIO Use footlights (installed at about knee height) for a subtle, low-impact look that still helps you see where you're going. Compact and usually shielded by cups or mini overhangs so light isn't directed upward, they tuck unobtrusively against walls, columns, or posts.

GARAGE If the garage is attached, take care that any lighting is secondary to the lighting at the front door in terms of scale and impact. Because single garages are nearly as wide as they are tall, paired brackets near the top on either side are symmetrical as well as useful. For separate garages, you have leeway to install a larger, projecting fixture, like an industrial gooseneck style, over the top at the center. For double garages, use multiples—say, three goosenecks or down brackets. The more bays, the more care should be taken to keep lighting ABOVE: At 24" to 30" high, path lights like the period-inspired 'Tiffany' 12-volt design from Progress Lighting are ideal for varied terrain.

RIGHT: Lighting emphasizes house style, as over this Mission door.

LEFT: The 'Heal' from Northeast Lantern can be configured as a wall bracket with or without a scroll arm, or as a pendant or post mount.

BELOW: Arroyo Craftsman's Prairie style 'Oak Park' column-mount light beckons with a verdigris patina.

Porcelain and garage alike benefit from the 'Carson,' an industrial-style lamp from Rejuvenation that can look Victorian or modern.

PORCH & PATIO LIGHTING SOURCES
- AK EXTERIORS akeexteriors.com, Cast aluminum™
- ALDO BERNARDI carololier.com, Porch, post, path in brass/copper
- ARROYO CRAFTSMAN LIGHTING arroyocraftsman.com, California, A&C, Asian-inspired
- AUTHENTIC DESIGNS COLONIAL LIGHTING authenticdesigns.com, Early American lanterns, sconces
- BARN LIGHT ELECTRIC barnlightelectric.com, Barn, sign, gooseneck, etc.
- THE BRIGHT SPOT thebrightspot.com, All styles
- CAPE COD LANTERNS capecodlanterns.com, Early and utilitarian
- COE STUDIOS coestudios.com, Bronze garden and entry lights
- CHARLESTON GAS LIGHT charlestongaslight.com, Historic lantern designs for gas or electric
- THE COPPER HOUSE thecopperhouse.com, Copper and brass
- DAHLHAUS dahlaus-lighting.com, Custom European vintage styles
- FILAMENT VINTAGE LIGHTING filamentvintagelighting.com, Authentic storybook, black iron, A&C lanterns
- FMG DESIGNS fmgdesigns.com, Original...
TONE IT DOWN

More communities are passing “dark sky” ordinances. Here are tips to keep lights on low without sacrificing style or function.

- Use compact fluorescents (CFLs) to save energy, but disguise them in a period-friendly way by trimming fixtures with seeded, frosted, translucent, or art glass.
- Instead of using a brighter bulb in a too-small fixture, replace it with a larger fixture that makes the most of a low-wattage bulb. To light a large area, install two or three lights with low-wattage bulbs.
- Shield or direct light downward to minimize glare and light pollution. (Path lights and footlights work best when facing downward, as does much ambient lighting.)
- Use architectural lighting with deep overhangs to minimize the amount of light cast skyward.

functional without creating a neighborhood light show.

PATH Post lights are traditional, but a single tall light can cast shadows that leave parts of the walk in darkness. Consider using two or more posts, or a series of lights. Space path lights 3' to 6' apart. Low-voltage fixtures run off a transformer that plugs into a standard wall outlet. Solar-powered lights tend to be cheaper, but many require long pre-charging times (12 hours of initial solar exposure, for example). Hard-wired systems go just about anywhere: along walls, at ground level, or mounted on a column. They’re also a good choice for decks and patios.
TRADITIONAL BUILDING CONFERENCE SERIES

2013 Series Locations

April 3-4 Norwalk, CT
The Lockwood-Mathews Mansion & Museum

May 21-22 Washington, DC
Windows Conference

September 19-20 Chicago, IL

November 6-7 Los Angeles, CA

To Register Call:
Carolyn Walsh 781.779.1560
cwalsh@restoremedia.com

Education Inquiries:
Judy Hayward 802.674.6752
jhayward@restoremedia.com

Sponsorship Inquiries:
Peter H. Miller 202.339.0744
pmiller@restoremedia.com

The Traditional Building Conference Series is made possible by the generous support of our sponsors:

Gold
Marvin Windows
Historical Arts & Casting
Timberlane

Silver
Ludowici
Allied Window
Crown Point Cabinetry
HBG Companies
John Canning Studios
Artisans DuBois
Wiemann Iron

Bronze
ESCA Special Clean
The Unico System
Crittall Windows
Kepco+

Register Now! www.traditionalbuildingshow.com
MAKE NO MISTAKE: This is a particularly American house style, despite associations with a French architect and emperor. Built of brick or wood, lavishly detailed (and sometimes not)—their defining roofs made convex, concave, S-shaped, flared—Mansard houses have the freewheeling eclecticism of the other Victorian styles. The style was wildly popular for two decades, then derided during political scandal as “the General Grant style.” For a while it was maligned as an architectural perversion, (remember the Bates home in Psycho?). But, once again, the Mansard house in a beloved symbol of American exuberance.

the HALLMARKS

- MANSARD ROOF The steeply pitched roof capping the building is the single defining feature of American houses, which may or may not have typically French elements.
- HOODED DORMERS Shallow projecting windows in the roof increase light and space in the attic story.
- HEAVY CORNICE Strong, projecting cornices with brackets beneath are emblematic of this neoclassical style; cornices are similar to those on Italianate houses.
- TALL WINDOWS that have a vertical emphasis, particularly on the first story, and are often topped with arches or embellished hoods.
- SIDE PORCH OR VERANDAH The 19th century was the era of the porch, so expect to see a front portico, full-width verandah, or side porch on these houses, often with Renaissance or Gothic detailing.
- FORMAL DETAILS like patterned roofs of slate shingles, and iron roof cresting, were part of the ostentation. Look for carved brackets, prominent corner boards, millwork in bays, etc.
- CLASSICAL DETAILS in Italian Renaissance style: columns, pediments, modillions, segmental arches.

It is the steep, flat-topped mansard roof that defines a Second Empire house; the tower is a common flourish. Domestic examples are often very similar to the Italian styles. Look for hooded windows, bays, arched porches, double doors, and strong cornices.

1855–85
Eaves supported by heavily carved brackets, round-top windows, corner quions, and an American porch: However Italianate it may sound, we call it Second Empire if it has a mansard roof. Double-pitched (nearly flat on top with a steep slope below), the mansard roof in America might be straight, convex or concave, or ogee. Slate tiles and iron creasting mark the proudest examples.

The style became popular in mid-19th-century France, when Emperor Napoleon III, whose reign was known as the Second Empire, rebuilt Paris. The characteristic roof type was, however, based on work by the 17th-century French architect François Mansart. Paris expositions held in 1855 and 1867 spread the new style to Germany, Italy, and England, especially for large public buildings. In America the style was favored for residential construction.

Newport’s Chateau sur Mer (1852) was probably the first Second Empire residence here; after its update by Richard Morris Hunt, it was the most lavish. Stylish interiors were not necessarily of a piece with the façade. Hunt favored the turned oak spindles and stylized carving championed by English tastemaker Charles Eastlake; bedrooms were in the English Aesthetic Movement taste.

Alas, it was a time of political scandal—and, by 1873, financial set-backs. The fashionable French style was derided. As late as the 1960s, it was associated with Victorian ugliness and shadowy characters. Today, though, it shares the popularity of the beloved Queen Anne style that superseded it.

*30. Julevauxzol3  KENNETA NAVERTON  BRIAN VANDEN BRINK (TOP CENTER)  MANSARD  */
inside SECOND EMPIRE

Are these houses French? No! They are most decidedly American—of wood or stone, with Italianate windows or Gothic ornament—built in boom towns from Portland, Maine, to Port Townsend, Washington. Look for guidance from (1) date: an 1862 house will be different from an 1880s house; (2) details: fireplace mantels and staircases are overt with style; and (3) degree of fancy: grand Second Empire houses are among the most ostentatious in our history.

Many mansard-roofed houses are, however, hardly more than cottages. • Second Empire was popular for residences for only 20 years, but what a swirling eclecticism those years saw! From Rococo and Louis XV, to Renaissance Revival during the 1870s, to Queen Anne and Aesthetic in the '80s and back again to the Rococo, here's the Victorian era at a glance. For houses built during the 1860s think étagère, that carved whatnot shelf in dark walnut, mahogany, or rosewood. The furniture is the style. (Heavy neoclassical or Empire furniture was acceptable, the Gothic a continuing vogue.) Renaissance Revival was the interior style of choice after 1860 and until 1890. But the Rococo did not disappear, especially for wealthy decorators. • Vilified as the "General Grant style" by the 1880s, Mansard houses were still being built, but by then the Queen Anne Revival, Japonisme, and the Aesthetic Movement were familiar.

THE TOWER HOUSE accounts for about a third of American Mansards. Most often the tower is centered on the facade, but a suburban variant places it in the ell formed by the intersection of the main body with a wing (as here). The tower may be a full five stories tall—or merely suggested by a center projection.

MANSARD COTTAGE seems a fitting name for the vernacular form shown here, common in pockets around the Northeast. With its lofty associations to new fortune, ostentation, bold details, and height, "Second Empire" seems too big a label for working-men's houses like these.

ROW HOUSES in the Second Empire style dominated city building in the 1860s and 1870s. The mansard roof is well suited to row houses, because the upper floor is hidden in the roof, lessening the apparent height. Details were derived from classical buildings of the French Renaissance, or were Italianate.
Pittsburgh, Pa. BY BRIAN D. COLEMAN

Pittsburgh is a river city with a skyline reflecting its history; St. John the Baptist Ukrainian Catholic Church is on the South Side flats. LEFT: Victorian row houses in the large Mexican War Streets Historic District, in the Central Northside neighborhood. RIGHT: The Allegheny County Courthouse, completed in 1888.

Thirty years ago it was the capital of the Rust Belt as the steel industry continued its decline. Today, however, Pittsburgh is rated as one of America's most livable cities. It is spectacularly set at the confluence of the Allegheny and Monongahela Rivers. Pittsburgh was founded in 1758 and named for Prime Minister William Pitt. Andrew Carnegie began producing steel here in 1875, and the rest is history; by 1911 Pittsburgh was making half the nation's steel, and millionaires including Carnegie, Henry Clay Frick, and Thomas Mellon called the Steel City home. Diverse neighborhoods today retain their individual character; you'll find streets lined with working-class row houses, as well as tree-lined avenues studded with opulent mansions.

Stay at one of the historic hotels downtown—which is called the Golden Triangle for its shape between the rivers. The Renaissance Pittsburgh Hotel is in the historic Fulton Building; the Omni William Penn, built in 1916, is on the National Register. (Its restored 1920s Speakeasy is tucked under the main lobby.) See the Allegheny County Courthouse, designed by H.H. Richardson, and the Bridge of Sighs, which mimics the original in Venice and was used to bring prisoners from the courthouse to jail. Grab lunch at Meat and Potatoes (649 Penn Ave.), located in the 14-square-block Cultural District.

The North Side (Allegheny West) was once the separate town of Allegheny before merging with Pittsburgh in 1906. Drive along North Lincoln Avenue and Brighton Road to see some of the grandest Victorian brick homes. You might catch a Steelers game at Heinz Field. Then go to the (Pittsburgh-born) Andy Warhol Museum (warhol.org), the National Aviary (aviary.com), and the Mattress Factory Installation Museum (mattress.org).

Across town is the South Side, once a neighborhood of modest millworkers' homes and now one of the most popular and affordable areas of the city. Park on East Carson Street to find a wide diversity of stores and ethnic restaurants among Victorian storefronts.

Plan an enjoyable afternoon in the East End. The Shadyside neighborhood along Ellsworth Avenue and Walnut Street, and the Squirrel Hill neighborhood along Murray and Fifth Avenues, are filled with grand homes of the late 19th and early 20th centuries. Carnegie Mellon and the University of Pittsburgh are located in the Oakland neighborhood, along with many cultural institutions you can visit: the Carnegie Museum of Art (cmoa.org) with its Hall of Architecture; the Carnegie Museum of Natural History (carnegiemh.org) is in the same building. Leave time for the nearby Phipps Conservatory (phipps.conservatory.org). Clayton is the opulent chateau built industrialist Henry Clay Frick, and is now part of the five-acre Frick Art and Historical Center (thefrickpittsburgh.org) in the Point Breeze neighborhood.

A good half-day trip is the 43-mile drive to Laurel Highlands, from where you can visit three of Frank Lloyd Wright's famous houses: Fallingwater, Kentuck Knob, and the Duncan House. +

Our thanks to Kristin Mitchell at Visit Pittsburgh.

---

local lore

- Pittsburgh still has its own dialect—called Pittsburghese—which is based on its unique mix of Eastern European, Scots-Irish, Welsh, and German immigrants. City natives are referred as "Yinzers" (from "yinz," a local form of "you all").
- Sometimes called the Paris of Appalachia, Pittsburgh is at the convergence of three U.S. regions: Northeast, Midwest, and the South. The city exhibits cultural influences of all three.
- Pittsburgh is also the City of Bridges: With 446 of them, it has three more than Venice, Italy!
For Porch & Patio

Outdoor furniture has a long and fashionable history. George Washington routinely left a collection of painted Windsor chairs outside at Mount Vernon. Cast-iron table sets with lacy Rococo fins and leaves graced Victorian gardens as early as the 1850s, followed by novelty wire furniture like the courting bench. Rustic branch and bark settees appealed to those roughing it at Adirondack Great Camps in the 1890s, and there were even versions in cast concrete. The now ubiquitous Adirondack chair was patented as the Westport in 1905. Cushioned wicker easy chairs, rockers, and sofas were wildly popular for porches in the 1920s and beyond. In the 1940s and '50s, colorful metal chairs and gliders were a hit with suburbanites, who often added cushions decked in tropical-themed fabrics.

Most of these outdoor furniture types are not only still available, they’re made of materials that can be both period sympathetic and weather-resistant. Take the Windsor chair from Charleston Gardens. Painted in bright colors, the proportions look correct, but surprise—it’s made of aluminum. Good facsimiles of Victorian cast iron, with its characteristic pierced cutouts and foliage, are now made of either powder-coated aluminum or resin. (Finishes mimic the classic white or verdigris green of Victorian cast iron.) Wire benches and bistro sets are factory woven of lightweight aluminum, steel, or other metals. Better ones are zinc-coated to prevent rust, then painted with powder-coated finishes.

Outdoor furniture in the rustic steam-bent twig and bark style continues to thrive in the styles famous from the Adirondacks and Pacific Northwest, although the makers are more likely to be based in Midwest Amish country than in the Northeast. A few companies, notably Old Hickory Furniture, are still making the classic woven-back

LEFT: A take on Adirondack, Tim Celeski’s Limbert-inspired ‘Leschi’ chairs feature sliding tapered dovetail and mortise-and-tenon joints. TOP LEFT: Wicker furniture from Lloyd Flanders’ ‘Nantucket’ series retains all the character of 1920s originals and is weather-resistant, too. TOP RIGHT: Glide and bounce on this vintage-style lawn suite from Country Door.
Modern Moves Outdoors

Upholstered outdoor furniture has come a long way since the era of plasticized cushions. Recalling those old tropical patterns is a new collaboration from Robert Allen Design and DwellStudio, called Modern Bungalow, which has the bold patterns and bright colors of bark cloth and mid-century textiles. More big news is in upholstered furniture made for outdoors. Sectionals from Room & Board, for instance, look like indoor versions, but they’re fully weather-proof. Like three-season wicker, the furniture should be brought indoors for long stretches of inclement weather. (The ‘Brisbane,’ a modern design, is built from marine-grade wood and uses barrier-wrapped foam cushions finished in water- and UV-resistant fabrics.) Cassina has reinterpreted Le Corbusier’s iconic LC3 chair for outdoors. The trademark exterior frame is hand-polished stainless steel that will develop a patina; cushions are wrapped in a quick-drying biodegradable hollow fiber, then covered in waterproof Sunbrella. Chairs are signed and numbered.

branch-and-twig rockers and settees that grace the porches of historic inns and National Park lodges. Amazingly, another peculiar style from more than a century ago—faux bois—is also available in both rustic and English wood bench styles. The furniture looks like it’s made of rustic branches or cut millwork, but is actually concrete cast over a steel frame.

The ever-popular Adirondack chair comes in both new and traditional materials, and at all price points. Superior versions in wood are made from durable hardwoods with rust-resistant fasteners. The best painted versions are finished in weather- and UV-resistant paint, preferably marine grade. All-weather Adirondack chairs, tables, and accessory pieces built from recycled plastic can cost more than good-quality wood versions, especially if a designer appellation is attached. At the high end, furniture artisans create their own signature interpretations in long-lived tropical woods like mahogany or teak.

Another perennial favorite, wicker, has been evolving almost from the moment the first reed chairs were fashioned on bentwood frames in the 19th century. The trouble with early wicker was its vulnerability to rain, but when Lloyd Looms perfected a weatherproof wicker from strands of high-tensile wire wrapped with kraft paper in the 1920s, wicker really took off. Today wicker can be made from all-natural materials like plant fibers and wood canes, from synthetics, or a mixture of the two. Some wicker furniture is suitable only for sheltered locations like deep porches. Three-season wicker goes al fresco except in winter. True weatherproof wicker can stay outdoors indefinitely.

One of the great appeals of many types of porch and patio furniture is its ability to move, as a rocker, glider, or swing. Metal chairs made of tubular steel popularized in the 1940s could bounce as well as glide, making up for the stiffness of the seat. Larger gliders—metal sofas with fanciful cut-outs to allow rain to weep out—easily accommodate cushy upholstery for a truly comfortable porch retreat. Swings are still made from almost any material, from wood and metal to canvas and rope. And let’s not forget that camp basic, the hammock, which has been updated with soft-spun polyester webbing that feels like cotton and also comes in waterproof fabrics in stripes and solids.
Unique, authentic, period-style building products direct from the suppliers who make them.

REX, a new e-commerce website, will go LIVE early in 2013. It serves the 700,000 building and design professionals and enthusiasts who are already researching period style building products via Old House Journal; Arts and Crafts Homes and Period Home’s websites. REX makes it easy to buy direct.

search, compare, price, purchase.

www.RexSellsDirect.com
AMERICANA
PORCH SHADES
For the Great American SUN PARLOR.
Quality wooden shades from original design, manufactured to your dimensions
FREE BROCHURE • AUTHENTIC DESIGN
800-269-5697 • www.shutterblinds.com

The Craftsman/Prairie Palette
from Olde Century Colors
14 colors of our 36 color palette for your bungalow, craftsman or prairie style home

Olde Century Colors, Inc.
54020 Andrews Ave.
New Carlisle, IN 46552
600-222-3052

Olde Century Colors (Canada)
Elmira, Ontario
Canada N3D 2C7
866-709-7087

www.oldecenturycolors.com

American Restoration Tile
Manufacturer of Custom Historical Tile

1" HEXAGON - 3/4" SQUARE
SUBWAY TILES
BASKETWEAVE - SPIRAL
ALL OTHER HISTORICAL SIZES
WWW.RESTORATIONTILE.COM
(501) 455.1000

Victorian Lighting Inc.
Why buy a copy when you can own the original?
Chandeliers, Sconces, Lamps etc. from 1840–1930
Route 1 South | Kennebunk, Maine
207-985-6868 | victorianlightinginc.com
RUSTIC CABIN AT HORSEHEAD BAY
A 1930s cabin of fieldstone and logs becomes the year-round home for the great-grandson of its builder. (page 40)

UNPREDICTABLE HOUSE LOVE
A sunken living room with nautical rails sets the tone in a 1948 ranch. (page 48)

GARDENS AT STONE ACRES
Once a provisions farm and later planted with gardens, this property dates to 1765, and it’s still in the family. (page 58)

METAL AT THE ENTRY
Here are 10 ways (and 28 great sources) to help you upgrade the front door in style—whether that’s colonial or modern. (page 56)
AMES MURRAY COLMAN left Scotland in 1865, making his way across the American continent to its northwest coast. The trained engineer found work in logging mills and spent time exploring the coastline in his canoe. In 1900, he acquired several thousand feet of waterfront in Horsehead Bay, a series of three sheltered coves south of Seattle. Colman loved the sweeping views of the water and the Olympic Mountains, returning every summer to camp with his family. The land was passed down; in 1937, Colman’s granddaughter, Isabel Colman Pierce, built a cabin on the beach.

The simple structure was designed by the well-known architect William Aitken in the rustic vernacular, of fieldstone and logs cut from the surrounding forests. The interior featured board-and-batten walls colored pale with milk paint. Long expanses of mulioned windows faced the rocky coastline and the blue-gray water of the sound.

This remained the family’s gathering place for the next half-century. In 1998, Colman’s great-grandson Jack Pierce and his wife, Leilia, decided to make the cabin their retirement home—and to preserve it for their children and grandchildren. They faced a major restoration effort. Maintenance had been minimal, and the damp climate had taken its toll. The log and cedar-shake exterior, discolored with mold and mildew, was rotting, and parts of the floor were in danger of collapse. The fieldstone fireplace had been damaged by water; walls had no insulation; the kitchen—with yellow-painted cabinets and blue countertops—was cramped and dated. A pot-bellied stove, used to burn trash, took up one corner.
BY BRIAN D. COLEMAN | PHOTOGRAPHS BY WILLIAM WRIGHT

HORSEHEAD BAY

On this pretty sweep of Pacific Northwest shoreline, a rustic cabin is remodeled as a year-round home by the great-grandson of its builder.

The Pierces raised the cabin to create a daylight basement on the water side, staying within the original footprint. Soon they engaged The Johnson Partnership, a Seattle architecture firm that specializes in restoration. “We retained the historic features of the rustic cabin,” says Larry Johnson, “including a large stone fireplace, interior board-and-batten walls, and fanciful decorative painting.”
The great room has board-and-batten walls over a wainscot of horizontal boards; walls were stripped and stained.
The upstairs hall is carried on exposed rafters and open to the great room below.
The hallway and rafters were embellished in the 1940s by a Norwegian-born artist. The portrait is of Lawrence Colman, Jack Pierce’s grandfather.

The charming paint decoration, called rosemaling, was carefully conserved.
ABOVE: Terracotta-colored walls define the kitchen area (which absorbed an old pantry). The space opens to the great room. Bird’s-eye maple cabinets and a ceramic-tile floor are in keeping with the light palette. BOTTOM: Architects Larry Johnson and Howard Miller (right) flank homeowners Leilia and Jack Pierce.

The architects removed a wall to open the kitchen to the two-story great room, the center of the home. They added a covered entry leading to the garage and south-facing patio, and also finished the new basement as a family room and guest quarters. A three-car garage was carved into the hillside, with a guest suite above.

Dormers added to the existing bedrooms created more space and enhanced views. A long dormer on the street side allowed for the addition of a much-needed upstairs bathroom. The old log siding, riddled with rot and powder-post beetles, was replaced, as were many of the cedar shakes. Systems, insulation, and windows were upgraded. Original hardware and fir woodwork were reused as much as possible.

“The work transformed the cabin into a home integrated into this beautiful waterfront site,” Johnson says. •
New roof dormers made upstairs more usable. This is the new master bath downstairs.
A Series of UNPREDICTABLE Events
Vintage-country/rockabilly singer Marti Brom was already a collector with a passion for the 1940s and '50s when circumstances led the St. Louis native to this untouched 1948 house in Portland, Oregon.

BY DONNA PIZZI | PHOTOGRAPHS BY BLACKSTONE EDGE STUDIOS
The sunken living room is trimmed in nautical-style brass railings, rounded like the Art Deco fireplace surround. Above: The 1950s lampshade came from Uncommon Objects in Austin, Texas. Below: An African statuette, formerly unappreciated by a relative, has center placement in the living room.

The air force was about to reassign Bobby Brom from the Pentagon to Portland, so his wife, singer Marti Brom, flew out in search of a new home. She left unimpressed with the houses she'd seen—only to discover, online, intriguing interior photos of a 1948 Portland house.

"I could tell it was a cool house," she says, "especially the kitchen."

No architect was listed, "but judging from its nautical aspects, I guessed it was built by someone who'd served in the Navy," Bobby says. They made an offer, but the house had sold just an hour earlier. "I was so depressed," Bobby says, "I almost didn't get out of bed for three days."

The couple moved, renting in Oregon City as they continued their search. Six months went by. Ten minutes after Bobby bid on a place in Mt. Tabor, his agent called to ask if they were still interested in the 1948 house. The older couple who'd purchased it had not moved in, having decided the yard would need too much upkeep.

The Broms bought the house in January 2011. Bobby's research in county records, military archives, and interviews with neighbors turned up more clues. The first owner, John Willis Rathkey [1889–1961], had been an officer in the Navy Medical Corps. His wife, Helen, continued to live in the house with her sister, Gertrude Eaton, until 1986 and 1997, respectively.

"Rathkey was a former naval officer and a doctor, which explained how he could afford the high-end customization of design," Bobby says.

In March, preservation and design consultant Karla Pearlstein knocked at the Broms' door to ask if they’d put their house on the Architectural Heritage Center Kitchen Tour in April. Karla had also seen its kitchen online.

"I was exhausted from the move," Marti recalls. (A perfectionist, Marti worked for years as a visual display artist for Dillard's department store in Austin, Texas.) Somehow, "I agreed to open up

TOP: Marti Brom uses a photo book about Marlene Dietrich as a research tool for her vintage clothing store. Retro leopard-print chairs are new, from Overstock.com. ABOVE: One of a pair of figurine lamps, now used as sculptural objects.
ABOVE: To preserve the original dishwasher, it's used as a drainer only. RIGHT: Beyond the doorbell in the foyer is the dining room, with its 1940s lime-green walls and blonde furniture.
The sleek 1940s kitchen is remarkably intact, with a curved leather banquette. Vintage pieces include the Sunbeam chrome coffee brewer and streamlined vase. INSET: A 1950s Franciscan tea set with aqua 'Starburst' pattern.
the whole house, even though the living room was empty.”

But husband Bobby knew she could pull it off. “Marti was born with a sense of style ... when I met her, she was living in a 1930s Art Deco apartment on Route 66. She dropped out of school to work at a St. Louis vintage clothing store.”

Turning to Overstock.com, where she’d recently purchased a rug and two leopard-print chairs, Marti found a sofa, which arrived two days before the event. Tour attendees marveled at her snappy décor. Not to mention the intact bathrooms. But how, they wondered, did the Broms come to have so many vintage furnishings?

Marti had been at it for a long time. Her fascination with collecting was inspired by an eccentric childhood neighbor, an ex-vaudevillian who collected Victoriana, “weird” dolls, and drawings. “Whenever I’m playing a gig, I’m on the lookout.”

The Broms are only the third owners of the house. Second owner Tonya Shrum “was obsessed,” says Marti. “She located a 1948 GE refrigerator to match the 1948 GE appliances still here.” Tonya pulled up carpeting and coaxed the gardens back to life, hacking back rhododendrons to reveal the front.

Marti takes joy in giving uncherished objects new life. When the niece of Dorothy Shea, a popular chanteuse from the 1940s, discovered Marti’s interest, she loaned her one of Dorothy’s dresses for a performance, and told her about a family estate sale upcoming in Denver. Marti hopped on a plane, and found more items to dress the 1948 ranch.
You've seen their late-1950s appliances, but did you know Big Chill also has this streamlined version? The 'Retropolitan' is available in 8 colors: bigchill.com

Crestview Doors offers mid-century designs like the 'Lexington' in Aqua and Coral, and the 'Piedmont' in Mocha: crestviewdoors.com

Pottery Barn's 'Eleanor' frameless beveled mirrors recall Art Deco glamour: potterybarn.com

Rejuvenation is all-in when it comes to hardware from Art Deco through Sputnik and '60s. This is their 3” ‘Deco’ drawer pull in chrome: rejuvenation.com

Forbo's Marmoleum 'Vivace' resilient flooring, available in colors from neutral to daring, has a similar feel to postwar linoleum patterns: forbo-flooring.com

Take cues from:
A 1948 West Coast ranch with high-style panache—and many of its original elements intact.

The traditional wired musical door chime, here in a cherry finish with brass pipes, is still available from Nutone. #LA501CY: nutone.com
Metal at the Entry

To rim out the front door in style; metal accessories range from the all-important entry set to mailbox or slot, doorbell and knocker, house numbers and hinges. You can find colonial forged black iron . . . and mid-century modern lacquered brass.

BY MARY ELLEN POLSON

1 'Pacific' plaque, 15" x 6 ½", cold-coated with copper and brass, hand-applied patina, $140, JDRS
2 'Vine & Trellis' doorbell button, 2½" square, 1889 reproduction in solid brass, $52.95, House of Antique Hardware
3 Traditional 10" letter mail slot with back flap in bronze patina living finish, $125–$196, Hamilton Sinkler
4 Iron pre-drilled lockset (TWBJ), 9½" high x 2½" wide, $545, Acorn Mfg.
5 'Easy Street' 5" house numbers, solid copper and silicon bronze, sand-cast from 95 percent recycled materials, three finishes, $24.95 each, Craftsman Homes Connection
6 'Whiterock' aluminum wall mailbox with fleur-de-lis address plaque, 14½" wide x 15" high x 8" deep, in black, bronze, or white, $228, Custom Home Accessories
7 Victorian cast-aluminum pedestal mailbox, 48" tall, $150 unpainted, AK Exteriors
You can choose from coordinating suites in period-friendly finishes, or splurge on a statement piece, and even mix vintage hardware with reproductions.
GARDENS at an OLD FARM

BY TOVAH MARTIN | PHOTOGRAPHS BY RICH POMERANTZ

Through a cast-iron gate and flanked by boxwood hedges, a path leads through a file of rose-covered arbors.
Stone Acres

IN CONNECTICUT HAS A QUARTER OF A MILE OF BOXWOOD HEDGES AND 17 ROSE ARBORS, ONE FAMILY'S LEGACY.

NOW IMMACULATELY clipped and groomed, Stone Acres in Stonington is an 80-acre farm that has been handed down through the generations. Behind stone walls, discovered in a maze of boxwood hedges, its gardens seem to come from a forgotten past. Old-fashioned rambling roses climb arbor after arbor, and flowerbeds are dense with blowzy heirloom blooms. For the past 35 years, one gardener has made this his project. Christian Careb, who started out helping with dairy-farm chores in 1978, when he was a teenager, “fell in love with the place” when he was asked to lend a hand in the garden.

For Careb, the Guernsey cows were nothing compared to the gardens that date back more than a hundred years. During the Victorian era, 17 rose arbors, a quarter of a mile of boxwood hedges, a greenhouse, and flowerbeds were added to what had been a farm since 1765. Another person infatuated with Stone Acres is Wynne Delmhorst, a member of the seventh generation to inherit the farm. It was Mrs. Delmhorst’s great-grand-uncle, Eugene Phelps Edwards, who, with a twinkle in his eye, added strutting peacocks, an indoor saltwater swimming pool, a grapery, and a greenhouse. He planted more boxwood and fluffed the flowerbeds. But he also kept the Guernsey herd, the orchards and hay fields that had made this a practical “provisions farm” selling milk, eggs, meat, poultry, fruit, and produce to railroads, steamships, and hotels.
A provision farm SELLING MILK AND EGGS, MEAT AND FRUIT TO THE RAILROAD AND HOTELS, STONE ACRES LATER GREW TO INCLUDE IDYLLIC FEATURES AND FLOWERS.

ABOVE: Traditional flowers still bloom here, including peonies, bachelor’s button, and rambling roses. TOP: Divided into “rooms,” the garden boasts flowerbeds in the center, with vegetables and cutting flowers on either side. RIGHT: A turf ditch, the ha-ha is an English garden device that keeps livestock out of the garden while maintaining an unbroken view (no fence).
The main entrance to the gardens is across from the hipped-roof farmhouse, next to the long barn.

When Chris Careb started working at Stone Acres, the land was being farmed by Wynne Delmhorst’s father and mother, Frederic and Edith Paffard Jr. The head gardener then was 80-year-old Charlie Gavitt, who called on Careb to do “anything he needed a young guy to do—dig trenches, get on ladders.”

Wynne Delmhorst remembers running her hands along the hedges, playing hide-and-seek with her sisters in the gardens, and getting paid to pick beetles off the roses. When the Paffards, her parents, retired to Stone Acres permanently in the 1980s, the gardens were suffering from lack of maintenance. They hired Chris Careb full time, and he began to transform the place—moving forward in methods but bringing the gardens back in time. He dug up the weedy stonedust paths that had taken so much of Gavitt’s time, laying landscape fabric covered with crushed stone. He mulched with seaweed.

“I saw the ghost of what this garden had been,” Careb recalls. He threw himself into thinning out the overgrown lilacs, weigela, deutzia, flowering almond, and bayberry bushes. He freed the ha-ha—a sloping ditch with a vertical wall of stones—from a snarl of brush. He clipped the hedges into shape, and thinned the spring bulbs to revive them.

The structure is formal—all those chipped boxwood hedges and a carefully wrought symmetry—but rambling roses and showering shrubs give the place a relaxed and dream-like demeanor. Heirloom flowers include love-in-a-mist (Nigella damascena), sweet William (Dianthus barbatus), bachelor’s button (Centaurea montana), iris, phlox, oriental poppies, and peonies galore. The ha-ha, an orchard, the evocative wood skeleton of the old greenhouse, the barns, and mown fields surround the formal gardens—reinforcing the Brigadoon atmosphere.

Careb built new, sturdy arbors better able to shoulder the increased burden of the mature rambling roses. He propagated the roses to increase their bounty and make them available for visitors to buy—along with perennials and annuals grown from seed. Every year, Stone Acres opens for the Garden Conservancy. (This year’s dates are June 16, 2013, and July 13, 2013: gardenconservancy.org.)

Aware of the spell the gardens cast, today’s owners share it by hosting weddings and events. The family is exploring ways to bring Stone Acres into the next generation.
Resource boxes are included in many articles. This additional information has been compiled by the editors. Items not listed are either widely available, out of production, family pieces, or antiques.

Lighting for Porch & Patio
pp. 24–27

More sources:
- Gallenberg Studio
gallenbergrudio.com
  Custom lighting in the style of Greene & Greene
- Hanover Lantern
hanoverlantern.com
  Classics inspired
- Kichler landscape
ing.com
  Some period styles
- Materials Unlimited
tions.com
  Restored exterior fixtures
- PW Vintage Lighting
vintagelight

Outdoor Furniture
pp. 34–36

More sources:
- Baldwin Furniture
(800) 344-5103, baldwinfurniture.com
  American-made cedar porch, patio furniture
- Brookbend Outdoor Furniture
(774) 278-1066, brookbend.com
  Classic lines in cedar and teak
- Cottage Home Maine
(866) 223-2757, cottagehomemaine.com
  Wicker, all-weather recycled plastic, teak dining sets
- Design Within Reach
(800) 944-2233, dwr.com
  Modern designs, including upholstered
- Loll Designs
(877) 740-3387, lolldesigns.com
  Contemporary spins on universal designs in UV-resistant recycled plastics
- Maine Cottage
(866) 366-3505, mainecottage.com
  Handmade wicker
- Mulberry Street
(843) 991-8724, mulberrystronline.com
  Vintage metal gliders, bouncers, rockers

Body Parts ABC p. 72

- clawfoot stool by Eric Jacobsen, Kirkwood, PA: ejfn.com, (610) 547-4983
- doorway by Sunderland Period Homes, East Windsor Hill, CT: sunderlandperiodhomes.com, (860) 528-6608
Many of the companies appearing in this index offer free information about the products and services seen in the pages of Old-House Interiors. It's the perfect way to begin or refine your research and there's no limit to the amount of free information you can order!

Simply check a category box on the attached card to receive free information about all products in that category, or circle the number that corresponds to the specific companies you are looking to receive free information from.

3 EASY WAYS to receive FREE product information from Old-House Interiors advertisers:

ONLINE Fill out the online request form at www.OldHouseOnline.com/3bl

MAIL Circle the corresponding numbers on the card and mail it today!

FAX Fax your completed card to 800-571-7730

Acorn Manufacturing
Pages 27, 66 | Circle No. 001

AK Exterior
Pages 63, 66

Alameda Shade Shop
Page 62 | Circle No. 002

Allied Window, Inc.
Pages 5, 66 | Circle No. 003

American Restoration Tile
Pages 38, 66 | Circle No. 049

Americanica
Pages 38, 66 | Circle No. 015

Ann Wallace
Pages 19, 66 | Circle No. 004

Arch Angle Windows & Doors
Page 66 | Circle No. 005

Bradbury & Bradbury Wallpaper
Page 15

Broad-Axe Beam Company
Pages 15, 66 | Circle No. 006

Bucks County Soapstone
Pages 1, 66

Center of the World Woodshop
Page 67 | Circle No. 007

Century Studios
Pages 15, 67 | Circle No. 008

Chesnut Specialists
Page 67

Chicone Cabinetmakers
Page 67 | Circle No. 009

Classic Rock Face Block
Page 63 | Circle No. 010

Craftsman Homes Connection
Pages 68, Inside Back Cover | Circle No. 011

Crown City Hardware
Pages 13, 67 | Circle No. 012

Crown Point Cabinetry
Pages 67, Back Cover

Custom Home Accessories
Pages 28, 67 | Circle No. 013

Custom Ornamental Iron Works
Pages 17, 67 | Circle No. 014

Derby Pottery and Tile
Pages 19, 67

Elmira Stove Works
Pages 8, 68

Ephraim Faience Pottery
Page 68

Fable Porch
Pages 13, 68 | Circle No. 016

Fagan's Forge
Page 68 | Circle No. 017

Frog Tape
Pages 23, 68 | Circle No. 018

Heartwood Fine Windows and Doors
Pages 19, 68 | Circle No. 019

Heritage Tile
Pages 17, 68 | Circle No. 050

Historic Housefitters
Page 68

HomeSpice Decor
Pages 63, 69 | Circle No. 020

House of Antique Hardware
Pages 7, 69 | Circle No. 021

Innerglass Window Systems
Pages 62, 69 | Circle No. 022

Janice's at the Saltbox
Page 69 | Circle No. 023

Johnson Partnership
Pages 15, 69 | Circle No. 024

Kayne & Son Custom Hardware
Page 62

The Kennebec Company
Pages 17, 69 | Circle No. 025

Kestrel Manufacturing
Page 69 | Circle No. 026

Lamp Glass
Page 69 | Circle No. 027

Menders, Torrey & Spencer Inc.
Pages 5, 71 | Circle No. 028

Metalceilingexpress.com
Pages 8, 69 | Circle No. 029

Modern Bungalow
Pages 7, 70 | Circle No. 030

NR Hiller Design
Pages 8, 70

Old Fashioned Milk Paint Co.
Pages 65, 70 | Circle No. 031

Pastoral Furniture Co.
Page 70 | Circle No. 032

Period Arts Fan Co., The
Pages 4, 70 | Circle No. 033

Persian Carpet, The
Page 2 | Circle No. 034

Preservation Products Inc.
Page 65 | Circle No. 035

Primrose Distributing
Pages 38, 70 | Circle No. 036

Radiant Wraps
Page 63

Reggio Register Co., The
Page 8 | Circle No. 037

Sheldon Slate Products Co., Inc.
Pages 13, 70 | Circle No. 038

Shuttercraft
Pages 62, 70 | Circle No. 039

Stickley
Pages Inside Front Cover, 70

Timeless Kitchen Design
Pages 28, 71

Trustworth Studios
Page 23 | Circle No. 040

Unico, Inc.
Pages 2, 71 | Circle No. 041

Vermont Soapstone
Pages 7, 71 | Circle No. 042

Victorian Lighting Inc.
Pages 38, 71 | Circle No. 043

Victorian Lighting Works
Pages 19, 71 | Circle No. 044

Vintage Doors, LLC
Pages 23, 71 | Circle No. 045

Vixen Hill Manufacturing
Page 71 | Circle No. 046

Ward Clapboard Mill
Page 62 | Circle No. 047

Wooden Radiator Cabinet Company
Pages 65, 71 | Circle No. 048

DECODING THE OLD-HOUSE UNIVERSE
Whenever you see a QR Code (above), use your smartphone or tablet device to scan it for more information on that topic. Some codes launch websites while others launch videos. Either way, we hope these little codes enhance your reading experience in a big way.
Organic Milk Paint Especially for Walls

View color samples & more information on our Facebook page or at www.milkpaint.com

Please contact us for free SafePaint™ samples.

(866) 350-MILK (6455)
436 Main St., Groton, MA 01450

Easy to apply
- Environmentally safe
- Non-toxic and odor free
- Long wearing
- Won't fade

- Adheres to previously painted walls and new wall surfaces
- 20 Standard colors that can be mixed for 100's of color options

SafePaint
ORGANIC MILK PAINT FOR WALLS

Acrymax Coatings and Systems help you restore, beautify, and protect a variety of historic roof types, as well as masonry and stucco walls. A long-lasting, environmentally safer alternative to other systems. Acrymax systems are easy to apply and come in a variety of colors. Call today for a free brochure on the Acrylic system tough enough to stop leaks cold.

Acrymax Coatings and Systems
221 Brooke Street • Media, PA 19063
610-565-5755 • Fax: 610-891-0834
www.preservationproducts.com

The For Age Solution
Historic Roof Restoration

Acrymax Coatings and Systems help you restore, beautify, and protect a variety of historic roof types, as well as masonry and stucco walls. A long-lasting, environmentally safer alternative to other systems. Acrymax systems are easy to apply and come in a variety of colors. Call today for a free brochure on the Acrylic system tough enough to stop leaks cold.

Acrymax Coatings and Systems
221 Brooke Street • Media, PA 19063
610-565-5755 • Fax: 610-891-0834
www.preservationproducts.com

HUNDREDS OF DESIGN IDEAS FOR YOUR OLD HOUSE!

OLDHOUSEonline®
We know old houses

Sign up for our design newsletter!

OldHouseOnline.com
Acorn Manufacturing
Acorn is the finest and largest manufacturer and distributor of forged iron builders hardware in the United States, dedicated to providing the highest quality products, timely delivery and the most knowledgeable and courteous customer service.

(800) 835-0121
acornmfg.com
Circle 001 on Free Information Card

American Restoration Tile
American Restoration Tile is a custom ceramic tile manufacturing company. We specialize in reproducing the tiles of the past to facilitate restoration of historically significant buildings and residences. Visit our website for more information.

(501) 455-1000
restorationtile.com
Circle 049 on Free Information Card

AK Exteriors
One of Southwest's largest sources of aluminum outdoor lighting and antiques. You can also find rare collectibles including original stained glass windows, antique gambling tables, curio cabinets, signs, wagons, and more.

(800) 253-9837
akexteriors.com

Allied Window, Inc.
The Culbertson Mansion cried out for "invisible storm windows"—with bent glass for the Queen Anne turret windows. Allied Window answered the call. Interior or exterior applications; custom colors, special shapes, and special glazing are all routine. Our abilities meet the needs of the professional in the field or the homeowner for the conventional to the extraordinary.

(800) 445-5411
invisiblestorms.com
Circle 003 on Free Information Card

American

(800) 269-5697
shutterblinds.com
Circle 015 on Free Information Card

Ann Wallace
We have been providing window treatments for period homes for more than 24 years. Please view our custom hand painted or stenciled roller shades and appliqued curtains with period hardware. Patterns, stencil templates and kits as well. Extensive library of applique and stencil designs to choose from.

(213) 614-1757
annwallace.com
Circle 004 on Free Information Card

Arch Angle Windows & Doors
A manufacturer of high end specialty shape storm windows and doors. Arch Angle all aluminum storm products are individually hand crafted to complement the historic requirements or distinctive architecture of the homes, churches and commercial buildings they protect.

(800) 548-0214
archangleohio.com
Circle 005 on Free Information Card

Broad-Axe Flooring
Broad-Axe Flooring offers Eastern White Pine flooring and paneling. White Pine is warm and resilient underfoot. It has been used for wide pine flooring in New England homes since the early days of settlement. High quality at a reasonable price.

(802) 257-0064
broadaxeflooring.com
Circle 006 on Free Information Card

Bucks County Soapstone
Soapstone is a simple contributor to its environment never dominating the scene. This slant front hand-built sink is accessorized with our recessed and runnels combination drainboard.

(215) 249-8161
BCSoapstone.com
Center of the World Woodshop
Center of the World's designs by Terry Hanover feature hand-cut dovetails, pinned mortise & tenon joinery, leaded glass, hand-carving, inlays, and the beauty of domestic hardwoods. Custom work available.
(269) 469-5687
centeroftheworld.net
Circle 007 on Free Information Card

Century Studios
Century Studios creates stunning reproductions of the stained glass lamps of Tiffany Studios. Visit us online or in our St. Paul, MN studio.
(651) 699-4838
centurystudios.com
Circle 008 on Free Information Card

Chicone Cabinetmakers
Chicone Cabinetmakers is a boutique cabinet shop that offers a range of period styles, designs, and products from fine furniture, to kitchens, to built-ins and historic moldings. We will exceed your expectations with an attention to detail that only three generations of cabinetmakers can achieve.
(607) 535-6540
chicone.com
Circle 009 on Free Information Card

Crown City Hardware
See our new line of Stickley inspired reproduction furniture and cabinet hardware. Top quality hardware at a price you can afford.
restoration.com
Circle 012 on Free Information Card

Crown Point Cabinetry
Crown Point Cabinetry handcrafts the finest quality custom cabinetry for your entire home. Period styles include Shaker, Arts & Crafts, Early American, Victorian, Transitional and Contemporary. Available direct nationwide.
(800) 999-4994
crown-point.com

Custom Home Accessories, Inc.
For more than 17 years, we have offered homeowners, architects and builders a broad selection of residential and commercial mailboxes, street signs, bronze and aluminum plaques, and architectural accents such as weathervanes and cupolas.
(800) 265-0041
mailboxes.info
Circle 013 on Free Information Card

Custom Ornamental Iron Works
North America's largest fabricator and distributor of wrought iron, ornamental iron, and aluminum gate and stair components since 1974. Contact Custom Ornamental Iron Works for all of your project needs.
(866) 464-4766
customironworks.com
Circle 014 on Free Information Card

Chestnut Specialists
Antique remilled plank flooring of chestnut, oak, or pine, and hand hewn antique posts and beams. All flooring wood is hand selected, kiln dried, then remilled to customer specifications.
(866) 283-4209
chestnutspec.com

Crown Point Cabinetry
Handcrafted custom cabinets for your entire home. Period styles include Shaker, Arts & Crafts, Early American, Victorian, Transitional and Contemporary. Available direct nationwide.
(800) 999-4994
crown-point.com

Custom Ornamental Iron Works
North America's largest fabricator and distributor of wrought iron, ornamental iron, and aluminum gate and stair components since 1974. Contact Custom Ornamental Iron Works for all of your project needs.
(866) 464-4766
customironworks.com
Circle 014 on Free Information Card

Derby Pottery and Tile
We manufacture and sell the finest in handmade Victorian reproduction tile available anywhere. Full line of decorative and field tile solutions for your fireplace and hearth renovation projects.
(504) 586-9003
derbypottery.com
Elmira Stove Works
Vintage-styled Northstar appliances from Elmira Stove Works are available in gas, electric or dual fuel; nine colors... ranges, fridges, microwaves, hoods, dishwashers. Also available in 1890s antique styles.
As shown $4,495 MSRP.
(800) 295-8498
elmirastoveworks.com

Ephraim Faience Pottery
Creating the finest quality limited-edition art tiles and art pottery in the Craftsman style since 1996. Shop by phone, online, or at our galleries in Wisconsin and California.
(888) 704-PO TS (7687)
ephraimpottery.com

Fagan’s Forge LLC
Family owned source for quality hand-forged iron hardware. Affordable, authentic designs for your home and outbuildings.
(860) 377-3232
FagansForge.com

FrogTape®
FrogTape® is the only painter’s tape treated with PaintBlock® Technology. PaintBlock is a super-absorbent polymer that reacts with latex paint and instantly gels to form a micro-barrier that seals the edges of the tape, preventing paint bleed.
(877) FROGTAPE
frogtape.com

HeartWood Fine Windows & Doors
Custom crafted solid timber windows and doors, utilizing mortise-and-tenon joinery. Products built of genuine mahogany and other fine imported and domestic woods.
Serving discerning homeowners and distinguished institutions since 1947.
(800) 321-8199
heartwoodwindowsanddoors.com

Heritage Tile
Heritage Tile is dedicated to preserving our uniquely American tile heritage with our collection of historically authentic subway tile and made-to-order mosaics.
(888) 387-3280
heritagetile.com

Historic Housefitters Co.
Authentic, hand-forged hardware, made in USA: iron thumblatches, mortise lock sets, H and HL hinges, strap hinges, hearth cooking tools, pot racks, fireplace equipment, hooks, towel bars, cabinet pulls and custom iron work.
Brass and glass door knobs and lever sets.
(800) 247-4111
historichousefitters.com

HeatRegisters.com
A vast variety of heat vents, cold air returns, and baseboard registers. Cast iron, bronze, steel aluminum, copper, and woods galore. Standard size and custom work our specialty!
(509) 535-5098
HeatRegisters.com

Fable Porch
Makers of real solid wood & reclaimed barn wood furniture, bench made & family crafted on our working farm in North Carolina. Well-made but affordable artisan furniture, we use the best American kiln dried woods, the best materials, the best American made finishes, period. Piece Shown is solid rustic cherry.
(336) 462-8051
fableporchfurniture.com

Circle 016 on Free Information Card

Circle 017 on Free Information Card

Circle 018 on Free Information Card

Circle 019 on Free Information Card

Circle 020 on Free Information Card
House of Antique Hardware
Brighten your home with glass cabinet knobs in 16 fun and fresh colors. Shop our online catalog for thousands of fine hardware reproductions, as well as the best in period lighting.
(888) 223-2545
HOAH.biz

Innerglass Window Systems
Custom glass interior storm windows for energy conservation and soundproofing. An interior storm that outperforms almost any replacement, yet maintains the integrity and beauty of your historic house. Invisible from the outside. Perfect for screened porches, too.
(800) 743-6207
stormwindows.com

Janice’s at the Saltbox
Interior design services, handmade reproduction lighting, English and American made furniture, original oil paintings, fine lamps and accessories. Custom window treatments, decorative pillows and bedding. Family owned since 1979.
(859) 266-2300
janicesatthesaltbox.com

The Johnson Partnership Architects
We create timeless designs that emphasize quality, comfort and warmth. Established in 1979, we are licensed to practice in Washington, Oregon and Hawaii.
(206) 523-1618
tjp.us

The Kennebec Company
The difference is simplicity. Clean lines, efficient use of space and traditional cabinetmaking. Our designs and craftsmanship will last a lifetime.
(207) 443-2131
kennebeccompany.com

Kestrel Shutters & Doors
Custom size. Interior and exterior. Designs of doors and shutters include louvered, panel, board and batten, tongue-and-groove, glass, mirror, headboard as well as custom designs and historic reproductions.
(800) 494-4321
diyshutters.com

Lamp Glass
Specialists in replacement glass lamp shades with hundreds of shades in stock, including chimneys, hurricanes, cased glass, student shades, Gone With The Wind globes, sconce and chandelier glass, torchieres, bankers’ shades, and ceiling globes.
(617) 497-4770
lampglass.nu

MetalCeilingExpress
Metalceilingexpress, custom manufacturer of tin ceiling tiles. American made tin ceiling tiles in 35 patterns with more than 40 colors to choose from.
(941) 723-2288
metalceilingexpress.com
Modern Bungalow
Whether it's for your 1910 Craftsman Bungalow or a modern day adaptation of the style, we cover the bases like no one else. Add our huge selection of wool rugs, lighting, pottery and accents and you've got the best of the Modern Arts & Crafts Movement, all under one roof.
(303) 300-3332
modernbungalow.com
Circle 030 on Free Information Card

NR Hiller Design, Inc.
Custom Furniture & Cabinetry
Period-authentic furniture, kitchens, and built-ins for late-19th through mid-20th century interiors. Traditional craftsmanship, contemporary convenience. See website for classes offered.
(812) 825-5872
nrhillerdesign.com
Circle 031 on Free Information Card

Old Fashioned Milk Paint
Making genuine, all natural milk paint since 1974. SafePaint line is specially formulated for interior walls. Easy to use, it adheres to previously painted and new wall surfaces. 20 standard colors can be easily mixed for 100s of color options.
(866) 350-6455
milkpaint.com
Circle 032 on Free Information Card

Pastoral Furniture Co.
Outdoor mahogany tables and French wrought iron chairs designed specifically for historic homes, porches, and gardens. Can be delivered regionally or shipped anywhere in the continental U.S.
(717) 766-8305
pastoralfurniture.com
Circle 033 on Free Information Card

The Period Arts Fan Company
The Period Arts Fan Co. was founded to develop authentic ceiling fans true to the late nineteenth and early twentieth-century architectural, interior and product design movements.
(888) 588-3267
periodarts.com
Circle 034 on Free Information Card

Primrose Distributing/ Olde Century Colors
Keep the charm alive and recapture the glow of the past with the quality and selection of the present. These colors are selected for the restoration of historic architecture, furniture and craft projects.
(800) 222-3092
oldecenturycolors.com
Circle 035 on Free Information Card

Shuttercraft
HARD-TO-FIND traditional moveable louvers in all sizes. Shuttercraft of Madison, CT, offers full painting services and bifold-ing hardware set for mounting. Many other interior and exterior styles available. Family owned-made in U.S.A.
(203) 245-2608
shuttercraft.com
Circle 036 on Free Information Card

Stickley
2013 Collector Edition Wine Rack
Multi-tasking wine rack holds 20 bottles, including a serving tray plus a storage compartment that conceals a solid cherry cheeseboard. On sale for $999. Visit stickley.com for the authorized dealer near you.
Timeless Kitchen Cabinetry & Design
Kitchen cabinetmakers inspired by antique painted furniture. Custom cabinetry for your historic or period-inspired home. Local dealers of Bucks County Soapstone.
(610) 296-2775
timelesskitchendesign.com

Vermont Soapstone
Since the 1850s, Vermont Soapstone has been crafting the finest architectural soapstone fixtures and home accents. Durable and timeless, soapstone never stains, non-porous and won’t retain bacteria from meat and fish. Custom sinks and countertop installation available.
(802) 263-5404
vermontsoapstone.com

Vixen Hill Manufacturing
Proven materials & design. Vixen Hill’s cedar shutters don’t corrode, rot, warp nor sag under their own weight. We use the right material for the right job. Custom design your wooden shutters online.
(800) 423-2766
vixenhill.com

Torrey Architecture, Inc.
David W. Torrey, AIA celebrates thirty years of creating and transforming places for Living, Working and Gathering. His renovations, restorations and additions to historic homes respect their stylistic features while creatively adapting them to today’s lifestyles.
(617) 227-1477
torreyarchitecture.com

Victorian Lighting, Inc.
Authentic reproductions by Victorian Lighting Works, Inc., recapture the cherished beauty at a fraction of the prices for antique fixtures. Backed by more than 30 years of experience, we meticulously handcraft each piece of solid brass. Each chandelier and sconce incorporates custom-cast ornaments and features.
vilworks.com

Unico Inc.
By utilizing The Unico System heating and air conditioning system in your renovation project, you’ll get the benefit of energy efficiency with our Green Series air handler, yet not have to compromise space or the historic integrity of the home because of our small ductwork and color matched outlets.
(800) 527-0896
unicosystem.com

Wooden Radiator Cabinet Company
The Perfect Cover-Up!
The Wooden Radiator Cabinet Company provides the finest custom-built cabinets in the country, turning eyesores into elegant and functional furniture. We offer durable, elegant and affordable radiator and baseboard covers, PTAC, fan coil covers and bookcases from classic to contemporary. Just push them in place for an elegant cabinet or window seat.
(800) 817-9110
woodenradiatorkabinet.com

Vintage Doors
Handcrafted solid wood doors that are made-to-order and built to last. Full line of screen/storm doors, porch panels, exterior and interior doors, Dutch, French, louver and more. Make your home stand out from the rest!
(800) 787-2001
vintagedoors.com

Circle 042 on Free Information Card
Circle 028 on Free Information Card
Circle 043 on Free Information Card
Circle 044 on Free Information Card
Circle 045 on Free Information Card
Circle 046 on Free Information Card
Circle 047 on Free Information Card
Circle 048 on Free Information Card
ARCH Curved or pointed structural member, supported on both sides.

BREAST Projection, as of the chimney over a fireplace.

BULL'S-EYE The thick knob of glass formed at the center of a blown sheet, or the window made from it. The round center of a piece of decorative trim, as at corner squares in window trim.

CLAWFOOT Decorative carved or cast foot in furniture (or under a bathtub) meant to look like an animal foot and claws.

COLLAR BEAM Horizontal structural member that unites two opposing rafters below the ridge line; may be decorative with chamfers or carving.

DENTIL Small rectangular blocks that resemble teeth, in moldings.

EAR Decorative projection in an architrave or on furniture.

ELBOW Another word for ear; a plumbing joint consisting of a curved angle.

FINGER JOINT An interlocking woodworking joint, looking rather like clasped fingers.

GROIN Curved meeting line where barrel vaults connect to form a groin vault.

HIP(PED) A roof with four sloped sides.

KNEE BRACE A supporting bracket with a diagonal strut.

LOBE Each rounded section of a trefoil (i.e., three lobes), quatrefoil, or similar decorative element.

NOSING Rounded front of a stair tread, or a finish tile with a rounded edge.

OCULUS An eye-like window.

SERRATION Self-explanatory pattern in, for example, Gothic verge trim or pattern of shingle butts.

SHOULDER An extension in trimwork, as when the header piece is wider than the verticals, or when an upper piece wraps vertical trim near the top on a window surround or mantel. In joinery, the flat side from which a dovetail or tenon projects.

SOLEPLATE The base of a partition on which the bottoms of the wall studs rest; the main sill plate resting on the foundation.

THUMB LATCH Simple door latch opened by pressing one's thumb on a lever.

TOE KICK The recess at the bottom of base cabinets that allows a person to get close to a countertop without kicking the cabinet or losing balance.

TOENAIL To drive a nail at an angle through a board, often used in laying flooring.

TONGUE-AND-GROOVE An edge-to-edge joinery method whereby a long ridge (tongue) fits into a slot (groove) on the mating piece.
Visit our website

CraftHome.com

Hundreds of unique, hard to find items that enable you to easily connect your home from the present to the past!

Character building made easy!

House numbers
doorbells & buttons bronze plaques mailboxes lighting rugs

hardware fireplace tools switch plates hex tiles, mirrors curtain rods & tons more!!!

We won't steer you wrong!
Call us at 509-535-5098
to order a color heat register catalog!

HeatRegisters.com