Having A Meeting?

ROUND THIS TIME OF YEAR, many of The Journal's readers are busy organizing meetings, symposia and various old-house workshops. A number of you have asked us to supply sample copies of The Old-House Journal to give to registrants at your meetings. And we have been happy to oblige.

OUR POLICY is to supply sample copies—at no cost—for any meeting that has old houses or some aspect of preservation or neighborhood revival as a theme.

IF YOU WOULD LIKE to obtain copies of The Old-House Journal for your meeting, just do the following:

(1) Tell us about the meeting and how many people you expect to attend;

(2) Indicate how many copies you'd like. (Normally, we can supply a copy for every person expected.)

(3) Tell us where to send the issues.

(4) Give us at least 4 weeks notice.

Handbook Of
19th Century Decoration

162 Illustrations plus 28 Plates—
14 in Full Color

If you own a house built between 1860 and 1910 and have been looking for original—but authentic—decorating ideas, you’ll find help in "The Art of Decorative Design." This is a reprint edition of a book originally published by Christopher Dresser in London in 1862. The reprint contains all of Dresser’s original illustrations, including his 14 full-color lithographed plates.

Christopher Dresser was a design genius who had enormous impact on the decorative arts in England and North America in the second half of the 19th century. He was quite "modern" in that he believed in combining decoration with the functional purpose of the object being designed.

Dresser’s designs are basically geometric forms, drawing upon the plant kingdom for inspiration. But rather than merely setting forth a potpourri of patterns, Dresser formulated a closely reasoned set of design principles. You can copy Dresser’s designs exactly—or adapt them (which he would applaud) using his principles.

The designs are basically of the stylized Aesthetic Movement type, which also had a great influence on the Arts & Crafts and Art Nouveau styles that followed.

Amateur and professional restorers alike who have found their way to the rare original editions of Dresser have been using the designs and colors both for stencil work and for silk-screened wallpapers, borders, friezes and dadoes.

About The Books

  Size: 6 in. x 9 in. $8.95 + 50¢ postage.
- Modern Ornamentation is 64 pages of designs. Plates have notes on historical origins of each design. Softcover; 10 in. x 13 in. Jumbo size. Printed in deep blue ink. $6.00 + 50¢ postage.

In the pages of "The Art of Decorative Design," you have the opportunity to discover—in his own words—the workings of a brilliant and creative 19th century mind. Even if you don’t have an old house to decorate, Dresser’s abiding concern with improving the beauty of the man-made environment definitely speaks to our time.

The Easiest Safest Way To Remove Paint!

Enthusiastically Recommended By The Journal's Readers Who Have Tried It.

To be honest, there is no easy, pleasant way to remove paint. But if you have a large amount of paint to strip, the best thing to use is an electric heat gun. The heat gun is faster, safer and less messy than chemical removers. And it costs less for large jobs.

The Electric Heat Gun first came to the attention of the Journal's readers in the April 1976 issue. It operates at 500-750 F., and draws 14 amps at 120 volts.

Of special interest are the safety factors. The heat gun avoids the hazards of methylene chloride vapors that are present in most paint removers. And because it operates at a lower temperature than a propane torch, there is no danger of the lead poisoning that can occur when torching old lead paints. Too, fire danger is much lower than it is with a propane torch or blowtorch.

Because it is a high-quality industrial tool, the heat gun isn't cheap. But with paint remover now around $10 per gallon, the gun only costs as much as 6 gallons of remover. In some communities, groups of neighbors are buying a single gun to share.

Price includes pedestal stand that allows gun to be propped at any angle. Heat gun is fully warranted by the manufacturer.

The Old-House EMPORIUM

“Our old house wouldn’t be the same without it!”

Add elegance and beauty from a bygone era to your old house. And enjoy the cool relaxing tropical breeze from broad wooden blades.

Only a few people of today have experienced the charm, the elegance and the relaxing tropical breeze of the Royal Windyne wooden-blade ceiling fan. And only a few ever will. Because each one is custom made, from the beautiful, hand-rubbed wooden blades to the antiqued hand-polished rich brass appointments.

If you think air conditioning should be pleasant, not just tolerated, this is for you. Beautiful broad wooden blades quietly circulate a large volume of air. Installed inside your home, or outside on your porch, you’ll enjoy this tropical breeze—“like back in old Trinidad” says one owner. Or, use your Royal Windyne ceiling fan with other air conditioning, turned down to a lower setting, to create a cooling, relaxing, tropical breeze and freshen the air.

Dramatic electricity savings. An efficient Royal Windyne ceiling fan uses only as much electricity as an average light bulb (less than one-tenth the electricity of a window air conditioner).

You will see the savings on your electric bill, and this will actually pay for your ceiling fan. And you’ll own a beautiful collector’s item as part of the bargain.

Charm and elegance from a bygone era. Engraved solid brass and brass-plated appointments. Beautiful hand-rubbed and waxed wooden blades; choice of dark walnut or golden oak finish. Basic black housing. Gold silken pull tassel controls built in two-speed on/off switch.

Satisfaction guaranteed, or return in 30 days for full refund. Guaranteed in writing for five years. Easy installation: fits all standard ceiling heights of eight feet or more. Speedy, Accurate Estimates with this Labor and Materials Cost Manual for House Restoration and Renovation!

Home-Tech Restoration and Renovation Cost Estimator

Compiled and edited by Home-Tech Systems, Washington, D.C.

Here is a great new Cost Estimator for housing professionals that can be put to work immediately in planning your next project. It pin-points dollars and cents costs for restoration, renovation and repair of any residential properties in the country or in the city.

The Home-Tech unit cost system enables you to drastically cut estimating time, providing you with more time for developing new business and for efficiently producing work already underway. Complex jobs that used to take one or two weeks to estimate can now be figured more accurately in one or two hours.

Heat Gun

The Easiest, Safest Way To Remove Paint

The Electric Heat Gun softens paint in a uniform way so that it can be scraped off with a knife. Some clean-up with chemical remover is required, but the volume needed--and the mess--is vastly reduced.

HEAT GUN IS SAFER--it avoids the hazards of methylene chloride vapors present in paint removers and the operating temperature is lower than a propane torch, avoiding the danger of lead poisoning and fire.

SET ASIDE Saturday, May 5th as Historic Preservation Day. The Junior League of Bergen County is sponsoring a conference concerned with preservation of old houses, public buildings and communities, and will present speakers with topics ranging from "nuts and bolts" to advocacy. This event will take place from 9-1 at Ramapo College in Mahwah N.J. at a cost of $5.00.

For further information and pre-registration applications, please contact: Mrs. M. Slade-(201) 652-9192 or Mrs. J. Tyson -(201) 767-0491.

Meetings & Events

TOLEDO, OHIO -- Old West End Annual Spring Festival and Walking Tour takes place the first weekend in June. Listed in the National Register of Historic Places, the area represents the largest concentration of urban residential Victorian architecture in Ohio. Sponsored by Women of the Old West End and The Old West End Association. For information call: Ms. Karen Baldwin - 242-8815 or Mr. Richard Dusseau-242-1456.

For the first time in history
an insurance policy
designed specifically for your historic home.

Making sure your historic home has proper coverage is not an ordinary insurance matter. And most ordinary homeowners policies can't handle extraordinary coverages.

So you need an historic home policy that helps eliminate the disparity between insurance to market value, where you may not have enough coverage, and replacement cost insurance, where you may pay too much for coverage.

The Historic Homes Policy from The St. Paul. It lets you insure your home for its market value while still providing replacement cost coverage. Any damage will be repaired, up to policy limits without deduction for depreciation, using current day building materials.

Of course, if you want true reproduction cost coverage that option is available for an additional premium. And special architectural features can be covered for an agreed-upon amount of insurance. Your personal liability is even covered if you open your home for public viewing.

Add to all this a policy written in plain English, and you have historic homeowners insurance designed specifically for your needs.

So if you own and live in a home listed in, or nominated for the National Register, or are located in a designated historic district, look in the Yellow Pages for an Independent Agent representing The St. Paul. We're making history.

We keep making insurance better.
AMERICAN ELEGANCE--Step into a bit of nostalgia; this is one of the first homes built in Covina, Ca. There's a huge front porch, four bedrooms, 2 baths (one with a clawfoot tub), formal dining room, and an elegant family kitchen, breathing in size and beauty. Modern conveniences, too, with all new electrical service, central air, gorgeous pool, 2 car garage with room for your So. Cal. boat and RV. Priced for quick sale; owner transferred out of State, will carry a Second...$175,000.00

A CURRIER & IVES SELECTION--$155,000.00. You don't have to wait until Christmas for that special feeling, you can live in it!! Even in So. California. This immaculate, 80-year-old home is a five-bedroom, 1-3/4 bath family home. The Early American kitchen with wood-burning stove is perfect for cold mornings before school. It has a study, den with a bar, and a double-detached garage with a workshop. There is room for R.V. because of double-wide driveway. Our seller is anxious to move to No. Calif. So call me soon. For the first time in history
an insurance policy
for your historic home.

Making sure your historic home has proper coverage is not an ordinary insurance matter. And most ordinary homeowners policies can't handle extraordinary coverages.

So you need an historic home policy that helps eliminate the disparity between insurance to market value, where you may not have enough coverage, and replacement cost insurance, where you may pay too much for coverage.

The Historic Homes Policy from The St. Paul. It lets you insure your home for its market value while still providing replacement cost coverage. Any damage will be repaired, up to policy limits without deduction for depreciation, using current day building materials.

Of course, if you want true reproduction cost coverage that option is available for an additional premium. And special architectural features can be covered for an agreed-upon amount of insurance. Your personal liability is even covered if you open your home for public viewing.

Add to all this a policy written in plain English, and you have historic homeowners insurance designed specifically for your needs.

So if you own and live in a home listed in, or nominated for the National Register, or are located in a designated historic district, look in the Yellow Pages for an Independent Agent representing The St. Paul. We're making history.

We keep making insurance better. The St. Paul

The Easiest Safest Way To Remove Paint!

Enthusiastically Recommended By The Journal’s Readers Who Have Tried It.

To be honest, there is no easy, pleasant way to remove paint. But if you have a large amount of paint to strip, the best thing to use is an electric heat gun. The heat gun is faster, safer and less messy than chemical removers. And it costs less for large jobs.

The electric heat gun first came to the attention of The Journal's readers in the April 1976 issue. Patricia and Wilkie Talbert described their experiments with various paint removal methods...and pronounced the electric heat gun best. We have since received similar reports from dozens of other readers.

But there is one problem. The electric heat gun isn't marketed specifically for paint removing. It is an industrial tool used mainly in the electronics industry. Many readers have had difficulty in finding a local source for heat guns.

So The Old-House Journal has made special arrangements with the manufacturer to offer the electric heat gun directly to its readers. Made by Master Appliance Corp., the gun is a heavy-duty tool designed for years of service. It is the best one on the market in the opinion of the editors. It operates at 500-750 F., and draws 14 amps at 120 volts.

Travel To Another Century

TAKE A JOURNEY into the nineteenth century with THE VICTORIAN TRAVELER'S COMPANION, a state-by-state guide to nearly 700 locations of Victorian interest in the United States and Canada.

THIS FIRST ANNUAL EDITION has been carefully compiled and published by The Victorian Society in America. The COMPANION contains admission information and brief descriptions about Victorian homes, gardens, inns and hotels, museum exhibits, civic buildings, tours, and historic sites across North America.

YOU WILL FIND that you will want to dine in Victorian splendor at the Golden North Hotel, in Skagway, Alaska, or spend the night dreaming nineteenth century dreams at the Castine Inn, Castine, Maine. Or buying Navajo goods at the Hubbell Trading Post in Ganado, Arizona or viewing the New Jersey shore from the howdha of Lucy the Elephant in Margate may catch your fancy.

OR PERHAPS VISITING the home of William Jennings Bryan in Lincoln, Nebraska or the Lace House in Blackhawk, Colorado will sound intriguing. Lovers of Victoriana will want to refer frequently to this useful guide for help in planning your vacations and day journeys, and to enrich your business trips and professional meetings.

THE VICTORIAN SOCIETY IN AMERICA presents the 1980 edition of THE VICTORIAN TRAVELER'S COMPANION in time to be included on your 1979 holiday gift-giving list. This handy reference will be a welcome gift for any traveler, and an important addition to your own book collection.

THE EASIEST, SAFEST WAY TO REMOVE PAINT
THE MASTER APPLIANCE HEAT GUN
MORE THAN 3,000 IN USE BY OLD-HOUSE JOURNAL SUBSCRIBERS

There's no PLEASANT way to remove paint. But if you have a large amount of paint to strip, the fastest, safest and most economical way is with the Master Appliance electric heat gun.

The Master heat gun has been collecting raves from readers ever since Patricia and Wilkie Talbert's original letter in the April 1976 issue of The Old-House Journal. Since then, more than 3,000 OHJ subscribers have purchased heat guns.

And the raves are still coming in.

Master Appliance is the #1 maker of heat guns in the U.S.; they sell more because their heat gun has a proven track record of long life and reliability. But since it is an industrial tool, it's not available through regular retail outlets. When The Old-House Journal decided to make these hard-to-find tools available directly to our readers, we naturally turned to the #1 heat gun.

Of special interest are the safety factors. The heat gun avoids the hazards of methylene chloride vapors that are given off by most paint removers. And because it operates at a lower temperature than a propane torch, there's no danger of lead poisoning that can occur when using a torch on old lead-based paint. Too, the fire danger is much lower than it is with a propane torch or blowtorch. (But because it is a heat-generating tool, normal precautions should be observed in areas with dust.)

The heat gun is ideal for stripping paint from interior woodwork where a clear finish is going to be applied. There's none of the scorching such as you get with a propane torch. Use the heat gun for stripping paint from such places as: (1) Doors; (2) Wainscotting; (3) Window and door frames; (4) Exterior doors; (5) Porch columns and woodwork; (6) Baseboards; (7) Shutters; (8) Paneling. In addition, the heat gun can be used for such purposes as thawing pipes in winter, loosening synthetic resin linoleum paste, and softening old putty when replacing window glass.

The heat gun is NOT recommended for: (1) Removing shellac and varnish; (2) Stripping paint on window muntins (possible cracking of the glass from heat); (3) Stripping the entire exterior of a house (too slow); (4) Stripping Early American milk paint (only ammonia will do that).

The electric heat gun softens paint in a uniform way so that it can be scraped off with a knife. Some clean-up with chemical remover is required, but the heat gun will remove about 98% of the paint—vastly reducing the amount of chemical needed and the consequent mess. See article in the November 1979 OHJ for additional details on operation.

Because it is a high-quality industrial tool, the Master heat gun isn't cheap. But with paint remover around $12 per gallon, the gun only costs as much as 5-6 gallons of remover. In some communities, groups of neighbors are buying a heat gun to share.

Price of $62.95 includes: (1) Pedestal stand worth $6.75; (2) Same-day shipping via United Parcel Service; (3) The Old-House Journal replacement guarantee.

Telephone orders also accepted on VISA or via COD (there's a $2 charge for COD).

MEETINGS & EVENTS
A WALLPAPER CONSERVATION SYMPOSIUM scheduled for late April of 1980 will be co-sponsored by the North Atlantic Region of the National Park Service and the New England Document Conservation Center. Technical complexities unique to wallpaper will be addressed in presentations and discussions combined with field visits to current projects in progress in the surrounding Boston area. Aims of the Symposium as a whole are an examination and search for new techniques, and exploration of interdisciplinary roles concerned with wallpaper and its preservation. Symposium information and registration details are available by telephoning (617) 223-3767 or writing to: Wallpaper Conservation Symposium, National Park Service, 15 State Street, Boston, MA 02109.

If Selling Old Houses is your business...

...then you'll want to see the special package The Old-House Journal has developed to acquaint your customers with the unique joys and problems of old house living.

The Old-House Journal Real Estate package contains sample copies of The Old-House Journal, plus three supplementary brochures:

1) Inspection Checklist for Vintage Houses
2) How to Date an Old House
3) Field Guide to Old-House Styles

What does the package cost?—Nothing! The editors of The Old-House Journal feel that the more people know about old houses the less likely they are to unwittingly "remuddle" priceless architectural treasures. And, of course, it helps us.

Some Real Estate Salespersons have also been giving subscriptions to The Old-House Journal as housewarming presents to people who have purchased old houses from them.

As a result of this growing practice, we have created a special Business Gift Discount. It's available through a Discount Gift Form that we can send to you.

If you would like bulk copies of The Old-House Journal for your office, supplies of the supplementary brochures, and the Business Gift Discount forms, just drop us a line at the address below.

THE EASIEST, SAFEST WAY TO REMOVE PAINT

THE MASTER APPLIANCE HEAT GUN

MORE THAN 3,000 IN USE BY OLD-HOUSE JOURNAL SUBSCRIBERS

The heat gun is NOT recommended for: (1) Removing shellac and varnish; (2) Stripping paint on window muntins (possible cracking of the glass from heat); (3) Stripping the entire exterior of a house (too slow); (4) Stripping Early American milk paint (only ammonia will do that).

The electric heat gun softens paint in a uniform way so that it can be scraped off with a knife. Some clean-up with chemical remover is required, but the heat gun will remove about 98% of the paint—vastly reducing the amount of chemical needed and the consequent mess. See article in the November 1979 OHJ for additional details on operation.

Because it is a high-quality industrial tool, the Master heat gun isn't cheap. But with paint remover around $12 per gallon, the gun only costs as much as 3-6 gallons of remover. In some communities, groups of neighbors are buying a heat gun to share.

The heat gun is ideal for stripping paint from interior woodwork where a clear finish is going to be applied. There's none of the scorching such as you get with a propane torch. Use the heat gun for stripping paint from such places as: (1) Doors; (2) Wainscoting; (3) Window and door frames; (4) Exterior doors; (5) Porch columns and woodwork; (6) Baseboards; (7) Shutters; (8) Paneling. In addition, the heat gun can be used for such purposes as thawing pipes in winter, loosening synthetic resin linoleum paste, and softening old putty when replacing window glass.

There's no PLEASANT way to remove paint. But if you have a large amount of paint to strip, the fastest, safest and most economical way is with the Master Appliance electric heat gun.

The Master heat gun has been collecting raves from readers ever since Patricia and Wilkie Talbert's original letter in the April 1976 issue of The Old-House Journal. Since then, more than 3,000 OHJ subscribers have purchased heat guns. And the raves are still coming in.

Master Appliance is the #1 maker of heat guns in the U.S.; they sell more because their heat gun has a proven track record of long life and reliability. But since it is an industrial tool, it's not available through regular retail outlets. When The Old-House Journal decided to make these hard-to-find tools available directly to our readers, we naturally turned to the #1 heat gun.

Of special interest are the safety factors. The heat gun avoids the hazards of methylene chloride vapors that are given off by most paint removers. And because it operates at a lower temperature than a propane torch, there's no danger of lead poisoning that can occur when using a torch on old lead-based paint. Too, the fire danger is much lower than it is with a propane torch or blowtorch. (But because it is a heat-generating tool, normal precautions should be observed in areas with dust.)
