Harwell Hamilton Harris X Two

SAH/SCC Lecture and Tour
Saturday, May 14th

Join the SAH/SCC Saturday, May 14th, from 2PM to 5PM, for an in-depth experience of two of Harwell Hamilton Harris' early houses. In addition to touring the homes, there will be guest speakers shedding light on Harris' work. The cost for this event, which was organized by SAH/SCC Life Member and former board president Ted Wells and SAH/SCC Board Member John Ellis, is $35 for SAH/SCC members, and $45 for non-members. Because Harris' houses are best experienced in a small group, ticket availability is very limited. We suggest purchasing tickets early for this tour; see order form on the last page.

The afternoon starts at the Pumphrey House in Santa Monica Canyon, where tour members will enjoy a garden lecture about Harris and his work. After touring the Pumphrey House, guests will take a quick shuttle ride to the house Harris designed for famed publisher John Entenza. Both houses have been sensitively restored, with minor and appropriate alterations, and show how Harris' houses adapt to contemporary living nearly seventy years after their creation. Architect Michael Folonis, who did the renovations for both houses, will share his insights on Harris' work and the challenges of restoring these classic homes.

The Pumphrey House, built in 1939, has long bands of narrow horizontal wood siding at its balconies and fascia, showing the influence of Frank Lloyd Wright. Unlike Wright's houses of the same period, however, the Pumphrey house has an elegant simplicity and lightness, and is more freshly modern. The two-level house is sited to one side of the property, with a long wall of glass doors opening to a large south-facing garden.

The Entenza House was designed in 1937 for the editor and publisher of Arts and Architecture magazine. The house is exceptional in Harris' body of work. With a curving carport, exterior metal stair, and tubular railings, the house recalls both Streamline Moderne and International Style architecture. Entenza's magazine championed all that was new in the arts, with a special emphasis on emerging modernist architecture in Southern California. Entenza's most lasting contribution was his sponsorship of the Case Study Houses project.

Harris has long been recognized as an important regionalist architect in California, and his place in the history of American Modernism has only recently begun to be explored. He started his creative life as a sculptor and was inspired by Wright's grasp of the movement between nature and the house. Harris expanded on the work of architects, such as Henry and Charles Greene, who were interested in creating sculpture on a monumental, yet human, scale. The single-family house, and its democratic roots, held great appeal to Harris, and his finest works show his sensitivity to neo-Japanese influences and the tranquility a house can provide in a modern world.

President's Letter

As we go to press, the world's attention is focused on the Vatican, and many of us have been "virtual" visitors to St. Peter's Basilica during the past few weeks. As architecture, St. Peter's is certainly one of the most significant buildings in Western civilization, although connoisseurs of architectural history agree that its design is a bit of a mess. With major contributions by Bramante, Michelangelo, della Porta, Maderno, and Bernini, the building is an assemblage of different pieces. Some are quite brilliant, but discovered ultimately these fragments do not hold together as a coherent whole. Its power comes simply from its size. The writer who conveyed this fact most powerfully was Mark Twain. As we inhabit the building from afar, I'm reminded of Twain's description of St. Peter's, and I thought I'd share some of it with you. The following passages are from Innocents Abroad (1869):

"Of course we have been to the monster Church of St. Peter. When we reached the door and stood fairly within the church, it was impossible to comprehend that it was a very large building. I had to close a comprehension of it to that it was to ramrack my memory for some more similes. St. Peter's is bulky and its height and size would represent two of the Washington Capitol set one on top of the other—if the Capitol were wider, or two blocks and a half of ordinary buildings set one on top of the other. St. Peter's was that large, but it could not look so. The trouble was that everything in it and about it was on such a scale of uniform vastness that there were no contrasts to judge by—none but the people, and I had not noticed them. They were insects. The statues of children holding vases of holy water were immense, according to the tables of figures, but so was everything else around them. The mosaic pictures in the dome were huge, and were made of thousands and thousands of cubes of glass as large as the end of my little finger, but those pictures looked smooth, and gay with color, and in good proportion to the dome. Evidently they would not answer to measure by. Away down toward the far end of the church (I thought it was really clear at the far end, but discovered afterward that it was in the center, under the dome) stood the thing they call the baldacchino—a great bronze pyramidal framework like that which uphold a mosquito but it only looked like a considerably magnified bedstead—nothing more. Yet I knew it was a good deal more than half as high as Niagara Falls..."

"But the people attracted my attention after a while. To stand in the door of St. Peter's and look at men moving toward its further extremity, two blocks away, has a dimension about them; surrounded by the prodigious pictures and statues, and lost in the vast spaces, they took very much smaller than they would if they stood two blocks away in the open air. I 'averaged' a man as he passed me and watched him as he drifted far down by the baldacchino and beyond—watched him dwindle to an insignificant school-boy, and then, in the midst of the silent throng of human pygmies gliding about the building, I had to let my imagination have a little play and try to comprehend that it was a very large building. I had to cipher a comprehension of it I knew it was a good deal more than half as high as Niagara Falls..."

"Seeing that he took up so little space, I could believe the story then that ten thousand troops went to St. Peter's once to hear mass, and their commanding officer came away in the open air I 'averaged' a man as he passed me and watched him as he drifted far down by the baldacchino..."

One of architectural history's great and overlooked voices: Mark Twain.

FEATURED EVENT
16, Thursday
Under the Stars.
Retro slide show tour of Southern California with Charles Phoenix. See page 3 for details.
Under the Stars: Southern California Retro Slide Show

On Thursday, June 16th, at 8:30PM, SAH/SCC members are invited to take a trip back in time during a live performance by Charles Phoenix at the Ford Amphitheatre. SAH/SCC is going as a group, thus extending a 15% discount to our members. SAH/SCC tickets are $21 each, and must be sent into SAH/SCC by May 26th. See back page for order form.

Charles Phoenix reinvents the classic living-room slide show in the open air and beautiful surroundings of the historic Ford Amphitheatre (1931). In a highly acclaimed presentation, he provides insightful and often hilarious commentary on his vast collection of color slides from the 1940s, '50s, and '60s.

Exuding the innocence and enthusiasm of mid-century California culture, these vivid slides offer a peak into the private lives of the amateur photographers who shot them, as well as a grand view of the places and events that have defined Southern California. Experience the one and only flight of the Spruce Goose and the end of the Queen Mary's final voyage. See the famous landmarks of Hollywood's "golden era" and go behind the scenes on the set of The Ten Commandments. Relive suburbia and experience the excitement of Knott's Berry Farm, Pacific Ocean Park, Marineland, Santa's Village, and Disneyland all over again. It's all part of a night "Under the Stars."

From the kitsch to the classic, Charles Phoenix is an expert in the world of mid-century design and American culture. As a humorist, "histo-tainer," archivist and author, he has become a popular personality known for his retro slide shows, field trip tours, and books, which include Southern Californialand: Mid-Century Culture in Kodachrome (2004. Angel City Press), God Bless Americana: A Retro Vacation Slide Show Tour of the USA (2002. Graphic Arts Center Publishing Company), and Southern California in the '50s: Sun, Fun and Fantasy (2001. Angel City Press).

SAH/SCC-member tickets MUST be purchased through SAH/SCC for the discount. The Ford Amphitheatre is located at 2580 Cahuenga Blvd. in Hollywood. Parking is $5. Tickets will be held at the door.

Hollywood Then & Now

by Rosemary Lord.

This richly-illustrated book traces Hollywood’s development from a sunny agricultural haven to a bustling film mecca. With more than 70 classic “then” photos and 70 full-color “now” photos, Lord matches early images from Hollywood’s golden age with specially commissioned contemporary images to trace the changes brought by a century of expansion.

Detailed texts and captions explain the history of Tinsel Town’s most famous people and places, including Charlie Chaplin, Jean Harlow, the Hollywood Sign, Grauman’s Chinese Theatre, the Pig’n Whistle café, and the Cocosnut Grove nightclub. From “Before the Movies,” when Harvey and Daeida Wilcox advertised Hollywood as a perpetually sunny escape, to the present and its proliferation of nightclubs, malls, and movie stars that now as "The Magic Continues," the book’s chapters follow Hollywood’s historic progression toward maturity as an urban city.

Lord depicts both the glorious preservations of monuments, such as the Hollywood Bowl and the Egyptian Theatre (both restored by Hedgpeth + Fung Design and Architecture), and the glaring absences, where parking lots and strip malls stand on the grounds of the former DeLongpre House, Garden of Allah, and the Brown Derby in this thorough and captivating history.

Thunder Bay Press; hardcover; 160 pages; $17.99.

Open Days Directory:
The Guide to Visiting Private Gardens in the West

This directory lists the nearly 400 enticing private gardens across the western United States that will be open to the public during the Garden Conservancy’s “Open Days” programs in spring 2005. Gardens are listed by location and include many in San Diego, Pasadena, Los Angeles, Brentwood, Pacific Palisades, and Santa Monica. Each listing provides a detailed description of the garden’s plants and designers, along with directions to the garden. Check the SAH/SCC Calendar for events in these areas.

For garden enthusiasts who cannot attend the Conservancy’s “Open Days,” the directory includes an extensive listing of public gardens. With admission hours, addresses, contact information, and directions, readers can arrange a tour on their own time.

The Garden Conservancy; soft cover; 95 pages; $5.
